on Channel 23

Rita Coolidge (left) joins song-writer musician Kris Kristofferson for the concluding program in the SOUND-STAGE series on PBS which can be seen locally Fri. 2-28 at 10 p.m. on Channel 23.

PROFILE OF THE WEEK:

Diana Rigg

It seems inevitable that the American television public, which knows Diana Rigg principally as the blithe secret agent, Emma Peel in "The Avengers," will wonder how she got herself into the sensitive and serious drama special set in a convent, "In This House of Brede," airing Thursday night (February 27 at 9:00 p.m. on CBS.)

Actually, this means coming full circle in her career. For her countrymen in England were astonished that Miss Rigg, a classical actress with a good track for Shakespearean and Shavian roles, took on the spy spoof in the first place. But as she herself has said, "It was fun in its way. And good, too, in its way. Whenever I do catch an episode re-running I'm glad to say I'm not ashamed of it." The judo skills needed? "Oh, I couldn't never have done that if hadn't been carefully choreographed."

She is less proud of her short-lived,

Hollywood-produced series, "Diana." Toward the end she was beginning to huddle with the writers in developing situations suitable for an English divorcee living in New York... but by then it was too late. The series was axed. And Diana went back to England and several notable roles: as Heloise in "Heloise and Abelard," and more recently "Major Barbara."

She was born in England, but was taken as an infant, to live in India where her father worked as an engineer. At eight she was shipped home to England and boarding school, the memory of which still gives her the shudders. But on holidays her grandparents took her to the theater and as she said, "From the very first, I loved Shakespeare." When she played Titania in a school production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," she set her goals. Be good enough to join the Old Vic. She was and she did.

THE QUESTION BOX

Question: What was the name of the actor who had one brief fling at being James Bond before Roger Moore took over the role? Incidentally, the first time I saw a James Bond movie, "Dr. No," I wished it had been more in the lead instead of Sean Connery; he was so good as "The Saint."

Sue

Answer: Shall we say congratulations on your "wish" coming true? We hear Mr. Moore is now working on his third James Bond movie. George Lazenby was the actor who took one fling at the 007 character after Sean Connery quit.

Question: We have lost track of Ricahrd Egan who used to star in movies and on television as "Redigo." Has he left acting?

V and L

Answer: Mr. Egan appears from time to time in the made-for-TV movies and between times is very active and in demand for regional theater work. The least we heard, he was touring in "No Hard Feelings."

Question: Last year the repeat showings of "Upstairs, Downstairs" started right after the first run ended and I am very disappointed that we are getting totally new — and dismal — shows instead on Masterpiece Theatre. When will they repeat episodes of "Upstairs, Downstairs?" These are each like good movies; you want to see them over and over.

"Anglophile"

Answer: Alas, as far as we have been able to determine, there may be no re-runs this year of the recent crop of "Upstairs, Downstairs" episodes. However, next fall PBS will air a new batch of 13. New in the U.S., that is, they are already airing in England where they are produced.

It's Super-saving time on RCA XL-100 color TVs and black and whites, too! It's a limited time event!
