Charity ferry starts runs

It's finally here. The long-awaited ferry taking passengers from Caseville to Charity Island finally docked at Saginaw Bay Marina last week and carried eager visitors to the 222-acre island.

Charity Island owner Bob Wiltsie said the 49-ft. steel-hulled "Northstar" will begin making daily trips to the island at 11 a.m. from Saginaw Bay Marina. The boat also makes the 50-minute trip from Au Gres at 9 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

The island has picnic tables, miles of nature trails and an abandoned lighthouse. Visitors should bring their picnic lunch and good walking shoes. Insect repellent is also advised if you plan to hike, Wiltsie said.

A HIGH POINT for hundreds of area youngsters at last weekend's Sugar Festival was a free elephant ride at Luke's Shopping Center. The elephant was one of three in the Franzen Brothers Circus, which performed Saturday.

Festival turnout is largest on record

In spite of scattered rain showers Friday, the largest Michigan Sugar Festival crowd ever to attend the 3-day celebration filled Sebewaing and its main park to overflowing last weekend. According to tourist survey-takers, the visitors came from Detroit and Grand Rapids, from Houghton Lake and Escanaba, from all over the state. And they came for a wide variety of reasons.

Many just happened to be in the area, and stopped by to see what all the excitement was about. But many others came for specific events and activities.

- The Franzen Brothers Circus played to full houses during both its afternoon and evening shows.

- The Lake Huron Community Arts Council sponsored an exhibition of shipping and sailing on the Great Lakes which included a nautical art show and sale. The event, titled The Lore of the Lakes, drew sailors, artists and collectors from across the state.

- The Festival's Road Race and Sugar Smasher 3-on-3 Basketball Tourney again attracted competing athletes from as far away as Detroit.

But, of course, the single biggest draw was the Festival itself. During its nearly 3 decades of operation, the Michigan Sugar Festival has established and maintained itself as one of the largest and best community events in the entire state.

ALL HAIL QUEEN JANNA — 1992 Michigan Sugar Queen Kristy Adam crowned Janna Kunding queen for 1993 in coronation ceremonies Friday night at the Festival.

Sebewaing Village okays variance

By WALT RUMMEL
In a zoning board of appeals hearing Monday during the regular Sebewaing Village Council meeting, Patrice Gettel was granted a variance to operate a beauty shop at 22 Seventh Street.

Gettel recently purchased the former John Volz home and is moving into the village from her former home at 25 Woodland, south of Sebewaing, where she also operated a beauty shop.

Council approved a resolution asking for a stoplight at the intersection of M-25 and Bay Street, because of the much heavier flow of traffic, due to a growing resort traffic pattern and start-up of the new McDonald's Restaurant. The resolution has been sent to the state Department of Transportation.

Council approved transfer of a Class C License at the Sugar Shack, 612 Pine Street, to CAH, Ltd., represented by Carol A. Hall. Sellers are Dale and Marlene Keinath. A discussion was held on possible agreements for the village to take over private roads in the area of the proposed Sebewaing Marina. Involved in the consideration are the North/South Pitcher Road, the East/West Pitcher Road and Grover Road. If the agreements are adopted, the roads would become public streets and be maintained by the village.

P.A.L.M. bikers pedal to Pigeon this weekend

By AMY HEIDEN
Imagine the looks on the faces of Thumb Area motorists when they encounter participants in the P.A.L.M. ride this week.

After all, it's not often that a group of over 500 bicyclists pedals down local roads.

Those bike riders are only half of the estimated 1,000 persons who take part every year in the six-day "Pedal Across Lower Michigan Ride" (P.A.L.M.).

The ride has two routes, with this year's southern route taking riders from the starting point in Fruitport on the shores of Lake Michigan through Cedar Springs, Chesaning, Mayville, Deckerville and finally to Harbor Beach on the shores of Lake Huron. The northern route riders will also start in Fruitport, but they'll travel through Grant, Stanton, St. Charles, Caro, Pigeon, Elkton and then into Harbor Beach to join with the other riders.

Everyone started from Fruitport this past Sunday, June 27 and ends with a parade and special luncheon this Friday, July 2 in Harbor Beach.

Those 500 northern-route riders will spend Thursday night camping at Laker High School, and while there, they'll be bused into Pigeon to enjoy the lip-synch group Earth Angels and comedian/juggler/magician Jonathan D. Haglund at the Pigeon Band Shell. The public is invited to this third summer series concert, with a nominal admission payable at the door.

P.A.L.M. publicity chairman Cheryl Holland said riders come from all walks of life, and in all shapes and sizes, with nearly half the riders under age 16.

The route changes every year, but always follows paved roads across the state. Ride organizer Doris West noted the ride is meant to appeal to beginning and novice riders.

"We travel anywhere from 30-65 miles a day, but average about 50 miles a day," West said. "Our oldest rider this year is a gentleman who's 88 years old."

Along the route, the riders camp out each night, with trucks moving baggage, tents and clothing, freeing the riders to carry only what they'll need for the day. Special vehicles drive the routes, to offer assistance, encouragement and spare parts.

"The beauty of the ride is that you get to know your state," West said. "There are many towns with interesting names and interesting people along the way."

YFC Auction coming July 17

By AMY HEIDEN
Just about everybody loves an auction, where there's all sorts of neat things that just beg to be bought and taken home.

There will be lots of items begging for your attention at the 15th annual Bluewater Thumb Youth for Christ Auction at Pigeon's Recreation Park on Saturday, July 17.

The day begins with the bake sale at 8:30 a.m. and the auction get underway at 9:30. Volunteer auctioneers Dale Wertz of Great Lakes Auction in Bay Port plus Herb and Virgil Albrecht of Vassar's Albrecht Auction will again do the selling.

As always, there are quilts, furniture, toys and cars, but there's always some unique items, too.

For instance, this year the auction will feature a Western Flyer Fire Chief Pedal Car that's at least 40 years old. It's sure to bring back lots of memories for those of a certain age.

And certified divers will want to take note of the gift certificate from Bruno's Diving of Port Sanilac for a dive for two to see submerged shipwrecks in Lake Huron waters.

Also featured are two dinner packages, one featuring a lobster dinner and a tour of the Port Austin Lighthouse and Turnip Rock, and the second from Lindy's Sales in Quinacasee that includes a boat ride from Quinacasee to the Brass Lantern Restaurant in Bay City.

For sports fans, there's a special Detroit Lions VIP package that includes four tickets, four passes to the pregame meal in the press box, a tour of the press box and a visit to the sidelines during pregame warmups.

There's also a suite for 18 persons at Detroit's Joe Louis Arena, to watch the Detroit Red Wings.

A July 4th Opinion: By Philip C. Clarke

Our immigration policies are a mess!

Few Americans had been aware of the growing Chinese immigration problem until the night of June 8th. That's when a tramp freighter named the Golden Venture ran aground off New York City, spilling nearly 300 illegal Chinese immigrants onto a beach not far from the Statue of Liberty.

Six drowned but the others survived in a dramatic rescue operation. The incident laid bare the details of a sordid but flourishing immigrant-smuggling business worth some $3 billion a year.

Convinced by movies and TV that America is the land of gold-paved streets and limitless opportunities, thousands of Chinese, most of them from rural provinces, have signed up for the long and arduous journey. Typically, each traveler agrees to pay the "snakeheads," as the smuggler bosses are called, about $30,000 with 10% down and the rest of the debt to be worked off after the immigrant finds a job in America. Many of the victims end up in a form of indentured servitude, or slave labor, in Chinatown sweatshops, their installment payments to the "snakeheads" often enforced at gunpoint.

Nonetheless, the flow of humanity continues. By one estimate, as many as 100,000 illegal Chinese immigrants arrive in the U.S. each year. The vast majority enter undetected, never encountering an immigration officer.

But of those who do claim asylum - including survivors of the Golden Venture - an astonishing 80% to 85% are approved for permanent domicile.

The reason is simple. Four years ago, then President Bush, in an act of compassion after the Tiananmen Square massacre, ordered that asylum be granted to all Chinese who left their country to escape Beijing's harsh population controls, including forced abortions and sterilization. When word of this reached China's provinces, the rush to America was on. In the past two years alone, the volume of Chinese immigration, legal and illegal, has multiplied tenfold.

U.S. authorities, undermanned and hamstrung by outmoded rules and regulations, have been literally overwhelmed. Although some two dozen shiploads of illegal immigrants have been seized in the past two years, the smugglers have outfitted at least 50 more "rust buckets" to keep the human sealift going. And most of the 1,800 or so "illegals" who were apprehended had been coached in advance on how to apply for asylum, informing officials they had arrived "at the invitation" of the President and the U.S. Congress!

Statistics point up the need for reforms. Asylum claims now require about 18 months just to "evaluate." And it would take our overworked Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) some 10 years to dispose of its current backlog of 250,000 asylum applications. During such unrealistic waiting periods, most "illegals" simply disappear into the general population.

This happens not only among Chinese immigrants but for many thousands of asylum-seekers from other countries. The INS' New York office alone now has 62,000 deportation proceedings underway. At the current rate, it would take 80 years to clear the system out.

The U.S. now admits about 1 million legal immigrants a year. There are no reliable figures on "illegals," but one INS spokesperson puts the number anywhere from 3 million to 6 million - not including the some 2 million or more jobless Mexicans who cross and re-cross our porous Southern border each year.

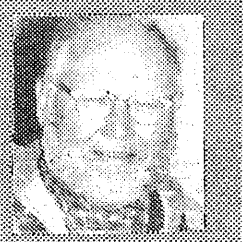

As critics see it, U.S. immigration policies are in shambles, opening the floodgates to countless aliens who are displacing American workers, aggravating crime and race relations and lowering overall U.S. living standards. Defenders of America's traditional "open door" policy, on the other hand, argue that as a nation built by immigrants, our strength depends on the diversity and the skills and labors of newcomers.

This summer, other domestic concerns permitting, Congress will debate proposals to revamp our haphazard and often conflicting immigration laws. Common sense dictates that America maintain compassion for the truly oppressed "boat people" of the world while, at the same time, regaining control over our borders. Our future depends on it.

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

Dear Editor:

Dad asked me to write his column for this week and suggested that I tell you about our town of Hesston, KS.

Some choose a place to live and find a vocation there, while others choose a vocation and follow it to various places.

I've taken the latter course. For the past six years, Tami and I have been teaching at Hesston College. Tonya is now 14 and ready to enter high school and Talashia is 11, entering sixth grade.

Hesston is a small town about 30 miles north of Wichita and about three hours travel southwest of Kansas City.

Its two main manufacturers are Excel, which manufactures turfequipment, and Hay and Forage Industries, which is the former Hesston Corp., now owned by Case International. There are also a feed company and several stores and small businesses.

The people are friendly and we appreciate our local school, church and area merchants.

I don't frequent the coffee shop as much as Dad, but when I do, the subjects seem to be much the same. Business developments, crops, weather, taxes and government all come in for their turn as the subjects around the table.

The town was established about a generation later than Pigeon, and there are many more first generation families. We see that difference during holiday seasons, when families "go home" to visit parents and grandparents.

Farming is quite different in Kansas, due to the different climate and soil conditions. We have a longer and drier growing season than here in the Thumb. The main crops in our immediate area are wheat and milo.

Summers are less humid, with steady, south winds. One never needs a compass in our area, as the trees give the directions. They are thinner on the south side, and the tops point north.

The beauty of Kansas is different than the beauty of the Thumb. We do not have as much snow in winter or as much variety in the shapes and textures of crops. And of course, we do not have Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron.

Instead, we marvel at the open, gently rolling land, the big clear sky and waving fields of ripening grain. The east sky, light clouds and setting sun often combine to form breathtaking sunsets.

Dad usually closes with a verse, and here is one which fits our home, whether it be

Michigan, Kansas or other places:

"Lord, you have assigned me my portion and my cup; you have made my lot secure. The boundary lines have fallen for me in pleasant places; surely I have a delightful inheritance." Psalm 16:5-6.

Sincerely,
HOWARD KEIM

Yarns From The Thumb

by Walt Rummel

■ We're almost at the midpoint of 1993—it's TUESDAY, JUNE 29, the 180th day of the year, leaving just 185. The 29th Michigan Sugar Festival is past, Summer is already eight days old, and we're moving into the second half of the year. You haven't noticed it yet, but the days are getting shorter. The turn-around from longer days to shorter is a minute change at the beginning, but by mid- or late-July it will be evident to all.

■ On JUNE 29, 1861, William James Mayo was born in LeSeuer, MN, and he became one of the Mayo Brothers who established Mayo Clinic and Foundation. . . JUNE 29 is also known as Peter and Paul Day, commemorating the dual martyrdom of Christian apostles, Peter by crucifixion, and Paul by beheading, during Emperor Nero's persecution. . . To acknowledge the comforts of air conditioning, the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute, Arlington, VA, has designated JULY 3-AUG. 15 as Air Conditioning Appreciation Days. . . Birthdays, Actor Tom Cruise 31 and Musician Pete Fountain 63. . .

■ Freedom Day starts with Independence Day, SUN- DAY, THE FOURTH OF JULY, commemorating the adoption of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress on JULY 4, 1776, making this our National Birthday. It's observed as a legal holiday in all states and territories. . . Calvin Coolidge, the 30th U.S. President, was born on JULY 4, 1872, in Calvin, VT. He became President on Aug. 3, 1923 and was elected in 1924, but announced he would not seek re-election with a 10-word, longhand statement, "I do not choose to run for President in 1928." He was nicknamed "Silent Cal" for his unwillingness to speak many words. Coolidge died on Jan. 5, 1933, at the age of 60. . .

Twins Esther Pauline and Pauline Esther Friedman, better known as Ann Landers and Abigail VanBuren, advice columnists, are 75 today. . . At 6 p.m. today, planet Earth will reach aphelion, the point in its orbit when it is farthest from the Sun, about 94,510 million miles. Although we're farthest from the Sun at this hottest time of the year, our angle is flattest, hence it's Summertime. . .

■ Everyone has heard of the legendary circus owner and showman, P. T. Barnum, but do you know what his given name really was? It was Phineas Taylor Barnum and he was born JULY 5, 1810, in Bethel, CT. He promoted such unusual acts as Chang and Eng, the Siamese twins, General Tom Thumb, Jenny Lind, and many others. He built museums, and "The Greatest Show on Earth," finally merging with his rival, J. A. Bailey, and formed Barnum and Bailey Circus in 1881. He died April 7, 1891. . .

■ Last Wednesday marked the 60th anniversary of the start of the Don McNeil Breakfast Club, which was broadcast each weekday morning out of Chicago before a live audience. For hundreds of thousands of housewives it was "breakfast with Don," and it continued for more than 30 years. To mark the anniversary, Don and some cast members, Singer Johnny Desmond and Band Director Jimmy Valentine, gathered for a celebration. Don, they say, is still well and sharp at 85.

When our family took a vacation to Chicago in July, 1953, after Sebewaing's Centennial Celebration, we were studio guests at the Breakfast Club. Beards were so unusual at that time that this writer was hailed out of the audience to tell the "why" of the beard. Explaining that it was for the town's Centennial contest, Don and others took great delight in wisecracks about the sound of the word, "Sebewaing."

They set up an impromptu test of how Chicagoans would spell such an Indian name. It was a blistering hot day, and after leaving the air-conditioned radio studio, I excused myself from the family, slipped into the hotel barber shop and had the beard clipped and shaved off. The Centennial celebration had passed the previous week, and it was more comfortable to get rid of the beard.

I'm not sure of the cost of a shave 40 years ago in Chicago, but it seems that it cost $3, plus "an extra $1 for having to clip it off first." How the years pass! And how things change! !

CIRCUS SPASS

Wir wissen alle das Circuses sind intended fuer Fun und Enjoyment. Kinder sind especially fascinated by the Animals and Trapezists, die Clowns und die Parades.

Letzte Woche kam eine Circus zu unser Zucker Festival, und es war ein real Favorite.

Alle Acts waren interesting, aber da ich die grosse Elefanten sahe, hab ich ein special Event recalled von die fruehe 1960s.

George Romney war Governor, und er war auf den Campaign Trail und kam zu die Saginaw County Fair. Ich arbeitete fuer die Saginaw News und war assigned zum Governor Romney meeten bei die Fair.

Ich war Governor's und Frau Romney's Gast in Ihr Heim etliche Wochen frueher, und kannte beide.

Ich nahm etliche Bilder da der Governor Cotton Candy gestastet hat, und mit Saginaw County Republikaner.

Auf einmal kam ein energetic Republikaner und sagte, "Governor, wir haben hier ein Elefant, und wir moechten dir auf sein Ruecken haben fuer ein Ride um die Fairgrounds."

Elefanten sind ja die Republikaner Symbol, und der Governor hat schnell agreed. Sie brachten eine hohe Ladder, haben Sie gegen den Elefant ge-leaned, und der Governor ist one-two-three hinauf ge-climbed.

Der Elefant Trainer war schon oben, und da der Governor oben sass, hat er ueber ge-leaned und rufte, "Come on, Walt, wir haben plenty room fuer dich."

Er hat seine Hand zu mir ge-reached, und mit Camera in eine hand, bin ich auch auf die Ladder ge-climbed.

Der Elefant hat a bit ge-moved und ge-shifted, und die Ladder ist ge-slided.

Bei dann hatte der Governor meine Hand in seine, und mit die andere Hand voller Camera, konnte ich simply nicht ein Grip kriegen zu climb.

Etliche Freunde nahbei gaben mir ein Push, der Governor hat ge-pulled von oben und ich bin half-climbing und half-dragging hinauf an den Elefant ge-reached.

Endlich war ich oben mit Governor Romney. Die local Republikaner haben ge-cheered, und ich hab ge-tried zum Bilder shooten von Governor, den Elefant Kopf und Tusks und Trunk fuer ein unusual angle.

Mit eine Hand hab ich Bilder ge-shooted, mit die Andere hab ich ein Grip gehabt on ein Elefant Ear und mit meine Lips hab ich fervently gebeten das ich nicht abfall oder ab-sliding moege und vielleicht ge-trampled werde von Elefant.

Governor Romney hat sich tremendously enjoyed, und hat ge-waved und ge-smiled und die Crowd hat ge-cheered.

Wenn die Crowd nur wusste wie terrified ich war!

Aber das war immer noch nicht das Worst.

Bald fing ich an itchen an mein Seat und an meine Legs. Es war etwas als wenn mann in ein Sand-burn Nest sitzen mag.

About zu der Zeit hab ich ge-noticed das der Governor weniger waved und smiled denn zuvor. Er, auch, hat sein Seat ge-scratched und ge-itched.

Er bat von ein Side zu die Andere ge-shifted, und die Feeling of Sand-burns und Needle-pricks wurde schaefer und schaefer.

Endlich war der Ride fertig, und viele Haende wurden ge-raised zum Governor helfen herunter kommen. Die Crowd hat ihn surrounded, und Mir liessen Sie zum aus-figuren wie ich herunter kommen konnte.

Endlich hab ich un-gracefully die Ladder half-ge-slided, half-ge-slipped, und ich kam kamm back on solid Ground ohne Beine brechen oder Camera dropen.

Zum eine lange Story auf-shortenen, moechte ich sagen das Elefant Hair ist lang, und coarse, und scharf und prickly, und ich konnte die Hair nie aus meine Hosen pullen.

Ich hab ge-brushed, ge-shaked, dry-cleanen lassen, und alles Andere, aber ich konnte nie die prickly Hair aus die Hosen pullen.

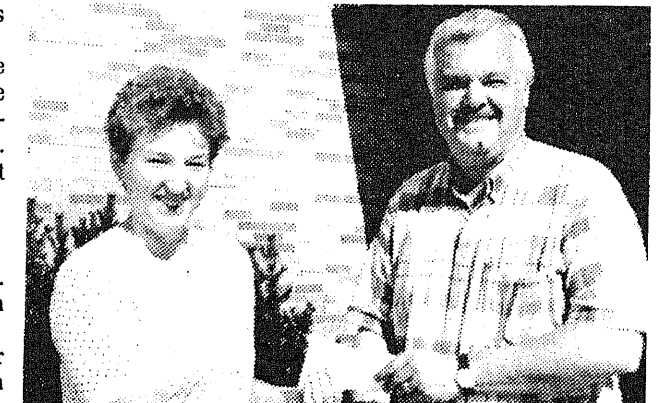

Endlich hab ich die Hosen zu die Rummage Sale gegeben, aber vor ich Heim ging, wurde ich sorry fuer den nexten Owner. Ich nahm die Hosen aus die Rummage Sale, nahm Sie Heim und hab Sie auf-ge-burned.

Niemand Anders soll suffern wie ich hab.

Die Moral in die Story ist, Ich favor immer noch den Republikan Elefant, aber so weit wie Elefant Rides concerned sind, gib ich kein Dreck darum.

Wie Governor Romenu fliet about es, weiss ich nicht. Ich hab ihn nie ge-asked.

Red Wings in action. The traditional peanut butter pie is a special attraction. Katie Albrecht made a special pie just for the auction, but in recent years has been unable to bake.

But Youth for Christ Executive Director Ken Smeader said a peanut butter pie will be at the auction, as it has for so many years.

Other unusual items include a solid oak double pedestal contemporary table and chairs from L.J. Gascho Furniture, Detroit Tiger tickets and a kid's playhouse.

Plenty of food will be available, too, including barbeque hamburgers, pork sausage sandwiches, sweet corn on the cob and slices of fresh fruit pies.

Esther Steckley's locally-famous doughnuts will be available, too, but be sure to get to the auction early, as only 20 dozen will be sold, Smeader said.

More items are being donated daily, and all donations are welcome, Smeader said.

60 Seconds INDEPENDENCE, 1993

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He hath chosen for His own inheritance." Psalm 33:12

Most nations and their citizens probably act and live in the same pattern that we do in America when we are in some international crisis, or even war. Then we are humble, penitent and God-fearing.

When the danger passes, however, we are apt to forget the hand of God which guided us through our dark days. Then we are quick to resume our usual lifestyles and permit our evil human nature to rule us.

The Psalmist reminds us that nations are blessed when they always rely upon God, and obey Him and serve Him, in good times as well as bad. "Blessed" is that nation, we read in Psalm 33.

Indeed, we are far more ready to give God our devotion when we are in a crisis than when conditions are good and we are prosperous.

A quotation ascribed to President Abraham Lincoln can serve as a guide to us today, a century-and-a-third after it occurred.

It was during America's greatest crisis, the bloody Civil War. A visitor in President Lincoln's office expressed his hope that "God be on our side." To that, the President who was soon to give his life to his country, replied, "I am more concerned that we find ourselves on God's side."

PRAYER: Dear God, preserve for us the peace and freedom with which you have blessed our land for more than two centuries. Amen.

A-F re-figures school budget

It's back to the drawing board in figuring a 1993-94 budget for the Akron-Fairgrove School District.
At the June 14 Board of Education meeting, members had adopted next year's budget with the assumption that the ballot issues requested would pass, but they didn't and now calculations are underway for a new budget.
While voters approved a 3-mill renewal for one year the request for 3 mills additional for operations one year was denied.

The additional millage would have generated about $200,000 and headed off a shortfall of about the same amount between expenses and revenues, noted Superintendent Wayne Case.

In other action, the Akron-Fairgrove School Board okayed:
■ Changes in administrative contracts for Principals James Ross and Irene Aymer by deleting their car allowances and adding it to their salary base. Administrators will now have to provide a mileage log.
■ Appointments of Jerry Lasceski and Jim Volk as driver education instructors for the 1993-94 school year.
■ Sale of 1979, 66-passenger bus to John T. Fields of Auburn for $1,176.

Akron oks Co-op tax break

Akron Village Council members have cleared the way to add about three additional jobs in the community.
Council last week approved creation of an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate by Cooperative Elevator Co., based in Pigeon, now upgrading its branch elevator.
The Co-op is building a $1.5 million expansion to the elevator by adding four 112-foot high silos, to hold about 200,000 bushels of grain. Approval was given for a 50% tax break for 12 years.

Even with the tax break, local governments will receive $20,000 in tax revenue from the project, said village President Mari Young. The village's share is about $3,778 under the current assessment.

However, the hottest issue of the meeting was an ordinance to protect the community's moral values.

An ordinance to regulate "nude and semi-nude acts, exhibitions and entertainment" in the village was addressed for about an hour before it was adopted. Drafting the ordinance began because of public outcry over scantily clad male dancers performance this spring at a local tavern.

ELKTON VBS FUN: Marketplace 29 A.D. was the theme of this year's Vacation Bible School in Elkton. Sponsored by the Elkton Missionary, Community Wesleyan and Elkton United Methodist Churches, the Bible school gave area children a taste of life in a Jewish village during Jesus' lifetime.

A "village" was built and included various kinds of merchants, including brickmakers, carpenters, metalworkers, ropemakers, scribes and jewelers. The children, all grouped into various "tribes" enjoyed trying foods mentioned in the Bible, including figs, nuts, raisins and dates.

Sebawaing County Park is formally dedicated

By WALT RUMMEL
Sebawaing County Park, newest of Huron County's nine parks, is open for business!

The new facility, which has been in process of preparation for eight years, isn't finished yet, but guests have been using the grounds since June 14.

There are 55 full hook-up sites in the park and 10 tenting sites, near the bay shore. Full hook-up sites rent for $12 per night and tenting, or no-utilities, sites are $7.

Those sites, for pickups, motorhomes, fifth-wheelers and pop-up campers, as well as the tenting sites, were made with phase 1 grant money. Campers who occupy the rustic tenting sites will have use of shower facilities, but they have no water or electrical hook-ups.

Still to be received are funds for phase 2, which will include construction of boat slips, launching areas, fishing platforms and bridges between islands.

In a brief ceremony Wednesday afternoon, Huron

County Road Commission Chairman John Hunt snipped the ribbon which crossed the entry driveway, and the new park was officially "in business."

He introduced guests who played a role in obtaining the property and completing the first development phase.

In the ceremony, he read the wording of the plaque which will be mounted in the Senior Center crediting Commissioner Bruce Kuhl for his part in obtaining grants and funding for the purchase and development.

Huron County's nine parks are administered by Huron County Road Commission, under direction of the Huron Board of Commissioners.

Cassville County Park was the first in Huron County's list, having been founded in 1919.

The winding, twisting route to obtain funds, make the Sebawaing Park purchase and then obtain grant money for development has been in process since 1983.

Originally purchased by the late Fred and Alice Ensminger about 1950, the 20-acre plot was converted from undeveloped riverbank land into a large clubhouse/residence and a smaller residence, with a basement-level boathouse. It was known as Pension Funds Lodge.

Following the deaths of the Ensmingers it came under several ownerships. When local residents and government units became interested in the property, it was

SUGAR QUEEN

Friday evening was one of the most exciting times of my life, as I became Michigan Sugar Queen.
I am looking forward to a year of promoting the sugar industry, the next Sugar Festival, and attending the many festivals and parades where I will represent the sugar industry.
I am deeply grateful to my family members and friends who supported and helped me win this great honor.
Thank you to my sponsor Kunderling & Kroll Plumbing & Heating, Sebawaing Chamber of Commerce, Festival Officials, queen Judges, Michigan Sugar Company and the entire Sugar Beet-Growing Community.

owned by Robert and Betty Anderson.

Located on the north side of Sebawaing River, where it flows into Saginaw Bay, the property was long the choice local piece of recreational land.

The two local government units—Sebawaing Village and Township—agreed to invest $25,000 in "seed money."

With that beginning,

Comm. Kuhl worked with County Board, who added $75,000, for a total of $125,000. Through the Michigan Land Trust Fund Board, a grant of $225,000 brought the total to the $350,000 price tag.

Purchase was completed with payment from Huron County made in December, 1986.

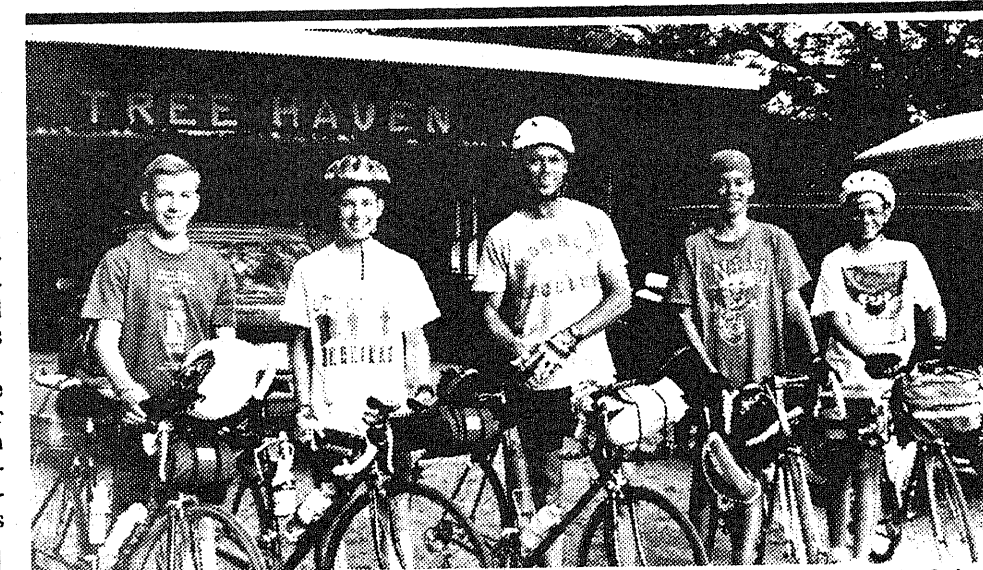

Tom Jahr has been named park manager and is assisted by Brenda Sigmund, who is assistant manager.

They serve under Steve Romzek, in the Huron Road Commission office, Bad Axe.

Besides Chairman Hunt, Road Commission members are Wayne Henne of Bay Port and Marvin Kociba of Harbor Beach.

The park's office address is 759 Union Street, Sebawaing, 48759, and the phone number is 517/883-2033.

FOUR YOUNG CYCLISTS and their teacher/leaders made an overnight stop in Sebawaing last Wednesday evening, on their "circle tour" of Michigan. They started Tuesday morning from their homes in Monroe, pedaled to Port Huron for their first night and then 136 miles to Sebawaing.

The cyclists are, from left, Twins Matt Hoffman and Mark Hoffman, 15, 10th graders in Monroe High, their leader, John Boldt, a 15-year 4th-grade teacher in Trinity Lutheran School, Monroe, Ryan Otter, 13, and James Meek, 14, both 9th graders in Monroe Junior High. They traveled to Tawas City Thursday, then onto Rogers City Friday with plans to arrive in Mackinaw City Saturday.

During the week of June 20 they are scheduled to travel south along the Lake Michigan shore, then cross the bottom of the state and return to Monroe Saturday, June 26.

SUMMER STREAMERS

I was awake long before daybreak. Sleeping next to a gurgling river, with only a layer of nylon separating me from the sound, may lull me to sleep a little quicker than usual at night — but come morning, it always nudges me awake while the sky is still inky black.

The eggs were gone, the last bacon grease was sopped up and I was on my third cup of strong, boiled coffee when the morning sun pushed away the curtain of darkness covering my little piece of the river.

It was blood red, promising some rain before nightfall, and by the time it cut through the morning haze it would beat the earth into submission with its penetrating July rays. It would be hot, that's for sure.

There would be few insects on the river this morning and even fewer when the sun reached its zenith. The Hendricksons were long gone, so were the Sulphur Duns — even the giant Hex hatch was past its prime.

Die-hard dry fly purists would have to rely on Black Midges and Blue-winged Olives in patterns so small it almost took a microscope to attach them to the leader.

Old timers would rely on crickets and hoppers, and a few, where it was legal, would dangle a juicy night crawler under the banks and in the dark holes.

Over the past several years, I have found a different way to fish for summer trout. It's not a new way by any means, but for me, it was something totally different.

I got the idea from a gracious trout fisherman who shared his secret after I had given him a ride back to his car. He even slipped a few of his tested patterns into my fly vest pocket as his personal thank you.

This morning, and again late this evening, I would use copies of his streamers — and even some concoctions of my own — to entice bragging-size trout out of their lairs.

I was in the river as soon as it was light enough to see. The strong, steady current gave a satisfying tug to my waders and reminded me that I had better watch my footing or it would give me an undignified ride downstream.

The water was clean and pristine, void of debris usually found along lake shores or on the banks of slower streams.

I fumbled with the black, hairy Marabou streamer I was trying to attach to my leader. Failing eyesight over the past few years requires I wear a pair of magnifying lenses clipped to the bill of my fishing hat.

When I flip them down it is reminiscent of a major league outfielder trying to block out the sun in order to put away that fly ball. In my case, I'm just trying to see the clinch knot that doesn't want to pull tight.

With the streamer secure, I began to work the dark, hiding places beneath both banks. My tactics are simple. Since the streamers are supposed to imitate a minnow, or some other bait fish, I try to fool the trout into thinking that it is not only a minnow — but one that is slightly injured and therefore would be an easy meal.

I cast upstream from the hole and let the streamer tumble downstream with the force of the current, twitching it ever so slightly to give it a little life.

When it goes past the hole, I retrieve it upstream in short jerks, as if it were trying to squeeze out its last bit of life.

I cast again and again and again and again, and I retrieve again and again and again and again. Patience is paramount, and readiness is most important.

When the strikes come, and they do come, they will be hard and furious, with a head-shaking motion that resembles a puppy and an old sock.

My streamers are mostly white or black. All have Marabou feathers for that tantalizing action, and some sort of flashing tinsel to add sparkle.

They are easy to fish with, once you know how, and best of all, they catch fish — even those that try to hide out for the entire month of July....

• Researchers have discovered that during periods of low and high tides animals seem to lose much of their natural caution. These periods are referred to as Major Periods and last approximately an hour.

• Later, it was determined that about midway between the Major Periods there was frequently an intermediate period of somewhat shorter duration, which are referred to as Minor Periods. The inclination of the moon's orbit to the Equator also affects Solunar Periods and, in extreme cases, there will be only one Major or Minor Period for the date.

• The Newsweekly's Solunar/Lunar Times are precisely calculated by computers each week for the eastern Saginaw Bay — running from Unionville to Port Austin. The charts provide fishermen and hunters with a valuable tool to improve their chances for success. The most intense activity seems to occur about 10-15 minutes on either side of the time calculated on the charts below. The Solunar/Lunar tables can't guarantee a successful fishing or hunting trip, but can be used as a valuable tool to improve your odds when you hunt or fish.

Public meetings 'successful'

Mid-94 marina start?

By WALT RUMMEL

It's possible that by Spring/Summer, 1994, earth-moving of about 80,000 cubic yards of soil will be underway — and that by Spring, 1995, boats up to 40 feet in length might be moving into and out of the new Sebewaing Marina.

That was part of the summary given by various officials from state and federal agencies who took part in a day-long public workshop at Sebewaing last Tuesday.

Included in the discussions were officials of state Department of Natural Resources, U.S. Corps of Engineers, Sebewaing Village and Township, Sebewaing Harbor Commission, planners Harley-Ellington-Pierce-Yee Associates (HEPY), citizens and area marina owners.

They met at Boat Launch Park near the mouth of the Sebewaing River, which now serves the general boating public, the site where the basin will be dredged, the adjoining Sebewaing Airport and other locations involved in the marina.

In the evening, more than 60 people attended the general meeting at USA High School to hear the report of the day's findings.

Presiding over the meetings were William Kauffold, chairman of the Harbor Commission, and Ronald Schults, PE, of HEPY.

Kauffold said he considered the day as "very successful" as it updated the public about the marina project for funding and how it will operate under private enterprise. He said a series of surveys is underway to determine the feasibility of the marina project.

Mary Nardo of DNR described the Harbor Development Fund and the difference between traditional marina development of DNR through grant-in-aid programs.

She said the program allows for construction of non-revenue-producing infrastructure for a marina through DNR or local funds. A private developer would then, through lease of property, be allowed to finance and construct revenue-producing elements and lease and operate the facility for 25 years, with a possible five-year extension.

Such a program, Nardo said, allows more private investment and utilizes resources for marina development through Michigan.

The Sebewaing project is one of four in Michigan now being considered, along with Mackinaw City, Ludington and Bolles Harbor.

She added that an important consideration at Sebewaing is that funds have been committed to the project and are available, subject to completion of feasibility and engineering studies, and receipt of permits from DNR and U.S. Corps of Engineers.

HEPY's Schults discussed the project at length, identifying these points:

■ The marina should contain between 75-125 boat slips, depending on the final study;

■ Under plans, the local community would provide land for the marina, dredging the basin and other non-revenue-producing elements would be financed through Harbor Development Fund, while private developers would provide docks, utilities, and other revenue-producing elements;

■ A tentative Corps schedule plans dredging of the Sebewaing River in 1995.

Under that schedule, the Corps will require an agreement to handle excavated materials;

■ Dredged excavated material from the marina basin may be considered for construction of a secondary upland placement site for use by the Corps for maintenance dredging for the harbor.

Such a secondary upland placement site might be in the Airport area, to raise some areas that had been flooded during the high water period of 1986. Another possibility is a diking system protecting the runways and other vital airport areas;

■ The project would include expansion of the present boat launch with possible travellift hoist, if selected by the developer;

■ Additional off-site parking for car-trailer and possible boat storage may be considered at the Township Airport property;

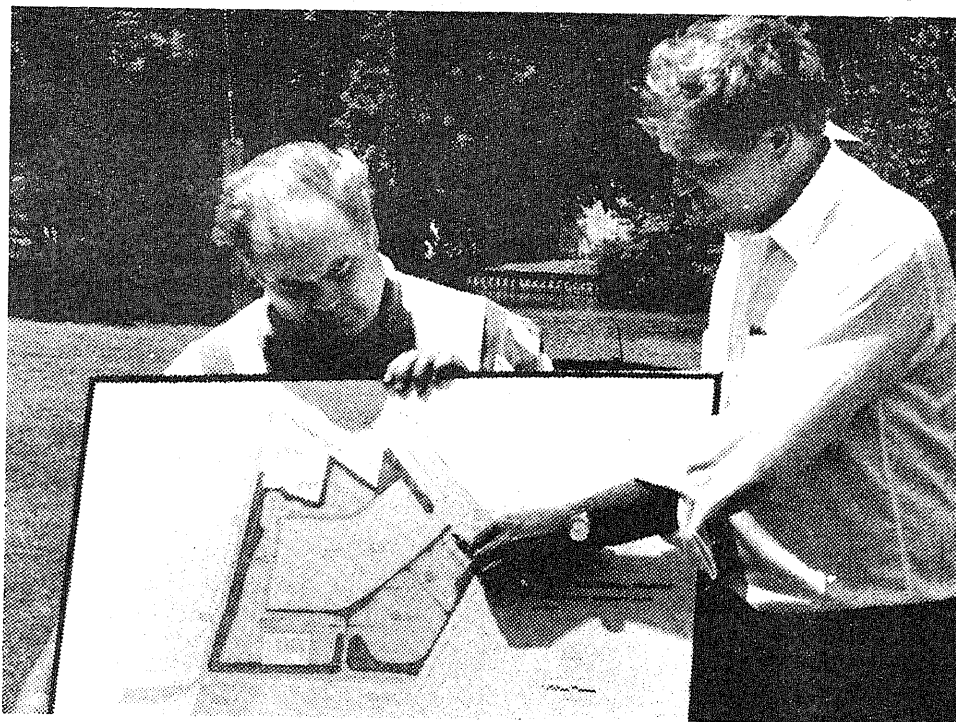

■ Roadway traffic would include widening Sebewaing Street for a right turn lane. The overall marina entrance would be located off Sebewaing Street, near the existing Davis Road intersection. The project would require abandonment and relocation of Davis Street;

■ The project would allow construction of several buildings on site, including restrooms for the boat launch. Also, marina service buildings would be located on-site, but are more likely to be built by the developer.

Service buildings may contain boat sales/service/accessories building, boat repair/canvas repair, etc. It was noted that some of those buildings could be located on Airport/Township property, subject to agreement by the Township.

Chairman Kauffold invited any questioners to present their inquiries to the Harbor Commission.
