Winning windows!

PIGEON'S DOWNTOWN business district took on the appearance of a Laker High School Pep rally last week with store windows decorated with banners, school memorabilia, etc. Sponsored by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, the window-decorating contest brought together the participation of most merchants. Three businesses took home cash prizes.

The youngster was presented with a framed certificate of achievement at a ceremony held Monday, Sept. 22 at the Parade Company in Detroit. First Lady of Michigan Mrs. Paul Blanchard made the presentation.

Peter was invited to walk alongside the Grand Prize winning float in this year's Thanksgiving Parade. He is a member of Mrs. Barbara Adams' first grade class and an art student of Mrs. Colleen Bednerek.

In addition to Peter, the following students from Caseville Elementary School received honorable mention in the Thanksgiving Parade School Float Design Contest: Paul Ballard, fourth grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard; Jodi Duffy, second grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Duffy; Charles Ballard, fifth grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ballard; Holli McCrimmon, fifth grade, daughter of Michael

'Dining adventure' coming

Many of the contented diners that met at Scheurer Hospital after the first "Adventures in Dining" could be overheard saying, "I can hardly wait until next year!"

Now the 1986 "Adventures in Dining" is at hand and reservations are being taken for the Sunday, Nov. 2 event, according to organizer Mary Gettel of Pigeon.

Scheurer Hospital of Pigeon is presenting the event at 5:30 p.m., featuring small special dinner parties in area homes. For a tax-deductible donation to the hospital, patrons can choose from almost two dozen different dining entrees, but no one will know exactly where they will be dining until just a few days before the fund-raiser. To add to the enjoyment of the evening, the names of the diners will be kept secret so that patrons will not know who their fellow diners are until they all reach the homes at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Each host family has put together a special menu, with the main entree listed below. Participants can choose the menu that sounds the most interesting to them, then make reservations by calling Scheurer Hospital at 453-3223 or by picking up a form at area stores, including The Progress-Advance. Each person will receive instructions of their dinner assignment prior to the Nov. 2 date, but won't know who will be dining with them until they all arrive.

"It's a great opportunity to support our local hospital, enjoy a very good meal and have some fun at the same time," says Mrs. Gettel. "After all participants have dined, everyone is invited to meet at the hospital dining room at 7:30 p.m. for special desserts, if they wish, and a chance to share dining adventure stories all around," she adds.

Last year, several of the hostesses which served ethnic meals also included a touch of the country they represented in costumes, music, etc. In all, the host families really put a lot of effort into making the evening a unique dining experience.

Reservations should be made as soon as possible, says Mrs. Gettel. Those who sign up early will get their first choice of entrees, she adds.

Here are the "Adventures in Dining" entrees planned for the 1986 event:

- A. Chicken Monte Carlo
- B. Superb Seafood Selection
- C. Embers Pork Chops
- D. Country Beef Dinner

BOOSTERS PLAN BENEFIT CONCERT

Bob Olson's Big Band will play at the Laker High School Student Center on Wednesday, Oct. 15 from 8 to 10 p.m.

The 17-piece band, which features Glen Miller-type music, is sponsored by the Laker Band Boosters. The audience is invited to listen or dance.

Band members are donating their time toward the Booster's project of purchasing new stage risers for the auditorium. The present risers are over 30 years old, having come from Pigeon High School.

Tickets are available from any band parent or at the door.

Thumb area OUTDOORS

The weather began to break during the past week, and hunters, like the farmers, are hoping for the rains to quit. Duck and goose hunters who plan to hunt the fields during the opener here Saturday, October 11, are going to find limited areas to blind and place out decoys. Most all of the crops are still in the fields, and little corn has been taken for silage. About the only spot that might entice a flock of Canadas is the hay fields scattered about. A break in the weather should allow farmers to gain access to their fields and bring the herds of ducks and geese, resting on Saginaw Bay, inland for the fall smorgasbord.

Bow hunters, on the other hand, liked the wet conditions for it kept the woods nice and quiet during their opening weekend. The large amounts of water in the field and woods did change the deer patterns from the late summer, and many blind locations were hastily changed.

Duck hunters and decoy collectors are familiar with the once famous "Burghy's Lodge" located at the end of Weale Road near Bay Port. Frank Burghy, the owner, was a super decoy carver, and had one of the best decoy collections in Michigan, if not the U.S. An untimely fire took care of most of the collection and a disappointed Frank sold the rest. He sold the lodge and was planning to move to Arizona, but is now back in Michigan, and lives in Pinconning. If anyone is interested, Frank is back in the decoy business. Where? Where else — Frankenmuth. Frank Burghy has a carving shop located within the Schmutzbank in downtown Frankenmuth. He carves and sells his decoys on a daily basis, and will stay open all year. If you want to see some nice blocks, stop in and say hello to Frank Burghy, one of Huron County's best duck and goose decoy carvers.

The warm wet weather has slowed down the woodcock migration for Michigan's Upper Thumb. Although the season opened on September 15, many birds have not begun their ritual flights to the Louisiana region. The peak flights in Huron County usually come around the 2nd week in October, but all information points to a late arrival this year. Woodcock, which feed mainly on earthworms, will like the wet conditions available in our area, but it may spread them out more than usual.

CASEVILLE RETIREMENT CLUB

The Caseville Retirement Club met at the American Legion Hall for its weekly meeting on Sept. 30 with 136 members present and three new members.

President Frank Jones asked all to stand before eating to greet their neighbors and recite the Lord's Prayer.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge to the Flag.

President Jones welcomed back Jr. and Shirley Robinson, Angeline Calabrese, Florence Rake and Irene Martz. New members are Helen and Leonard Zoltowski and Rosalyn Paskiewicz.

Alice Dean, Ann King and Shirley Robinson were thanked for the "earlybird" goodies, as were members who brought canned food for the Community Food Pantry and Campbell Soup labels.

Francis McBride brought in pears to share.

Travel Committee chairman Andy Lakatos reported that the "IMEX" trip to Flint is being replaced with another trip. The "Cabin Fever Trip" to Midland's Valley Plaza will be in January, with sign-up beginning next week at 10 a.m.

Travel committee member Ed White gave details on the replacement trip Oct. 11 to Mio (to the chapel) and then to the Lumberman's Monument. The trip will enable all to enjoy the fall colors. Dining will be at Lutz's in Au Gres. Sign-up is still possible.

Jane visited Julia Lakatos at the Farmington Hills Inn and she is doing well. Al Mueller is in St. Mary's Hospital. Livonia, Doretta Douglas is sick at home and Hank Hall is in Bay Medical Center recuperating well after surgery.

Birthdays celebrated were for James Denisuk, Harold Dunning, Frank Jones and Hazel Denisuk. Celebrating anniversaries were Ben and Dorothy Barber, Ross and Dorothy Allen, Joe and Loretta Komer, Les and Hazel Simmons and Leonard and Helen Zoltowski.

"Senior Movie Time" begins at the Pigeon District Library on Oct. 16 at 1:30 p.m. James reminded members to pay their dues.

The meeting adjourned for games. Winning overall at bingo was Les Grunow. Pinochle winners were Hazel Denisuk, Marie Paljanowski and Gertrude Boyer. Euchre winners were Jim Keena, Lucille Elbing and Freida Damm.

By the way, she asked us to say "hello" to grandson Bill, our Production Manager.

Carol (Teuscher) Beachey, another former resident, recently had some kind words to say about the Pigeon District Library, which Madam Librarian Roberta Richmond was kind enough to pass along to us.

"It was such a pleasure to find such a wonderful library in such a small town that I am still thinking about it," the Memphis, Tenn. resident said. "I have vivid memories of visiting the one-room library as a young girl and reading almost every book on the shelves."

"Very early on, books became my friends, and had special places in my parents' home, and I suppose that is partly the reason I took a degree in English, along with music, and ever since have made writing in one form or another my career."

"In later years, my two daughters spent many happy summer days in Pigeon visiting their grandmother (Mrs. Harry Teuscher), and they, too, remember the one-room library."

"In this information age, when computers and floppy disks threaten to displace books as we know and love them, it is encouraging to know that there are still places where books are kept, cared for, read, reread and shared, and that in a community the size of Pigeon there are enough people who understand that access to a good library can be the key to a child's future, as well as a community's."

Mrs. Beachey also asked to be placed on a mailing list for future fund drives, and enclosed a library donation. Nice words about our entire area's library jewel, from a nice native!

THURSDAY'S THE NIGHT — The newest late-night TV challenger to Johnny Carson's NBC "Tonight Show" empire kicks off this Thursday night, when Joan Rivers starts her 11 p.m. show on the new Fox Broadcasting Company's network.

The Lady Mouth probably won't beat out Carson single-handedly, but we think Carson isn't anywhere nearly as entertaining as he once was. We'd prefer David Letterman to occupy that 11:30 p.m. time period, since we can barely stay awake for his 12:30 a.m. show now.

And, we expect Rivers' show will appear on WSMH TV-66 in Flint — but we'll all watch for exact details.

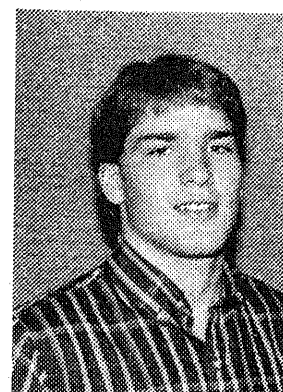

WISH I'D SAID THAT — A woman rushed up to famed violinist Fritz Kreisler after a concert and gushed, "I'd give my life to play as beautifully as you do." Kreisler replied, "I did."

Next week Florence Southworth will be in charge of the program.

King crowned; queen drowned

Brad Krohn of Elkton was selected 1986 Laker Homecoming King on Friday, but he will "reign" alone until the Laker Homecoming Queen is chosen on Friday, Oct. 24 during half-time at the Laker vs. Cass City game on Laker turf.

The Queen's contest wasn't the only Homecoming event to be rained out. In fact, the only activities that were held were the winning football game against the Ready for beets...

Letters are in the mail to all growers producing sugar beets for the Michigan Sugar Company, stating that beet receiving will begin as soon as field conditions permit, and that all beet receiving stations will be open.

The company gives advice in the letter on how to handle damaged beets and states that it must reject all beets not suitable for processing.

The letter states officials are confident that all parties can work "out of this difficult situation", and that receiving will be open 24 hours per day when permanent storage commences.

Vice-President Davis Sunderland said all hopes are for continued sunshine to evaporate water in the fields and to increase beets' sugar content. Late last week an estimate stated that 6,100 acres of the entire factory's acreage was "gone".

FARMERS GET UNEMPLOYMENT

Farmers who become unemployed because of continued rainfall and river flooding may file for special unemployment benefits through the Michigan Employment Security Commission. Since President Reagan has declared the Thumb Area among those counties designated as disaster areas, benefit funds are available through the Disaster Unemployment Assistance (DUA) program. MESC workers say.

DUA payments are possible for self-employed farmers if they no longer have a job, cannot get to their jobs or were to begin work but now cannot do so, among some of the criteria. MESC expects more than 1400 DUA claims by the Oct. 24 deadline, and claims may be filed at MESC Offices in Bad Axe and Caro.

More information is available by calling the toll-free number, 1-800-992-2585.

BLANCHARD PLEDGES HELP

Michigan Gov. James Blanchard made a sudden tour of Huron County with U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler (D-Bay City) Thursday, and made $1 million available for people whose lives and business have been disrupted by continuing floods.

Gov. Blanchard reminded persons he spoke with at the Bad Axe Disaster Assistance Center that no government can totally reimburse farmers — or anyone else — for what Mother Nature does. Rep. Traxler said several grant aid programs are being discussed in Congress, but noted none may be passed before this Congressional Session adjourns in the next week.

Gov. Blanchard said his estimates showed up to three-fourths of the area's dry bean crop has been destroyed, plus heavy damage has been done to sugar beets and corn. More than 1200 people have filed claims at the Disaster Assistance Center in Bad Axe.

TEACHER STRIKES NEAR?

Negotiations are still continuing in at least three area school districts where educators have been working without contracts since the start of the school year last month. While no one on either side is predicting teachers' walkouts, many possibilities remain if bargaining bogs down, both sides say.

Unionville - Sebawing Area teachers bargained with administrators last week before a state mediator. Salaries are the main issue, observers agree, compounded by the worsening local agricultural economy.

At Bad Axe, the appointment of a state fact-finder is awaited by both sides, with salary and fringe benefits the main negotiating topics for both sides.

In Cass City, where 71 teachers were ordered back to work two weeks ago, the state fact-finder's report is being awaited. This will discuss financial health of the district, and will compare teacher salaries with those in nearby districts. Teachers must work until at least Feb. 2, 1987 before being allowed to again strike, according to the Tuscola Circuit Court ruling.

And, bargaining continues in Vassar, Reese, Marlette, Cass City and Millington as employees work without contracts.

STEADY SCHOOL POPULATIONS

The "fourth Friday" student counts at area public schools show enrollments are steady for 1986 compared with 1985, stabilizing recent downward trends observed.

In the USA DISTRICT, total school population in grades Kindergarten through 12 is 1000, down from 1019 last year. OWEN-GAGE records 374 students this year, down by five students from last year's 379 figure.

NORTH HURON counts 801 students this year, down 19 from last year.

In ELKTON - PIGEON - BAY PORT "LAKER"

DISTRICT, enrollment this year is Huron County's second-largest number, totaling 1405 students. That's up slightly — six students — from 1985-86 school year totals.

CASEVILLE counts 282 students this year, down five from last year.

BAD AXE retains its figure as Huron County's largest district, with 1511 students enrolled this year. That's up 25 pupils from last year.

The fourth Friday count is used to determine school aid and other variable totals by the state Education Department and federal sources.

HDC SWITCH GOING ON

The senior citizen program switch from the Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA) to the Human Development Commission (HDC) is in force and HDC is now operating senior meal sites in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties.

Even though TACA voted Sept. 23 to appeal to the state Office of Services to the Aging to retain direction of such programs as meal sites and in-home deliveries in the region, the switch to HDC took effect Oct. 1. No action on that appeal has been announced yet.

Tuscola County Commissioners voted last week to begin steps to take over its own senior citizen program operations as of Oct. 1, 1987, possibly alone instead of in the present three-county alignment.

Tuscola Commissioners also plan to ask voters to change the 2/10th of one mill assessment now in force for senior citizens from control by TACA to the agency as appointed by Commissioners, either HDC or a county group. This is a change, not a millage increase, they noted.

Balloting is expected Nov. 4, along with a half-mill renewal for local township road bridges and street improvements for Tuscola voters.

LAKE TOWNSHIP OKS MILLAGE

Voters in Lake Township voted two-to-one to add a two-mill property tax increase to provide road improvements and more police protection.

A total of 118 votes were cast, with the proposal passing 79-38. One vote was spoiled. Road improvements will be made with 1 1/2 mills, while law enforcement will be given the remaining 1/2-mill.

POLICE BLOTTER NEWS

■ Richard Harder, 34 of Bay Port, pled guilty to impaired driving; ordered to pay $450 fines and costs and loses driving rights for 90 days;

■ Randy McIntyre, 18 of Pigeon, pled guilty to impaired driving; ordered to pay $400 fines and costs and loses driving rights for 90 days; and

■ Donald Hartz, 22 of Elkton, pled guilty to drunken driving; sentenced to 45 days in Huron County Jail and loses driving rights for two years.

In Tuscola County District Court, Judge Richard Kern ordered:

■ Eva Marie King, 30 of Cass City, arraigned on a felony charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver plus bringing a controlled substance into a corrections facility, following the Camp Tuscola employee's arrest on drug smuggling to inmates at the minimum-security state prison camp near Caro. Preliminary hearing was scheduled, and a five-year prison term plus $5000 fine is possible, if convicted. The arrest followed an internal investigation at the prison camp.

Gloom bigger than us all...

No one ever expected nearly two feet of rain to fall within the past three weeks. Some estimates say 60%, or 75% or 100% of local bean crops are ruined, causing tremendous, incalculable damage and hardship on local agricultural producers.

Then, the tally begins on sugar beet crops which have been smelled rotting in the fields, plus corn stalks which have tipped over into 10 inches and more of standing water. The devastation brought about by "only water" led to tours of this area by Gov. James Blanchard and the inclusion of the Thumb in the 22-county disaster area declared statewide. And, since that original group was named, other counties have been added to the list.

Even the oldest weather watchers say they've never seen anything like this recent weather. That goes back 30, 40 or even 60 years -- and never has anyone seen this much continual rainfall, flooding and so many millions of dollars in losses.

City folks might easily say, "Well, maybe you'll have a good crop next year." It's not that simple. Nearly any business which loses even 10% or 15% of its volume has probably lost ALL its profit margin. Our farming brothers and sisters have lost far more, since agriculture was treading on thin ground in the Midwest in recent years anyway.

A good crop next year certainly is possible. The question is, how many of today's farmers will honestly be around then to plant, raise and harvest it? Scary stories are already circulating about large numbers of farm bankruptcies, since the entire year's production is being lost by farmers already strung out to the end with debt.

These are not average or poor farm producers -- these primarily are excellent farmers who are being caught up in a situation not of their making, but which causes them hardship. No insurance exists for such calamities, but many good people appear to be "going down" with the receding flood waters.

The fact that an estimated 1200 farmers have filed for governmental assistance in Huron County alone tells volumes about the breadth of this problem. It's not small, it's not limited to only a few -- and it will greatly impact this entire area in the coming poor winter months.

No one is seeking a handout, but clearly some type of beneficial aid is required from somewhere. The logical choice seems to be federal disaster aid, and it seemingly must come in the form of grants -- not loans. Few farm producers we know need another "low interest" loan! They've got plenty of these already -- and this year's crop can never be properly redeemed or paid off.

No, what's needed is some type of grant or donation or some other presentation which does not require repayment. Perhaps it could be in the form of already surplus federal grains. Or, maybe the best course is financial grants based on estimated crop production -- or just enough to cover this year's estimated farm costs, to keep farmers even for the year with loan payments, seed and fertilizer purchases, etc.

That's not asking too much for the people who feed and help clothe us all. A once-in-a-lifetime calamity such as this shouldn't be able to snuff out the efforts of thousands of good people working hard but suffering great disaster. They deserve better than that, and need extraordinary aid -- if we are to survive as a family farming area.

After all this rain, I think we all need to hear, see and read things that are positive, not negative, so today everything is rosy.

GOOD: Swanson's Home Cooking is good on all counts. I really like it, especially before dinner.

ALSO GOOD: Finally Hamady has a decent commercial. The old push cart is an excellent ad and I hope they keep their advertising in this same vein.

MUCH BETTER THAN BEFORE: Diet Pepsi Free. Hands reach into ice water to pull out Pepsi cans. Tells the whole story and could easily be done without words. Very good.

A REAL ZAPPER: Country Crock -- if that babe giggles one more time, she's zapped on my set! All I have to do is turn it off for the 30 seconds she's selling her margarine. It's the most disgusting giggle I've ever heard.

VERY GOOD: Van De Camps jumping packages of frozen fish is innovative and original. Might even have them for dinner very soon.

VERY, VERY GOOD: Gaines

Puppy Food. Raining puppies from heaven is tops. Who wouldn't love this one. Top drawer all the way.

ALSO VERY GOOD: Renault with George C. Scott. He is an excellent actor, and I believe him when he tells me that buying this car is the only way to go.

ALSO VERY, VERY GOOD: Mazda's Jim Garner. I also believe him when he tells me that buying this car is the only way to go. What is one to do??

DO YOU REMEMBER? Some of the old-time radio ads. Jack Armstrong had his Wheaties, Little Orphan Annie had Ovaltine, Jack Benny touted JELLO and Ma Perkins was Oxydol. Remember Quick Henry, the Flit and the song:

NEWS & ADVERTISING DEADLINE: 12 NOON MONDAYS

DEAR EDITOR:

When I go to the restaurant for dinner or cup of coffee and see farmers there and talk with them, they talk about how wet the land is and they don't think they'll get any crops this year.

Well, it is bad and I feel sorry for them because a lot of them have worked hard and are deep in debt. Most of them are too young to remember it, but we are living in a new world from when we did. Because back in those days we farmed smaller farms and were more diversified than they are now.

One of the first years I farmed I didn't have a tractor but I had four good horses, even if it took me 10 days to harrow 10 acres over three times. It wasn't the time I saved it was what I did in the time I worked that counted. My wife and I knew what it was to be hard up, as they used to call it. People always said back then if you could get through the first two years of farming and had fairly good crops you could make it.

Well, times were hard in the early 1930s and early 40s.

Postage stamps were only five cents but there were times when we had to wait until we sold some eggs or got enough to mail a letter.

One year my wife and I had a brooder house full of chickens -- about 300 of them. We sold most of the roosters when they were big enough and got a nice check for them. But by the time we got our feed paid there wasn't that much left. But we had a nice flock of chickens and I had a few cows and some pigs and soon we had enough to buy groceries and a few other things we needed.

So if you talk about hard times -- we went through them too. My father went through three Depressions and told me that after they were over it always was better than before.

Back in 1955 we had a very wet fall. We still had a team of horses and we had to pull a lot of beans by hand. We stacked our beans and they ran good but we only got $3.50 for them. But we still had our cows and lots of hay and some corn and we cooked a lot of cull beans for them. We got by and had enough to pay our taxes and make the farm payment except I didn't have enough for one payment on a tractor that I had. So I wrote the finance company and told them and they said they were in the business of loaning money and they would be glad to carry me along. Once I was hauling in my beans and it started to rain, I only had a few to get in yet so I took a big fork full of straw and left the horses stand and quick stacked the rest of them. It was several weeks till I got them in.

When our barn burned down somebody told me to get some shoes on and I fell so bad I started to cry and then in the verse in Job 1:21 it says, "The Lord hath given, the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

I've had lots of losses since then but I found out if a person can repeat that verse and really mean it, it will take a lot of weight off.

Sincerely,
GEORGE KEIM

'150th' celebration plans rolling along for Huron

BAD AXE - As 1986 moves along and the Sesqui-Centennial year, 1987, approaches, about 2 dozen Sesqui-committee members and other interested residents held their October meeting in Huron County Building Wednesday evening to plan further for Huron County's participation in Michigan's 150th birthday celebration.

Ralph Iden, Huron EDC director who is heading Sesqui-Festival planning, showed 2 video tapes about the state-wide event and called for committee reports. He listed several events that might be incorporated into the Huron County participation, including the 3-year canoe trip of Verlen and Valerie Krueger, who started their journey in Canada's Northwest Territories in June. They will travel along Huron County shores through the Great Lakes on their way to Cape Horn, at the southernmost tip of South America, which they will reach in February, 1989. Iden suggested a Huron County welcome wherever they "touch down" along Saginaw Bay or Lake Huron. Representatives from Caseville, Elkton, Harbor Beach, Port Austin and Sebawaing are serving on a contact and welcoming committee.

Debbie Oginski of Harbor Beach and Shirley Edwards of Sebawaing reported on the youth committee's calendar contest, which is open to elementary students to submit drawn pictures which will then be made into a 1987 calendar and sold in Huron County business places. Prizes are offered to students whose drawings are selected for the calendars.

The many appearances at 1986 events by a Sesqui-Centennial float were described by Percy Rader of Bad Axe, who credited Jerry Elenbaum for donation of a wagon which serves as the vehicle for the float. He said the float has made several appearances, is scheduled for showings this fall, and will continue to be available for Huron County community festivals, parades, etc. Interested persons may contact Ralph Iden.

A 150-member children's choir is being organized, and is expected to present a concert in March, 1987. Iden said he hopes to make a recording which could be later sold.

The proposed agricultural theme park is under discussion.

Iden stated that although plans for staging a festival family reunion are moving along well, help is still needed in several vital areas, including fund raising. The reunion is a No. 1 priority, he said, because it would be a fitting event to bring the entire year's celebration together. He urged helpers to volunteer and to "get involved, individually and as a group."

Iden said he would make some personal contacts with members of municipal, social, fraternal, religious and educational groups to reach individuals who are interested and willing to take part.

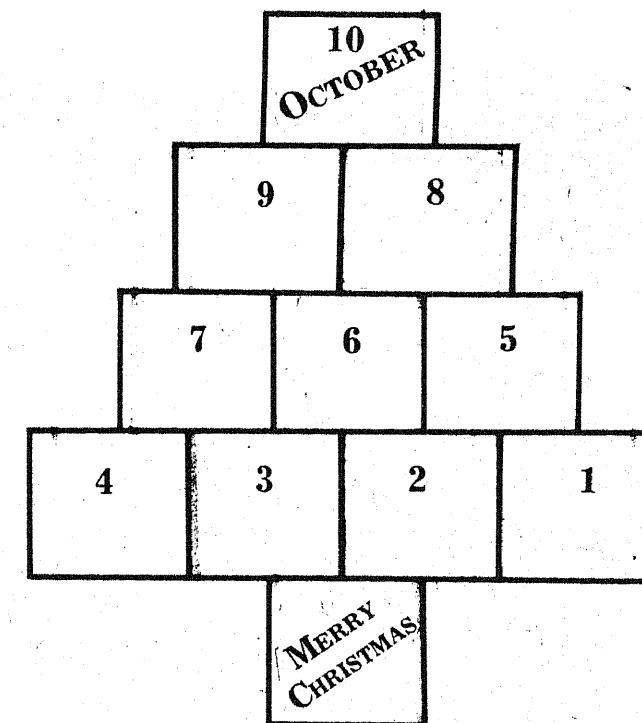

Refreshments were served, and prizes were won.

Iden said the next meeting will be held in Bad Axe at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 5.

Open House brings smiles!

Residents of Owendale who picked up their mail on Thursday, Sept. 15, left the post office with more than just a stack of bills, letters to answer, etc.

Most of them left with a smile, which was exactly what Postmaster Jeannette McDonald had in mind when she set up the "Open House," which included refreshments of coffee or punch, cookies and cupcake, and even more important—a smile and positive conversation.

Mrs. McDonald decided that residents needed a reason to smile after the weeks of rain which has left many with ruined crops, ruined basements and ruined "mental outlooks." She also wanted to observe her 10 years of duties as Postmaster, which began Sept. 25, 1976, following the retirement of Edward G. Schnepf.

About her customers' reactions, Mrs. McDonald says she began to hear fewer comments about the weather and flooding and more of casual conversation as people gathered in the lobby for refreshments. "I wanted to give people something positive to think about," concluded Mrs. McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald herself was given reasons to smile, in the form of flowers sent to her by her family in honor of the occasion.

My sister is 34 years old. She has the Elephant Man's disease, Neurofibromatosis.

This disease has left her with tumors all over her body. After three brain operations, she is completely blind and deaf. Her husband recently left her after 16 years of marriage, so she now lives with our mom.

She's learned to string beads and sits for hours making some of the prettiest necklaces. What I'm asking of you is $250. There is a wholesale bead place in Bonita Springs, but you have to place a $250 minimum order. She only receives $346 a month SSI and buying the beads retail is very expensive.

When her bead supply gets low, she gets extremely worried. This might not seem like much, but to her it is a major problem. If she runs out of beads she is totally lost. Maybe you won't think this is a worthwhile request, but it would mean everything to my sister. — Ms. J.K., Fort Myers, Fla.

DEAR MS. K.: There's no question about it! Your sister is more than deserving.

What amazes me though is how individuals such as your sister find meaning and purpose in life when faced with such adversity. I often wonder if I'd have enough strength to cope if faced with a similar situation. On that note... I humbly send my check.

DEAR MR. ROSS: My wife, myself and our 10 year old presently live in a 500 sq. foot home.

We have been here three years because it is what we can afford. My wife and I agree that she shouldn't work. She already has a full-time job — that of a wife, mother and homemaker.

In order to buy a bigger house, we would have to make $500 payments plus $100 property taxes each month. This means my wife would have to work outside the home. This is how most couples our age are able to buy homes. But we feel they are paying too high a price, family-wise. What I'm asking of you is to help me provide a normal house for my family. — Mr. S.T., Portland, Ore.

DEAR MR. T.: Sorry to say, but that's the way things are today. Ideally it would be nice if families could make the choice as to whether one income is enough.

With today's economy, for many it's not a matter of choice — it's a matter of necessity. Like most difficult choices in our lives... that decision is one only you can make.

—$$$$$$—

DEAR MR. ROSS: We're getting married next month and will spend one week of our honeymoon in New York City. Both my fiancée and I are working with good paying jobs.

We're not looking for financial help. All we want is a personal recommendation from you.

Can you give us the name of your favorite kosher-style delicatessen in New York? My fiancée is a vegetarian, but I'll eat anything (and it shows).

I suppose you won't even get to read this letter... let alone write us back. In any case, we'll be sure to toast you at our wedding reception. —

Scenic notes

Nothing happening on the golf course these days. The course, bordering Mud Creek, has been at various stages of underwater since the severe rainstorm.

The clubhouse has been open for meals and cards have continued on Tuesdays. Winning at bridge on Sept. 16 were Cele Lambert, Nadine Barbet, Wanda Smith, Mary Arlock, Margaret Watson and Hazel Ousterhout. Carrie Giera was the pinochle winner.

No meeting was held on Tuesday, Sept. 23 as only three golfers were present. At the four tables of bridge, winners were Margaret Watson, Lola Tropea, Fran Dunsford and Betty Young.

Sunshine is needed on the golf course, as well as to dry out our farmer friends' fields. All leagues automatically ended with the flood, but card players have been enjoying the warmth of the clubhouse.

Winners at bridge on Tuesday, the final day of the summer season, were Sara McCracken, Marian Fountain, Marian Rathje, Peggy Hunt, Betty Peterhans and Trudi Evans. Pinochle winners were Rita Gogola and Bertha Egget and Lil McLean, who were tied.

CHANGING OR REVOKING A WILL

Having a written will, without a declaration of a revocation of an earlier will, revokes the earlier will to the extent it is inconsistent. In certain states, certain situations (marriage, or two, called a CODICIL, which must be prepared with the same formality, including witnesses, as the will itself, and should be attached to it. Codicils have a way of getting misplaced, particularly when their content is not to the liking of the person finding the will.

A will may be revoked in several ways. Writing a new will revokes an old will if it says it does. A later will

Prevent Fires

October is Fire Prevention Month and is emphasized in the schools. But fire safety shouldn't stop at school — you and your children should know a home escape plan and review the plan routinely. Here are some tips:

- Make a fire drill fun, but serious at the same time. Making a game of it will avoid frightening children. Use races. Try a blindfold race — can you find your way out when wearing a blindfold?
- Use the smoke alarm to start the drill. This acquaints the family with the sound of the alarm — and gives you a chance to test it.
- Sleep with bedroom doors closed. Smoke is the greatest enemy in a night fire. Teach children that the door is their castle gate to keep them safe.
- Teach children two ways out of each room. Tell them to feel the door as high as they can reach. If it is warm or hot, don't open it. If it's cool — open it cautiously.
- Stay low in smoke. The cooler and fresher air is near the floor.
- Teach children how to open windows and take out screens. And teach them to stay near the window if they can't open it. Be sure children have something to climb upon to reach the window.
- Once out, stay out! Never, never, never re-enter a burning building for anything or anyone!
- Have a meeting place outside. Go to the meeting place and stay there until everyone is found. (Fire fighters have died searching for people who were already safe.)

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 8-14

- Practice calling the fire department. Use a role-playing technique to help children learn their home address and how to report an emergency clearly. Teach them not to hang up until the dispatcher tells them to.
- Visit the fire department. Fire fighters enjoy meeting kids and teaching fire safety.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES AID

The regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's Ladies Aid was conducted Wednesday Oct. 1 at the schoolhouse.

Pastor Ohlendorf opened the meeting with a prayer and Bible study on learning from others on "The Gift of Teachers."

Mrs. Erma Rounds gave a report on the Lutheran Womens' Missionary League board meeting and read the minutes of their last meeting. Carol Stein had a prayer of thanks for blessings.

Twenty-three members and one guest were in attendance. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar on the Owendale School cafeteria on Saturday, Oct. 18 at 11 a.m. Final plans are underway.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Mabel Kain and Mrs. Janet Trueman. The committee of Mrs. Marion Brown, Mrs. Jeannie Ziehm and Mrs. Lillian Stein served a luncheon.

Sixty Seconds

Praise God in everything

READ 1 THESSALONIANS 5:12-24

Pray constantly, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you. 1 Thessalonians 5:17-18

Ardie Whitman lost her only son. Wild with grief, she raged at God.

"Thanks for anything seemed almost like blasphemy," she said.

But when she spoke of her anguish to a friend, her friend replied quietly, "I never had a son."

Ardie soon learned that a prayer of thanks can accompany even grief.

Afterward she prayed many times, "Thank You, God, that I have had him."

Most of us, in these trying times of rains and flooding, need the reminder of the text today from the inspired pen of St. Paul.

He reminded the Christians in Thessalonica — and he reminds us today — to "pray constantly" to give thanks all through the day as we practice being conscious of the presence of God, our Father.

Then he tells us to give thanks "in all circumstances."

This is more than just saying glibly, "Praise the Lord!"

It means to be aware of the situation, good or bad.

It means to acknowledge God's hand in it and thank Him.

Because He has made us His own through the redeeming sacrifice of His Son.

He uses every situation in life, even rains and floods, for our good — to teach us, to correct us, to strengthen us.

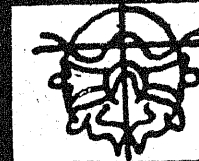

That is how we grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

We thank You, gracious Father, for Your blessings this day, and we ask Your guidance that we might live for You. Amen.

Lakers tame toothless Tigers in the mud

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Laker fans who expected to see fancy play during last Saturday's game had to console themselves with a 26-8 victory over Caro.

The Green Machine resorted to power football against the smaller Caro squad on a muddy, slippery Laker field.

"Offensively we just lined up in the 'I' and powered it one way and then powered it the other way. That's about all you could do (on the wet turf)," said Laker Coach Bill McLellan.

The footing for the players was demonstrated quickly as Laker Dean Roestel slipped and fell on his own nine-yard line after catching the opening kickoff.

Lakers were not intimidated by the poor field position, however, and marched 91 yards down the field to score on their first possession when Ken Ziel crossed the goal line on a 14-yard run.

Ziel also set up Laker's second touchdown on their next drive with a 48-yard ramble. Tom Beer then covered the final 10 yards on a touchdown run to give the home team a 12-0 halftime lead.

DOUBLE REIGN: Laker safety Brad Krohn was crowned Homecoming King last Friday, and also reigned over the defensive backfield in the game. He intercepted a Caro pass in the first half, and repeated the feat on the first play of the third quarter. After he grabbed the pass, Krohn raced 50 yards for a touchdown.

Another Caro mistake was quickly turned into the fourth Green Machine touchdown of the game. After a bad snap on a Tiger punt attempt was fumbled, Lakers fell on the ball just 16 yards from paydirt.

On the next play, quarterback Jay Anthes drilled a scoring pass to Jeff Sturm.

SHARP FOOT: Randy Heckman used his foot to add a pair of PAT kicks, as well as pin Caro deep in their own territory with three punts. He booted kicks of 55, 45 and 41 yards, including one which touched the goal line marker as it rolled out-of-bounds.

Laker's only turnover was a fumble, but defensive back Jason McIlhargie got the ball right back for the Green and White with an interception on the following play.

Caro's lone points were registered two minutes before the final gun on a touchdown pass and two-point conversion on a running play.

STATS: Lakers gained 200 yards rushing and 72 more with the pass, compared to 61 yards rushing and 110 passing for Caro.

Ziel carried the ball nine times for 125 yards.

Anthes completed three of seven passes with one touchdown, while reserve quarterback Mark Kretschmer was 0-2.

McLellan thought his team has improved during the past few weeks, but playing on a muddy field makes an accurate evaluation difficult.

"When you play in that kind of stuff, bad things can happen sometimes. We were glad to get the lead right away," McLellan stated.

He also credited Caro for their play in the game.

"(Caro) played with enthusiasm for a team that's 0-4," said McLellan.

Caro Coach Dave Gierhart echoed that thought, "We came out and hit. We didn't lie down."

The 23 Tigers who suited up for the game weren't quitters, but some of the 38 Caro players who started the year on the team lost interest after losing their first games.

Others were suspended for disciplinary reasons, leaving the Caro mentor with some unlikely starters.

"We started a 132 lb. tackle on defense, and that's pretty tough when you're playing Lakers," Gierhart reported.

Things aren't likely to improve much for the Tigers this season as they face North Branch next week and also play highly-regarded Frankenmuth in their final game of the year.

THIS WEEK: Lakers travel to Bad Axe for a game on Friday night.

JVs WIN: The Laker junior varsity boosted their record to 5-0 with a 22-12 victory over Caro last Thursday.

Laker quarterback Billy McLellan fired a 20-yard pass to Kevin Wolfman in the first quarter to open the scoring. Caro then tied the game at 6-6 in the first quarter.

Shaw Parrish scored a pair of third quarter touchdowns on runs of 10 and 13 yards and also ran in both PAT conversions to give Lakers a 22-6 lead.

Caro scored one more touchdown in the third quarter for the final points of the game.

Parrish gained 56 yards in 12 carries, followed closely by Vince Gentile with 53 yards in 11 carries.

The defense was led by Jamie Randall with 10 tackles and Ed Bach with eight.

FINGERTIP CATCH: Laker flanker Randy Heckman hauls in a pass as he outraces Caro defender Rick Miller for the ball.

Undefeated Lakers upend Caro, USA

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
The Lady Laker basketball team used two completely different approaches to their games last week but the end result was the same — two more victories for the undefeated squad.

Last Tuesday night, Lakers started slowly and even trailed 29-23 at halftime, before pulling away in the second half to upend Unionville-Sobewaing, 58-47.

Just two nights later, Lakers jumped on the Caro Tigers early with a 19-5 first quarter lead, then only maintained that margin for the remainder of the contest to win, 56-38.

Although his team won easily against the overpowered Caro Tigers, Laker Coach Paul Beachy expressed concern that his team relaxed somewhat after building a big first-quarter lead.

"We won the game, but I want these girls to keep the intensity level up, even if we are beating the other team," Beachy said and added, "As a coach, I expect the girls to play to the best of their ability. We're not out there to play wishy-washy ball."

He said he doesn't press or try to run up the score, but doesn't want his players to loaf on the court. The Laker mentor praised the performance of his subs off the bench.

NUMBERS: Julia Sturm hit 18 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to lead the green and white. Lisa Buschlen contributed 10 points on outside jump-shots to the Laker first-quarter surge and finished the game with 14 points.

Caro's Maresa Hebert broke loose for 17 second-half points to lead Tiger scoring with a total of 26.

USA SCARE: Lakers had no time to coast in last Tuesday's game after falling behind the USA Patriots in the final minutes before the intermission.

Laker center Julia Sturm was held to just six points by USA's box-and-one defense. Cindy Smith and Kathy Andrakowicz took turns shadowing Sturm in an effort to keep fresh legs on defense against the Laker scoring leader.

In the third quarter, however, the Lady Lakers began to get the ball to Sturm near the hoop and she canned 11 points to lead the home team's comeback. She ended the game with 23 points and also took charge under the boards with 10 rebounds.

Lisa Buschlen added 17 points for Lakers, including eight in the final stanza.

Andrakowicz led the Patriots with 16 points and Gayle Schafer scored 15.

THE KEY: "The key was Julia getting nine rebounds in the second half. (USA players) were only getting one shot when they came down the court," Beachy noted.

"We were standing around too much in the first half. In the second half we started going inside on them and that was the difference," he added.

GRUMBLES: USA Coach Ned Rambo complained bitterly that the officials should have whistled Sturm for more fouls, and said the same officials hurt his team at Laker High in past years.

Laker Athletic Director Bob Drury later said one of the officials didn't officiate at Laker High before and pointed out he has no control over who wears the striped shirts for EPBP games.

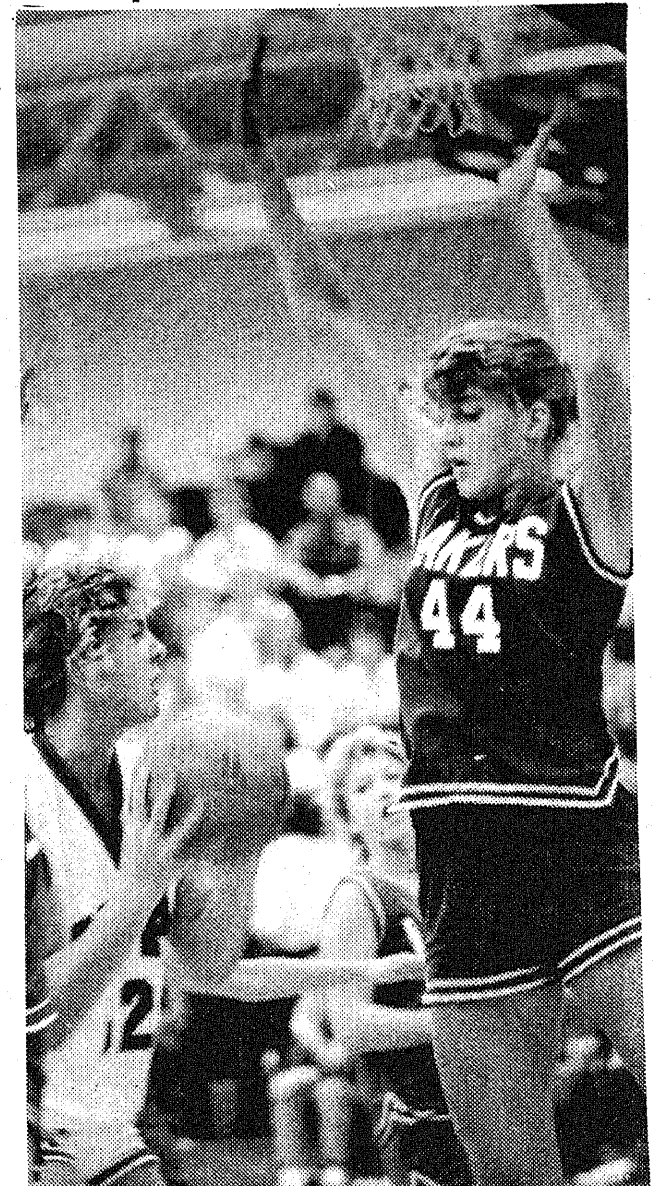

At the beginning of the season, Laker High sends a schedule of games to the Bay City Officials Association which is responsible for assigning refs for the games.

"We have never asked for or excluded anybody on (the BCOA) list," Drury said.

THIS WEEK: Lakers travel to Ubyly on Tuesday and then to Bad Axe on Thursday.

JVS SPLIT: The junior varsity lost to USA 46-38 as Treacle Henne scored 10 points.

The Laker squad bounced back on Thursday with a 42-22 victory over Caro. Connie Schulz netted 12 points and Kami Rathje grabbed 12 rebounds to pace the Laker team.

DEFENSE: Julia Sturm (44) soars high to prevent a shot by USA's Kathy Andrakowicz.

Madej comes alive in Eagle wins

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Moving a freshman up to a varsity team can sometimes put undue pressure on a young player and strain relationships between players.

But so far, that move by Caseville's Randy Bingham has worked out well for his squad.

The Eagles posted a 45-32 victory over Port Hope and handed Kingston a 50-39 setback last week as Caseville worked toward the .500 win-loss percentage.

Bingham promoted ninth grader Deb Warren to the varsity and she helped with rebounding chores — and also provided Kim Madej with a chance to rest during the games. Madej responded with her best performances of the season so far.

The junior center scored 10 points and pulled down 11 rebounds the Caseville win against Port Hope and added a dozen points and another 11 rebounds in the win at Kingston.

"Kim Madej came alive. She's playing up to her capability now," declared Bingham.

He also pointed out Madej assisted teammate Tina Bieri on at least four fastbreak baskets with quick outlet passes in the victory over Kingston.

In addition to Madej's 12 points, Bieri scored 17 points in that contest and Erin Barton netted 10.

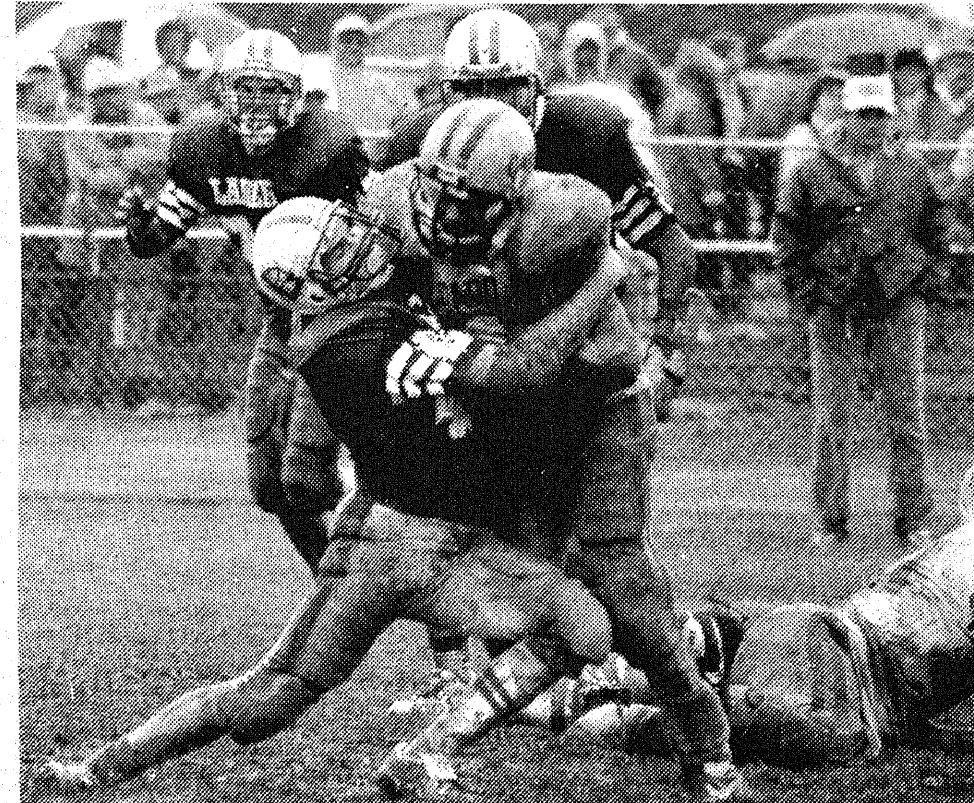

HALF LEAD: Caseville led 24-19 at halftime against Kingston and outpointed their hosts 15-8 in the final stanza to claim the win.

Barton led Eagle scoring with 15, followed by Bieri with 12 and Madej with 10 in the victory over Port Hope.

Yvonne Miller grabbed 13 rebounds against Port Hope and 11 more against Kingston. Freshman Warren pulled down six rebounds in each of her first two varsity contests.

THIS WEEK: Caseville hosts Deckerville on Thursday.

JVS SPLIT: The Caseville junior varsity upended Port Hope, 17-16, but lost to Kingston, 26-19.

WRAPPED UP: Laker safety Brad Krohn stops a Caro ballcarrier on the muddy field as a pair of Laker teammates move in to help on the tackle.

Eagle offense sputters against stubborn Bulldogs

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

Caseville Football Coach Jerry Winkler doesn't like his team to let down while leading on the scoreboard, but is even more unhappy when his squad is forced to play catch-up. The Eagle mentor found himself calling more pass plays than he would like last Friday as Caseville attempted to rally before losing a 20-8 decision to OwenGage.

The Bulldogs scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters. Steve Root put OwenGage on the scoreboard first with a two-yard touchdown run in the opening period. In the second quarter, Mike Reinhardt scored on a one-yard plunge to give the Eagles a 12-0 halftime lead.

In the fourth quarter,

OwenGage defender Nick Pavlacheck boosted the Bulldog lead to 20-0 when he picked off a Caseville pass and returned it 40 yards for a touchdown.

For the second consecutive game, Caseville sophomore Troy Hartz scored a touchdown on a long runback. After the final OwenGage touchdown, he returned the kickoff back 80 yards for the lone Eagle touchdown of the game.

"Our defensive line just couldn't hold them in the first half. They were getting four and five yards at a crack," said Winkler. "Their defense was their key to the win." He added about the OwenGage squad.

Forced into a passing game on a windy night, Caseville recorded only 91 yards in total offense. Eagle quarterback Matt Kraus completed two of 11 passes for 22 yards and was intercepted three times. Caseville gained 69 yards on the ground.

Coach Winkler said this was the first time his team was held to under 100 yards in offense in several years. His team achieved only six first downs in the game, compared with 18 for OwenGage.

The Bulldogs rushed for 282 yards and passed for 14 more. Steve Root carried 21 times for 115 yards and Jay Susalla gained 71 yards in 14 carries.

THIS WEEK: Coach Winkler expects another tough game at Kingston on Friday night. He says the opponents will have a size advantage as Kingston is probably one of the biggest teams in the league.

WOODS and WATERS

By Duane Guenther

Tired of fishing

"Just once," I remembered mentioning to my fishing buddy Jim as we prepared for our Alaskan fishing trip this summer, "I'd like to be bored with catching fish."

Jim and I were members of a "rag-tag" party of 10 fishermen, made up of ex-jet pilots, real estate brokers, bankers, restaurateurs, clinical psychologists, and a retired DNR official. As teachers, and the only flyfishermen in our group, it was only natural that the first day out of camp found us in the same jet boat searching for the fabulous Alaskan fishing we had both read and heard so much about.

Early that morning a bush pilot dropped Jim, Bobby, our guide and me on a shoreline runway at Chelatina Lake. We picked up a waiting jet boat and headed for the outlet that was misnamed, Lake Creek. Misnamed because the creek was about 75 yards wide, varied in depth from 8 feet to a couple of inches, and had the powerful flow of a rain-swollen, Michigan river.

Bobby had decided to ferry us down the creek to the first riffle, a distance of 5 to 6 miles. It was at this point the creek lost its mirror-slick surface, and turned into a tumbling torrent of broken water. It was also at this point that the spawning salmon congregated in their annual migration from the Pacific Ocean.

We reached the riffle and beached the boat on a grassy bank jutting out in the water. While Jim and I were busy rigging our rods, Bobby tied down the boat and moved up the bank and gave the place a quick once-over. He returned and gave us some quick instructions.

"Fish anywhere you want," he said, "just make sure you don't get out of my sight." He walked over and pointed out a large pile of black feces. "There are other guys using this fishing hole, and sometimes they get ornery when they stumble on intruders."

The other fishermen Bobby referred to were the grizzly bears so common in our area, and I didn't need his warning for both Jim and I had remarked about the well-beaten game trails that were everywhere along the river's edge. I looked back at Bobby, and felt reassured that he shouldered his 7mm rifle, and checked the cylinder of the .357 magnum nestled in the holster beneath his left armpit. He would be our guard, and in the case of a real emergency, perhaps a lifesaver.

I quickly forgot the bears and pondered over the flybox pulled from the pocket of my vest. We would be fishing for pink salmon, or humpbacks, as they were called locally. The king salmon run was over and our primary fishing would be for pinks and sockeyes. That is, until the chums and silvers began to appear.

"I quickly forgot the bears and pondered over my flybox pulled from the pocket of my vest. We would be fishing for pink salmon..."

With no idea of a fly pattern, my hand reached for a gaudy, pink marabou, a concoction that I had fashioned many nights earlier at the fly tying table in my basement. It represented nothing, and that was alright, for at this time in their lives, the fish were not even feeding. The lure was intended to provoke a strike by acting as an intruder in their nesting area.

I attached the fly to a short tippet of 8-lb. monofilament, and snaked the sink-tip line out over the riffle. I swung past the first line of redds, straightened slowly, and stopped. I struck, the rod bowed, and the line sizzled as it spun off the reel. I was fast to a male humpy. Grotesque, with the biological changes that affect male fish in their spawning stages, he nevertheless was a willing fighter.

"A fish on my first cast," I thought to myself, "what a dream."

However, the dream was about to become a nightmare, but an exciting nightmare. I proceeded to catch fish on my next 6 casts, setting a personal record of 7 straight, soon to be broken by Jim, who had also tied a personal creation and was catching fish on every cast.

As the morning wore on we tried many different patterns, but always came back to the originals we had started the day with. The fish were so cooperative we didn't even think about lunch, and like kids in a candy store proceeded to catch fish in unbelievable numbers. Finally, as the afternoon waned, I crawled wearily out of the water and throwing my rod down, announced, "I've had it."

"Me, too," Jim laughed, "but, isn't it great to be tired of catching fish?"

CIRCULATION REPORT

Circulation materials were up 395 items during September, compared with the same time last year. A total of 6,027 pieces were loaned out to patrons, including 1,622 adult books, 550 junior adult books, 1,107 children's books, 176 toys and 2,554 videocassette tapes, 16 pieces of AV equipment and two 16mm films.

The overdue fines paid by patrons amounted to $157.95 and the copier brought in $236.30.

Five Preschool Story Hour sessions were conducted with 319 children in attendance. Nine children celebrated their birthdays with a crown and a song. Jami Chiotti, Sarah Hazard, D.J. McIlhargie, Peter Vollmer, Brandon Maust, Anand Raythatha, Manisha Raythatha, Jamie Dubs and Jessica Weidman.

Twenty-one new registrations were recorded for September: four from Windsor, five from Caseville, nine from Fairhaven and one each from McKinley, Oliver and Lake Townships.

PRESCHOOL STORY HOUR

The theme for the Oct. 14 Preschool Story Hour will be "Walt Disney Stories," and will include "Donald Duck: Mountain Climber," "Button Soup" and "Goofy the Miller." Exercises, fingerplays, songs and games are part of the activities the children will participate in. A Walt Disney hand-out character puppet will be presented to the children.

Children from age three to five are invited to attend either the 9 or 10:30 a.m. session. Annual registration is required.

Mothers are invited to furnish two dozen cookies for Preschool Story Hour on special occasions. Mothers may sign up on the cookie sheet for the holidays they prefer.

COFFEE HOUR

The first Parents Coffee Hour for 1986 will be held Tuesday, Oct. 21 with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bettinger presenting a dramatization of "The Fire of 1913."

Coffee Hour sessions are at 9 and 10:30 a.m., while children attend Preschool Story Hour.

Coffee Hour is open to all library patrons this year, not just Preschool Parents. Hope to see you there!

SENIOR FILM FESTIVAL

Senior citizens are invited to the monthly Film Festival on the third Thursday of each month, October through April at 1:30 p.m. in the Pigeon District Library community room.

Admission is free, and Librarian Roberta Richmond reports that attendance last year was excellent.

Films scheduled for Oct. 16 include "White Mane," a 38 minute black and white film about a wild white stallion being stalked by men; "Woof Woof," a 14 minute color film about a dog and cat who fight when they meet and instead of joining in the fight, their off-spring play and sing together in harmony; "Winter of the Witch," a 22 minute color film offering human observations about the people and the world we live in.

Homework Help

Now that school is in full swing, the library looks forward to seeing parents with children who are working on homework and school assignments.

Here are several suggestions for helping the library and parents work together with children:

1) Please take time to learn what resources and services the library provides for your child. Bring your child to visit. In this way you will become familiar with the library materials which might help you later.

2) Make sure your child clearly understands what assignment requirements are. We will be glad to help your child find what he needs.

3) Please let your child do his own research on his homework. Help your child in a constructive way by not criticizing his reading ability. If you are the lucky parents of a gifted child, let your child decide what he likes to read for himself.

4) Give your child ample time to finish his research at the library. Do not rush him and add to his anxiety. We want your child to have a positive library experience.

5) You may check out as many fiction books as you like. However, limit non-fiction books to two books per subject. Remember that others may have the same homework subject.

6) Please remind your child that the library is not a meeting place. Other patrons may need to concentrate on their work.

REFRESHMENTS

Wind adds to flood woes

More flooding occurred along the Saginaw Bay shoreline during the past weekend as strong northerly winds raised the rain-swollen Bay and rivers. The lake level was raised enough to flood the houses pictured above on Beadle Island in Caseville, as well as other houses near Mud Creek along M-25. The wind blew water into the Pigeon River from Saginaw Bay and also slowed the run-off from a driving rain on Saturday.

OUR WONDERFUL WORLD

What a wonderful, wonderful, beautiful world in which we live. Not a thing did we do to inherit the land, 'tis a gift the creator did give. For parks and for roads, for this and for that, take all that you want, if you will, for cities for both the living and dead there is plenty of it left for us still. All over the land, spread out in its soil, the essentials of life may be found, for food and for clothing, and many things more, we'll continue to look to the ground. For down in the earth all out of the way, there's a storage according to plan. The plan is divine, not yours and not mine, it surpassed the wisdom of man. There's coal and there's iron; there's gas and oil and many things more we could name, there's water for both the rich and the poor, and diamonds for people of fame. Since man has been on it, the earth has been tapped, and yet if there's been any and all, the space has been filled by something that's new, more powerful, more useful to all. 'Tis true that at times much sadness prevails, and sin and sorrow doth reign, but the day is longer by far than the night, and joy prevails over pain. And while we enjoy the blessings we have, the greatest of all we should know, is the chance that we have to prepare for a home, when from this old world we shall go. For blessings unnumbered, for things we enjoy, we should always be thankful and glad, and honor the Power that has given to man, the very best world that he had. —Praise God— Mrs. Irvin Coote
