Nieschulz quits as Pigeon Police Chief

Pigeon Police Chief Mark Nieschulz has resigned from his post, effective last Friday, to begin work at a Sebawaing factory.

Nieschulz's decision ends on-going performance disagreements with his supervisors on the Pigeon Village Council, who tried last year to remove him from the job he has held since 1974.

"This is to inform you of my resignation from the position as Chief of Police for the village of Pigeon," his letter dated Aug. 12 began. "Due to the constant harrassment given to me by certain members of the Village Council, I find that this is the only choice I have."

"I have enjoyed serving and working with the people of Pigeon, and wish to thank the people for all their support," Nieschulz's letter said. The resignation was effective immediately, and Council members say they expect to formally accept it at the next regular Council meeting, scheduled Sept. 12. "I turned in my uniforms and everything," Nieschulz said Saturday. "I told them I've had enough."

"I hate to see it, but what are you going to do? I've got to support my family. I can work on a press (at the new job) and make $2 more an hour," he said.

"My nerves just couldn't stand it." He began work Monday as a press operator at Sebawaing Industries, Inc.

WILL BE REPLACED: Pigeon Village President Norris Diebel said Monday the village will be seeking applicants for the job soon. He said the Huron County Sheriff's Department will increase its present contracted coverage to continue adequate protection.

"We urge anyone needing police assistance to continue calling the Pigeon Police telephone number at 453-3000," Diebel said. That number rings at the police office in Village Hall, as well as into the Sheriff's Department dispatching center in Bad Axe.

Sheriff's officers using the Pigeon Village police car will be rotating at least four nights per week under the expanded contract, plus providing additional daytime patrols, Diebel said.

"The Sheriff's Department won't be on a set schedule, so no one can figure out when full coverage is on. They'll be watching us a little closer than in the past," Diebel said.

'I told them I've had enough...I can work on a press and make $2 more an hour...My nerves just couldn't stand it.'

PAST TROUBLES: Nieschulz was placed on a 30-day probation in June, 1982 for a 10-point listing of alleged job performance violations. The Sheriff's Department had been called in earlier last year to direct Nieschulz's daily scheduling.

His letter of reprimand at the time noted, "...your performance of duty and your credibility with the village council has deteriorated to a low point." Included were "unauthorized riders in the patrol car; poor maintenance of the interior cleanliness of the patrol car; poor maintenance of fire arms (dirty and rusty); poor maintenance of radio contact with the sheriff department and false statements in maintaining radio contact with the sheriff department," plus "poorly documented daily logs."

Other points mentioned included "personal appearance and clothing maintenance less than desirable, unnecessary speed while on routine patrol with patrol car," and "uncooperative attitude."

That probation was eventually extended to 60 days, and ended when the Village Police Committee members recommended termination of Nieschulz's service because of "a lack of dependability and cooperation. There's a certain amount of resentment there," one Police Committee member said Aug. 9. But Council failed to approve the termination recommendation, so his probation ended.

CUT IN PAY: Nieschulz's performance didn't improve enough, some Council members said, so the village's 1983-84 budget cut his pay by five hours per week, or from an estimated $18,969 in 1982-83 to $16,432 the present year. That represents a 15.4% decrease, since no overtime would be allowed. A proposal to increase his base pay from 1982-83's $7.60 per hour to $7.80 per hour this fiscal year was not approved during February's budget sessions.

"I think they figured I'd put up with it all," Nieschulz said Saturday. "I just can't anymore. I hate leaving Pigeon. The people have been just super in their support."

"The people are going to be the ones who really suffer."

Nieschulz said he already has been getting reports of extra youth problems and activities, "since word is getting out that I'm not around anymore."

"I just know I can't handle the harrassment and petty politics. I just want the people of Pigeon to know I've appreciated their support and the trust they've given me. It's been a real honor to serve this town."

"I'm especially thanking the kids of the Pigeon area for the way they've conducted themselves. I've been very proud of them, for the most part."

Nieschulz began employment with the village as a Department of Public Works employe in 1971. He became a parttime police officer in 1972 and became a fulltime officer and then chief a few weeks apart in 1974. "I've enjoyed law enforcement, but small town politics of law enforcement is too much," he said Saturday.

"It will seem funny to not put on that uniform, but I'm just done. I don't want a heart attack. I just wish they'd leave me alone."

$3.72 million budget okayed

Laker principals named

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Two teachers have been promoted to administrative positions for the coming school year in the Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port School District.

Scott Siakel and Linda Stahl were selected by the Laker School Board at last Tuesday's meeting to share the duties of Elementary Education Director Fred Joles, who is taking a one-year leave during the '83-84 school year.

Siakel was named principal of Pigeon and Bay Port Elementary Schools and will also assume part of Joles' Title I responsibilities. The remainder of the Title I duties will be assigned to Business Manager Bob Drury.

Stahl will be principal at Elkton Elementary School, to oversee the two buildings.

Board chairman Merlin Farver emphasized that the new appointments, along with any resulting adjustments in the teaching staff should be considered temporary, because Joles stated that he plans to return to the Laker district for the 1984-85 year.

The board considered bids and accepted the bid of Meinhold Dairy of Bad Axe to supply milk for the district's hot lunch program, despite receiving a lower bid from last year's milk supplier, Kociba Dairy of Bad Axe. (See related story for more details).

LINDA STAHL

The contract for bread was awarded to Oven Fresh at a price of 56 cents per 24 oz. loaf of bread and 58½ cents per dozen hamburger buns, compared to a bid of 76 cents for each from Continental Baking Company.

A budget of $3.72 million, which projects a fund balance of $67,000 was approved by the board. Superintendent Harry Brunet reminded board members that the budget serves as a guideline, and will be flexible and adjusted throughout the year as occasions dictate.

The current wall of windows on the west side of the south Elkton Elementary School building will be replaced with an insulated block wall and energy-efficient windows at a cost of $11,000 to $12,000. Administrative assistant for Buildings and Grounds Gordon Stirrett estimated that these improvements will generate enough savings to equal the expense in three to five years.

In other personal adjustments the board accepted "with regret" the resignation of elementary teacher Mark Lindeman, who had been on leave last year, and also granted a one-year leave of absence to Lois Furness for educational purposes.

The revised 1983-84 Laker High School Handbook was approved by the board. Changes from last year include: competency testing, (explained at a previous board meeting), acceptance of Spanish credit for English credit for sophomores and institution of a homebound instruction program.

Laker High principal James Ballard noted that this year he is encouraging the secondary teachers to give failing grades to students who don't achieve minimal standards in their academic work. He noted that in the past students could nearly be assured of passing a class if they "showed up for about two-thirds of the class sessions and didn't cause problems for the teacher."

"Let's increase those expectations," declared Ballard, adding that the community would support such actions.

In other action the board accepted the bid of Mutual of Omaha for student insurance, at a cost of approximately $2.10 per student. An average of about one claim per month is normal, Laker principals estimate, with more claims made at the elementary level than with the older students.

A low bid of Clark Ankam of $2,985 for a compressor for the walk-in freezer under construction was approved by the board.

Virginia Leipprandt was appointed to represent the district on the Huron County Association of School Boards, with Sid Smith named as alternate.

COFFIN RACE TIME: Friday night's the time for the second annual Pigeon Coffin Races, planned just for fun in connection with Back to School Sale Weekend.

Sponsored by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, the race features teams pulling a pine box loaded with a (somewhat) live person along S. Main Street. Pre-race festivities begin at 7 p.m., with racing to start at 7:30, according to organizer Clark Elftman.

Here's last year's winners, the Diener Electric team. J&B Plumbing's team will be defending their "dead-last" place finish from last year on the shorter course. Each coffin must be 6 feet, 6 inches long and 2 feet, 6 inches wide with six handles. Minimum weight with passenger must be 175 pounds.

Entries will be on display a half hour ahead of the race. Call Elftman or Butch Miller at 453-3931 to register.

First United Methodist Church hosts rare event

Antique organs add old-fashioned aura to hymn-sing

MRS. WANDA EICHER, MRS. SHIRLEY NUSZ and Al Robinson play their organs at a "first of a kind" hymn sing at First United Methodist Church, Pigeon.

The First United Methodist Church, Pigeon, congregation held what may be the "first of a kind" hymn-sing in Michigan on Sunday, July 24, when old-time hymns were sung to the accompaniment of three antique reed organs.

In addition to First's own Vocalion reed organ restored in 1978 after 30 years of silence, organs belonging to Mrs. Shirley Nusz, church pianist/organist and Mrs. Wanda Eichler, adult choir director, were moved to the church for the occasion. The three instruments, an Estey, a Chicago Cottage and the Vocalion were tuned to the same standard of pitch before the morning worship service.

Mrs. Eichler played a prelude to the hymn-sing on her Chicago cottage organ, followed by Mrs. Nusz on her Estey organ, marking the transition from the singing to the worship service. The offertory of the hour was played on all three organs. Al Robinson, church reed organist and local reed organ restorer, played the Vocalion, which he says may be the only restored reed organ still in regular use in Michigan United Methodist churches.

The First Church's Vocalion organ was built in 1901 and is historic to its own church history and also to the history of German Methodism. It was purchased of the Rev. Dr. F. Nagler, prominent clergyman-musician of the old Central German Conference. It is told that the Rev. Nagler simply tired of moving it from town to town because of its size and weight. The church was badly in need of an "adequate" organ, according to Robinson as he relates the story, and agreed to a purchase price of $400, which was a tremendous amount of money for a church of modest means. Robinson adds that the Vocalion turned out to be one of the wisest and most long-lasting purchases the church has ever made, as he believes it to be the most complicated and sophisticated reed organ ever built.

Song leader for the hymn-sing was Pastor Gordon W. Nusz, who introduced each old hymn with a brief history of its origin.

Family reunions

Murdoch

Descendants of Preston Murdoch, Sr., Pigeon, met Aug. 6 and 7 for a first-time reunion at the Franklin Inn, Bad Axe, with 39 family members present. On Sunday, the whole clan of 62 met at the Pigeon Recreation Park for a picnic, fun and games.

Highlights of the reunion were poems composed by Bruce Murdoch and Mary Murdoch, slides of days gone by and many old photographs. Preston Murdoch, Sr. awarded all great-grandchildren with a silver dollar after participating in various games.

Family members traveled to Pigeon from Milton, Wash.; Denver, Colo.; Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Greenfield, Ind.; Lindsay, Okla.; Suttin, W. Va. and from all over Michigan.

Grigg

The annual Grigg reunion was Sunday, Aug. 14 at the Caseville County Park with 44 family members and four guests present.

With a potluck dinner at 12:30, the president gave the table prayer. After the meal the meeting was called to order by president Lassetta Radabaugh of Bay City. The minutes were read and approved by the secretary and treasurer Sharon Buchholz. The officers were voted to continue for another year.

There are only two members of the old Grigg reunion left, Mabel Clark of Pigeon and William Grigg of Caseville. Birthday greetings were extended to Mabel Clark.

After the business meeting everyone enjoyed visiting and meeting new members. The oldest member was Mabel Clark and the youngest was Brenda Greyerbiel of Bad Axe. Family members attended from Pontiac, Bad Axe, Reese, Bay City, Lapeer, Saginaw, Glenie and the surrounding areas.

Next year's reunion will be the second Sunday in August, same time, same place.

Cable TV ready for local fine-tuning

You could be sitting home watching movies such as "Mommie Dearest," "Body Heat," "The Deer Hunter," "Rocky III" and "Smokey and the Bandit" tonight through this Saturday.

You could be watching one of nearly 20 channels showing boxing, billiards, track and tennis events, the U.S. House of Representatives, special kids channels and old favorite TV shows such as "Dobie Gillis," "I Spy" and "The Twilight Zone."

You could be watching these television presentations, that is, if your house is wired for cable TV.

And, Pioneer Cablevision representatives say, you'll be able to get cable TV service in Caseville, Pigeon, Elkton and some selected spots in between later this year.

Ground was broken last Wednesday for the first of three earth stations, an 80-foot-tall antenna tower and electronics building for the Pigeon and Elkton system, under direction of Construction Supervisor Ronald Snider and System Engineer Doug Germain.

Since much of Pigeon plus parts of Elkton and Caseville have support wires and cable already in place, the men say house hookups can begin within a month. Some delays are expected in Caseville and Elkton while utility pole improvements are made, and while the firm awaits electronic parts shipments.

WHAT WILL WE SEE? The most important question most potential cable TV viewers ask is: what stations will be available and what will it cost?

Pioneer Cablevision owner Peter Christiano of Southfield and Caseville says 16 channels will be offered for the "Basic" rate of $9.95 per month. The system could offer up to 35 channels in the future, but Christiano says "Basic" service will include (tentative lineups):

CHANNEL 1: Locally-Originated "Access" Programming (perhaps offering local weather, stock listings and flashing local advertisements)

CHANNEL 2: WJRT TV (the present NBC Network station, broadcasting from Bay City on Channel 5)

CHANNEL 3: WEYI TV (the present CBS Network station, broadcasting from Saginaw on Channel 25)

CHANNEL 4: WUCM TV (the present Public Broadcasting Network station, broadcasting from Delta College on Channel 19)

CHANNEL 5: WKBB TV (the present CBS Network station serving northern Michigan, which would offer Detroit Lions football and other "black-out" Detroit area events broadcasting from Alpena on Channel 11)

CHANNEL 6: WJRT TV (the present ABC Network station, broadcasting from Flint on Channel 12)

CHANNEL 7: Christian Broadcasting Network (CBN) offering the PTL (Praise

OBSERVATIONS BY THE PUBLISHER AND OTHERS

GARDEN TIME IS HERE - It certainly hasn't been the greatest year for family gardens, but we still want to tell everybody about the best there is!

We're starting to keep track of our "Home Grown Contest" entries in various fields of garden production. As your garden goodies grow (if they do!), let us know about especially big or unusual vegetables.

We'll keep track of the big ones and will publish a weekly list of "qualifiers."

We'll again take pictures of the biggest entries in various categories and will record and publish all qualifiers submitted. Let us know if and when you've grown a big garden something, for our 1984 Home Grown Contest!

RACING FOR FUN - Friday night is the time for the second annual Coffin Race, sponsored for fun during Back to School Time by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce. A traveling trophy will be awarded after the 7:30 p.m. race through town. A shorter course is promised this year by organizers.

Any group with a six- or so person team and a "pine box" should register immediately with Clark Elftman at Kretschmer Home Center. Pre-race festivities are planned at 7 p.m., and there are lots of sales going on throughout town.

The Chamber also urges area residents to attend benefit softball game for Mark Smith immediately following the coffin race. WHNN Radio Gents are playing Pigeon Jaycee all-stars.

DANGEROUS AIRPORTS! Boy, I'm REALLY going to be careful the next time I get to a big airport. I'm going to watch the floor very carefully. I've never SEEN so many people lose their money and traveler's checks just before they get on their planes, as they do in the American Express ads! Boy, there must be lots of klutzy people out there!

Thank heavens most of us don't lose our money so often. Poor old American Express would be broke!

CHANNEL 8: The Weather Channel offering round-the-clock regional, national and world weather information

CHANNEL 9: Cable News Network (CNN) offering 24-hour national and world news (NOTE: WJRT Channel 12 presently offers CNN news as part of its regular newscasts every day)

CHANNEL 10: WTBS TV Ted Turner's "SuperStation" offering independent (non-network) movies, old shows and sports events from Channel 17 in Atlanta, Ga.

CHANNEL 11: Entertainment and Sports Network (ESPN) offering round-the-clock worldwide sporting events and specialty programming, aimed primarily at men

CHANNEL 12: Nickelodeon-ARTS Nickelodeon is a children's channel offering specialty programs and wholesome cartoons and presentations, primarily in daytime hours. The ARTS Channel offers opera and upscale programming, primarily in nighttime hours.

CHANNEL 13: WGN TV offering independent programming, old shows and sports from Channel 9 in Chicago

CHANNEL 14: MTV offering "Music Television" rock and roll video programs 24 hours a day, with late-night concerts, movies, "video jocks" and other programming on weekends. A stereo FM station may also be used to improve MTV sound

CHANNEL 15: Cable Health Network offering family care and health programs throughout the day

CHANNEL 16: C-SPAN offering 24-hour public affairs programs, consisting primarily of coverage of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Christiano says many people have inquired about WKBD Channel 50 in Detroit, since its independent programs include some Detroit sports events. Channel 50 is not available here via microwave signal, so it cannot be offered at a reasonable cost.

FOUR PAY CHANNELS: Pioneer Cablevision will be offering four pay TV stations at additional monthly cost, Christiano says. Expected to be offered individually are:

Home Box Office (HBO) offering first-run movies, children's shows and other specialty programs 24 hours a day

SHOWTIME offering first-run and classic movies plus occasional special shows

CINE-MAX offering total movies, both new and older classics, all day and night long

The Movie Channel offering total movies, both new and classics

WHAT'S IT GOING TO COST? Basic service is expected to cost $9.95 per month for hooking up to one set.

The premium services (HBO, SHOWTIME, etc.) will each cost $9.95 per month additionally, Christiano estimated last December.

Each additional installation (second TV set) per dwelling would cost up to $4.95 - meaning a home with full cable service to one television set would pay about $40 per month.

Delta classes start

Registration for fall semester classes at Delta College is underway. The college's fall semester begins Aug. 29. For further information, contact the Delta College Registration Center at 686-9395.

Registration for non-credit occupational training and personal enrichment courses offered through Delta's Community Services Division begins Aug. 15.

Deming accepted at tech institute

Edwin Deming of Bay Port has been accepted for enrollment in the Automotive Technology Program at Lincoln Technical Institute of Indianapolis, Indiana.

The 50 week course is scheduled to begin on Sept. 14.

Deming is a graduate of Laker High School.

COSTLY CONSTRUCTION: But Christiano says the cable wiring, equipment and construction expenses his firm is incurring will cost about $10,000 per mile of installation. In January, he said he expects $750,000 will be invested before the system is operational. Willis Hengy of Pigeon is a partner with Christiano in Pioneer Cablevision.

He hopes about half of the 3000 residences in the Pigeon, Elkton and Caseville areas will sign up for cable service, and has promised an emergency message system to warn of tornadoes and other possible disasters.

Caseville and Caseville Township will comprise one system, and a separate antenna tower, earth station (receiver dish) and electronic building will soon be started there. The present buildings now being erected near Laker High School will serve the Pigeon-Elkton system.

READY TO ROLL: Christiano, Snider and Germain say pole wiring is continuing and expect house hookups to begin within the next month. Pioneer's office is located in the McLean Insurance Building, 6409 Main Street, Caseville, and the telephone number is 856-2231. Snider can also be reached at 453-3236. No one is presently located at the office, but regular hours should begin there soon.

FASCINATING CABLE FACTS: There are approximately 5600 cable TV systems in the United States, growing at a very fast pace as people seek more than three or four channels offered. The national average is 12 channels, while average monthly basic service fee is about $8.34, according to a USA TODAY survey.

Some potential viewers are so eager to get cable installed that they're called "truck chasers" - they'll chase installers' trucks to get hooked up (23%). Some are "basic, but..." consumers who are ambivalent about TV but end up watching nearly as much as truck chasers (28%).

"Entertain me" customers especially like the diversity of the specialty channels (21%). "Make it worthwhile" folks are TV snobs with little interest in cable (21%), says the Opinion Research Corp. survey.

Finally, "No, thank you" people claim to need or want very little from television (7%).

Some national companies really believe in the future of cable TV, notes the Wall Street Journal. General Foods Corp. (Jell-o, Cool Whip, etc.) spent $4.5 million on cable TV advertising the first six months of last year, while Anheuser-Busch (Budweiser Beer) spent $4 million.

Do people really want cable TV? In Marquette, 76% of the homes have cable service (although over-the-air broadcasting channels don't send good signals into that remote city. That's still much higher than the 40% or so national cable TV penetration average.

CABLE COMPETITION: Some observers believe wiring homes for cable service is a short-term solution to peoples' desires for expanded programming. Direct broadcast satellite television - DBS - will offer "cableless cable TV."

The new Anik C-2 satellite will offer direct, multi-channel TV beamed from a satellite to a small, four-foot-wide dish antenna on your roof. It would cost $300 to $700 for the antenna and up to $40 a month for the signal unscrambler needed.

At present, DBS is available only in the eastern U.S., but it will eventually be available nationwide. People in remote areas will especially be interested in the DBS system, since cable TV service isn't easily available to them. Companies such as RCA Corp., CBS Inc., and Western Union Corp. are preparing to jump on the DBS bandwagon with their own satellites later this year.

LOCAL TV SELECTION: The Pioneer Cablevision spokesman say they're looking forward to offering an excellent system for this area. The first customers in each area turned on at a time will get free installation as an incentive to try cable TV.

Summer residents will be contacted prior to Labor Day to add service next spring. Local sales people will be hired to go door-to-door throughout the three wired towns to inform people about service and to sign up customers. Each person will be well-identified, Snider says.

"Your best bet is to sign up for all the extra channels, since it doesn't cost anything to have them disconnected - but connections after the introductory period will have a charge," Snider says. "We live here, and we want the kind of system we can all be proud of."

GOING UP: Excavation and construction began last Wednesday for the first earth station, the 80-foot self-supporting tower and a 12-foot by 16-foot air conditioned building to house electronic equipment for the Pigeon and Elkton portion of Pioneer Cablevision's service to the Western Thumb.

The new tower will be erected just east of Laker High School. Work on the Caseville portion will begin soon, with a similar building program, Snider said.

As we see it editorially

Typical day may have been his last

It was just another day for the 40-year-old man. He was driving safely in his new-model car, along a familiar road on which he'd traveled countless times. He wasn't really in a hurry, but then again he was moving thousands of pounds of vehicle down the two-lane highway at a speed faster than many thrown balls.

He was thinking of the minutes and hours ahead, planning the day mentally. As he pulled out to pass the slower car ahead, he didn't realize the other driver was doing the same partial daydreaming. That driver also knew exactly where he was going. He knew he was turning left, although he may or may not have showed his intentions with his turn signal.

No matter. The characters in this scene were all in place. The 40-year-old driver pulled out to pass the slower moving car and quickly realized that little blob coming at him was moving faster than he had expected. Nerves and senses sharpened in a micro-second. Full attention was now being paid to that car quickly approaching, as the corner of his eye registered the new terror of the slower car readying for a left turn!

The path of least resistance seemed to be trying to move back into the right-hand lane. At least there, no head-on injuries were possible.

The wrenching screech of metal against metal, glass breaking and the smell of tires hot from braking collapsed in on the 40-year-old. In another micro-second, two cars had side-swiped each other, even though a much worse head-on collision had been avoided.

Some blood, racing heartbeats and a few bumps and bruises were visible - or audible. But the twisted metal heaps of "totaled" cars lying side by side with each other were instant reminders of the moving masses which had been mobile only moments before.

The usual crowd of on-lookers gathered and stared. A business-like but understanding state trooper arrived soon and appeared to be relieved no serious injuries had resulted.

Then, looking over the demolished cars, he told the 40-year-old, "You wouldn't be standing here talking with me right now if you hadn't had that seat belt on. In fact, I don't think you'd be with us at all."

His words shocked deeply as they hit home. The trooper reminded the dazed 40-year-old and the others within hearing distance that he has never unbuckled a dead man. "Seat belts save lives," he reminded seriously.

That 40-year-old is a loved member of a local family. He wasn't expecting anything unusual or different that day, but then no one wakes up in the morning and plans to brush closely with death.

He probably wouldn't be here for birthdays, holidays, picnics, the church choir or other living examples we take so for granted if that seatbelt had been dangling next to him, as it is on more than 80% of Michigan drivers.

He would never have known the joys of seeing his children grow more and mature, of sharing a special moment with his wife, of laughing at a funny story with family members and friends.

He's still here because of that little seatbelt. But he was as close to death as the inches which would have separated him from that seatbelt, if he hadn't taken the three seconds to buckle up.

The results are much too true to life to be just a story. And they can happen as you drive around town, or around the nation. His new car was totally destroyed, but he's here to tell about it. We all know which would have been the more tragic loss.

"Great ideas
need landing gear
as well as wings!"

RECOLLECTIONS of by-gone days

By GEORGE KEIM

Dear Editor,

On Aug. 5, my daughter Mary and my two grandsons went to the Menominee Relief Sale at Fairview. We got there in good time and I saw a lot of good friends I hadn't seen for a long time.

One was Jack Elssesser from north of Elkton. He used to do my threshing when I lived east of Elkton. We talked about one experience we had when we threshed for one man, who sent us to town for dinner. He told them to give us a plate lunch, but anybody who ever went threshing knows that a plate lunch isn't enough for threshers.

The man felt bad about it, but thought that the lady where we threshed made up for it. We had turkey and mashed potatoes and gravy and all the trimmings. And Jack sent somebody to town to get ice cream. We all ate too much and one fellow went out holding his belly.

Another man I met at Fairview had lived in Pigeon in 1912. I didn't know him, but he asked about a lot of people and most of them are gone. I got some of Art Perry's bean soup, which was very good, and then they had a very good program. Several groups sang. Maybe I've heard as good, but never better.

After a good night's rest, I went there again for a breakfast of pancakes and sausage, which was very good. I didn't eat too many, because I kept room for some other things.

There were a lot of Pigeon people there. The weather was very good and people all had a good time. The quilts sold well. I stayed away from the jewelry wagon and when the sold a quilt that had been sold several times at other sale, I bid on that one.

There were a lot of people there and they ate a lot, but all the money they took in went for relief work.

In Eccl. 2:25 it says, "For who can eat or who else can hasten thereunto more than I?" Well, I could always eat good, so by eating and paying for it, another person can eat on what I pay for mine. Both of us get good out of it.

Inspector Gordo's Minute Mystery

THE CASE OF THE Suicide room

Sir Kevin Brook pulled back a massive door that opened off one of the arched corridors in his 600 year old castle in Wales. Inspector Gordo, a weekend guest, peered down into darkness.

"A room with four walls... and no floor," said Sir Kevin. "Or rather, a floor 100 feet below the threshold."

"The room was designed to dispose in secret of troublesome vassals," explained Sir Kevin. "Later, when the beautiful wife of the first Lord Brook died in the plague, a grief-stricken young forester hurled himself to his doom here."

"A nasty legend developed from the forester's death," added Sir Kevin slowly. "It is that a young man will jump in the reign of every fourth baron. I am the fourth since the last suicide."

Sir Kevin shoved the heavy door shut. "I've ordered a mason from the village. He'll be here tomorrow to seal off the door."

Gordo's bedroom was three doors from the "suicide room." As he was retiring for the night, he heard an eerie, dull-thud. It could mean only one thing. He hastened to the corridor.

Sir Kevin was running toward the "suicide room." Together the two men swung open the massive door. Sir Kevin played a flashlight down into the dark pit. The beam revealed the body of a young man.

"Ritchie, my wife's solicitor!" gasped Sir Kevin. "Why should he take his own life?"

"He didn't," corrected Gordo. "He was pushed!"

How did Gordo know?

Dear Mom and Dad Please send $$$

By KAMI BUCHHOLZ

We all have many expectations that must be met, or we're given that wonderful ultimatum, "or else." That's a pretty elusive two words, but we all know the hidden meaning.

Take this for example: driving one's car a wee bit past the 55 mph speed limit, and you suddenly pass a police car. Your brain sends out an APB: slow down, or else.

The above situation is a common one, but the "or else" clause is clearly defined. Unfortunately, there are many instances in which "or else" leaves a mouth full of words unsaid.

Suppose you were given $1 million. Yes, that's a big assumption. You're told you may spend the money any way you like, but if you're not careful about where you spend it... you'll hear that "or else" ringing in your ears.

Here's when "or else" becomes "or else what?" If I don't spend the money wisely, I'll go broke? If I don't watch where I spend it, someone might actually try to cheat me? Then again, I never had that much money to begin with, so what difference does the "or else" make?

Agri-Land attracts lawmakers, other food lovers

STATE SEN. JAMES BARCIA (D-Bay City) samples some of the pork burgers served by the Michigan Pork Producers Association at the fair's Agri-Land.

"Agri-Land," a new Huron County commodities promotion at the Huron Community Fair, hosted local and state officeholders last Thursday.

State Senator James Barcia (D-Bay City), Representative Dick Allen (R-Caro) and county commissioners viewed the booths promoting the various commodities, as well as sampling the tasty products served at noon.

Extension Agricultural Agent Jim LeCureux noted the importance of agricultural commodities to the Thumb area with a chart that shows Huron County to be the top agricultural county in the Michigan based on sales. According to the Michigan Statistical Abstract, dated 1981, Huron County accounted for $161 million in sales, compared to $113 million for Sanilac County in second place.

The 13 commodity groups that cooperated to produce the new agricultural promotion included: Michigan Beef Industry Commission; Thumb Sheep Breeders;

Michigan Pork Producers and Porkettes Association; Michigan Allied Poultry Industry; Michigan Certified Seed; Huron County Bean Growers; Bay Port Fish Company; Huron County 4-H; Michigan Sugar Beet Growers; Huron Soil Conservation District; Michigan Corn Growers; Michigan Milk Producers Association and Dairy Diplomats and a group of local strawberry growers.

Michigan's smallest corn crop in seven years is expected to be harvested this month, thanks to a wet spring planting season, dry summer growing times and the P.I.K. program planting cutbacks. The Michigan Ag Reporting Service in Lansing says the corn crop will be 175.8 million bushels - down 43% from last year's record yield. It's the smallest crop since 1972, MARS says.

Most state crops are headed for dismal showings, the service says in its Aug. 1 statewide survey. Most state crop yields should be down, except for winter wheat (up 42%), sugar beets (up 4%) and alfalfa hay (up 2%).

Nationally, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says the U.S. corn crop will be 5.24 billion bushels - 38% smaller than last year's record crop.

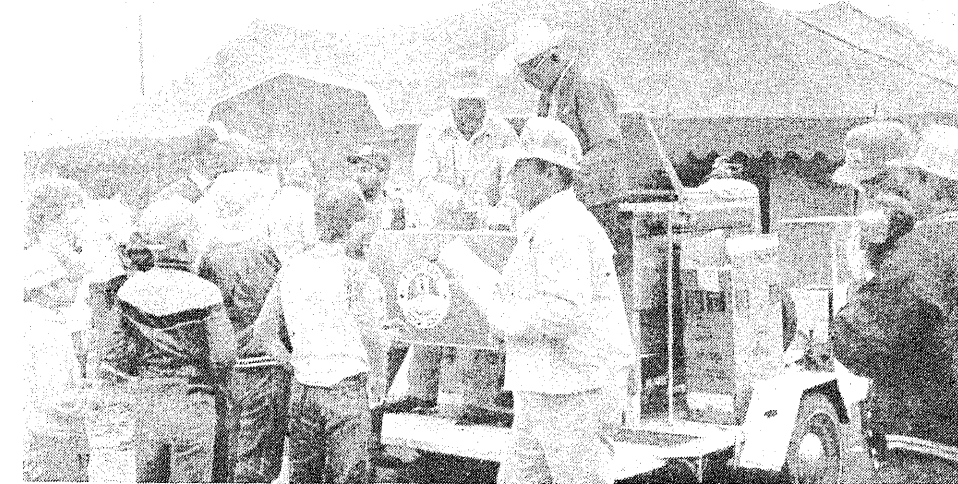

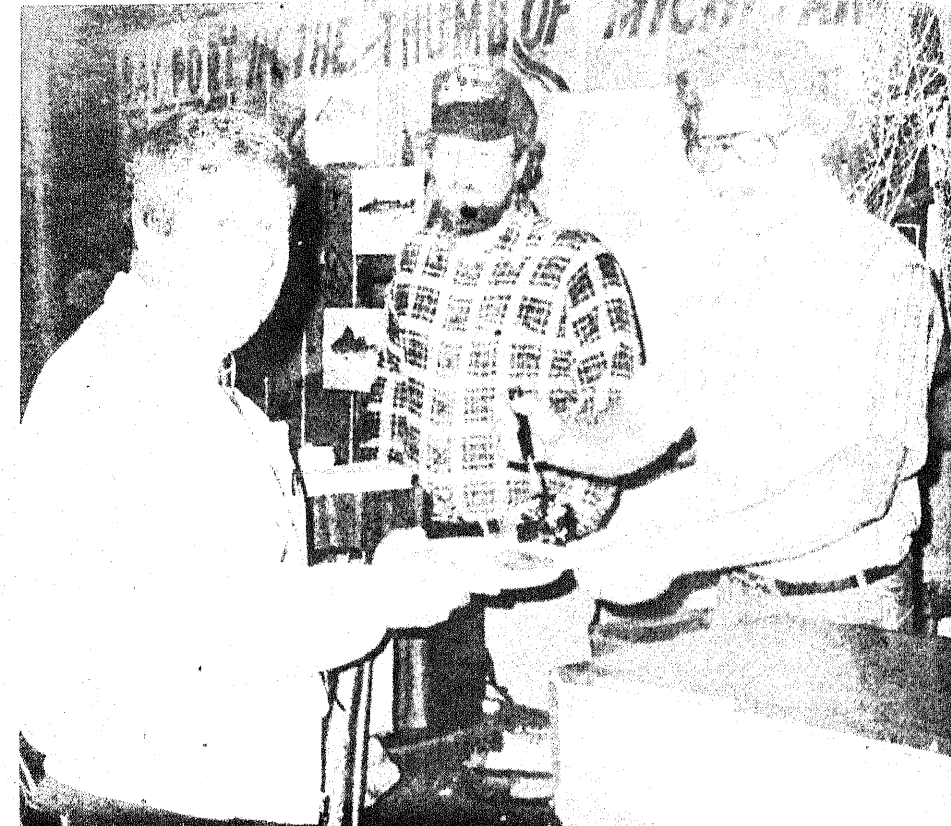

The biggest single factor in Michigan's crop reduction is the 32% cutback in corn acreage under the P.I.K. program, experts say.

Dry bean production is down sharply, according to the MARS crop survey. The total should be 3.9 million hundredweight (cwt.), about half of last year's production - and the smallest since 1957.

Development of the '83 dry bean crop is about two weeks behind normal, due to adverse weather at planting time. Hot, dry weather during July stressed the crop and yields should average about 1150 pounds per acre, compared with 1350 pounds last season. Bean harvest will probably start after Labor Day, MARS says.

Planted bean acreage is 360,000 acres for Michigan, 36% below last season and the lowest since 1952. This is even 20,000 acres below the June 29 acreage estimate.

Of that total, 300,000 acres are estimated in Navy beans, compared with 460,000 acres last year. Acreage for all other classes (colored) of dry beans is 60,000 acres, compared with 100,000 last year.

THE PIGEON CO-OP navy bean kettle gets plenty of use. Bean growers are shown here using the kettle to serve up hot bean soup.

Grand Trunk plans to end local rail service

First, the C&O Railway recently announced plans to close Sebawaing and Elkton depots, to curtail service.

Now, the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co. has announced its plan to seek abandonment of its "Cass City Subdivision" serving the area from North Branch north through Pigeon.

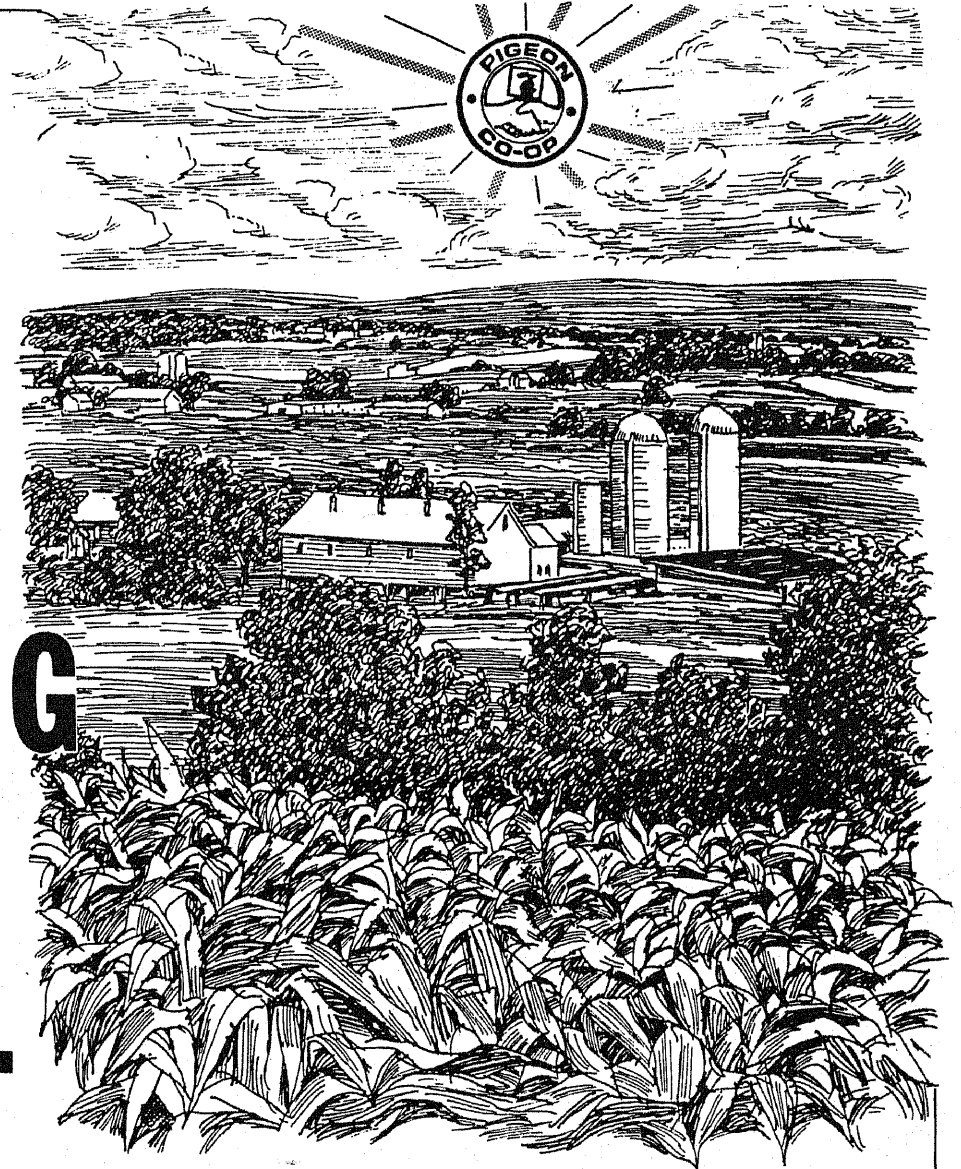

The 50-mile stretch would close service and stations at North Branch, Clifford, Cass City, Gageton and Pigeon, due to "the decline in business which has produced revenue from this service well below the level of operating expenses required to provide service upon this line," according to a Grand Trunk announcement.

Written comments may be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Proceeding AB 31 (Sub-No. 9), Room 5417, Washington, D.C. 20423. If no protests are received within 30 days of the Aug. 17 filing, the abandonment request will be granted.

The abandoned line could be available for subsidy or sale for continued rail use, the ICC says. Further details appear in announcements published in this week's issue and in other places, including the Flint Grand Trunk station, Flint, MI, R.D. Jepsen, agent.

Barry-Buschlen united in marriage Aug. 6

Gwynne Renee Buschlen, Pigeon, and John Smith Barry, Elkton, were united in marriage on Saturday, Aug. 6 at Cross Lutheran Church, Pigeon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Buschlen, Pigeon and the groom is the son of Arlene Barry, Bad Axe and Louis Barry, Elkton.

Rev. Raymond E. Orth performed the double-ring ceremony.

Music selections included "The Wedding Song," "Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer." Soloist was Maria Schumacher, Pigeon, accompanied by pianist Kevin Laursen, Pigeon. The congregation sang "Love is the Sunlight." Organist was Mae Ann Orth, Pigeon.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and a matching unity candle with pink pixie carnations.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white schiffli embroidered net with a free-flowing lace pattern which translated the silhouette of the high neckline and fitted bodice. Soft bishop sleeves were caught at the wrist with a Schiffli lace cuff. The simple skirt softly gathered over satin ending with a Schiffli lace at the hemline and chapel train. A picture hat matched the gown to complete the total look.

She carried a lace-covered Bible on which laid a cascade of white dendrobian orchids surrounded with waxy stephanotis, trailing ivy and pink junior bridesmaid rosebuds.

Leanne Smith, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a Victorian style tea-length voile gown in delicate pink over taffeta with a satin sash caught at the waist. She also wore a halo of gypsophelia froth.

Also attending the bride were Suzanne Dast, Grosse Pointe Park, Susan Gardy, Lansing, friends of the bride, Jacqueline Barry, Elkton, sister of the groom and Lisa Buschlen, cousin of the bride. They wore dresses identical to the matron of honor's.

Each attendant carried a casual colonial bouquet of white dendrobian orchids, pink junior bridesmaid rosebuds, pink pixie carnations and gypsophelia.

Best man for the groom was Thomas Barry, Elkton, brother of the groom. Robin Buschlen, Bay Port, cousin of the bride and friend of the groom, Mark Fritz, Owendale, friend of the groom, Gregg Buschlen and Brad Buschlen, Pigeon, brothers of the bride were groomsmen. Seating guests were ushers James Leitch, Elkton, brother-in-law of the groom and Denson Smith, Caseville, friend of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of aqua crepe with a pleated front, a high ruffled neckline and bishop sleeves.

The groom's mother chose a gown of burgundy qiana with a crystal-pleated skirt and a sleeveless bodice of chiffon capelette which covered the gown. A flower design accented the bodice. Both mothers wore purse corsages of ivory alstroemerias.

Following the ceremony, a dinner reception for 300 guests was conducted at the Pigeon VFW Hall.

EYE OPENERS

By Dr. Douglas A. Buehler, Optometrist
THE LAZY EYE

Q. What is a "lazy eye"? Why would a doctor patch the eye that sees more clearly?

A. This procedure is designed to force the use of the weaker eye to strengthen the vision in it.

Amblyopia, or lazy eye, usually develops when a person can't use both eyes together, or when there is a large difference in visual acuity between the two eyes. Since the images received by the brain are so different, the brain rejects what it receives from the weaker eye and—over a period of time—this continued rejection decreases the vision in that eye even further. Patching the eye with better visual acuity forces the brain to interpret the image received from the weaker eye, and therefore forces the child to use it. Glasses, vision training and even contact lenses are often used instead of, or in conjunction with, patching.

Q. If a child keeps bumping into things on his left side, could it mean that his left eye is not seeing well?

A. Only a complete eye examination can determine whether a child's tendency to bump into things is vision related. If the vision in his left eye is blurred, or being repressed, the bumping into things would be vision related.

By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

One technique gaining popularity in dentistry today is known as an overdenture. In its simplest form an overdenture consists of a full denture which rests upon and covers two or more remaining natural teeth.

Usually the natural teeth have had root canals performed (nerves taken out). The natural teeth are then reshaped to height of about 1/4 of an inch above the gums. Sometimes gold crowns are fitted over the remaining natural teeth in order to help preserve them. The plastic on the inside of the denture is recessed to fit the slightly protruding teeth precisely.

The benefits of utilizing natural teeth to help support a full denture are many. First, the natural teeth help prevent the denture from moving vertically toward the gum tissue. This in turn helps keep the remaining dental ridge from dissolving as fast as it might under an ordinary denture. Second, the denture is limited in its sideward motion by the natural teeth. This provides stability, especially during chewing and speaking motions. By keeping the denture from moving extensively and preserving the dental ridge, there may be less need to replace the denture frequently. This could represent a cost saving over a period of time. Indeed, the initial cost of preserving the teeth under the denture could be offset by less frequent replacement of the denture.

Of course, the teeth and gums underneath will have to be maintained especially well.

Any people who have lost their teeth due to lack of dental hygiene in the first place, might be well advised to either change their ways or simply not attempt an overdenture.

Low bid isn't always okayed, Board says

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

The process of awarding contracts based on competitive bidding often presents a difficult decision to local elected officials. They occasionally must decide whether patronizing businesses among their constituents justifies spending slightly more of the money paid by taxpayers they represent.

That was the situation faced by the Laker Board of Education last Tuesday night when they considered bids submitted to provide milk for the district's hot lunch program.

Bids were received from Kociba Dairy of Bad Axe, amounting to $19,665 for the school year's milk supply; Meinhold Dairy of Bad Axe, amounting to $19,922 and McDonald Dairy of Flint, amounting to $20,178.

Of the three bids, only Kociba Dairy guaranteed that the quoted price would remain the same throughout the school year.

Board members Bruce Baur and Sid Smith informed the board during the discussion of the bids that last year's supplier, Kociba Dairy, was not a member of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, while the other two bidders bought their milk from MMPA dairy farmers. Both Baur and Smith, themselves dairy farmers and MMPA members, said they were approached by disgruntled dairymen from the Laker, district after Kociba was awarded the milk contract last year.

Baur and Smith advised the board to accept the bid of Meinhold Dairy, noting that an expenditure of $257 was insignificant in relation to the total amount of nearly $20,000.

"I think we should support the majority of the people of the district rather than one producer," said Smith in justifying his advice.

When other board members speculated about the possibility of price increases during the year, Baur and Smith assured them that such an increase was extremely unlikely in view of the current milk surplus.

The board then decided in a unanimous vote to accept the bid of Meinhold Dairy.

Business manager Bob Drury noted, "In the past we haven't always taken the low bid if it concerned a local merchant." He added that when the amounts of the bids differed significantly, that low bids were accepted.

During the discussion of the bids it was pointed out that Baur, Smith and Virginia Leipprand were all members of the MMPA, but they denied any conflict of interest in voting on the bids, saying that they wouldn't profit personally in the decision.

The Laker school district is the beneficiary of added competition between milk suppliers since Kociba entered the picture. Last year both dairy's prices were higher than the bids submitted this year. Using the number of units used for calculating this year's estimated total costs on last year's bids results in a figure of $20,007 for Kociba and $20,212 for Meinhold.

Superintendent Harry Brunet says that after the bids from last year were announced and the contract awarded to Kociba, Meinhold Dairy offered to drop their price by over $300 in an effort to undercut Kociba's bid. That procedure was unacceptable, Brunet says, because the contract had already been awarded and suppliers are locked into the bids they formally submit.

Superintendent Harry Brunet says that after the bids from last year were VFW POST #2236 LADIES AUX.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary Post #2236 was conducted Tuesday, Aug. 9 with 15 members present.

Verna Thede reported that the two girls who visited Camp Trotter were taken there by VFW member Bill Schuetz of Caseville and were picked up by their parents.

Anita Gettel announced that she would like to see people fly flags every day, not just on holidays, and reported that flags are available from the auxiliary. Carol Dronsella reported that she will be presenting a filmstrip on cancer in October, to which the public will be invited.

Margie Thick said that several auxiliary members are presently hospitalized, and cards were signed and sent to them. She also mentioned that the VA Hospital in Saginaw is in need of volunteers.

The Kitchen Committee reported that the auxiliary Farmers' Festival events were successful, and they thanked everyone for helping.

Different projects were discussed for the coming year, with more action taken next month. The next regular meeting will be Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m. All chairmen are asked to have their books there early. Floor work will also be held.

Coffee and dessert were served to the members.

GTE reports new twist in fraud

There's a new wrinkle in telephone Calling Card fraud, according to John Russell, General Telephone security manager for Indiana/Michigan.

"It started on the west coast," Russell says. "An individual impersonating a telephone company service office employee calls a customer and, during the conversation, obtains his or her Calling Card number. This individual then informs the customer that the number is being re-issued, gives the customer a fictitious new number and proceeds to use the customer's valid number to place calls to points all over the world."

"Calling Card numbers are the customers' private property," Russell points out, "and should not be shared with anyone they wouldn't trust with a signed blank check."

Individuals receiving calls requesting Calling Card numbers are advised to hang up and call the local telephone company business office.

Owen-Gage Schools will begin Tuesday, Aug. 23 with an all-day in-service for staff members. School bells will ring for students on Wednesday, Aug. 2 at 8:30 a.m. Bus routes will remain similar to last year's.

Students are asked to be at bus stops 10 minutes early to allow for adjustments. Hot lunch will be served the first day, with prices ranging from 55 cents for grades 1-6 at Gagetown Elementary to 85 cents for grades 7-12 at Owen-Gage Schools. The prices are subject to change, and applications for free or reduced prices will be sent home with students during the first week of school. New Owen-Gage staff members are Brenda Parker of Cedar, Home Economics and Spanish and Margot Cooley of Bay Port, commercial teacher for first semester, replacing Mrs. Peggy Randall who is on child care leave. Sandra Parks has been recalled to teach kindergarten, replacing Eva Rochefort who retired in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Zottneck and sons Jeff and Jeremy of Tulsa, Okla., were Wednesday dinner guests of Mrs. Viola Schuette.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Kreh of Nashville, Tenn., spent a week with his mother while on vacation. They also visited relatives and friends. A few relatives surprised Jerry Young on Friday evening in honor of his birthday. Out of town guests were his mother, Mrs. Lena Young of Elkton and the Zottneck family.

Attend the Church of Your Choice This Sunday and Every Sunday

FAITH UPHOLDS THE LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND

According to a Bible text you've read,
"...your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things."
—Matthew 6:32

Here is God's plenty.
—John Dryden

A mere two fishes and five loaves of bread
Were all that Jesus had on hand for food;
In spite of which He fed the multitude.
We learn in Church that with the proper prayers,
The Lord will demonstrate how much He cares;
When with His goodness He will intercede
In answer to our every earthly need.
So trust in God, should some demand arise,
Exceeding your available supplies;
For then, as people long ago have found,
There'll always be enough to go around.

—Gloria Nowak

Albion coach speaks Sunday

Morley Fraser, assistant to the president at Albion College, will preach at the Caseville United Methodist Church this Sunday, Aug. 21 at the 10:15 a.m. worship service.

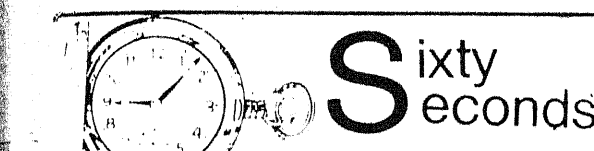

Fraser, a former football coach, baseball coach and associate professor of physical education at Albion, began his coaching career in 1949 at Newberry High School in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Under his leadership, the Newberry squads compiled a three year record of no defeats by stringing together 24 consecutive victories. In 1951, his Newberry team won the state championship.

Morley Fraser

Fraser continued to bring his enviable coaching record to positions at Lansing Eastern High School and then at Albion College in 1954, where he accepted the position he now holds as head football coach for the Albion College Britons.

In God we trust

Read Matthew 8:23-27

Trust ye in the Lord forever; for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength. Isaiah 26:4.

A young girl awoke from her fitful sleep and cried out in the darkness. Her nightmare had sent shivers down her small frame. She felt alone and helpless.

But as she cried out, she heard the familiar sound of her father's footsteps. She saw her bedroom door swing open and saw the face of her concerned father.

He stepped to the bedside and gently brushed the hair from the young girl's face. The little girl smiled contentedly. There was nothing to fear; her father would protect her from the dangers of the night.

Our trust in God is similar to the little girl's trust in her father.

When the trials of life lead us into situations that are as fearful as the nightmare of a little child, God asks us to trust in His continual protection.

He has always kept His Word. He has promised to send the Savior to die for our sins and to rise again, and that promise was fulfilled.

Through and in His Word we can see His loving face before us and feel the gentle touch of His hand.

We are assured that God will use our trials and tribulations to our advantage. This is the everlasting truth on which our trust can rest.

Dear Lord, we thank You for always being with us and for being our everlasting strength. Amen.

TTLM vespers continue

Top-of-the-Thumb Leisure Ministries continues the Vespers at the Huron City Church. This Sunday, Aug. 21, Rev. Rex Oswald will be in charge of the 4 p.m. service with music led by the choir members of Our Lady of Lake Huron Catholic Church, Harbor Beach. Father Oswald is currently the pastor of OLLH where he has served the past two years. He is well-known in the Thumb area, being raised on a farm near Minden City. His first parish assignment was at Lexington, and he was the priest at Bad Axe Sacred Heart for over seven years before going to Chesaning. He has said he is happy to be back in his home area again.

On Wednesday, Aug. 24, the TTLM Vesper Service at Caseville United Methodist Church will be a musical presentation by the Pigeon Men's Community Chorus. The group was formed in 1979 and has sung at many functions in the area. There are 36 men in the group, representing six different churches in the Pigeon community. Lyle Shetler is director and piano accompanist is Kevin Laursen.

The chorus uses a wide variety of musical styles in its presentation. Gospel, spiritual, contemporary and secular numbers will be sung at the 8 p.m. service. A time of refreshment and fellowship will follow the musical program.

SOUND-OFF!

Call 453-2323 anytime day or night to record your SOUND-OFF message. Selected statements will appear weekly in The Progress-Advance...so watch for yours!

To the person inquiring for a Methodist Church Cook Book; stop in at the Gamble Store in Pigeon and you may buy one.

Mr. Milton K., you're doing great at horseshoes. Hope you keep up the good work! Thank you.

To those of you in Pigeon who can call and complain about my children but do not leave your name, I don't think you're worth the bother so don't call me anymore. If you can't talk about it sensibly, don't bother to call me at all. Thank you.

I found a sum of money in Pigeon. The owner may claim same by calling their phone number to SOUND-OFF, and I will contact you.

This is to the person who called into SOUND-OFF a few weeks ago that the Farmers' Festival Parade should be changed to the morning because her kids have to take an afternoon nap. You got the kids' parade changed to the morning because of naps and that is fine because it is a kids' parade. But remember, this is an adult parade. Some of us have to work in the morning and couldn't attend if it was in the morning. Just once it won't hurt the kids to miss a nap, and if it does, stay home with them and spoil it just for you instead of many of us. Thank you.

The doctor you quoted in the Caseville Airport story last week said he is thinking about opening a clinic in the area, not for certain and not necessarily in Caseville.

I was wondering, whose voice is this that tells about The Progress-Advance when you call SOUND-OFF.

Hooray for the Bay Port Chamber of Commerce. A total of 5100 fish sandwiches sold this year. Over the years, that's many thousands of dollars after expenses. We are wondering here in Bay Port what the Chamber does with that money. They should spend more on Bay Port activities and improvements. They might try buying some baseballs for the summer little league teams or some other non-profit organization.

Views On Dental Health

EDWARD HOLTZHOUSE, D.D.S.

Why Dental Insurance?

Consider these statistics: Of children over fifteen, 75% have some form of gum disease and an average of 11 cavities. By middle age, 2 out of 3 people will have serious gum problems and be well on the way to losing all of their teeth.

Why should such a technologically advanced country as ours be in such poor state of dental health? The answer is: neglect. Few Americans see a dentist as often as they should and many have NEVER seen one. There are many reasons for this and one of them is money. Now something is being done about it.

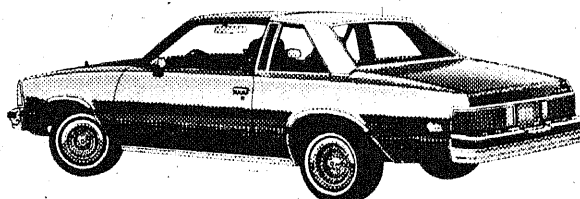

While most Americans have some kind of medical insurance, dental insurance has lagged far behind, but now dental coverage is growing by leaps and bounds. Today, some 65 million (3 out of every 10 Americans) are covered by some form of dental insurance and estimates are that coverage could increase to 95 million by 1985. Labor unions have been striving for wider dental protection and are responsible for much of this increase. In these times of inflation, the average American can use all the help he can get.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of Edward P. Holtzhouse, D.D.S., 33 North Wright Street, Elkton. Phone: (517) 375-4255.

OUTDOOR Report

By DUANE GUENTHER

Fishing continues to be hot and heavy in most parts of the bay. Trout and Salmon are active in both Port Austin and Grindstone City. Harbor Beach is reporting nice catches of Kings straight out from the harbor and three to four miles south.

Walleyes are still hitting at the Charities. Some good action was reported off McGraw Park during the week. Hot-N-Tots are the lures to be using, and trolling during cloudy days when the surface of the water is rough will produce the best results.

Perch were good in the steamer channel, at Charity Island and in Harbor Beach. Some reports filtered in about lunkers being taken a couple of miles straight west of North Island.

The DNR commission met in Marquette this past weekend. Items of importance included a study that indicated bringing moose to northern Michigan would be feasible and practical. Of course the necessary funds needed to bring about such a plan would be advantageous.

The wildlife division outlined this fall's waterfowl regulations. While they are not finalized yet, an inside report showed that our opener would be on the first of October. The limit would still be covered by the point system, with the black duck being raised to 100 points and the bluebill being lowered to 10 points. The goose limit will remain at two, with the season length dependent on the harvest. The harvest will be 25 percent of the largest peak flock. Last year this caused some excitement as the season was cut very short because of a large, early harvest. There was also some talk of an extended 16-day season that would allow you to shoot black and white ducks. Don't hold your breath on that one...

There were four tables of bridge in the afternoon. Mavis Pechette, June Duprey, Marian Rathje and Hazel Osterhoudt were winners.

First and largest

The day after the July 4 holiday, Betty, Julie and I hopped in the Blazer and with our pop-up camper in tow, headed for the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City. In years past, Betty and Julie made the trip alone, spending a few leisure days with Belty's cousin at their cottage on Little Traverse Lake. In the meantime, I would be off to Canada or the UP, trying to get in a little fishing. This year I made a terrible mistake and when the Cherry Festival rolled around, I was caught without a fishing trip planned. Being an opportunist, my wife quickly enlisted me as a traveling companion for her yearly jaunt to the Traverse area. I pouted and screamed like a baby, but she and Julie held firm, and Julie found us pounding northward on I-75.

About 5 p.m. I turned off U.S. 31 and headed south towards our prearranged camping destination. We had decided to spend a week at a state park neither of us were familiar with. Some friends of ours indicated that it was a beautiful place and being situated some 13 miles southwest of Traverse City, Interlochen State Park had become our choice.

Interlochen State Park is located on the shores of two beautiful lakes in western Grand Traverse County. It takes its name from the small town of Interlochen located a mile to the north. Interlochen is famous for its National Music Camp which borders on the state park property.

Historically, Interlochen ("between the lakes") was a logging town. It sprang up beside the Manistee and Northeastern railroad which was laid to transport the huge pine logs that would be cut from the thick virgin pine growth that flourished along the shore of both lakes. Duck Lake to the east and Green Lake to the west were connected by the Little Betsie River. The Big Betsie River drained out of Green Lake and wound down to Frankfort located on Lake Michigan.

Giant virgin pines were cut and piled along the banks of the Little Betsie and on the shores of Green Lake. Come spring break-up, the dam at the end of the lake was blasted out and thousands of feet of timber moved across Green Lake and down the Big Betsie to Frankfort. Logs cut from the shores of Duck Lake were shipped on lumber trains of the M&NE.

In 1897 a young Quaker named Willis Pennington came to Interlochen and opened a drug store. By 1909, Pennington believed in the future of the area so much that he built a summer hotel on Green Lake, where the student center of the Interlochen Arts Academy is now located.

When World War I broke out in 1914, the demand for lumber increased and it was decided to cut the pines between the two lakes. Pennington secured an option on the 200 acres on which grew this great stand of pines, and heading for Lansing he finally induced the legislature to purchase the land as a public park. This was the first State Park established in Michigan (1917) and the beginning of our system of state parks.

Interlochen State Park is a beautiful 186 acres of virgin pines mixed with maple, beech and oak. There are 470 camp sites on Duck Lake with electric hook-up, flush toilets, hot water, showers, tables-stoves, beach and playgrounds. On Green Lake there are 80 rustic camp sites which are served by pit toilets and hand pumps.

Both lakes offer good swimming and fishing. There are excellent trout waters nearby in both the Betsie and Boardman Rivers. Canoeing, hiking and horseback riding round out a full line of activities.

If music is your bag, the Interlochen Center for the Arts, which includes the National Music Camp and its school-year counterpart, Interlochen Arts Academy, is located on the boundaries of the park.

The National Music Camp was founded in 1928 by Dr. Joe Maddy. It had a modest beginning on borrowed money and 115 high school musicians. The outstanding success of the first season and of ensuing seasons, has resulted in tremendous growth. During the present year, the National Music Camp offers instruction in dance, drama and the visual arts, as well as music, to some 1,500 eight-week students from the age of eight years through college. An additional 1,000 Michigan high school students are served by the All-State programs throughout the summer.

Since 1962, the 1,200 acre campus is shared by the Interlochen Arts Academy, a coed college preparatory boarding school for students in grades nine through 12. This school offers an enriched academic curriculum supplemented by intensive study in art, drama, dance and music.

All in all, the trip to the National Cherry Festival was made a little more tolerable by the great camping site we found at In-terlochen State Park. Although the park was crowded and at first I thought we would be living in a miniature city, the spaciousness of the sites and the cooperation of other campers made our stay very delightful.

Not as delightful as a Canadian fishing trip mind you, but close.

A big thank you to EVERYONE who made the Bay Port Fish Sandwich Day the success that it was! Our appreciation to those who cleaned, prepared and served the sandwiches, all the news announcers, newspapers, radio stations, TV stations and Fair Haven Township for the use of the hall. This history-making event, serving 5,100 sandwiches, would not have been possible without everyone's help and cooperation.

Those parties filing protests to the proposed abandonment (or discontinuance) should be prepared to participate actively in either oral hearings or via the submission of additional material in the form of verified statements. Parties seeking information concerning the filing of protests should refer to 49 CFR 1121.36.

THOSE LITTLE BLACK MARKS

Isn't it amazing how we take them for granted, those little black marks on paper? Twenty-six different shapes known as letters, arranged in endless combinations known as words. Lifeless, until someone's eye falls on them...

But then a miracle happens. Along the optic nerve, almost at the speed of light, these tiny symbols are flashed to the brain where they are instantly decoded into ideas, images, concepts, meanings.

The owner of the eye is changed, too. The little black marks can make him love or hate, laugh or cry, fight or run away. And what do we call this incredible chain of events?

We call it reading.

Partly because it is such a complex process, reading is not just a habit or a skill, it's a deeply satisfying emotional experience. Something in us knows that the soundest insights, the truest wisdom, the most enduring knowledge come through this channel. The spoken words rushes by and is gone, but the written word remains. It endures. It can be consulted over and over again. Forever.

How wise, then, to surround oneself with books and magazines. How wise to love the, and teach one's children to love them.

How wise to read!

Geiger Road open for traffic!

After being closed to through traffic for 10 years, Geiger Road between Caseville and Notters Roads is open again, following completion of the new bridge over the Pigeon River at that location.

The new structure was completed Friday at a cost of approximately $250,000 according to Huron County Road Commission Engineer, Manager Robert Tufts.

Traffic was halted on that stretch of road when the old bridge partially collapsed in 1973. It was placed on the State Critical Bridge List in 1978 and received approval for funding in 1980, says Tufts. Construction of the bridge, which consists of two 50-foot spans supported by one pier, began in 1982.

HURON COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION ENGINEER ROBERT TUFTS drives a car across the new structure, accompanied by Bridge Crew Foreman Virgil Mazure.
