90 years of work recognized...and $100,000 debt paid off!

NEARLY A CENTURY: Pigeon Manufacturing Company General Manager Clarence Schadd, left, presents gold watches to three workers who have been employed there for 30 years each - Pat Dell (since May 25, 1953), Frank Karle (since June 11, 1953) and Richard Frank (since June 8, 1953).

Dell and Karle are fork-lift drivers, while Frank is a tool and die maker. Of his life-long work, Dell said, "It's been a pleasure working with you guys for 30 years, but I'll never make it another 30!"

Schadd presented the watches on behalf of Pigeon Manufacturing Owner and President Tony Barclae.

MORTGAGE-BURNING: About 250 members and friends of Caseville United Methodist Church celebrated the burning of the church addition mortgage Sunday, in special ceremonies.

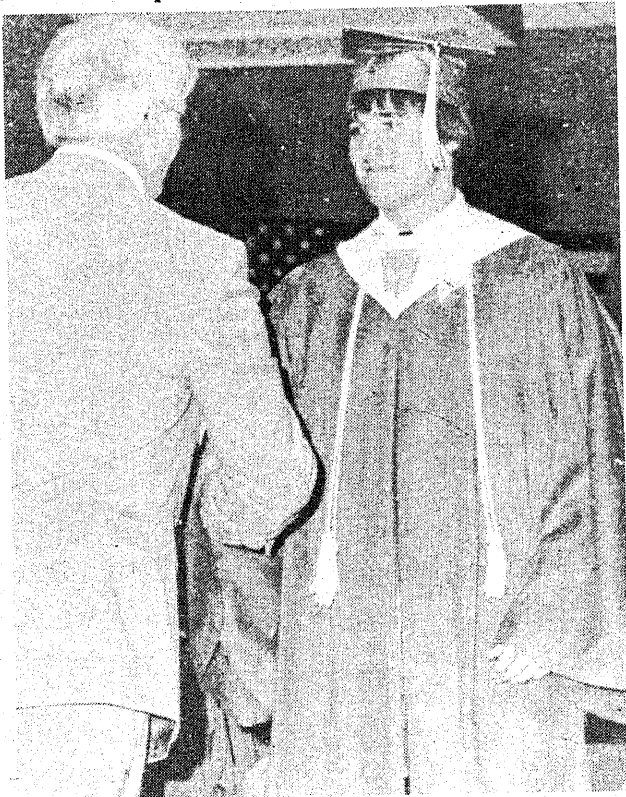

The rear portion of the historic building cost church members just over $100,000 and it was totally paid off during construction, thanks to pledges by church members. Here, from left, Rev. Brent McCumons watches as Building Committee member Bill Anderson holds the "flame keeper" container as member Edward Alward holds the burning mortgage.

Special music, a potluck picnic and a presentation by United Methodist District Supt. Rev. Robert Horton highlighted Sunday's activities.

Dave Watts, Chris Murdoch lead Caseville's '83 grads

David Watts has been selected Valedictorian and Christopher Murdoch is Salutatorian of the Caseville High School graduating class of 1983, during Saturday's 23rd annual Graduation Exercises at the school.

Watts, son of Janet Watts of Caseville, had 43 A's and 5 A-minuses in his high school years, according to school records announced by Caseville School Supt. Jim Stahl. He plans to attend Albion College in the fall, majoring in pre-medicine and Spanish.

Caseville High Valedictorian David Watts receives his diploma from Caseville School Board President Kenneth Hill.

This year's Eagle graduating class, together for the last time!

Murdoch wasn't far behind, with 41 A's and 7 A-minuses to earn the second spot among the 28 Eagle graduates this year. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murdoch of Caseville. He plans to attend Harvard College in the fall.

Valedictorian Watts ended his high school career with a 3.96 grade point. In his honor student address, he told the audience his class has grown together in its past six years of higher education through a binding force called love. "These memories are ours and only ours," he said of graduation. "We have the ability and drive and desire to attain whatever we wish."

Salutatorian Murdoch earned a 3.94 grade point in his high school years. He told the graduation audience he has been followed by a shadow these past four years. "The shadow said June 4, 1983. I realized it crept closer and closer every day, and soon it became hard to distinguish the shadow from myself," Murdoch said. Now, the shadow has disappeared. He said all his "experiences are stored in a pack on my back," to go with him wherever he goes in life.

Supt. Stahl noted that more than $55,000 in scholarship aid was offered to this year's graduates. He reminded students that "the harder you work, the better the results."

"Take hold of yourself. Apply your talents. Go in to work early and stay a little late. While you're there, break your back," Stahl urged. "We salute you. We're proud of all the accomplishments you've achieved," he told the new alumni of Caseville High.

High School Principal Paul Ellinger presented senior awards. Four students got all A's or A-minuses in the eight high school marking periods and will have their names engraved on the academic trophy at the school. They are Watts, Murdoch, Kenneth Hill and Deborah Malpass.

"You're now responsible for taking care of yourselves for the rest of your lives," Ellinger said. "You must stand on your own two feet. The administration and staff has tried to help you to mold yourselves into adults. All 28 of you have contributed to this school," he added.

Counselor Ken Gruetzke said "this is a fine group to work with. I expect quite a bit from them and I think we'll see quite a bit from them."

New leaders at Elkton

New leaders were elected Saturday to head the Elkton Jaycee and Jaycette chapters in the 1983-84 year at a special Installation Banquet at Heck's Bar, Pinnebog.

☒ ELECT JAMES CLABUESCH

To Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port Board of Education
June 13, 1983

1. He is a self-employed local business man.
2. He is a member of the Pigeon Lion's Club.
3. He is a member of the Caseville Eagles Club.
4. He is a member of the Laker Athletic Booster Club.
5. He has a daughter attending elementary school, a daughter in Laker Junior High School and a son who is a 1983 graduate of Laker High School.

Jim Clabuesch has a genuine interest in the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port School district because he has children in the system.

CANDIDATE

The committee to elect Jim Clabuesch has paid for this ad.

School elections this Monday

Only one real contest is on the election ballot in West Thumb annual school elections this Monday, June 13. That's the election of two of three candidates vying for the Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port School Board.

In that Laker election, incumbent Virginia Leiprandt of Pigeon is seeking another four-year term, to end in 1987, as are hopefuls James Clabuesch of Pigeon and Lavern Chiotti of Elkton. Two persons will be elected to the posts. Incumbent Gary King chose not to seek re-election.

Laker voters are also being asked to renew one mill for three years for general operation, in a separate ballot issue. Voting precincts are the Elkton, Pigeon and Bay Port Elementary Schools in the three towns.

Caseville School District voters are being asked to re-elect the two board incumbents seeking the two available seats. Frederick Fortsch and Jacqueline Miller, both of Caseville, are the only candidates who filed for re-election for the two four-year posts and are virtually assured of re-election.

No millage renewals or increases are being sought in Caseville. The voting precinct is at the Caseville School gymnasium.

Owendale - Gagetown School District voters have one board vacancy and one candidate on their first ballot. Patrick Goslin of Gagetown is seeking election to the four-year seat. Owen-Gage voters are also being asked to approve a 6.5-mill renewal request for 10 years, until 1993. Ballots may be cast at the Brookfield Township Hall in Owendale.

Polls are open in all area schools from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday.

CMU inducts four from Thumb into Sigma Iota Epsilon

Four students at Central Michigan University from the Thumb area were among 332 students inducted into Sigma Iota Epsilon.

Gwen Dutcher of Bay Port, Linda Anderson of Owendale and Kathleen Craig and Karen Korr, both of Sebewaing were inducted May 7 into the scholastic business and management honorary organization.

THANKS, KIWANIANS: The Caseville Community Chest honored members of the Caseville Kiwanis Club this week for donations totaling nearly $9000 during the past eight years.

The plaque in thanks for excellent community spirit was presented by, from left, Bob Hamilton and George Beadle who oversaw Kiwanis collections, Agnes DiVincentis, Jim Reeves and Marion Watterworth, all Community Chest Board members. Reeves is also Kiwanis president.

OBSERVATIONS BY THE PUBLISHER AND OTHERS

LOCAL LEADERS - Efforts (and luck?) by at least two area men will be featured in today's abbreviated column. First, Erv Haley at Gettel's in Pigeon deserves a pat on the back this week. He's been promising farmers who stop in that if they gave him one dollar each, he'd give them something back that's an investment which also could earn them quite a bit of money.

Well, Erv got 51 farmers to plunk down $1 each - and he did exactly as promised. He's giving each of them their own numbered Pigeon Farmers' Festival button which could earn them up to $100 in shopping money. "And it's an investment in a good summer festival," he says of the fund-raising button sale. Up to $400 in Pigeon cash will be awarded, based on the numbers appearing on each button.

Great idea, Erv! And, Cliff Witkovsky made a lucky (and skilled) catch last week. He caught a 12 pound catfish at the end of Mud Creek Tuesday, which took him 15 minutes to land. "It had quite a bit of fight," he says of the big cat.

It's fate was one that other Witkovsky-caught fish have known. Cliff smoked it, which he calls "a delicacy." (Smoked catfish really is tasty, we'll agree).

Can anyone else prove they've caught a bigger catfish lately?

CASEVILLE CONGRATULATIONS - Caseville High's 1983 Valedictorian is David Watts, who we're proud to say has been writing our "Caseville School in the News" column every week here in the P.A. Way to go, Dave!

And, Salutatorian Chris Murdoch got some extra attention this week, too. His color picture was featured on the front page of "Detroit" magazine in the Detroit Free Press, as Chris was named to the paper's First Team Class D Michigan All-State Academic Team. (We first reported this on Page 12 of our May 25 Graduation Edition section).

Chris earned a possible commission to the West Point Academy, but has decided instead to pursue his higher education career at Harvard University.

Best wishes to two deserving "Eagles," Dave Watts and Chris Murdoch!

Elkton, Sebewaing, Caseville plan summer events

Caseville Sun & Fun Daze...

...are the area's newest attraction, planned Friday, July 15 through Sunday, July 24 throughout the village, according to the sponsoring Caseville Area Social Events (C.A.S.E.) group. "We promise 10 big days of summer fun!" says organizer Lori Steinman. C.A.S.E. phone number is 856-2832 or 856-4392.

Included are softball tournaments, kiddie carnival rides and games, tennis tournaments, art shows, Christmas in July and Flea Market, Walleye Fishing Contest, crowning of the Sunshine King and Queen, Street and Yacht Parades, tennis tournaments, pancake and sausage breakfast, turkey shoots, pretty baby contest, bingo, tug-of-war, beach volleyball tournament and chicken barbecue. Featured are:

Jaycee Beer Tent, Dunk Tank and Concession Stand all open Friday at noon, to kick off this "berry sweet" event. New and expanded this year are a Hog Roast from 4 p.m. Friday, Women's Invitational Softball Tournament beginning at 7 p.m., plus the Interfaith Concert at 7:30 featuring the Christian-Soul music of Johnny Ray Watson.

The 1983 Elkton Strawberry Queen will be crowned about 8:30 p.m. Friday, sponsored by the Elkton Woman's Civic Club.

Saturday's the day for the Fourth Annual Grand Parade at 11 a.m. through Elkton, sponsored by the Elkton Community Club. The big Chicken Barbecue follows at 12 noon, sponsored by the Elkton Rotary Club. Then, the Old-Fashioned Strawberry Social features low-cost sundaes at 1 p.m. Saturday's Stage Show features Bay Port natives John David and Tami Chere Gunden.

Sunday events include the Pancake and Sausage Breakfast from 8 a.m., sponsored by the Oliver Township Firemen, the Community Worship Service at 10 a.m. featuring Johnny Ray Watson and the Community Choir, plus the Demolition Derby at 4 p.m.

Michigan's 19th Sugar Festival...

...is coming to Sebewaing Friday through Sunday, June 24-26. This year's theme is "Making the World Sweeter," in honor of the area's sugar beet growing industry.

Highlights include carnival midway rides, sidewalk sales, children's games, bed races, beer tent, bingo, a four-mile road race, horseshoe championships, arts & crafts, canoe races, Luckhard Indian Museum tours, raft races, ball games and more, according to sponsors, the Sebewaing Actions Council.

Specialties include: Crowning the Michigan Sugar Queen at 9 p.m. on Friday, June 24;

Michigan Sugar Festival Parade at 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 25, and the chicken barbecue to follow, plus the Fireworks Show at Sebewaing Park at dusk that night, and

JUST CALL US DANCERS! Dozens of students of Caseville area dance instructor Sherry Leiprandt will perform Saturday and Sunday nights in "Just Call Us Dancers," at the Laker High School Auditorium. Show time both nights is 7 p.m. Tap, ballet and jazz styles are featured, the instructor says.

Peer pressures start too young

It may be hard to imagine, but a recent study shows that children feel pressure to use drugs and drink alcohol as early as the fourth grade. The sad repercussion of today's hectic society may be that many youngsters in that age group - formerly considered to have ball-playing, bike-riding and doll-playing as top priorities - now must cope with adult hassles, too.

Half a million students in grades four through 12 responded to a survey in the Weekly Reader newspaper, in conjunction with the White House Drug Abuse Policy Office.

About 25% of fourth graders who answered the survey said they feel "some to a lot of peer pressure to try beer, wine, liquor or marijuana." Says Pat McKelvey of the White House drug abuse office, "We have to get the message out to the younger kids ... it looks like it's too late if you don't get to them by the fourth grade."

Other findings of the survey tell some things we had already guessed. For example:

■ Fourth and fifth graders learn about drug dangers mainly from TV, parents and movies. By the age of six grade, children say they learn from school as well;

■ More than 25% of sixth graders said alcohol is a big problem with hometown peers. More than a third said marijuana is a big problem, and,

■ The motivation in lower grades to use drugs or drink was to feel older; in middle grades, to fit in, and in high school years, to have a good time.

There were some encouraging signs, though - but really not that many. A total of 75% of fourth graders answering the survey said they saw "some or great risk" from consuming one drink or one marijuana cigarette each day. At least the youngsters appear to know these dangerous substances are just that - dangerous.

So, partly to retaliate for this ever-growing drug and alcohol awareness, the White House drug abuse office has announced a drug awareness campaign using comic-book characters that will reach a million fourth graders in 35,000 schools. That's the beginning of the type of help needed.

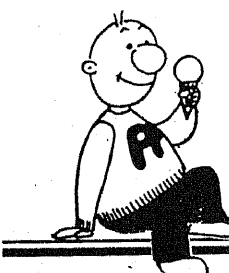

But we all know where correction of this problem lies. Short and sweet, it's in the home.

Parents must set the type of example they want their children to see and learn to emulate. Even cigarette smokers are setting a kind of example for youngsters to watch. We don't mean no one should indulge in certain habits, but we DO mean children often imitate what they see at home.

Tighter control of TV program viewing habits - especially in these summer months - is important. Children should not be allowed to view excessive drinking or drug use. It's only a show, true - but it sets an example.

We can't speak for and control everyone's children. Yes, there will be some youngsters who DO learn about drug or booze habits at home or on TV. But that doesn't mean OUR LOCAL children must be so involved. It's been said before: Love and guidance begin at home.

of by-gone days

By GEORGE KEIM

Dear Editor,
Once a year Memorial Day comes. I have seen quite a few of them. Some were just another day, while some made more of an impression on me.

One was back in the 1920s. My father let me take our Model T Ford sedan and go to Caseville to a service. I took Sam Gascho along and when we got to Caseville, the town was full of bands and veterans and Boy Scouts.

The bands played a lot of war music, then they all marched to the cemetery. We drove out there and took several other people along. Some big wheel from Bad Axe gave a very good speech and the bands played some more. Then they laid some flowers on that spot of the unknown soldier.

There were four old men there who were Civil War veterans. Afterwards, they went back to Caseville and had a service on the river bridge for the sailors. They threw flowers in the river.

It was all very impressive, and people all seemed to enjoy it and were very orderly.

World War I was still fresh in everybody's mind and World War II veterans either weren't born yet or were very young.

Well, we lived through World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War since, but we still have peace and plenty here at home.

When I attended last week's Memorial Service at Bay Port and Pigeon and heard the prayers and talks by the people in charge, I knew that we aren't thankful enough for the good things we are enjoying.

It says in Matthew 24:6, "and ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that ye be not troubled, for all things must come to pass but the end it not yet."

Afterwards, I took my grandson and we visited his grandmother's grave. I still feel the big emptiness of her parting, but it says in Prov. 3:5, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and lean not on thine own understanding," so I'll just not question it because, "all things work together for the good of them who live the Lord" (Rom. 8:28).

After graduation

Finally, the last boy has graduated and the party is over. When we finish eating up the leftover ham and potato salad maybe we can get back to a normal routine around here. It's a good thing this is the last one. I don't know what we could come up with to top the highlight of the party this year. How often can you orchestrate the birth of kittens right in the middle of the party?

The little girl guests didn't have anything to play with all afternoon. Our swing set has been dismantled since the boys have grown. We never did have many dolls. We do still have a few toy trucks and tractors but the girls weren't interested. They found the cat sunning herself beside the garage and she became their baby for the afternoon. They carried her around, petting and cuddling. Someone noted one girl had the cat draped like a mink stole on her shoulders.

The girls finally released her while they came in for some food. Soon the graduate called to me. "Come, see what's happening!" What was happening was the blessed event. Mama Cat had crawled under the bush at the corner of the house, and very calmly, produced four kittens of varying colors.

It is a good feeling to have the youngest finish high school. We've had lots of help along the way to get him to this point. His teachers all have given him and us encouragement. The school administration and support staff, including his bus driver, have all had an interest in him. We appreciate that interest. Our parish community, neighbors, doctors and our extended family have all played a part in his success. Probably the most help we've had has come from his two bigger brothers. We want to say thanks to everyone.

With this graduation comes a change in our association with schools. For the first time in over 40 years, what with being a student, teacher and mother of students, we won't be directly involved with a school. After many years, it won't be easy to stay away, but maybe it's time to try it. We'll always be interested in education as that's where the future is.

Letters to the Editor

Last call for Elktion reservations

To the Editor & Graduates of EHS:

Don't intend to bore you with details but if you haven't sent your reservations for the Elktion High School reunion on Sunday, June 19 you have just this week to get your money and names into Sandy Zeitler at Elktion.

In going over the name tags I see that Florence Gwinn Schluchter (1910) is the oldest graduate sending in her reservation and Vern Zarnke (1960) being the last "kid" to graduate from old Elktion High School has been sent in for his wife and himself. (I am a little disappointed that only seven of my classmates out of 31 plan to come). As of today we have 630 reservations.

In case you are wondering why we haven't returned tickets to you, we will be set up in the front lobby to give out name tags as you come in. These tags are your tickets to the affair.

It was fun snooping around the old high school building one day to see if we could root out any old uniforms, pictures, trophies and more, to bring out to the high school for the day. We decided against taking the class picture down as we aren't getting any younger and besides they would all have to be returned and rehung.

Some day next fall after the students are back in school why don't you go down and look at the pictures and see yourself in your mind's eye running down the hall again.

Plans for the entire weekend involving the Strawberry Festival in Elktion sounds like a lot of fun. Hope you can get into town before Sunday and enjoy yourself at the parade, or at the other activities that have been planned.

Hoping that the weather will cooperate, we will plan to see you.

Let the good times roll, Tillie Williams
P.S. I wonder if Mr. Snider remembers me?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Anita Gettel
Village of Pigeon
Chairperson

Rural Round-up Rural Round-up Rural Round-up Rural Round-up Rural Round-up Rural Round-up Rural Round-up

Farm-related businesses are feeling the pinch of the Payment In Kind (P.I.K.) program, as sales of locau seed, fertilizer and chemicals are down. Some suppliers are saying they could experience a 40% drop in sales.

Most suppliers and farm implement dealers, however, say business has been bad the past three years anyway. So, P.I.K. has a chance to improve the farm economy -- and therefore their business, they believe.

The federal P.I.K. program pays farmers in surplus government stocks for not growing corn, wheat, sorghum and other crops. It's designed to cut overflying government stocks and to boost farm prices. Farm prices already have risen since the program was announced early this year. Corn is up from $2.27 a bushel in January to nearly $3 now, while wheat has risen from the $3 per bushel range to $3.30 today.

But many of the local farmers participating in P.I.K. are glad they're not planting much this year, thanks to the unseasonably wet spring we've had. "Right now, I think the ones of us in the P.I.K. program are the happy ones," one farmer says. Instead of cash crop plantings, many farmers are instead using oats or hay as cover crops.

Many farm lenders have cash, but no one out there who wants to borrow it. The Wall Street Journal reports farm loans are down to their lowest level since 1976 in the Midwest, since farmers who are planting less need to borrow less.

Many farmers seem more wary of taking on additional debt in recent years -- since they've learned the hard way what can happen if interest rates rise and profits plunge.

Two other interesting facts: Congress is considering making low-interest loans available to farm suppliers who are hurt by P.I.K. sales cutbacks. And, farm foreclosures are down to a third of the rate a year ago, since most of the farmers in dire trouble have already gone broke.

Farm prices inch upward as the Index of Prices Received by Michigan Farmers averaged 123% of its 1977 base for the month ending May 15, says the Michigan Ag Reporting Service. That's a slight increase from the previous month, but farm prices remain 11% below last year, despite the recent steady improvement.

The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers nationally for commodities, services, interest, taxes and farm wages for May was 160% of its 1977 base, up 3% from last year.

The national Index of prices received by farmers was at 137% of the 1977 base last month, 14 percentage points higher than the depressed state figure.

Slogan seen on a dairy farmer's T-shirt: "Milk puts you in a good mooood."

Chemically-sealed cooked eggs that don't need refrigeration are on the horizon. They'll come in snack-counter six-packs and vending machine two-packs, says the maker, Milton Walbaum Co., of Wakefield, Neb. They plan to package red, white and blue-shelled eggs for July 4th celebrations.

We're eating our vegetables, according to a U.S. Ag Department study. Consumption of fresh vegetables was 96.2 pounds per person in the 1960s, then dipped to 88.1 pounds in the early '70s -- and now stands at 97.1 pounds (for 1981), in the latest tally.

Frozen vegetable eating has increased from nearly seven pounds per person in the 1960s to 11.3 pounds today. Meanwhile, canned vegetable consumption of 54 pounds in 1973 has fallen to 45.9 pounds today.

Since 1960, yearly consumption of fresh lettuce has risen from about 17 pounds to nearly 24 pounds per person; cucumbers from 2.6 pounds to 4.1 pounds and even broccoli from half a pound to 1.9 pounds.

Part of the vegetables' popularity -- and increasing consumption -- is seen in larger numbers of restaurant salad bars, says the USDA.

That Missouri farmer accused of criminal contempt of court for removing 33,000 bushels of soybeans he claimed were his from a financially troubled grain elevator says he's "licked to death" after his acquittal Thursday in an Arkansas court. Wayne Cryts was found innocent by a federal court jury in the case that made him a symbol for the beleaguered American farmer.

He was accused of contempt when he removed 33,000 bushels of soys in 1981, after a federal bankruptcy judge had ordered the beans sold as assets in the elevator's bankruptcy case.

Animal warfare is being waged by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. They're trying to rid the Soo Canal Locks of dive-bombing seagulls at Sault Ste. Marie. The bullying gulls have scratched workers and knocked off their hard hats when the men come close to the birds' nesting areas.

So workers collected $70 to buy two pigs at auction, and the pigs will share the gulls' habitat until fall. They believe the pigs will disturb the area enough to discourage the gulls from sticking around.

Gaskill, Eichler receive scholarships

Camie Gaskill of Owendale and Burton Eichler of Pigeon were selected as this year's recipients of the Anthony L. Rapes Memorial Scholarship.

Gaskill will be attending Michigan State University as a pre-veterinary medicine major. Her accomplishments include co-salutatorian, all-conference in track and cross country, state awards in band and Army Award for Academic and Athletic Excellence.

In the 4-H program Camie has been a national award winner in Horse Quiz Bowl and Horse Judging. State 4-H recognition has come in all areas of the horse project. She has also participated in the dog, veterinary science, drama and achievement projects of 4-H. Camie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gaskill, Owendale.

Eichler will be continuing his education at Michigan State University in Crop and Soils Science. Burton was very active in FFA during high school, winning state recognition in farm management.

Burton has recently completed the Elevator and Farm Supply Program at Michigan State University where he was selected the Outstanding Student of 1983. This award is the result of high grades, initiative and personal ability as determined by the college. Burton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Eichler of Pigeon.

The scholarships are awarded annually to outstanding individuals who are continuing their education in an agricultural field. The scholarships are sponsored by the Anthony L. Rapes Memorial Scholarship Fund and Community Bank of Bad Axe.

Youth job forms needed by June 10

Applications for the Michigan Youth Corps should be filed with a Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) branch office by June 10. State Representative Dick Allen (R-Fairgrove) announced recently.

The forms are available at all MESC offices, public high schools and community colleges, said Allen. Any state resident, age 18-21 is eligible to apply for the program.

The first priority will be given to 21-year-olds and to those living in homes in which the head of the household is unemployed, then 20-year-olds, 19-year-olds and 18-year-olds. Officials emphasize the program is not a first-come, first-serve plan.

"I would advise all young men and women applying to the program to personally return their forms to a MESC branch office as soon as possible," Allen said. "Anyone with questions can contact my office at 517-373-0476, or a special toll-free number, 1-800-441-4110, for additional information."

Con-Anon meets

Michigan State University food scientist Mark A. Uebersax predicts foods processed using radiation instead of chemicals will become common grocery items in the future.

Uebersax says irradiated foods retain more of their nutrients, flavor and texture and don't need as many preservatives but still have a longer shelf life than foods processed with chemicals.

The use of radiation has already been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for the inhibition of mold and insect growth in grains and the development of sprouts in potatoes, Uebersax says.

"Frozen Fruit Salad"

A luscious, frozen salad with sour cream.
1 c. dairy sour cream
2 T. frozen orange juice, concentrate, thawed
1 T. fresh lemon juice
1 T. sugar
½ t. prepared mustard
t. salt
1 can (8½ oz.) crushed pineapple, drained
¾ c. halved seed grapes
¾ c. diced peaches
Salad greens

Whip sour cream until doubled in volume (about five minutes with electric mixer at highest speed) in a chilled bowl with chilled beaters. Mix orange juice, lemon juice, sugar, mustard and salt; gently blend in sour cream. Fold in pineapple, grapes and peaches. Divide into six six ounce individual molds; freeze. Remove from freezer about 30 minutes before serving. Unmold onto greens on chilled plates. Makes six servings.

OUTDOOR Report

By DUANE GUENTHER

Weather continues to be a major factor on the fishing scene. With unseasonably cool temperatures, and a more than average rainfall, most of the fishing activities have been set back two to three weeks.

While bass season has been in full swing for two weeks, the bass still think it is winter. Very little spawning action has taken place, and those fish landed during the early part of the season, show spawn skeins to be very tight. Watch for a change in the weather, as any warming trend will trigger some great fishing.

Winds and rain have kept the salmon and trout boats casting a watchful eye towards the sky. On the few good days during last week, some salmon were taken off Harbor Beach. Most of the action centers on the King or Chinook Salmon. Some Cohos did appear, but most were of a very small size.

Port Austin continues to be the best spot for Lake Trout. Lots of activity around the reef by the lighthouse have driven the fish down, and most boats are heading for the "trash pile." Peanuts seem to be the best bet for lure choice, while a bonus salmon might be picked up on Northport Naliers in the black, red and silver combination.

Pike continue to cruise the shoreline and cuts in the area. The cool weather will keep them in close for another two to three weeks. Mepps has been the offering that they are most likely to take.

Perch fishing has been slow, and any activities on walleyes has been limited to the "hot pond" area near Bay City.

This is National Fishing Week. Tell your wife that you are a patriot and you will not be able to mow the lawn for seven days.

Whatever your choice in navy beans, we've got your seed!

FLEETWOOD is a navy bean variety released by Agriculture Canada, Research Station, Harrow, Ontario in 1978. This variety is a tall bush-type which tends to produce a few short vines in some years. It is resistant to the alpha, beta and gamma races of bean anthracnose caused by Colletotrichum lindemuthianum and to the Type (V1) and NYlt (V15) strain of bean common mosaic virus.

In three years of overstate trials in Michigan, Fleetwood has averaged 18.26 cwt. per acre compared with 17.31 for Sanilac, 16.23 for Seafarer and 16.22 for Tuscola.

SANILAC was the first of the bush-type navy bean varieties developed and released by the Michigan Ag Experiment Station and USDA. Sanilac is a selection from a three-way cross in which a bush-type mutant Michelite bean developed by x-ray was the principal recurrent parent. The new variety was released in 1956.

Plants of Sanilac are upright, bush-type, vary from 14 to 21 inches in height, and produce a short determinate runner up to 14 inches in length. Sanilac is resistant to the V1 strain of common mosaic, anthracnose (alpha, beta & gamma strains), and halo blight but is susceptible to common and fuscous blight.

Sanilac is a mid-season variety that matures in 85-95 days. It is adapted for production under a wide range of climatic conditions. Yield and canning quality of the beans are good.

SEAFARER is an early maturing navy bean with excellent canning quality. It was developed cooperatively by the Michigan Ag Station and USDA and released in 1967.

The plants of Seafarer are upright, bush-type, and range from 13 to 19 inches in height. The seed is smooth, white and indistinguishable from Sanilac. Seafarer is resistant to anthracnose (alpha, beta, gamma strains) and common bean mosaic, though susceptible to common blight, as are all the navy varieties. It is widely adapted and yields well in a diversity of environments. Its principal advantage is early maturing -- some 7-12 days earlier than Sanilac.

NEPTUNE (Protected Variety) is a new variety of navy bean released by Michigan State University. This variety is one of the new upright short vine navy varieties that resists lodging and is more suited to direct harvest than the conventional bush-type navy beans.

It is resistant to the common bean mosaic races V1 and V15, and halo blight, but is susceptible to the four races of anthracnose, and common fuscous blight.

Neptune is a full season variety comparable to Fleetwood.

EYE OPENERS

By Dr. Douglas A. Buehler, Optometrist
IS NEARSIGHTEDNESS INHERITED?

Some scientists believe that the tendency to be nearsightedness (myopia) is inherited, but heredity is not the only cause. Many optometrists believe that myopia is caused by visual stress (especially an over abundance of reading and close-seeing tasks in the school years), poor diet, bad lighting, incorrect posture or a combination of some or all of these factors. Although nearsightedness cannot be completely cured, the rapid progression of this eye condition can be slowed down. It is important to encourage proper reading habits with adequate light. A child should learn to hold a book or writing materials 13 to 16 inches from the eyes. The back and shoulders should be straight; reading on one's stomach should be avoided. Light from a shaded bulb that throws rays over the left shoulder is best for reading. Now and then, the student should look up at a distant object, and then return to the near-seeing task at hand.

Sebewaing outlines 'Sugar Fest' plans

SEBEWAING -- The "Sweetest Girl in the World" has been chosen to reign over the 19th annual Michigan Sugar Festival scheduled for Sebewaing from Friday to Sunday, June 24-26, but her identity is sealed in the bank vault.

Judges made their selection at a luncheon-interview-photo session Saturday, but they're sworn to secrecy, and the name of the queen and her court of four won't be revealed until the Friday evening program on June 24, according to Jane Finkbeiner, festival chairperson, and Jim Halstead, president of the Sebewaing Actions Council, which stages the annual event.

The queen will be presented with a $500 savings bond, the four court members will each receive a $100 bond and the 14 contestants will each receive a $50 bond.

The queen and her court will be honored guests in the Saturday morning parade, which will have more than 100 units, floats and bands. The parade will step off at 11 a.m., from the Sugar Factory area in the north part of Sebewaing.

Other highlights of the three-day festival will be a town-wide sidewalk sale Friday morning, children's and competitive games, including a 3:30 p.m. bed race throughout the day, and the crowning ceremony in the evening, highlighted by Tami Chere and John David Gunden on the state, following the coronation.

On Saturday, there will be a four-mile road race at 9 a.m., and following the parade, there will be the traditional chicken barbecue. In the afternoon, there will be ballgames, a big 1:30 p.m. sanctioned canoe race, a band concert in the newly-remodeled band shell, a raft race and women's and men's ball games. A big fireworks display will start at dusk.

On Sunday an 8 a.m. Rotary breakfast will open the final day festivities and there will be a community worship service at 10:30 a.m., followed at 11:30 with the dedication of the "Pheasant Wall" memorial in the Main Park. There will be ballgames throughout the day until the festival finale game at 6 p.m., which will be a men's slowpitch contest.

Throughout the weekend there will be horseshoe championships, arts and crafts tent, Skerbeck carnival midway, happy hours in the beer tent, music and dancing in the beer tent each evening with well-known bands from Saginaw and Bay City, bingo games, euchre tournament, open hours Saturday at the Luckhard Indian Museum, dunking tank, food and refreshment sales, booths and stands and a fulltime hospitality booth selling festival buttons and providing information and assistance.

The 1983 event will be the 19th annual celebration since the festival was organized in 1965 to show the community's appreciation to the sugar beet growers and processors, who have operated a beet sugar processing plant year every year since the plant was built in 1902. For the past six years, the festival has been staged by the Sebewaing Actions Council (SAC), which coordinates all organizations, churches, clubs, businesses and individuals who play a role in staging the three-day event that has grown into one of the largest in the Thumb.

Caseville grad ends Alma career

ALMA -- Cheryl Anderson of Pigeon was among the Alma College graduates who received their degrees with honor at the college's commencement on April 16.

A music major, Anderson was graduated cum laude, an accomplishment requiring a grade point average of 3.40 overall or 3.20 in work done outside the major division.

She was also among 29 seniors to receive Senior Leadership Awards, co-sponsored by the Alumni Student Association and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary. Anderson was nominated for the award by Gamma Sigma Sigma, the national service sorority she served as vice president and as student council representative.

As vice president of Gamma Sigma Sigma, she was in charge of service projects, worked as a Masonic Home volunteer and as March of Dimes coordinator for the college. She has also played in both the Alma College Kiltie Band and in the Alma Symphony Orchestra, and was selected to participate in the 1983 Michigan Inter-collegiate Honors Band.

A 1979 graduate of Caseville High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William (Carole) Anderson.

Submit your 'Beautiful Babies'!

Proud parents, grandparents, relatives and friends... it's time again for the Beautiful Baby Contest, sponsored as a fund-raiser during the 1983 Farmers' Festival by the Pigeon Area Jaycees.

Send a recent photo of the baby of your choice (no larger than a 5x7) to Nancy Buchholz, 1997 Nottor Road, Pigeon, 48755 no later than June 30. To be eligible, a baby must have been born between Jan. 1, 1982 and March 31, 1983.

Pictures will be on display at Thumb National Bank from July 5 until Friday, July 29. Voting will be done by the public at a penny per vote. Winners will be announced during the Friday night entertainment during the Farmers' Festival. All winners will ride in Saturday's Grand Parade.

All proceeds will go towards purchasing park equipment for area children.

Casevillers win $$$!

It pays to buy drawing raffle tickets!

At least three lucky local people think so, as the Caseville residents walked away with $2500 in prize money from the St. Roch's Catholic Church Prize Drawing, conducted last week at the Caseville church.

Rosemary Pomella and Agnes DiVincenzo each won $1000 prizes in the drawings, while Bill Flannery was awarded $500. Besides the prize drawing, a chicken barbecue was sold out during the Sunday festivities.

U of M honors high school seniors

Two area scholars were recently among 392 state high school seniors to receive Regents-Alumni Scholar Merit Awards from the University of Michigan.

Mary L. Schuette of Pigeon and Christopher Murdoch of Caseville received the award which is presented for "outstanding academic achievement, scholarly promise and potential contribution to the University community."

The students were nominated for the merit award based on their grades, class ranking and test scores.

Students selected as Regents-Alumni Scholars will receive a $750 scholarship when they enroll in the U of M at Ann Arbor in the fall of 1983.

Pigeon Village Minutes

REGULAR MEETING OF THE
PIGEON VILLAGE COUNCIL
May 9, 1983

Meeting was opened by President Norris Diebel at 7:05 P.M. Councilmen present were James Ambrose, Bryden Haist, Anthony Kula, Kenneth Licht, Fred Orr and Paul Walsh. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

The police reports were accepted as presented by Police Chief Mark Nieschulz. A letter will be sent to the owners of the former Borne Station asking them to correct several safety hazards.

The building inspection report was accepted as presented by Neil Libka.

Ron Snider and Doug Germaine of Pioneer Cablevision reported on the progress of the Cable T.V. installation.

The financial report was accepted as presented by Clerk Joe McRidle.

Council received two sealed bids for the purchase of a new pickup and four sealed bids for the village insurance package. They were turned over to the Finance Committee for recommendation at the next council meeting.

Council voted to hold a special meeting on Monday, May 23, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. to award the pickup and insurance bids and for any other business that is necessary at that time.

Council voted to adopt Ordinances 90-92 to update the Uniform Traffic Code. The Ordinances are available for public inspection at the Pigeon Municipal Hall.

President Diebel reported that we have been cleared of all charges from a recent lawsuit brought by Fred and Lela Chisholm.

D.P.W. Superintendent Don Otto asked the Council to inspect the sewer lagoon to see how much repair work is needed.

Council voted to have agreements drawn up for the installation of curb and gutters along Nitz Street.

Council granted the Pigeon Conservation Club permission to add three picnic tables and possibly a barbecue grill at the south end of Veteran's Memorial Park.

A complaint was presented to the Council concerning noise, truck repairing and junk in the alley behind John Street. Council asked Chief Nieschulz to give a verbal warning to the offenders.

Don Christian, representing Meadowbrook Insurance Company, gave a presentation of his company's insurance package.

The meeting was closed at 8:25 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,
Norris Diebel, President
Joseph J. McRidle, Clerk

Direct calls to Meals Coordinator

Those individuals who desire information concerning the Meals on Wheels program are advised to call Mae Yackie at 453-3062 rather than Scheurer Hospital.

The hospital only prepares the meals as instructed and cannot make any adjustments in any area of service," says Yackie. "We are very, very grateful for the time and effort they put forth to prepare such an excellent meal," she adds.

In the event no answer is reached at 453-3062, callers are advised to contact Erma Rounds at 453-3406 or Nova Jean Miller at 453-2931.

The organization is entirely dependent upon contributions to pay for the food received, Yackie adds. Persons wishing to volunteer to deliver a meal or make a donation should call the numbers listed above.

Dental Hygienist Debi Haist of Dr. Paulon Coe's Family Dental Practice, Sebawaing, Caro and Pigeon, shows Pigeon Elementary kindergartners how to have a winning smile!

Young Matthew Chapin is shown here with other youngsters after having used disclosure tablets, which turn the teeth red where the teeth haven't been brushed well. Mrs. Haist also cautioned the children against chewing sugared gum and candy, and presented each child with a toothbrush to take home.

Pigeon's kindergarten teacher is Mrs. Jan Keena.

Caseville granddaughter in peace program

Lisa Ahlness, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Ahlness of Bowman, N.D., and granddaughter of Mrs. Gordon Jock of Caseville, will join a Peace Leadership Study Seminar in eastern Europe when she completes her junior year at the University of Salzburg, Austria in June. Her specific area of responsibility for the seminar, sponsored by Lutheran World Ministries, will be Czechoslovakia. She plans to return in August for her senior year at Concordia College of Moorhead, Minn.

Model T spells old-fashioned fun!

Mel and Dorothy Baerwolf have reasons to smile while touring in their latest purchase - a 1913 Model T Ford.

RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

Many parade spectators and antique auto enthusiasts would love to be in the position of Mel and Dorothy Baerwolf of Pigeon - in the driver's seat of a 1913 Model T Ford touring car.

The Baerwolfs recently purchased the car which is a blue ribbon winner at the Greenfield Village Antique Car Festival. The classic car is different than most Model T's in that it is painted green, has hand-painted pinstriping and features brass fixtures and headlights. The following year, in an effort to reduce the price down, Ford announced that there would be "no more frills," Baerwolf says. The Model T's built after 1913 were only available in the standard black without the brass trim, which dropped the price from about $850 in 1913 to about $650 in the following years.

A glance under the hood reveals a 25 horsepower engine devoid of starter, generator, battery and water pump. The engine is started by a hand crank, which fits in a special saddle attached to a headlight to keep it from hitting hazards on the road.

The car has no gears, but has high and low speed ranges which use a system of bands - the forerunner of today's automatic transmission, Baerwolf points out.

The front tires purposely have no tread to enable them to follow the ruts in the early road, Baerwolf says. Once a driver got the car started down the road in the rut, very little steering was needed, he adds. Baerwolf hopes to drive the vintage auto in this year's Pigeon Farmers Festival Parade as well as occasional jaunts around the nearby countryside.

Ex-resident earns health awards

Marilyn Gascho, formerly of Caseville, recently received the annual Woman of the Year and Program of the Year awards from the Xi Gamma Tau chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Gascho is a supervising health nurse at Tift General Hospital in Tifton, Ga. Her award-winning program was on cardio-pulmonary resuscitation. While retiring as president of the organization, she will continue to serve as extension officer and parliamentarian during the current year.

Gascho is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William (Mildred) Ballagh of Caseville.

ASK
DR. COE

By Dalton P.
Coe, D.D.S.

When I was all bright and shiny and just out of dental school, I came rapidly to understand from my patients, the common perception that much more in life was considered inevitable besides death and taxes. Among these was the perception that as a mere consequence of living, a person would ultimately contract "the pyhorrea." "The pyhorrea" was not regarded with any fear as such things as "the plague," "the mumps," or "the measles." "The pyhorrea" was simply regarded as a fact of life. It was to be suffered and ultimately treated by the removal of one's teeth.

Of course, being bright and shiny, I felt that I had the answer to this problem. Unfortunately, my suggestions to begin "periodontal therapy" was usually met with a blank look and the statement of "Why, I'm gonna lose 'em anyway". Thus, I began to understand as my shyness wore off that if I were to be a dentist, I would have to become a teacher first. Fortunately these first lessons taught me by my patients helped me improve my communication skills and have allowed me to survive as a dentist.

The point of all these remarks is this - Periodontal disease, "the pyhorrea" is not inevitable, it is not so much a disease as it is a disease process. It is a process which can be altered and eliminated. Periodontal disease usually results from a lack of information, motivation and communication between patients and dentist.

More than ever dentistry is a teaching profession. I agree with others who have said that "Dentistry is the one profession which seeks to eliminate the need for itself."

Views On Dental Health

EDWARD HOLTZHOUSE, D.D.S.

Irrigating Devices

Recently, the water pick or oral irrigating device has become popular. How do they work? The water pick cleans teeth by irrigation with tiny jets of pulsating water which clean around the gums, between the teeth and under bridges where the toothbrush and even floss sometimes cannot reach. The pulsating water jets, flush out food particles from difficult-to-reach spots where food collects.

Some dentists have reservations about the use of a water pick depending on the condition of your teeth and gums, so it might be wise to check with your dentist who is familiar with your particular condition before buying one. In any case, remember that water picks do not remove plaque - only food. So, it is to be used as a part - not as your whole cleansing process.

The dental irrigator is not recommended for small children, but for children over 12 years with orthodontic bands, the device is invaluable in flushing out food particles.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of Edward P. Holtzhouse, D.D.S., 33 North Wright Street, Elkton. Phone: (517) 375-4255.

Nothing between us

Read I Timothy 2:1-7

All that the Father giveth Me shall come to Me; and him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out. John 6:37.

There is a story about a woman who was trying to find God. In a dream, which she dreamed more than once, she was standing in front of a thick plateglass window. As she looked at it she seemed to see God on the other side.

She hammered on the window, trying to attract God's attention, but without success. Finally she found herself shrieking at the top of her voice. In a quiet, calm voice He spoke to her and said: "Why are you making so much noise? There is nothing between us."

Nothing is between us and God, if we only know it! Everything that might stand between us and God Christ has taken into His own heart. He died for us, and He lives for us. All He asks is that we come to Him as we are, recognizing our need for His forgiveness, accepting His forgiveness, and living in that forgiveness.

To know Christ is to say to Him: "You died for me. You paid the price for me, I trust You." That is faith - personal trust in Jesus Christ. Faith lets us be ourselves without pretense, lets us be sons and daughters of God with nothing between us except love.

Lord God, forgive us all our sins and give us all the new life that is in Christ. Amen.

LJH writers share prizes

The fifth annual Laker Junior High Writing Contest was recently conducted. Judges for the event were Mary Leppprand, Theaetta Picklo and Mrs. Glenn Maust.

First Place Winners receiving a $50 savings bond are Kelly Peck, children's stories; Kevin King, non-fiction; Lisa Gaskill, fiction and Kelly Greene, poetry.

Second Place Winners receiving a calculator are Gary Gonzales, children's stories; Barb Faupel, non-fiction; Bonnie Kropp, fiction and Christine Diachenko, poetry.

A synopsis of the winning stories:

First Place Children's Stories: "Bedtime for Billy Bob"

By Kelly Peck
Ninth Grade

Daddy Elephant agrees to read Billy Bob Elephant a bedtime story if Billy promises not to fall asleep before the story is finished. But after numerous interruptions, Daddy Elephant is the one that falls asleep. Little Billy Bob cries, "Daddy, wake up! It's my bedtime, not yours!"

Second Place Children's Story: "Sam's Pet Pig" (In English & Spanish)

By Gary Gonzales
Eighth Grade

An illustrated story about a pet pig who was raised by a boy named Sam. On each page the story was written in English and Spanish to introduce children to the Spanish language.

Second Place Non-Fiction: "Years Ago & Now"

By Barb Faupel
Ninth Grade

This illustrated story shows an analytical comparison between the cultures and lifestyles of present-day Americans and the Americans living during the 1800's - 1900's. "Years Ago and Now" contrasts the chores done about the farm and home, careers, power sources, women's position in the everyday lifestyle, clothing, hairstyles, housing and a multitude of other topics.

Second Place Children's Story: "Mystery of the Sunken Treasure"

By Bonnie Kropp
Ninth Grade

The strange occurrence of the sound of a tolling bell, and a ghost ship that disappears every night as it is crossing the lake, makes for an exciting mystery story.

First Place Fiction: "The Song of the Fife"

By Lisa Gaskill
Ninth Grade

Milo finds a fife while walking through the forest. When he blows on the fife, he finds himself flying through space. Upon landing, he meets the terrible bogies. "Suddenly, Milo found himself up against a large tree and the bogies were too close for him to have time to turn and run. They were advancing confidently, sure that their dinner was caught."

First Place Poetry: "Undaunted Love"

By Christine Diachenko
Ninth Grade

In me is captured a great amount of love, for all breeds of the horse. The horse is like a white dove, free and graceful to all extents.

A horse is muscled and sleek, to the very point of true beauty. The spirit of the horse is not meek, but free and unbounded. It is because of this, that I do love the horse. I certainly would not miss a chance to ride, the object of my undaunted love.

An excerpt from her second poem, "Poetry in Motion," "It takes a horse to show poetry in motion... It is believed that the horse drinks of a potion, which bestows upon it grace and beauty."

The winning stories will be available at the Pigeon District Library for the public's viewing and reading.

Honorable Mentions went to Ron Birchfield, ninth grade, "The Darkness"; Kelly Greene, eighth grade, "Ode to a Farmer"; Patty Kempisty, seventh grade, "Pig That Ate Too Much"; Carleen Kauffman, seventh grade, "Every Ziggy Needs a Friend"; Greg Franzo, eighth grade, "The Brian"; Kim Lockard, eighth grade, "The Inheritance"; Christine Diachenko, ninth grade, "Friends for Life" and David Ross, ninth grade, "Week of Lifetime Memories."

The law allowed us to fish six rods, so Bill rigged a couple of downrigger and a planning board on his side, while Jake was duplicating the same feat on the other side of the boat. Before the last rod was ready, Jake suddenly jumped toward the Number three downrigger, and slipping the rod out of the holder, reeled back to set the hook on the unseen fish that had tripped the line.

"You land the first one," Jake said, handing me the rod. "Give me your camera and I'll take a picture." I didn't need much coaxing, and as I accepted the rod, I was met by a line-burning, reel-screaming run.

Holiday Fishing

It is very dark at 4:30 a.m., and as my car rounded the slight bend in Main Street, the headlights stabbed through the darkness and picked up the outlines of two men standing by the Sea Ray that was hooked to a Suburban and ready to go. I'm late, I thought to myself. But a quick glance at my watch proved that I was right on time. Parking the car, I grabbed some gear out of the back seat, and was met by Bill Thede and Jake Linzner, my fishing host for the morning.

Bill is the captain of the Country Bumpkin, a charter boat that plys the waters of Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron. Bill and I have been trying to get together for some time, and I was excited with the thought that I would finally get to fish with him. Jake is a former commercial fisherman who works with Bill, and is a frequent fisherman on Bill's boat.

This was to be a busman's holiday, and we were to squeeze in a morning's fishing before Bill and Jake headed toward Bay City and the second shift at Chevrolet. We were heading for Port Austin to try and pick up a few Lake Trout with hopes for an occasional Salmon as a bonus.

The 45-mile trip took us slightly less than 50 minutes. Although it was Saturday of the Memorial Day weekend, most of the vacationers were still in the sack and M-25 was almost void of any traffic. Our arrival at the launch site found us to be the second in line, as a boat was resting in the slip with its engines warming. During the next 15 minutes, Bill expertly backed the boat into the narrow launch ramp and after unhooking, parked the Suburban and returned to warm his engines.

He eased the boat out of the tiny harbor, and explained that we would be fishing on the reef just outside the lighthouse. As we reached the end of the breakwall, he pushed the throttle down, and the boat leaped forward as the prop dug into the water. In a few minutes we were at the reef, and while I tried to keep the boat on a straight line, Bill and Jake busied themselves for the morning's trolling.

The reef that we were to fish was almost a sunken island. The surrounding water lay at an average depth of 50 feet, but upon approaching the reef, the depth rose to an alarming seven feet in one spot. The fishing strategy was fairly simple. The shallow waters attracted the smelt and alewives to feed on the plankton produced by the penetrating rays of the sun. The trout and salmon moved into this area to feed on the smelt and alewives, and in order to make the food chain complete, we hoped to feed on the trout and salmon before the day was over.

The law allowed us to fish six rods, so Bill rigged a couple of downrigger and a planning board on his side, while Jake was duplicating the same feat on the other side of the boat. Before the last rod was ready, Jake suddenly jumped toward the Number three downrigger, and slipping the rod out of the holder, reeled back to set the hook on the unseen fish that had tripped the line.

"You land the first one," Jake said, handing me the rod. "Give me your camera and I'll take a picture." I didn't need much coaxing, and as I accepted the rod, I was met by a line-burning, reel-screaming run.

"It's a King," Bill called over my shoulder. "Look how far he's out there." Just then the fish broke the surface, and Bill was right, he was at least 75 yards from the boat.

"How could you tell it was a King right away?" I questioned. "A King always runs when he is first hooked," Bill explained. "If it would have been a Lake Trout, he would have headed down and sulked in the deep water."

I managed to gain a little line, but a couple more runs by the fish made the total length of the fight last about 10 minutes. Finally the fish tired, and as I worked him close to the boat, Bill dipped the longhanded net beneath his tired body and hoisted him in the open, waiting cooler.

We continued to fish the reef for another couple of hours. During that time we landed a small Lake Trout and lost a couple of dandies. Another King had hit, but I had made the mistake of lowering my rod tip a little too much while trying to reel in some line, and that's all the slack the fish needed. One minute I was fighting a good-sized fish, and the next I was reeling in an empty line.

About 8:30 a.m. the reef started to get crowded. I counted 35 boats trolling in the immediate vicinity and that was more than Bill could take. We picked up the lines and headed the boat for deeper water and another reef that was called "the trash pile". Here again, we operated in deep water (90 feet), and worked the slopes of a sunken island where the depth rose to 40 feet. Downriggers were set at varying depths and different lures were attached, trying to hit on a good combination.

We ran into a school of small Cohos near the surface, and for the next hour, we had trouble keeping them off our line. Those that weren't hooked too badly were immediately released, while others who sustained some sort of injuries that looked fatal would end up in the cooler and eventually in the frying pan.

Bill was near the back of the boat when the next fish hit. He popped the line clear of the alligator clip that fastened it to the downrigger wire and set the hook. He must have felt a good fish, because I watched him tighten the drag, and slam the rod back again. He then turned and handed the rod to me. I started to protest, but was interrupted by him.

"I get a big kick out of finding the fish and getting them on the hook, then I would just as soon let someone else have the fun," he said. "I've caught plenty of fish, and the thrill has sort of worn off."

The fish was a sulker, and we all thought that it was a Lake Trout. As it neared the boat, there seemed to be some question, as the fish was much too white to be a Laker. Back down he went, boring, shaking, trying to free himself from the hook that held him captive. Pumping the rod, I got him to come to the surface again, and Bill, leaning over as far as he dared, managed to get the net under him. He was a good fish. The scale that Bill carried in the boat, showed him to be a shade under 15 pounds. A nice size Laker.

A quick look at the watch, showed that he would have to pick up and start to head in. As we passed the boats crowded around the first reef, I looked up and said, "10 years ago, who would have thought that we would have been fishing like this so close to home."

Bill thought for a minute, and then replied, "the sad thing is, many people in this area don't realize the potential for the economy and they aren't going to be prepared for what is bound to happen in the next few years."

"Yeah," I said, "10 years from now, we're still going to be saying who would have thought it would be like this."

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on Monday, June 20, 1983, at 7:00 o'clock p.m. EDST at 6609 Vine St. the Board of Education of Caseville Public School will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1983 of an additional proposed millage rate of .691438 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 16.25 mills be levied in 1983 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenue for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1983 otherwise permitted by Act. 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by four and 445 thousandths per cent (4.445%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district. State equalized valuation will not be finalized until after the fourth Monday in May. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Education must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE PIGEON VILLAGE COUNCIL

Meeting was opened by President Norris Diebel at 7:00 p.m. Councilmen present were James Armbruster, Dryden Haist, Anthony Kula, Kenneth Licht, Fred Orr and Paul Walsh. Council accepted the bid of $8,815.00 from Pigeon Motor Sales, for the purchase of a new 1983 pickup.

Council accepted the bid of $11,896.00, from Steinman Insurance Agency for the Village Insurance Coverage.

Council approved the transfer of a Class C Liquor License from June and Fargo Malpass to Gary and Kathleen King.

Council agreed to accept quarterly payments from the Lamplighter Restaurant for a special assessment on a water main and hookup to the Village Water System.

Village Engineer, K. Don Williamson, reported on the availability of loans from the State for new construction of streets, sewers, curbs and gutters. Council agreed to continue as we have in the past. Mr. Williamson also recommended that we use Quarry slab stone to repair the lagoons.

Council advised Superintendent Otto to put a notice in the newspaper asking residents not to blow their grass clippings into the street. The clippings are getting caught in the tree roots and plugging up the storm sewers.

A letter was read from Rolie Smith expressing his thanks for the Village's recent tribute paid to him.

The Pigeon area Jaycees inquired into the possibility of building dugouts at the new ball diamonds.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:23 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,
Norris Diebel, President
Joseph McArdle, Clerk

A BIG THANK YOU to the Scheurer Hospital, Doctor Ray, emergency and ambulance staff for their tender care, fast action, co-operation and their prayers. Thanks to the people that waited so patiently to get into the emergency room. Thanks to all in the community and church groups for the many prayers, cards, messages, visits and flowers. It is very difficult to express my feelings in so few words. Thanks again for your thoughtfulness.
Sincerely,
JOHN EICHLER

A Heartfelt "Thank You" goes to five young fellows who haven't forgotten their friend, Bob Schaaf. Although it has been almost 2 1/2 years since Bob has been gone, they still remembered him again this Memorial Day, with a beautiful wreath, with Bob's favorite color flowers. They also went to the cemetery with us to place the wreath on Bob's grave and relive a few memories we all had with Bob. During the year they have spent many evenings with us, which fills our hearts with joy, and helps the sadness we have in our hearts. No one can ever replace our dear son, Bob, but these five fellows have a very special place in our hearts and always will. Their parents should be very proud to have such fine sons and treasure the fact they still have them.
Again, a BIG THANK YOU to Roger Dubs, Tom Brown, Dave Kretschmer, Bill Lackie and Dave Roe.
With our love and appreciation,
Bud and Virginia Schaaf

ELKTON SENIOR CITIZENS

Elkton Senior Citizens met with 53 present last Tuesday at the Civic Center. Rev. Joel Hurley gave the invocation. Chairman Southworth welcomed a guest, Beatrice Day and Electa Reibling, who had been absent for a long time. "God Bless America" was sung and the Pledge of the Flag given. Hal Conkey led in group singing, accompanied by Bea Gregor. The Birthday Song was sung for Alice Reynolds, followed by the Theme Song.

Program Chairman Harold Gregor read, "What is expected of a good minister," before introducing Rev. Hurley, who spoke on his new pastoral positions in the Upper Peninsula, then sang three hymns, "His Eye is on the Sparrow," "In the Garden," and "A Mighty Fortress is our God," which was dedicated to Ted Buchholz, who sang a verse of the song in German.

Alvena Walsh reported that the Millers are recuperating. Marie Hoffman is still hospitalized but improving and Lena Roberts and Clara Bernard appreciated cards sent from the group.

Next month's committees are: Set-up, Hannah Knechtel and Mary Matthews; Clean-up, Ina McMullen, Ruth Avery, Helen Ritter and Bill and Eva Blaylock. Next week's program will welcome Brenda White, who will speak on her experiences in Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Heck and Mrs. Ed Schuette visited with their aunt, Mrs. Olga Cronk near Port Huron. Enroute to Rodney, Ontario, where they spent the weekend with their aunt, Eva Schweitzer and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hyslop.

Memorial Sunday guests of Mrs. Minnie Elftman were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Elftman and boys from Pinconning. He also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelmer Wright. Other callers of Mrs. Elftman were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jarvis from Frankenmuth.

Memorial Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jarvis were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kretzschmer and family from Flint. Enjoying a potluck cookout with them on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Dorus Klinkman of Cass City, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jarvis of Frankenmuth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarvis of Arizona, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jarvis and Kristy of Elkton and Dennis Jarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stevenson and family spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson and family in Sanford. On Sunday they enjoyed a family picnic with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bernard and sons also of Sanford.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Chris Trost met Mr. and Mrs. Don and Julie Parker from California in Detroit. They went to Gettysburg, Penn., where they attended the graduation of Louann Trost from Gettysburg Theological seminary. They also went sight seeing at points in the Eastern States and visited Mr. and Mrs. Roger Trost and family in Farmington.

On Friday to help Mrs. Losetta Radabaugh celebrated her birthday. Having dinner with her at the Dutch Kettle were Mrs. Loraine Kurzer of Caseville, Mrs. Florence Turner, Mrs. Dora Killinger and Mrs. Mabel Clark. They returned to the home of Mrs. Mabel Clark and visited and reminisced.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gerstenschlager and family from Saginaw spent Memorial Weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maust, Sr.

Miss Irene Zeilinger of Frankenmuth was a
