Who will be Caseville Queen?

One of these three senior class members of Caseville High School will be wearing a Queen's crown Saturday afternoon, as she is chosen to reign over the 1984 Homecoming ceremonies.

From left, Melinda Goslee, Gela Kretschmer and Kelly Wagner are vying for the crown, to be announced during halftime ceremonies of the 1 p.m. match-up with the Akron-Fairgrove Vikings. Melinda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goslee and Mrs. Doyle Daniels; Gela is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kretschmer and Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmer.

The annual Homecoming Parade begins at 10:30 a.m., through town.

Additional information is on Page 24 in this week's Progress-Advance.

$100,000 goal set for Pigeon Library expansion

Plans are rolling well for the Pigeon District Library's expansion project, which utilizes the now-vacant buildings east of the existing building at the corner of S. Main and Nitz Streets.

The project -- which will add a reference room, audio-visual room with kitchenette, small conference room, small meeting room, enlarged work room and an inside book depository -- has a goal of $100,000 according to the Finance Committee. This amount will insure the project is suitably completed.

The blueprint at right details the planned addition, now being built by Hogan Construction of Bad Axe, as general contractor. Diener Electric, Inc., and Shetler Plumbing & Heating, Inc., both of Pigeon, were awarded the bids for the other phases of the building.

The Library's Board of Trustees has asked Loren Gettel to serve as Building Chairman. David Clabuesch and Paul Clabuesch will serve as co-chairmen of the Finance Committee.

Appointed by the Library Board to serve on the Sustaining Committee are Bruce Baur, Elmer Bussema, John Eichler, Lowell Kraft, Lynn Sturm, Bruce Leipprandt, Dr. Peter Castilla, Jim Christner, Bob Drury, Clarence Gettel, Dave McCormick, Scott Meyersieck, Devere Sturm and Leroy Wurst.

Any of these people can assist persons in making a pledge or donation to this project, the Library Board says.

Library supporters hope to receive help from the total library service area. All contributions are tax deductible.

Tax advantages help make donations more worthwhile to givers, as this example shows:

Assume a married couple makes a $200 donation for three years. They would receive a $100 credit on their state income tax return, plus a $200 deduction on their federal tax return.

If they're in the 30% tax bracket, they would receive a $60 benefit on their federal return.

The net result is that the donation of $200 actually costs $40 per year as an out-of-pocket expense, Library backers say.

This example is true up to a total of $400 per year for married couples filing jointly. Complete donation information under state Public Act 332 is available at the Pigeon District Library.

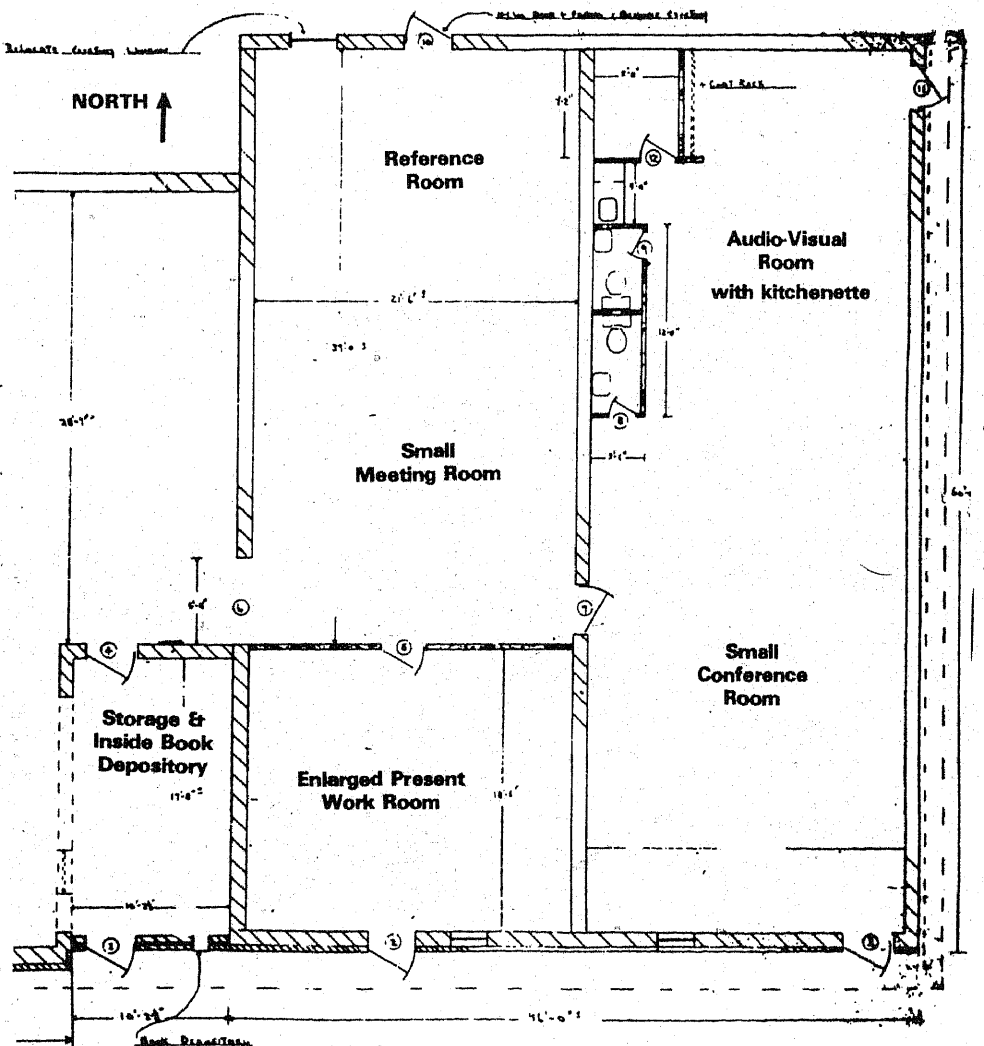

The Library reports that the need for this project is tremendous, due to over-crowding and expanded services in recent years. Presently, there are 6636 registered users of the Library.

The flow of books, toys and tapes through the facility averages to nearly 7000 items each month, with a total circulation of 46,649 items in the past year.

The Library Board is seeking any and all assistance to improve this part of the Good Life in a Small Town, according to members.

The Library serves the Village of Pigeon, Chandler Township, Windsor Township, McKinley Township and the contracted areas of Oliver, Lake and Caseville Townships.

How does YOUR garden grow?

HUGE HARVEST: Some giant "Home-Grown" produce has turned up at the Progress-Advance office again this year from Thumb area gardeners. Ella Mae Diachenko of Bay Port is shown here with a 36-pound, 22-inch-long watermelon from her garden. The giant fruit will provide a tasty treat for an Indian Summer picnic.

A 2 1/2 pound potato from Bob Heck's garden in Pigeon could provide the potato salad for that picnic all by itself! Heck says there were many other potatoes nearly as large as the whopper he eyes in the photo above.

Other "Home-Grown" entries included three tomatoes grown by Ron Rabideau of Elkton ranging in weight from one to 1 1/2 pound.

Named 'Outstanding Men'

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America awards program have announced the selection of two area young men for inclusion in the 1984 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

Douglas Bechler, formerly of Pigeon and now of Lansing and Rev. Brent McCumons of Caseville were selected in view of their service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation. Their names will be featured in the annual awards publication.

Inspector Gordo's Minute Mystery THE CASE OF THE The Old Fashion Pen

Jean Claire, professor of French at Central State University, lay slumped across his desk, an apparent suicide.

"I heard the shot about an hour ago," said Karl, the manservant. "I rushed in and called you right away."

Inspector Gordo walked to the desk, situated in the middle of the professor's library. "Touch anything?"

"Nothing except the telephone," was the reply. Gordo examined the body. "Dead," which occurred within the hour, was due to a bullet fired in the right temple at extremely close range.

A thirty-two caliber pistol lay on the back carpet to the right of the professor's head. On the desk was a note. Written in ink, with several splatters, it read: "I can't go on without Elsie."

"Elsie was his wife, ran off with a young artist last year," Gordo mused.

He turned his attention to the old-fashioned quill pen clutched in the deceased's right hand. An open antique inkwell stood next to the desk phone an inch from the pen point.

On the stand of the inkwell was engraved: "For Jean on our Tenth Anniversary. Love Elsie."

"Call the police," Gordo told Karl. "The suicide note has to be a fake. This is clearly a case of murder."

HOW COME? Answer on page 8.

Here's new Caseville fire truck!

JUST DELIVERED: Caseville Township residents are assured their firefighters are using reliable equipment to battle any blazes in the area following delivery last Friday of a new $48,000 pumper-tanker fire truck.

The powerful pump on the new truck can move 350 gallons of water per minute from a 2,000 gallon tank mounted on the 1984 Ford chassis.

The new fire engine dwarfs the 30-year-old model it replaces which only featured a 200 gallon tank capacity.

DRUNKS MUST BE DRIVING

Persons found sleeping off drinking binges in stopped cars cannot be convicted of drunk driving. That recent decision by the Michigan Supreme Court affected a Unionville man, who was convicted in 1975 of drunk driving.

James Pomeroy was found sleeping in his auto outside a Unionville tavern. He was arrested and convicted, but appeals since then led to the 7-0 Supreme Court decision on Sept. 18, saying there must be clear evidence that the driver was making some type of motion in the auto.

Prior to the decision, no clear standard existed statewide defining what "operating" a motor vehicle is, according to Pomeroy's attorney, Henry Greenwood of Southfield.

FERTILIZER CLEAN-UP DONE

About 25,000 pounds of potash fertilizer on its way to a Gagetown area farm was dumped into the Koepfgen Road ditch Sept. 24, when the road shoulder gave way under a Sohio fertilizer truck about noon.

The heavy load caused the road to fall away, and the truck rolled on its top in the ditch, police said. The driver, Donald Sweeney, 43 of Bad Axe, was not injured, but state Department of Natural Resources officials were contacted to supervise the clean-up. Potash and water in the ditch could create a mixture killing vegetation, poisoning the water.

FISHING PERMIT OKAYED

Commercial fishing will return to lower Lake Huron, following state Department of Natural Resources approval of a commercial fishing permit for Leonard Dutcher, a DeTour fisherman.

Dutcher will be allowed to set two trap nets for whitefish off Port Sanilac now until Oct. 31, and again during the month of December, as approved by DNR Director Ronald Skoog last Tuesday.

Sport fishermen in the area opposed the plan, saying the lake is still recovering from excessive commercial fish harvesting 20 years ago and longer. They had threatened legal action to stop such trap nets, and two bills facing the state Senate would prohibit any other commercial fishing in Lake Huron south of Alpena.

Dutcher was stopped from fishing in the DeTour area in northern Lake Huron (in the Upper Peninsula) as a result of disputes involving exclusive Indian fishing treaties in that area.

REGISTER BY OCT. 9

Persons wishing to vote in the Tuesday, Nov. 6 General Presidential Election must register by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 9 in their various township or city clerk offices.

This is the 30th day preceding the election, the final allowed for such registration.

POLICE NEWS SUMMARY

Michigan State Police from the Bad Axe Post have recovered a 1980 light grey pickup truck stolen about 5 a.m. last Sunday from the Leon Kretzschmer residence, 6179 Kinde Road, Caseville. Keys had been left in the ignition, and value is reported at about $5000. The truck was found Wednesday at the Active Industries parking lot, Elkton, with minor front end damage.

Sandra Irion, 29, and her son, Andrew Irion, 1, both of Sebewaing, escaped serious injury when their auto left Bay Port Road and rolled over four miles east of Sebewaing about 9:30 a.m. Sept. 22. She was checking the child's seat restraint when she lost control of the car and it rolled over, resting on its top, Huron County Sheriff's Deputies say.

Police are searching for four microcomputers with a total value of nearly $6500 stolen Sept. 22 from North Huron High School, Kinde. The teaching aids were located in a computer room, and entry was gained through a window.

Frederick McBride, 53 of Elkton, was found guilty on two counts of selling or furnishing alcohol to minors, and was sentenced to 90 days in jail, in a July 4 incident involving two Elkton youths.

SPECIAL ED. PACT OKAYED

A four-year contract between the Huron Intermediate School District and the Tri-County Bargaining Association has been accepted, involving the district's 24 special education staff members.

The HSD staff had been working nearly 16 months without a contract. Included is a 2% salary increase retroactive to the 1983-84 school year, a 4% rise for the present '84-'85 and the '85-'86 year and a 5% increase for 1986-'87. Plus, a $10,000 life insurance policy was added for teachers.

Salaries range from $15,245 for a first-year bachelor degree holder to $27,773 for a top-level specialist degree holder.

The next HSD Board meeting is set for Monday, Oct. 8 at the offices, 711 E. Soper Road, Bad Axe.

Early Bird Sale comes to Pigeon

Start getting your rest now, so you're ready for next Thursday!

Watch for the Early Bird Sale next Thursday, Oct. 11 in Pigeon — part of this year's new "Christmas in October" promotion being arranged by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce.

Sales are greatest for the "early birds who get up and get out to buy the bargains," with sale times beginning at 6 a.m. next Thursday. As the day grows later, the bargains get smaller — both in terms of discounts and because many specials will be sold, Chamber spokesmen say. Most specials will end at 9 a.m.

Some stores will be featuring free coffee, donuts or other refreshments, especially for those early customers Thursday morning. Last year's first Early Bird Sale drew much response and an overwhelming request it be repeated this year, Chamber President John Walsh says.

Additionally, many of the participating 75 members of the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce will be having store-wide sales all day Friday and Saturday, so shop early for best bargains.

Interfaith meet Oct. 9

Jean Tulip of Howell will be the featured speaker at the Christian Interfaith Fellowship meeting scheduled for Oct. 9.

She and her husband Bill are pastors of Hidden Springs Fellowship in Howell. She is involved with counseling and state-wide speaking engagements at churches and conferences.

Laker Boosters meet Oct. 9

There will be an Athletic Booster Club meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the Laker High School cafeteria. Any interested persons are invited to attend and participate.

Historical meeting Oct. 11

The fourth quarterly meeting of the Huron County Historical Society is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 11 at the White Rock School Museum.

Guest speaker Dr. Charles Survey will discuss old-fashion remedies to keep people healthy.

Also scheduled is election and installation of new officers, according to Society Secretary Oriole Marr.

Pigeon Jaycettes to treat Winsor Firemen

Members of the Pigeon Area Jaycettes will be taking desserts and refreshments to thank the Winsor Township Fire Department for their efforts promoting safety in the community, during the Firemen's meeting Wednesday night (tonight).

This is a way of thanking fire fighters and local law enforcement officers, who are also invited, according to Jaycette President Tammy Elenbaum.

Coincidentally, the treats are being offered in recognition of National Fire Prevention Week, she adds.

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

LAKER THANK YOUS — Dozens and dozens of people really helped make last weekend's Laker High School 25th Anniversary celebration the huge success it was.

From our perspective here, Bill Esch and Deb McBride of our staff deserve extra-special attention for helping produce our "25 Years of Class" special section. Thanks for your writing, selling, planning and organizing, Deb and Bill!

Another very, very deserving person in the overall scheme of things is Laker High Principal Jim Ballard. After all, this baby was Jim's idea more than a year ago — and he deserves appreciation for making it flow together so very well.

Other folks such as Lorraine Faust, Gail Richmond, Duane Guenther, Harry Brunet, Phyllis Booth and the rest of the entire Homecoming Committee deserve everyone's thanks. And, lastly (but not leastly), so does our production crew of Donna Jacobs, Kelly Henne and Dale Killinger.

Very, very well done, all!

BEST WISHES, AUDREY — A whirlwind trip up north and including the Petoskey area brought some interesting news. Former Progress-Advancer Audrey Collins has written her final "Nuff Said" column for the Petoskey News-Review to pursue other, probably larger, challenges.

Audrey's writings were very well-respected in the northwest portion of our state, where she was called "Petoskey's Erma Bombeck." And won many state and regional writing awards there (in what coincidentally is an excellent paper). Besides column writing, Aud was a staff writer and photographer for the paper and its summer supplement, The Graphic.

That community is a far cry from Pigeon and the Western Thumb Area where she began the "Nuff Said" writings, but — to show how well received she was there — 70 persons applied to take her place in Petoskey.

Why is she quitting her job and what will she do? Audrey's last column says, in part:

"I am leaving The News-Review to take on a volunteer activist role for the concerns of physically, mentally and emotionally impaired citizens, as president of a newly formed group called the Coalition of Advocates for the Impaired."

"Our coalition is a gathering of parents, handicappers, agency directors, teachers and others working together to improve opportunities for impaired citizens can discover and develop the reaches of their potential."

And there's a more personal side to Audrey's challenge, too. She writes:

"...many of you know the frustrations we have faced in our own family, trying to nurture an emotionally impaired adolescent. The pieces began to fit; it quickly became clear they were all part of the same puzzle and the only way to put it together was to work together."

Best wishes, Audrey, to you and to husband Denny (who will stay on as The News-Review's Production Coordinator), and daughter Amy and son David. You're in our hearts and our prayers.

TIP OF THE HAT TO: Laursen's Pharmacy of Pigeon. Owner Jim Laursen and staff have set up a system which offers overnight development of 35-mm color film — which is almost as good as the same-day service available only in larger cities. Cost is very reasonable, and it's WONDERFUL to drop off a roll of color film mid-afternoon Monday — and be looking at the photos after 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Great idea, friends!

WISH I'D SAID THAT — "Heroes are not giant statues framed against the red sky. They are people who say, 'This is my community, and it's my responsibility to make it better.'"

As we see it editorially

Hope it makes a GREAT cup of coffee

It seems the sky is truly the limit, when it comes to buying coffeemakers for the U.S. Air Force, at least. Published stories last week from the Associated Press showed that our government leaders have okayed the purchase of 10-cup coffeemakers on the C-5A transport plane at a rather steep cost of $7622 EACH!

That's the cost of buying coffeemakers produced "especially for the C-5A cargo plane," as supplied to the Air Force by at least one vendor. The amazing thing is that a company had the nerve to charge that kind of money for that kind of comfortable but not mandatory equipment. The GALLING thing is that our government PAID the bill, with few questions asked!

A U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating purchases of such unneeded items heard lots of testimony, and very little of it was favorable, as the coffeepot caper shows. It's too bad those people who order such parts at such outrageous costs don't have to earn that money themselves, as we civilians have to do. We'd bet it wouldn't happen if it was THEIR money!

An airman who orders parts for Travis Air Force Base mechanics in California told his superiors the Air Force could save $1.5 million per year by making replacement arm rests for seats on those same C-5A cargo planes.

That would be a better alternative than buying the arm rests from an outside manufacturer — at $670.06 each! For a REPLACE-MENT arm rest, too!

We civilians grin and bear it when our auto's arm rests start to fall apart. That, or we go to our friendly car dealer (or junk yard) and buy different ones for a few dollars. But who wears out arm rests, anyway?

The airman got nowhere with his superiors. After all, it wasn't THEIR money, either. He had checked around and learned the base maintenance staff at Travis could make such arm rests for $5 to $25 each, depending on the quantity.

And that's just for starters. The $7622 coffeemaker didn't even include coffee — and it could be replaced by a model costing about $100 minimum!

These are just tips of the iceberg, to be sure. But imagine how well our money would be spent if those purchasers were spending their own dollars!

After all, they ARE their dollars, partly, as earned from tax collections. Where's the reality? Where's the sense? Where's the decency?

No one exempt from alcohol

(Note: this series of articles on drug (alcohol) abuse is not intended to lay guilt on past memories, but to instill confidence in present situations.)

Special thanks for the support from Peter Gruhn in last week's paper on the realism of alcohol among our area youth. Peter was an exchange student at Laker's a few years ago from Denmark and is back in town for a few months. I hope people understand Peter's perspective when he wrote things like, "Have a beer with your kid..." and "...how to protect themselves from pregnancy..." I am sure that some people will recoil from such advice and throw the baby out with the bath water.

It was a great help to have people read the mind of a youth on these things. I understand that I am a generation removed from our youth and really have not lived where they live in a long time, so thanks Peter! This makes up for beating me on the tennis courts a few weeks ago.

Our youth are the initial factor precipitating this series of articles. Parents are most interested to know how they can recognize when drinking has moved from the curiosity and peer pressure stage to the alcoholic stage. To help parents and students decide whether a drinking problem might exist, Alcoholics Anonymous World Services, Inc., has devised a list of 12 questions upon which to assess the situation of possible danger.

1. Do you drink because you have problems or to face up to stressful situations?
2. Do you drink when you get angry at other people (even friends or parents)?
3. Do you often prefer to drink alone, rather than with others?
4. Are your grades starting to slip? Are you goofing off on the job?
5. Do you ever try to stop drinking or drink less, but fail?
6. Have you begun to drink in the morning, before school or work?
7. Do you gulp your drinks as if to satisfy a great thirst?
8. Do you ever have a loss of memory due to your drinking?
9. Do you avoid leveling with others about your drinking?
10. Do you ever get into trouble when you are drinking?
11. Do you often get drunk when you drink, even when you do not mean to?
12. Do you think it is a matter of pride to be able to hold your liquor?

If you can answer yes to anyone of these questions, it may be time to take a serious look at what your drinking might be doing to you. We need to know that alcoholism is a progressive disease, which if left untreated, grows more virulent year by year until it drives its victims further and further from the normal world. The end result of alcoholism when left untreated has only two outlets: insanity or death (these are documented and well established facts).

The early symptoms of an alcoholic can be seen emerging in the first ten years of drinking steadily. This period is known as incipient alcoholism and its symptoms include:

1. Makes promises to self ("I can do better next time") and to others ("I know my limit and intend to stick to it").

2. Tells lies by minimizing or concealing number of drinks and times being drunk.
3. Gulps drinks ("other people drink too slowly").
4. Takes drinks before going to a party or event where there will be drinking.
5. Must have drinks at certain times (after work, before dinner, before special events such as sports, concerts, weddings or on weekends).
6. Must have drinks for tired feeling, nerves, worries, depression (nothing else helps, shattering day at the office, frantic day with the children).

One's eating habits are not much affected, although incipient alcoholics may toy with food after too long and too busy pre-meal drinking intervals. Or they may wolf the meal with a liquor-plus-delay induced voracious hunger. Therefore eating habits are not an indicator. Any of the above six symptoms is a good indicator of what direction someone is heading.

I think at this point we understand that alcoholism is a disease stimulated by alcoholic consumption. People react differently to the same amount of alcoholic consumption. This is the way diseases are. When exposed to certain stimuli, some will contract cancer while others will not. When exposed to the wet and cold, some will contract the common cold while others will not. When exposed to cigarettes, some will contract lung cancer while others will not. And when exposed to alcohol, some will contract a stupor after three drinks while others will not after 10 drinks. Alcoholism is a disease.

As a result no person is too young, too old, too rich, too poor, too intelligent, too stupid, too strong or too weak to be exempt from its scope. It does not matter that much how long one has been drinking or even what one has been drinking. What matters is what drinking does to the individual.

In my opinion the real killer of alcoholism is not necessarily alcohol. The real killer is an uneducated community that creates the idea that there is something dirty and sinful about an alcoholic (and his or her family) and convinces victims of the disease that it would be better for them (and their family) to hide the problem and suffer personal pain rather than expose the problem (ie. get help) and risk public pain as the whole community talks about their "problem."

"Oh, how can she put up with such a husband who drinks like he does, she must really be a saint!" "Hey, guess who had to be carried home from the party last night?" "Why, it was disgraceful... she had alcohol all over her breath." "No wonder that family dresses like bums, both parents drink up the paycheck every week!" "Hey, guess whom I saw going into an AA meeting last week in Bad Axe."

With community comments like these, who in his right mind would ever admit he needs help?

In the next weeks we will discover the difference between a heavy drinker and an alcoholic, realize alcoholism as a "family disease" that affects each family member and be able to recognize some of the typical symptoms among children and spouses of alcoholics.

RECOLLECTIONS

of by-gone days

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR,

Now that I've been home from Europe and have written about my trip (which I enjoyed very much), I found a lot of things to do, to get caught up after my three weeks away.

So I mowed my lawn and straightened up my yard. I went to several auction sales, too. Our Youth For Christ sale was first and it sure felt good to be in a crowd where you knew more people than your own relatives and where you can understand the language people talked in!

Next, I went to a sale in Sebewaing and got a lot of stuff I never can use! After the stuff was sorted out, I had six clocks and they all run. I also had a lot of dishes that I'll never use, but I had a lot of fun buying them.

Then, I went to the Bay Shore Park Sale and had a very good time. I had a good visit with the Pastor of the Kilmanagh UMC and also visited with some other people who I have known a long time.

I bought several things that I didn't need, and when Dale Wertz (who was the auctioneer) couldn't sell some things, they'd put them on a pile. You guessed it — they sold the pile to me!

Cliff Pobanz had a pickup truck there and he brought some of the stuff to my place. I ended up with a little record player and a carpet sweeper, two little cupboards, a sump pump and two old-fashioned calculators. I sold John

LIFE...

After College

By KAMI BUCHHOLZ

College students are back in the swing of things again. Back to the old routine of classes and homework and...well, back in school again.

Of course, not being in school has its advantages — although being able to cut a class to do other things is sometimes more appealing than doing other things and not cutting a class. We're talking work here!

Everyone has his or her own impression of what work is, a sort of self-description that varies from person to person.

Take boxing for instance. Recently I watched a "Tough Man" amateur boxing contest. Men and women compete for the title of the toughest slug in the area by trying to go three rounds.

Fahrner one of them and I got a lot more.

I believe if I'd stayed at home, I'd have more room in my garage, but living alone as I do, if I couldn't get out once in a while and have some fun, I'd climb the walls.

Then, on Sept. 21, my son Wayne and his wife and I took off for Goshen, Ind., to attend the Relief Sale held there every year. We got there in the evening, in time to hear the Men's Chorus from Berne, Ind., sing. They were very good.

Someone said there were more than 5000 people walking around. There were lots of trailer houses and motor homes there. That night, I went to my nephew's place for overnight and met my brother Alvin and his wife. We had a nice visit.

The next day we went to the sale. People were there by the thousands. They sold pancakes and sausage and barbecued chicken and of course lots of apple butter and other food.

A quilt sold for over $5000 and they sold an old Rumley oil pull thrasher engine for $9500. All the stuff was donated by people. The more you ate and bought, the more money they have to buy food for the hungry people in Africa or elsewhere.

In I Cor. 10:31, it says, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do it to the Glory of God." We came home Sunday evening tired, but happy.

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

C.A.R.E. group thanks
Progress-Advance, voters

Dear Editor:

The C.A.R.E. group of Caseville Township wishes to thank The Progress-Advance and its editorial and reporting staff for the excellent coverage and support of the C.A.R.E. principles. We also want to thank the voters of Caseville Township and those who supported us at the polls.

We are in agreement with your editorial on resolving the on-going differences that are prevalent in our township. An effort was made on Wednesday, Sept. 19 by Mr. Lankey, in the presence of your Editor, for the officers of each group to meet and hopefully come to some agreement and understanding. This request was made to Mr. D. Charles Marston of the CCC and his answer was an emphatic "NO." The following day, Sept. 20, a phone call was made by Mr. Lankey to Mrs. Ardyth-Courtney Marston, president of CCC, requesting a meeting with her officers and the officers of C.A.R.E. After a lengthy phone discussion, she stated that she would call back after conferring with her board, but to date, Mrs. Marston has not seen fit to respond.

We are fervently hoping that in the immediate future, the CCC puts aside personal animosities so we may work together for the betterment of the community. Thank you very much.

Thanks A Million

Dear Mr. Ross:

I bet you have never received a letter like this one. You see, I am one of those people that's too old for a job to hire and too young to retire. I lost my job in 1982. I got one making half what I was making. I thank God for it.

My church gave me a bucket to stand in front of the church with on Sunday, for the members to come up and put whatever their hearts told them to put in. When it was over I had $54, praise God. I knew this would not help much on my rent and gas bill.

I saw your write-up in the Indianapolis paper. I was going to write and ask you for money. But the Holy Ghost woke me up this morning at 3:30 a.m. and told me to send half to you for some of the people that write you. The Holy Ghost said to me, "Plant a seed out of your need." So it's now 3:38 a.m. and this is what I am doing.

Dear Mr. Ross:
I have been fascinated for years by books about the CIA and other spy organizations. Could you invest in my future and send me to a "spy" school? I know I'd make a great undercover man. — D.E., Ind.

Dear Mr. E.:
As a would-be spy, your first undercover assignment is to find out if there's such a school and where it's located. If there is one, we might stake it out for awhile before planning our next move.

Former Laker teacher applauds efforts by 25th Reunion Committee

Dear Editor:

Returning to Laker High School for the Silver Anniversary Weekend was an incredible experience.

I know I speak for many — from the burst of flame on Friday night to the last strains of "A Summer Place" on Saturday night the memories surged within us all.

I had not returned, but only briefly in 17 years and suddenly for a few moments — We were ALL there, ALL together, ALL remembering.

For the tremendous amount of organization and work by the committee, I applaud you. I'm sure I speak for all when I say, "IT WAS WORTH IT!"

Thank you for my memories.

An alumni teacher,

Keogh
Retirement Plan

Q. WHAT IS KEOGH?

A. Keogh is the name of a tax-sheltered retirement plan for the self-employed.

Q. HOW DO I KNOW IF I QUALIFY FOR A KEOGH PLAN?

A. You qualify if you are self-employed (sole proprietor or partnership) and not incorporated.

Q. HOW DO I BENEFIT BY A KEOGH PLAN?

A. You benefit in your retirement years in that you will accumulate funds for your retirement. The funds you accumulate, plus the earnings on those deposits, are free of current income taxes right up to the time you retire or start withdrawals.

Q. DOES THAT MEAN I NEVER PAY ANY TAXES ON MY KEOGH FUNDS?

A. No, but it does mean that while your funds are accumulating, you will pay no income taxes. Keogh is a tax-deferred plan in that you will pay taxes as you withdraw your funds.

Q. LET'S SAY THAT I HAVE TWO JOBS—ONE WHERE I WORK FOR SOMEONE ELSE AND THE OTHER AT WHICH I'M SELF-EMPLOYED—CAN I SET UP A KEOGH PLAN?

A. By all means, yes. However, you can only count your self-employed income in figuring your Keogh contributions.

NEWS BRIEFS

Grain Market News

It appears that the year-long surge in the US dollar is nearing an end. Stronger foreign currency futures and lower interest rates both serve as good news for farm prices.

Trading in Chicago will likely remain thin and choppy until the October 11 crop report. Prices should remain stable as farmer selling continues light and scattered rain is forecast to slow harvest.

The soybean price scenario runs the full field with the Bears pointing to USDA's stock report of 174.8 million bushels and calling for prices approaching the $5.02 loan rate in November. The Bulls are looking for November soybeans to approach the $6.50 figure with only slight harvest pressure. Most analysts expect prices to range between $5.70 and $6.20.

excuse not to buy US grain. China's grain purchases last year dropped off because of another textile dispute. US diplomats have announced that they will hold consultations with China.

According to one official, China will likely hold off any large purchases of US grain, pointing to a large Chinese harvest as the real reason.

Agriculture Secretary John Block announced that a 5% paid diversion program could be added to the program if the October corn stocks report shows over 1.1 billion bushels of carryover stocks.

Forecasters Call For Good Sign-up in 1985 Farm Program

Crop Weather Update

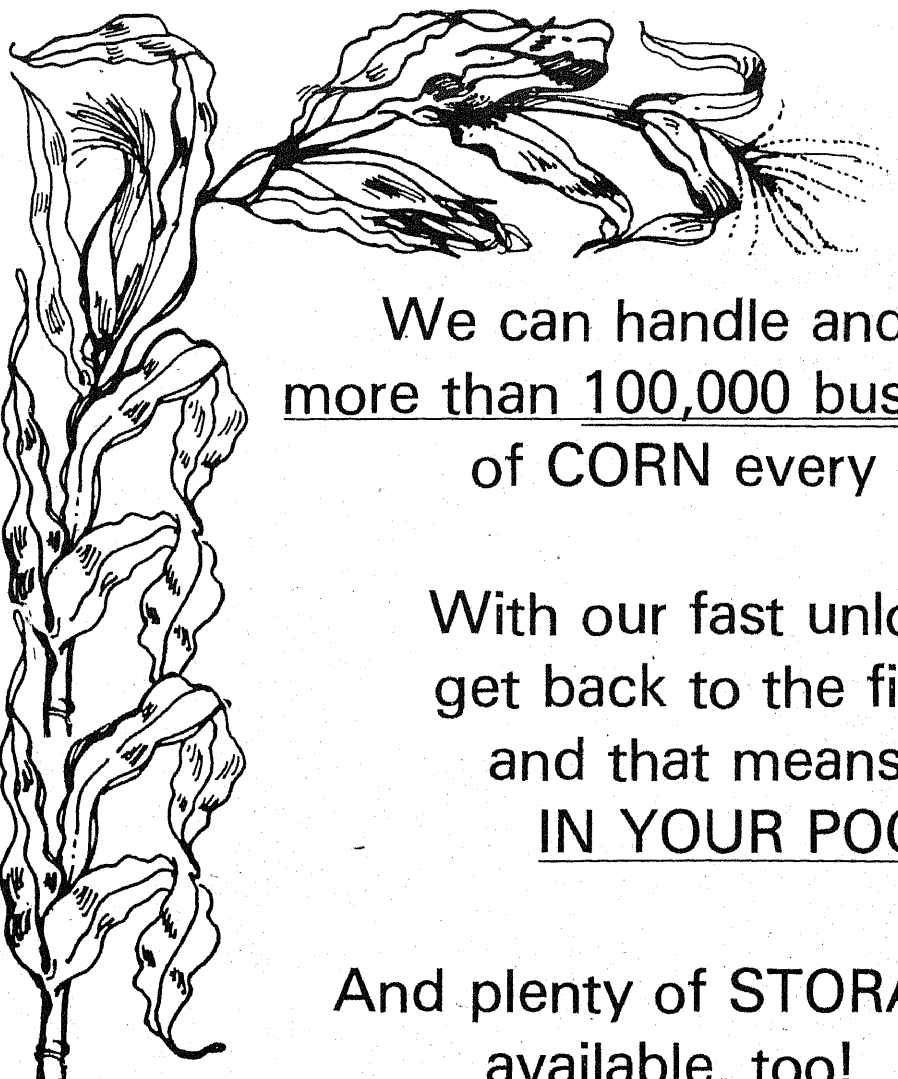

Freezing temperatures spread across the Midwest this past week, but little damage was reported.

The northwest portion of Iowa did report some damage on late planted soybeans where 5 to 10% of the crop had been replanted. Similar estimates were given in northeast Nebraska. In many areas, the freeze will actually help the harvest because it defoliated plants and knocked down the weeds.

Both full season and double crop soybeans in the southeast are showing yields of 28 to 35 bushels.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

1985 Farm Bill - Will It Make History Or Repeat It?
By Bob Driscoll

A lot of folks are spending much of their time thinking and talking about the new farm legislation that will be written by Congress next year. Emphasis is being placed on the word "new".

A call for new direction in farm programs is being heard in our Nation's Capitol. The debate will soon begin. The question is, how "new" will the new direction be? Most government programs are designed to deal with problems, not opportunities, so let's examine some of the problems.

One of agriculture's major problems was well described in a national magazine article. "Less than 50 years ago, the greatest economists worried about a wheat famine. Today we worry not about famine but about surplus. It is an export-and price determining-surplus from which the world is suffering today."

Does that description of today's problems sound familiar? The author of the article has a good handle on the issues facing agriculture. These quotes are from an article in FORTUNE magazine that outlines the problem of over production and it's depressing effect on world agriculture. The date on the front cover is November, 1931. The article talks about the "Farm Board", a government agency set up to address this surplus problem.

As I wandered through the old, yellowing pages of this magazine from the depression years, the fact that history has repeated itself was evident.

Since 1931, agriculture has gone from feast to famine several times and each time the governments of the world have developed new solutions which seem to develop into the same old problems. It would seem we have done an excellent job of perpetuating the need for new solutions, and perhaps that was the real objective.

Will the 1985 Farm Bill be remembered as the "new direction" away from agriculture's past problem? The answer might lie in our ability to truly analyze yesterday's solutions and tomorrow's opportunities rather than today's problems.

Active Feed hosts poultry tour

Active Feed's new $1.6 million egg processing facility, which is nearly completed, was toured last Thursday by about 75 poultry experts and producers. The new handling facility features a computer-controlled, egg washing, grading and packaging process with a capability of 6000 dozen eggs per hour, according to Active Feed General Manager Joe J. Maust.

The tour culminated a Thumb Area poultry meeting sponsored by Huron County Extension Ag Agent Jim LeCureux. Featured speaker Gene Gregory of Midwest Egg Producers Association informed those in attendance about the National Egg Marketing Order Provisions Proposal.

Other topics included egg marketing considerations, fly control and a Michigan Egg Industry Development Program petition.

UPPER PENINSULA painter Dietmar Krumrey has been named Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year for the second straight year by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Krumrey, 36, of Manistique, took top honors in the fifth annual MUCC competition with his painting of a pair of pheasants in winter. Catherine McClung of Dexter was second, while Lawrence Cory, Jr., of Birmingham took third place.

RINGNECK HUNTERS won't find any encouragement for the upcoming season in the pheasant brood count made by mail carriers

this summer. The count is the lowest ever, says Harry Squibb, DNR pheasant specialist.

Carriers counted .7 broods per 10 days of driving on their routes, Squibb says, down 43% from the average count of 1.2 broods in 1983.

He says the low count of 469 broods in the pheasant country confirms the fears biologists had earlier this year. That low count came despite the fact that carriers drove a total of 350,000 miles to make it.

Livingston County was the highest in total counts, with 2.6 broods in 10 days of driving. The Thumb counties were second, with 1.2 broods per 10 days. That's down 61% from '83. Thumb counties include Huron, Sanilac, St. Clair, Tuscola, Bay and Saginaw.

MICHIGAN DUCK hunters had better hope the ducks raised in Ontario and Michigan stick around a little this fall, because they'll make up the bulk of the waterfowl in our flyway.

Duck production on the Canadian prairies had a severe decline this year and will affect the total duck numbers in Michigan. The fall duck flight is expected to be about 4% lower than last year, reports the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

RESEARCH PROVES SUBLUXATION A Very Serious Problem

Using live animals, we have demonstrated that nerve compression - the neurophysiological component of the subluxation - a very serious problem.

We have shown that when you have a biomechanical displacement (spinal misalignment) and nerve compression, you can actually see reduced action potential on the spinal nerve root that causes many dysfunctions, INCLUDING PAIN and DISEASE

SOUND-OFF!

Call 453-2323 anytime to SOUND-OFF

I'd like to say to the Laker 25th planning committee, job well done and thank you, it was great. Here are some questions: why was the 1981 graduating class placed last in the parade and in the far corner at the dinner dance? Also, where were my classmates from Pigeon? Everyone who came came from a distance!

Mary W., you were wonderful - to allow all those "bus ladies" to have fun on Joe's 75th birthday.

I'd like to know if there's anyone in the Pigeon area who does monogramming. Please call SOUND-OFF.

I'm looking through The Progress-Advance and I don't see a picture of the Laker Homecoming King. Who was it and can we see a picture?

There are many families that use the video cassette tapes at the Pigeon District Library that would like to see the old tapes sold or removed from the cases. We're tired of seeing the tapes that have been on display two years or more. Library staff, when questioned, state it will take Library action to remove these tapes. Can anything be done?

You "diehards" in Bay Port: isn't 25 years of "nit-picking" enough? You had your way, your vote made Lakers possible. If you'd worked as hard to make the school a success as you have to keep old, foolish hurts alive (things that should have been forgiven and forgotten!), we'd all be better off.

As for the parade being in Bay Port, just how would you have handled a crowd that size? As for the shuttle bus, you no doubt were in Pigeon for the parade (or you should have been). All you had to do was board one there and ride!

Hey, Elktion: this Wednesday the Elktion Lions will be selling Brach candy door to door for Halloween. Proceeds will be used for community betterment. You have supported us in the past, and we'd appreciate your support again. Thank you, from the Elktion Lions.

I'd like to wish congratulations to the Laker Homecoming King, Buck LePage.

It's just too bad the Elktion town didn't continue their Little League football program. The kids are the ones who lose out.

I am writing regarding one person, my father, Jim Kohl, who was forgotten when special thanks were being given for helping with the parade and traffic control. My father was out of bed at 5 a.m. that morning because he was on call that weekend. He had to make his rounds of the village pumps and then help set up barrels along the parade route, plus put up barricades along the parade assembly route. He also controlled traffic at the light during the parade.

I'm tired of reading about thanks to Don Otto or Don Otto and the DPW crew. They have names. Pete Dubs, Mike Graf and my father, Jim Kohl. Signed, a concerned daughter, Cheri L. Kohl.

To "jet lover": don't give me the "sounds of freedom" garbage. Jets don't have to fly over town to wreck Sunday morning church services. Who do YOU worship? Not the Air Force, I hope.

Beauty shops and doctors' offices are here to help you feel good about yourself, on the outside and the inside. We do our best to help, if you have a problem. Don't try to embarrass them by degrading their business. There is such a thing as honesty, such as "this TV program or that music bothers me. Please shut it off." The problem is that people nowadays don't care who they hurt.

If they're going to pave Gagetown Road, they should get on with it. It's all mud and a mess and is hard to drive through. The bus cannot get through. It might be easier to walk.

Happy belated birthday to Brenda M. Thank you.

Elktion news

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Rothfuss and son Brian of Grand Ledge spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Rothfuss of Elktion.

I'm really sick of people putting down Michael Jackson. You don't know talent when you see it, I'm sorry, but Lawrence Welk is out.

People say there's nothing to do here in Pigeon. Why don't some of the talented ladies get together and have craft classes? Embroidery, stitching and so on could be taught. There's a lot of talent here. How about it?

That eyesore people saw on James Street, Pigeon, now looks a lot better. A coat of paint does a lot and give Jerry Maust and his helper credit for the good job they did.

I liked Mark Rummel's article on spending taxpayer's money so easily. Public workers have no mercy on taxpayer's money. There are two ways to handle money, look for a place to spend it and another way is to look for a place to spend it. I believe in the very near future we will have a taxpayer's revolt, which is long overdue.

Kindinger urges farmers to tell ag message

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

"We've got to find a way to communicate our concerns in agriculture to other people," was Michigan Department of Agriculture Director Paul Kindinger's advice to Huron County Farm Bureau members at the organization's annual meeting last Thursday.

"We have an American public today that is basically ignorant to the problems of agriculture," Kindinger stated. That message should contain three points, he noted.

One aspect of the message is the importance to agriculture to the nation's economy. Agriculture, America's biggest industry with $1 trillion in assets, contributes 20% of United States' Gross National Product.

Another idea to be communicated is that agriculture is currently in trouble. "We're not crying the blues, just telling the facts," said Kindinger. "When agriculture is in trouble, the nation is in trouble," he added.

The third aspect of farmers' message is to offer an alternative to current farm policy. Long-range governmental policies regarding agriculture must be adopted to aid farmers in their future plans, the Director said and added, "Agriculture is the only industry that government doesn't allow to plan for the future."

Kindinger said a reduced federal deficit would help farmers by increasing export markets and lowering interest rates. Also future farm bills should build stability and confidence in American agriculture as a reliable supplier, he stated.

Political pressure on agriculture policy should be reduced by usage of greater input from broad-based policy groups, such as Farm Bureau, concluded Kindinger.

Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton Smith in brief remarks also stressed the importance of policy decisions by the organization. "My advice to you as farmers is to tackle the big issues," he said. "The 1985 Farm Bill is one of those big issues," Smith added.

Outgoing Huron County Farm Bureau President Bruce Kuhl expressed thanks for cooperation during his seven-and-a-half years on the Board of Directors.

Michael Zagata of Sebawing was elected District Four Director to replace Kuhl, who was ineligible for re-election. Dale Oeschger of Bay Port was elected to fill the expired District Three term of Robert Rathje, who also was ineligible for re-election. Marvin Kociba of Harbor Beach was re-elected as Director At-Large.

The Service to Agriculture Award was presented to Huron County Dairy Diplomats. Representative Marie Leipprandt noted some of the activities the organization sponsored during the past year.

Resolutions approved by Huron County Farm Bureau members at the meeting included:

• Recommended farmers to use slow moving vehicle signs, lights and reflectors for safety.

• Support for rebuilding of Ruth Road from the county line north to M-142.

• Recommended continuation of "No Sunday hunting" policy in Huron County.

• Approve publication of Huron County Commissioners agenda prior to meetings.

• Approved restructuring of method of selection of representatives to Agri-Pac.

• Support for House Bill 4198, "The Michigan Farmers' Right to Water Act."

• Urged state Farm Bureau organization to explore possibilities of a more economical medical insurance plan for members.

• Recommended publication of expense accounts for Michigan Governor, House and Senate members.

• Supported a constitutional amendment for a balanced budget.

• Recommended 1985 Farm Bill include provisions for sugar producers.

• Recommended Farm Credit Act system remain intact.

• Favored a market-oriented policy for agriculture.

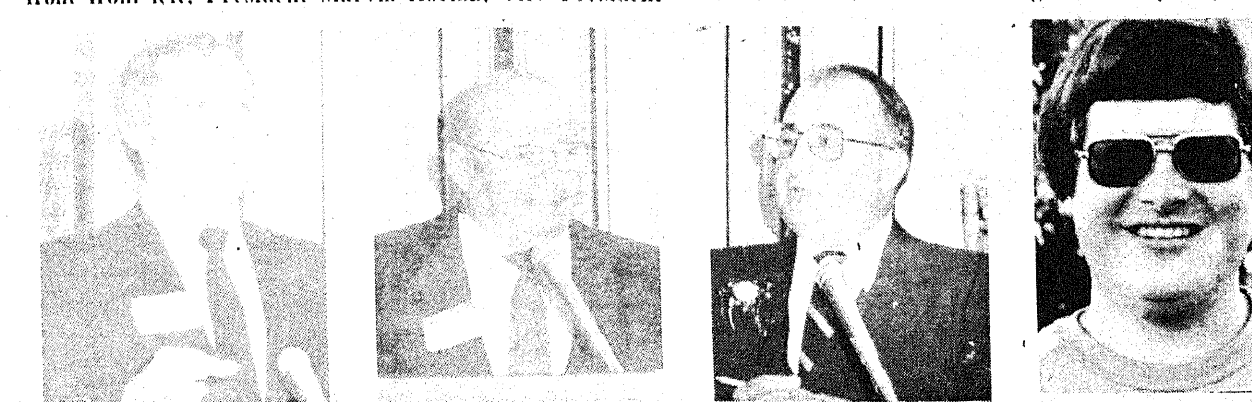

• Recommended loans related to market prices and adjustments made by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and price supports be included in 1985 Farm Bill.

Recommended federal dairy program continue dairy price supports but remove assessments of producers by federal agents. A dairy promotion program based on a 15 cent per hundredweight contribution by milk producers was also supported.

LET FAITH MAP YOUR VOYAGE TO A NEW WORLD OF HAPPINESS

Not a map showed our early explorers the way
To discover those faraway lands,
So the need for direction compelled them to pray
That the Lord keep them safe in His hands.
When Columbus and others embarked on a cruise
And their goal of adventure they found,
They returned to proclaim the astonishing news
That the world we inhabit is round;
But whenever YOU feel it's in terrible shape,
With your troubles and sorrows on board,
On a voyage of hope you can make your escape
If you'll follow the way of the Lord.

— Gloria Nowak

The eternal God had given him strength
and courage against
all... on that voyage.

— Christopher Columbus

"God be merciful
unto us, That thy way may be known
upon earth."

— Psalm 67:1, 2

Scholarship makes youths campers

Six youths received Kelly Rae Flannery Camp Scholarships this past summer, whose families would have financial hardship in sending their children to camp.

A Camp Scholarship Committee, through the Interfaith Council, awarded the camp scholarships. This year, four youths were selected to attend Idrachaje Camp and two youths were selected for 4-H Camp. Both campers were located at Sleeper State Park Outdoor Center near Caseville.

The Kelly Rae Flannery Camp Scholarship can be awarded to any county youth who attends any type of camp, such as church, 4-H, scouts, music, athletics and handicapped youth.

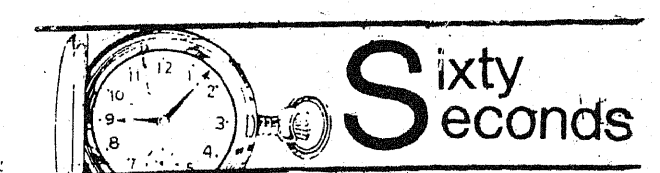

The scholarship fund was first established from a grant from Readers Digest as a result of the tragic death of Kelly Rae Flannery. The grant money is in an Interfaith Council account with the stipulation that the interest earned each year can be awarded to needy youths to attend camp. Over $250 was awarded this year.

The Interfaith Council would like to increase the principle in the fund to enable more scholarships to be presented. Anyone can make a donation by making a check out to the "Interfaith Council" and designating "Kelly Rae Flannery Scholarship Fund."

For more information, contact Clara Sheperd, 725 Lynn, Bad Axe, or Bob Johnson, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, 269-9949.

Mercy without measure

Read Luke 15: 11-24

His father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him. Luke 15:20
We can imagine the thoughts that surged through the mind of the prodigal son as he trudged along the dusty road that led back to his father's house.

Would the door be open - the door to his father's home, the door to his father's heart?

How did his father feel toward him? What did he think?

What would he say? What would he do?

The young man would never know unless he threw himself completely on his father's mercy. And so he did just that!

We need not repeat here the reception he received, as described in the passage above.

There was love aplenty, even for the prodigal, in the tender father's heart.

And there is also love aplenty in the tender heart of our heavenly Father. There is mercy without measure.

As the Scriptures tell us, "Where sin abounded, grace (mercy) did much more abound."

"Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that HE LOVED US and sent His Son to be the propitiation (the payment) for our sins."

Could we ever doubt the fullness of God's love, the wonder of His matchless mercy in Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior?

Indeed not! That is why we sing:

Just as I am, Thy love unknown
Has broken every barrier down
Now to be Thine, yea, Thine alone
O Lamb of God, I come, I come, Amen

Barking squirrels

The fence continued down the slope, randomly attaching itself to a few rotting, cedar posts and finally disappeared under the growth rings of a giant oak. I pushed the rusty wire down and stepped into the woods.
The fence groaned when I released the pressure of my hand, as if to protest my entrance into the wooded sanctuary it had pledged to protect. I stood erect, looked around, and for a fleeting instant, felt as though I had stepped through a curtain of time, a sort of "twilight zone."

I was partly to blame for this sudden nostalgic feeling. Earlier in the afternoon, when I sought to escape the boredom of a warm fall day by going squirrel hunting, I had inadvertently picked up my large caliber muzzleloader when reaching for a rifle.

A gun for all seasons, I thought to myself. A hundred years ago, this may have been the only rifle a man would own, and a resourceful frontiersman had to make it adapt. The rifle was tailored for the tough jobs of frontier living. It was short and stocky and could easily be carried on horseback. It was also thick in the wrist area of the stock which made it durable and able to take punishment of an accidental drop without shattering. It was large enough to kill an elk, but accurate enough to knock the head off a turkey, surely it was one of the most important tools our early settlers had.
It had often been said, "All a man needs to carve a life in the wilderness was a good axe
and a big gun."

But what about small game? Years ago,
the woods had to abound with rabbits,
grouse and squirrels and any man worth his salt knew this type of game would add variety
to the drab, daily fare of venison or salt pork. How then, did the early hunter deal with a big rifle and small targets? One way was to bark his quarry.

Barking an animal such as a squirrel seemed quite simple, or at least that's the way it appeared in the historical novels I poured through from the time I was a kid.
All you had to do was find a tree branch that had a squirrel lying on, and aim about an inch low. The ball would crash into the limb and the exploding wood would cause a concussive force stunning the squirrel and knocking him to the ground. The hunter would dispatch of him before he regained consciousness and was rewarded with an evening meal devoid of the usual blow-apart flesh. Simple? That's what I thought.

I didn't look much like a frontiersman
standing on the edge of the woods that day.
Instead of the buckskins, I was attired in jeans and a flannel shirt, but my shooting paraphernalia, although modern in its construction, was an exact replica of what our forefathers had used. The rifle, described earlier, was a short-stocked, .50 caliber Plains rifle, and looped across my shoulders
were a powder horn brimming with a synthetic propellant called "Pyrodex" and a leather "possible" bag filled with lead balls,
greased patches, percussion caps, bullet
starter and a few miscellaneous accessories necessary to carry on in this black powder sport.

I moved down the slope and crossed a small stream at the bottom. I was looking for signs of squirrel activity. After a short time, I came upon a few hickory trees near the edge of a clearing. About 50 yards beyond, hidden by the thick foliage, was a yellow splash that indicated a farmer's corn field. Looking at the ground I spotted scraps of hickory nut shells and empty corn cobs.
This will be good, I thought, and grunting
with satisfaction I settled myself at the base of a large tree.

I was slipping away again, moving through a time period of years gone by, trying to visualize what it must have been like back then. Perhaps my imaginary hunter had been to town recently and on his way back home, passed in the vicinity of a grist mill. There was always work to be done around a mill, so he stayed a few hours to help dress one of the massive stones used to grind grain. Being tired of corn meal and the pone he had every night with his evening meal, he suggested his payment for the work

be in wheat flour. Now, heading home with his wages, a small sack of flour on his shoulder, he decided that what he craved
most for his supper would be some fried,
baking powder biscuits and burnt flour gravy. Instructing his wife as to the time of his return so she would have the flour mixed,
he would drop off a couple of fat, freshly-gutted squirrels to be cut in small chunks
and popped into a deep skillet sputtering with bear grease, or lard left over from the last butchering. The flour, mixed with baking powder to make it rise, and water, would be kneaded into a moist dough and shaped into flattened cakes. Placed on the flat rock in the oven on the side of the fireplace, hot coals would be scraped into the space beneath and the biscuits would be watched warily, lest they get too crusty and end up burning.

The pieces of fried squirrel would be taken out of the skillet and some water added to the remaining grease and any juices given up by the meat. When this liquid was brought to a boil, small amounts of flour
would be added until the concoction was a deep brown in color and had a consistency resembling a thin pudding.

Then the feast would begin. The hot steaming biscuits would be placed on a plate with chunks of meat piled on top. Next would come the gravy, bubbling in the skillet, poured over the meat and biscuits until it threatened to overflow the sides of the plate. More biscuits for sopping up any leftover gravy and a big mug of cool buttermilk.

A movement in the upper branches of the tree next to the one I was sitting under caught my eye. I held my breath and remained as motionless as possible. The movement materialized into a fat and sassy fox squirrel, inching along the top of a large branch and scolding, some unseen
forerunner, hopefully not me.

I slowly raised the heavy Plains rifle, rested it against the tree trunk and began to ease back on the hammer. The click of the engaging sear caused the squirrel to stare in my direction with a frightening intensity.
He was still staring when I squeezed the trigger and the hammer fell.

Whoop!!! The sound of the rifle reverberated through the woods, and the acid smelling, white cloud of smoke hung like a funeral pall around its barrel. The branch exploded as though it had been rigged with dynamite and the force catapulted
the unsuspecting squirrel, cartwheeling
through the air.

He fell lazily, almost in slow motion, passing branches on his way to the ground. Suddenly a paw full of razor-sharp claws snaked out and latched onto the next branch. In a blink of an eye, the squirrel scampered back to the trunk of the tree and disappeared
amid a chattering scream of insults.

I had shot too low.
An hour later I entered the house,
shoulder drooped in defeat.

"What's for supper?" I challenged the lady standing in front of me.
"Pizza!" came her 20th century answer.
I was back in reality.

Laker gridders hold off hungry Hatchets

By RICH
SWARTZENDRUBER

The Bad Axe Hatchets
were determined to upset the league-leading Green Machine last Friday, and came much closer to accomplishing that task than most observers predicted.
The visiting Lakers captured
a 14-6 win in a light rain after a few anxious moments near the end of the game.

The Green and White
squad jumped out to their customary fast start by culminating their first drive
of the game with a Rob Macdowall 22-yard touchdown run after just two minutes expired on the clock. When Ed Gentile kicked the extra point, a lopsided Laker victory appeared likely.

The Hatchets, however,
refused to roll over and play dead. Their defense stiffened and blanked Lakers on the scoreboard for the remainder of the first half.

After a 7-0 Laker halftime lead, Bad Axe gave the visitors a break early in the second half when they fumbled on a rain-soaked turf at their own 40-yard-line. Lakers' Eric Busher grabbed the loose ball to set up the second Green
Machine scoring drive.

Maddowall scored his second touchdown of the game
on a one-yard plunge with just under eight minutes remaining in the third quarter.
Gentile then capped Laker
scoring in the game with his 11th consecutive extra-point kick without a miss.

A pass interception at the Bad Axe 45-yard line by Lakers' Ron Dubs on the next Hatchet drive seemed to give the Green Machine control of the game. That perception grew even stronger as Lakers moved
the ball to within 11 yards of the goal line.

Hatchet safety Jim Troyer halted the Laker drive and momentum when he picked off a Buck LePage pass in the endzone and raced 40
yards up the sideline before he was tackled.

An inspired Bad Axe team
then drove the remaining 60 yards to record their only touchdown of the game at 10:44 of the fourth quarter.
Troyer crossed the goal line
after he grabbed a 26-yard Mike Shuart pass. A two-point conversion pass attempt fell incomplete.

With the possibility of a tie game by scoring one touchdown, the Hatchets
tried a little razzle-dazzle
after stopping Lakers on the first series of downs following the kickoff. A reverse on the return of the Laker punt proved to be very effective.

The Bad Axe drive started on the Laker 40-yard line,
after the Hatchet fielded the punt at their own 30.

The Green Machine,
however, refused to retreat
and forced the Hatchets to again punt the ball away.

Lakers then steadily advanced the ball with a game-ending, final drive that chewed up the final eight minutes of the game. The gun sounded with Lakers threatening to score again at the home team's five-yard line.

Maddowall picked up 132 yards on 25 carries, while fellow running back Dave Wisniewski rushed for 100 yards on 19 carries.

LePage completed one of

STOPPED: In addition to running for 132 yards and two touchdowns during the game, Laker's Rob Maddowall (44) showed his defensive skills on this play by avoiding the block of Mike Johnson to tackle Hatchet running back Jim Troyer.

eight passes for seven yards,
and had one loss intercepted.
The Laker defense held Bad Axe to 90 yards rushing and 64 yards through the air.
In addition to the Dubs interception and the Bushey

fumble, recovery, Scott Pobanz recorded four solo tackles and assisted on nine
other stops to lead the defensive effort.

THIS WEEK: Coach Bill
McLellan says Friday

Early game play picks winner

By RICH
SWARTZENDRUBER

The Laker cagers rebounded from a 44-36 non-conference loss to Harbor
Beach last Tuesday to defeat
Bad Axe 54-38 two days later.

The victory at Bad Axe is important because Lakers remain in the thick of the Thumb B race with a 2-1
league record, despite a 3-3
overall mark.

Coach Paul Beachy says
the key to his team's success
is the first quarter performance of his players.

"If you get behind early in the game, you have to struggle to get back in the game,"
he says. "If we get off to a good start, we usually have a pretty decent game," adds Beachy.

That proved to be true last week as Lakers trailed Harbor Beach 12-7 after a slow start. The Green and White hosts saw that lead lengthened to 27-19 at halftime before they cut the margin to 35-31
at the end of the third quarter.

The Laker comeback
seemed to take too much out of the team, however, as they only scored five points
in the final quarter.

Anne Messing and Sherry
Meissner each scored 12 points to lead Harbor Beach scoring. No Laker players hit double digits in the game.

In contrast to Lakers' slow
start against the Pirates,
they jumped on the Bad Axe Hatchets early with an 18-7
first quarter lead. The visiting Laker Ladies increased their lead to 32-17 at halftime and coasted to victory.

A balanced scoring attack was used by Lakers as Chris Steinman topped scoring for her team with 14 points,
while Shelly Ginter, Lori Diener, Sue Kohr and Shelly Wissner each added eight points. Julia Sturm hauled down 15 rebounds to dominate the boards during

the game.

Lori Johnston hit 21 points
to pace Hatchet scoring.
Beachy says Kohr and Ginter are both closing in on the Laker career scoring record. They currently trail
Tracy Haag, Robin Smith,
Shelly Baur and Eva Sturm
in total points scored.

Sue Kohr leads team scoring this year with 70 points,
followed by Chris Steinman
with 57.

The top Laker rebounder
so far this year is Julia Sturm with 65 caroms.

THIS WEEK: A pair of key games are scheduled this week as Lakers host rival Unionville-Sebewaing on Tuesday, then travel to North Branch for a league game on Thursday.

JVS SPLIT: Although Harbor Beach downed the Laker
junior varsity 49-36, coach Gordie Murphy says he is pleased with his team's performance. He says his squad trailed the previously undefeated junior Pirates by only four points in the final period before "running out of gas."

Excellent rebounding and defense was the key to a 35-14 Laker JV win at Bad Axe, Murphy says. He notes that his team grabbed 35 rebounds in the game, compared with just 14 for the Hatchets.

The JVs now sport a 2-1
Thumb B record and are 2-4 overall.

FIRING OUT: An aggressive Laker defensive line springs into action with the snap of the ball. Bad Axe was held to just 154 total yards in the game by the unyielding defenders.

night's game at North Branch and the contest with Cass City the following week
are the key games in Laker's drive for the Thumb B Association football championship.

The North Branch Broncos
are also undefeated in the Thumb B going into the game, and hope to claim the championship this year.

They will also attempt to avenge the 35-18 beating they suffered last year at Lakers.

McLellan this week refused to speculate on the attitude of the North Branch

coach and team going into Friday's game. Following the game last year, Bronco coach Don Smeznik uttered
some bitter comments about Laker's performance on the field.

"We just play football and try not to get involved in that crap," said McLellan about negative comments.

OVERTIME WIN: The Laker
junior varsity upped its record to 3-1 with a 7-0 overtime victory over Bad Axe.

Both teams were scoreless
at the end of regulation time
to force the overtime action.

Lakers took advantage of their opportunity on offense
when Brad Krohn crossed the goal line on an eight-yard run. Randy Heckman booted the extra point after the touchdown.

Craig Haag insured
Laker's victory when he intercepted a Bad Axe pass in the endzone during the Hat-chet's overtime attempt.

Pat McArdle was the leading rusher for Lakers
with 56 yards on 14 carries.

Krohn ran for 51 yards in 12
attempts and added 13
tackles to lead the defense.

IN THE KNOW . . .

at Laker High School

By CONNIE ABDALLA and CATHY DRUMMOND

(depending on homework!). First of all, we may as well introduce ourselves.

My name is Cathy Lee Drummond (now you know where the C.L. comes from, brilliant, ha?). I was named after my dad, Lee Drummond. I'm 16 years old and was born in Pigeon on Aug. 21, 1966. The interesting thing about my birth is that I only weighed 2 lbs. 13 oz. as I was 2 1/2 months premature. I'm an only child and enjoy music writing, reading and old movies. My career goals are to be a cinematographer, film editor, lighting director, etc., and also a bit of writing and production work in the process of life.

My name is Connie Marie Abdalla. I was born in East Detroit and lived there for seven years. My interests are music (I've had one year of piano and two years of organ lessons), good books and CBS on Wednesday nights at 8:30 p.m.

Until next week . . .

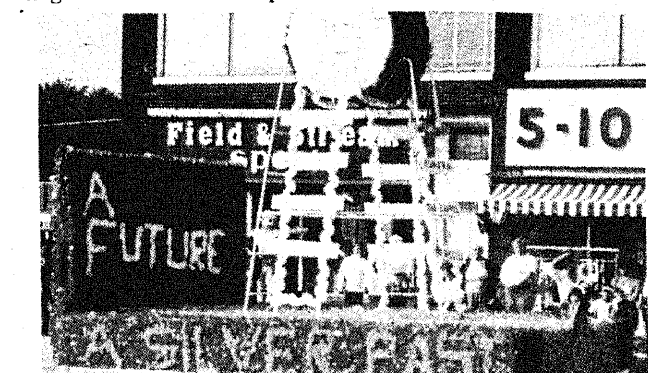

("Dreams" is on). As far as my future goes, I'd like to write books and screenplays. We plan on reporting together more than just sports. New developments are:

Drama is getting together. Mr. Terrill is back as drama director and is planning on doing the play, "Our Town." Tryouts were Oct. 3 and today, Oct. 4.

BOEC is in the process of preparing for another great year, under the coaching of Miss Murphy.

It is our regret to report that there will be no Pep Club or Laker Breeze, due to lack of interest.

'85 yearbooks are on sale now and will include a color Homecoming section in honor of the 25th Reunion of Laker High School. Speaking of the anniversary, Homecoming was a great success!!!

PROUD PARADIN' - "A Silver Past, A Golden Future" was the theme of the Laker Future Farmers of America Homecoming Parade entry. FFA students built their float at the Jim Licht home with supplies donated by the FFA Alumni.

SUGAR BEET DELIVERIES were started at the Sebewaing Plant of Michigan Sugar Company on Thursday, September 27, with 75 loads brought in the first day, a far cry from the 26,208 truckloads delivered in the 1983 campaign. "Deliveries are increasing every day," said David Sunderland, vice-president-agriculture for Michigan Sugar, who said that the Sebewaing plant's processing was scheduled to start at 3 pm Monday, October 1. "It's a big crop, and we're very optimistic about the size and quality," Sunderland stated. The weather is ideal, too, he added, with sunny days and cool nights, just right for increasing sugar content. Other factories in the company — Caro, Carrollton and Croswell — began processing late last week. Last year the Sebewaing plant received 406,463 tons of beets, brought in 26,208 loads, for an average of 15.5 tons per load.

Questions, answers about Huron Skill Center

EDITOR'S NOTE: These questions and answers are furnished by the Huron Intermediate School District to help explain background and the need for the proposed Skill Center to serve Huron County.

WHAT IS AN AREA SKILL CENTER?

It is a centrally-located facility designed and equipped to provide Vocational Education to students and adults from the local communities in the Intermediate School District.

WHY DO WE NEED AN AREA SKILL CENTER?

We need Vocational Education to: 1) provide VE to students from school districts which may not have sufficient enrollment or student interest to offer a comprehensive range of programs 2) ease the financial burden on many local school districts who could not economically meet the demands of VE planning 3) respond to the rapidly changing employment demands by offering up-to-date training programs with modern equipment 4) provide training and retraining opportunities for adults.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE PLANNED?

A range of 15 to 20 approved programs will be offered.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE OCCUPATIONAL PROGRAMS THAT COULD BE OFFERED IN THE PLANNED INSTRUCTIONAL SPACES?

Agricultural Power Machinery and Control Technology, Horticulture, Floriculture, Greenhouse Operation and Management, Landscaping and Turf Management, Accounting and Computing, Teller Training, Business Data Processing, Computer Programming, Secretarial (with emphasis on Word Processing Technician, Administrative Assistant Training, Legal Secretary, Medical Secretary, Stenographer, Clerk-Typist, Information Specialist, Reprographics Clerk, Receptionist & Communications System Clerk, Shipping, Receiving and Inventory Control Clerk), Marketing and Distribution, Wholesaling and Retailing, Apparel and Accessories Marketing, Business and Personal Services Marketing, Financial Services Marketing, Food Marketing, Hospitality and Recreation Marketing, Transportation and Travel Marketing, Vehicles and Petroleum Marketing, Child Care and Guidance, Management and Services, Food Production, Management and Services, Dental Assisting, Dental Laboratory Technology, Diagnostic Services, Laboratory Occupations, Pharmacy Assisting, Nursing Occupations, Health Occupations, Media Communications, Broadcasting and Production, Cosmetology, Masonry, Plumbing and Pipefitting, Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration, Construction Trades, Electrical Power Installation, Floor-covering, Electronics, Industrial Electronics, Robotics, Instrumentation Technology, Industrial Equipment Maintenance and Repair, Hydraulics and Pneumatics, Automotive Body Repair, Automotive Mechanics, Diesel Mechanics, Small Engine and Recreation Equipment Repair, Drafting, Computer Aided Design, Graphic Arts, Commercial Art, Machine Tool Operation/Machine Shop, Welding, Brazing and Soldering.

WOULD ALL OF THESE PROGRAMS BE OFFERED?

Building plans are for 16 instructional spaces. Not all of the above occupations could be taught at once, but the planned laboratories would permit any of the above listed programs to be taught, if employment demand and student demand warranted inclusion of a certain program.

WHO CHOOSES WHICH PROGRAMS ARE OFFERED?

In Advisory Council, made up of representatives from each community within the Intermediate School District, continuously assesses training needs and recommends which programs should be offered. Their decision-making data comes from many sources, including state-wide and national-wide employment demands, local employment demands, student and client requests and results of graduate follow-up surveys.

WHAT KIND OF INSTRUCTIONAL SPACES ARE BEING PLANNED?

Three business labs, one medical cluster lab, one horticulture/greenhouse lab, one electronics/robotics lab, one graphics communication lab, one marketing lab, one cosmetology lab, one food production lab, one child care lab, five heavy labs for auto mechanics, auto body repair, machine shop, ag power mechanics, building trades and welding.

HOW LARGE IS THE PLANNED BUILDING?

The facility would be approximately 60,000 sq. ft. with additional storage in a pole-type building of 5,000 sq. ft.

WHERE WOULD AN AREA VOCATIONAL CENTER BE LOCATED?

A Building and Site Committee made up of representatives county-wide, did an extensive study on a central location. Geographic study of the Intermediate School District, student population per school district, student population per township, paved road routes and traffic congestion in villages and cities all were considered. After all these factors were considered, the committee established that a central location would occur within a five-mile by five-mile zone in Verona and Colfax Townships, bordered on the north by Berne and Rapson Road, on the south by McKenzie Road, on the west by Thomas Road, and on the east by Uby Road (M-19) and Carpenter Road.

HOW WILL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS BE ABLE TO ENROLL IN THE AREA CENTER?

A pro-ration plan will determine the available number of openings for students from each local school. It will be based upon the percentage of the total 11th and 12th grade population that each school holds.

Guidance staff at the area center will work with local counselors to help students identify career goals and develop an educational plan to achieve these goals. The plan may include programs at the area vocational center.

Students may then enroll through their home school without any tuition charge. Transportation between the home school and the area vocational center will be provided.

The facility will be planned to serve 352 students at a time. The programs will run for 2½ hours per session, and could be offered evenings and through the summer to accommodate all students and adults desiring training.

WILL ALL CURRENT VOCATIONAL PROGRAMS BE OFFERED AT THE AREA SKILL CENTER?

Vocational Agriculture Production and Consumer Home Economics will both continue to be offered at the local districts now offering these programs. All other approved vocational programs would operate at the center.

WILL ADULTS BE ABLE TO OBTAIN TRAINING AT THE AREA SKILL CENTER?

Yes. Adults will be able to obtain training in a number of ways: 1) those adults who have not completed high school may do so at the skill center, earning high school credit and obtaining job skills at the same time 2) adults may participate in training that has been contracted by local industry to prepare workers for specific jobs 3) adults may take any offered programs on an enrichment basis. These programs will allow adults to train or retrain for any purpose 4) Space within the center may be available to Community Colleges or to other high education institutions for offering college credit level technical training.

WILL HANDICAPPED PERSONS BE SERVED BY THE AREA VOCATIONAL CENTER?

The necessary staff and adaptive devices to offer all programs to students with special needs will be provided. The Special Education IEPC (Individual Educational Planning Committee) process will be the means of identifying students who would benefit from the programs at the area vocational center.

WILL ANY SEGMENT OF THE POPULATION BE EXCLUDED FROM UTILIZING THE AREA VOCATIONAL CENTER?

Persons with differing sex, age, racial/ethnic background, limited English proficiency, physical and mental capabilities, and geographical location will have access to Vocational-Technical education and training or retraining and will not be excluded from any programs because of distinguishable personal characteristics.

WHAT ABOUT PLACEMENT SERVICES?

Staff will be provided to work with graduates and graduates-to-be of the area Vocational Center to assist in procuring co-op, part-time, full-time and temporary employment, consistent with their training.

HOW MUCH MILLAGE IS REQUIRED TO ESTABLISH AND OPERATE AN AREA VOCATIONAL CENTER?

The area Vocational Center can be built, equipped and operated for a millage rate not to exceed 1.49 mills. No additional bonding, borrowing or special construction millage will be required.

ARE THERE ARE STATE & FEDERAL FUNDS AVAILABLE TO ASSIST IN THIS PROJECT?

Yes. Federal funds are available on a 45% match basis for construction, equipment and site development. State added cost dollars will assist in the operation of the area Vocational Center.

WHEN WILL THE AREA VOCATIONAL SKILL CENTER OPEN FOR OPERATION?

Current plans schedule the opening for the fall of 1986.

IF I NEED MORE INFORMATION, WHO DO I CONTACT?

Contact any local campaign representative, or call 269-6406.

Caseville okays pre-tax borrowing

The Caseville Public School Board will borrow $223,000 in a tax anticipation loan from First of America Bank, Bay Area branch at a 7.34% interest rate, according to Superintendent James Stahl. Another bid of 7.39% was received from NewCentury Bank, Caseville, he adds.

Final financial figures for the 1983-84 school year were presented in the annual school audit by CPA Melvin Dutcher of Caseville. Revenues amounting to $918,013, and expenditures totaling $910,253 resulted in a fund balance of $7,760, Dutcher reports.

Board approved employment of three individuals in non-teaching positions. Kathy Beachy of Elkton was hired as seventh and eighth grade girls' basketball coach, Robert Cassada of Caseville employed for night maintenance and Marlene McCummons of Caseville will be a teacher's aide.

In the first in a series of academic reports, business education teacher Cheryl Wascher and English instructor Mary K. Quinn reported on the goals and objectives of their respective subjects.

Future Board meetings will feature similar reports by other teachers in an effort to keep Board members updated on activities in Caseville classrooms, Stahl says.

Purchase of 30 English Literature textbooks at a cost of $547 was approved by the Board.

Feted at bridal shower

Mrs. Evelyn Schadd, daughter Debbie and Mrs. Welthy Schadd, all of Filion, traveled to Midland on Saturday, Sept. 8 to attend a noon luncheon and bridal shower given by Mrs. Mary Crabb and daughters at their home, honoring Sue Carol Nelson, daughter of James Nelson and the late Wanda Nelson.

The bride-elect wore a corsage of pink carnations and picot ribbons. The luncheon table was centered with a floral arrangement and burgundy candles. Preceding the table prayer, Mrs. Mary Crabb read several poems on "Marriage."

Following the meal, the bride-elect opened her gifts, then enjoyed an afternoon of visiting.

Debbie Schadd, Filion, will be a bridesmaid when Sue Carol Nelson and Daniel E. Wallace were united in marriage Sept. 22 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Midland.
