Bike rider hurt near Bay Port

A Pigeon girl was seriously injured last Tuesday when her bike was struck by a car on M-25 near M-142.

Ashley Ann Fritz, 11, was riding her bike on M-25 when she swerved out in front of a northbound car driven by Terri Vallier, 31 of Caseville.

Michigan State Police said the Vallier was unable to avoid striking the girl who hit the windshield of the car.

Fritz was taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon for emergency treatment, then transferred to Bay Medical Center in Bay City where she was listed in serious condition. She was released from the hospital on Thursday.

Vallier was uninjured in the accident, police said.

MICHIGAN "by the numbers"

MANY HOLIDAY MILES: Our observance this Monday of the July 4th Holiday is noteworthy for several things, including — this is the first time Michigan motorists are expected to drive one billion miles during a holiday weekend, says AAA of Michigan. They remind us that buckling up, continued safe driving and avoiding alcohol before getting behind the wheel can make it one of the safest summer holiday weekends ever.

We drove a record 995 million miles this past Memorial Day weekend, AAA says. Plus, at least 20% of our residents plan a driving get-away during this long holiday. Enjoy (safely)!

Re-appraisals for Lake Twp.

Lake Township officials approved having land values in the township re-appraised.

"We are going to look at everything except agricultural," said Lake Township Clerk Edward Koreczny.

Koreczny estimates there are about 1,800 residential parcels that will go through re-evaluation process for the township, located north and east of Caseville.

Landmark Appraisals, Flint, will do the work. The project will cost about $40,300 and is expected to be done over the summer. The last residential appraisal was done about 10 to 15 years ago.

Parents unhappy with Caseville School Board

State funding won't follow eight Caseville School District students to their school next year, after the Caseville Board of Education denied a request from parents to officially release the students, during last week's meeting.

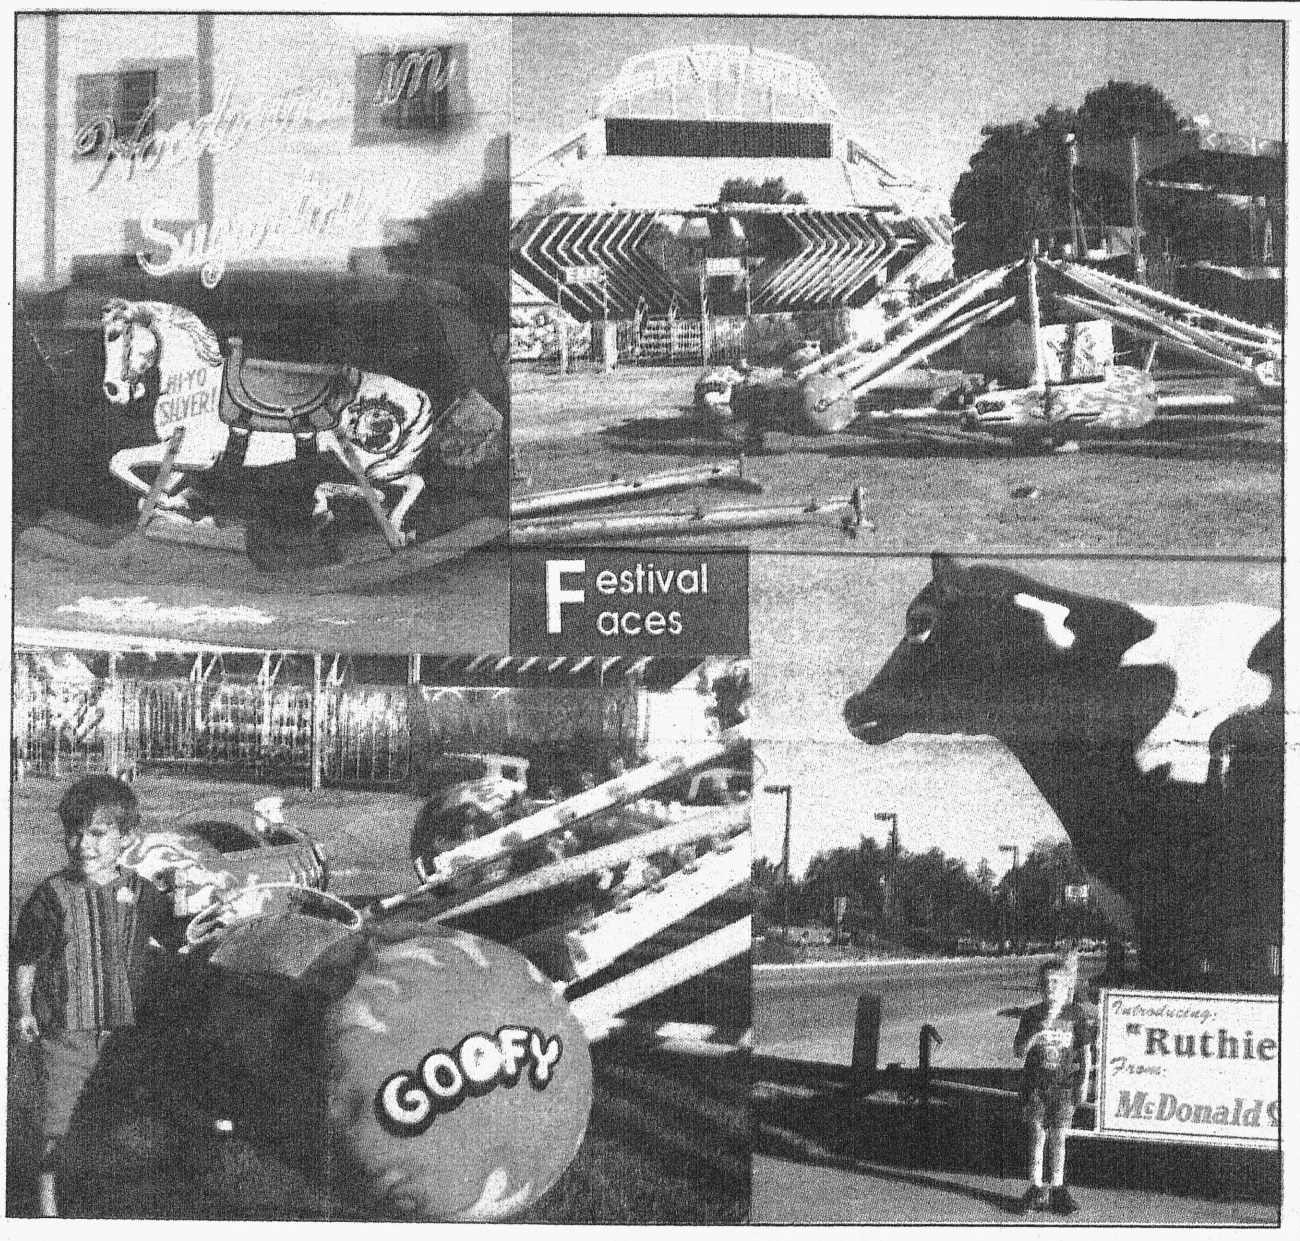

Parents of the students, who all attend school in the Laker District, had requested the Board release their children, but after reviewing the issue, the Board refused.

Under the old state funding formula, both Caseville and Laker schools were "out-of-formula" and received little state funding. But under Proposal A, both schools will receive money based on their enrollment. If all the students continue to attend Laker schools without an official release, the Caseville District will not receive state funds for those students, nor will the Laker district.

Eight children are affected by the decision, according to Russ Lundberg, whose son attends Laker High School. He also has two daughters attending Caseville schools.

"It's unfortunate the way things concluded," Lundberg said.

How do you sum up the 30th annual Michigan Sugar Festival, conducted this past weekend throughout Sebewaing?

In a word — wet.

But still, good crowds were reported in most events and features, after about three inches of rain fell all day Friday and scattered rain nearly postponed Saturday's Grand Parade.

Friday's sidewalk sales were pretty much drowned out by the much-needed moisture, and many Friday events were conducted at Sebewaing Middle School — including Friday's stage show plus crowning of 1994 Queen Nicole Longhini.

But after a few more rain showers Saturday morning, skies cleared for the Grand Parade and carnival rides, plus most other events. Sunday's beautiful weather capped off a successful, busy weekend.

Here are some of the winners, as received thus far:

1994 SUGAR QUEEN NICHOLE LONGHINI

Nicole Longhini of Chesaning was crowned the 30th Michigan Sugar Queen, Friday night.

First runner-up is Heidi Scharich of Sebewaing. Second runner-up is Valerie Hickey of Fairgrove.

FINAL 300 CLUB WINNERS

Michele Layher of Sebewaing is the final $100 winner, in the Sebewaing Chambers 300 Club Raffle, to benefit Sugar Festival Fireworks.

William Reige of Sebewaing won the $50 prize, and Ray Fiebig of Sebewaing won the $25 prize.

ANYTHING GOES OLYMPICS

The winning adult team in the Anything Goes Olympics, a new feature at this year's 30th Michigan Sugar Festival was Steve and Patti Gremel.

Junior winners in the 10- to 14-year old division were: Shaun Gruehn, Troy Vermeersch, Jeff Sokon and Andrew Rassmussen.

Meet '94 Sugar Queen Nicole!

THE "SWEETEST GIRL in the world" is Nicole Longhini, 20 of Chesaning. Longhini was crowned the 1994 Michigan Sugar Queen Friday night at the 30th Michigan Sugar Festival in Sebewaing by 1993 Queen Janna Kundinger of Sebewaing. As Michigan Sugar Queen, Longhini will make numerous personal appearances throughout the state greeting visitors at food industry conventions, political functions, fairs and festivals during her reign. Also, she rides in over 20 parades and is frequently featured on television, radio and in newspapers. Longhini is attending Delta College and is a co-op student at Saginaw Steering Gear. She is the daughter of Anthony and Kathleen Longhini. First place runner up is Heidi Scharich, 19 of Sebewaing. She is the daughter of David Scharich and Connie Scharich. Second runner up is Valerie Hickey, 18 of Fairgrove. She is the daughter of Walter and Barbara Hickey of Fairgrove. The crowning took place at the USA Middle School because of inclement weather. The queen receives a $500 U.S. Savings Bond, and is reimbursed for traveling expenses. The top two runners up serve as the queen's court and receives a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, reimbursement for appearances and travel expenses.

Winsor Gallery opens Friday in Pigeon

By SALLY RUMMEL

Wanda and Ed Eichler's unending desire to share the richness of rural life is unfolding in the opening of their new business — The Winsor Gallery — at 9 South Main Street in Pigeon. Their first day of business will be this Friday, July 1, opening from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Winsor Gallery is an entirely different concept in a retail business, focusing much of its effort on promoting the arts of a rural lifestyle — both from here and from developing countries. From here, the artform that is celebrated is quilting — from wallhangings to full size quilts, unfinished quilt-toppers, Amish block wall-hangings and quilting kits that can be purchased.

Many of the quilts will be for exhibit only, providing visitors with a chance to view intricately-designed quilts that may give quilters ideas to use in creating their own pieces. Because of the exhibition quality of the gallery, a nominal admission is charged for the viewing of the quilts.

Wanda Eichler, the proprietor of the Pigeon River Mercantile & Wool Co. located across the street from the gallery, sees Winsor Gallery as a logical extension from the "nuts and bolts" of sewing quilts out of fabrics and notions sold at The Mercantile — to viewing quilting as an art form that has an affirming affect on the women who create them. "Many women who grew up with the utilitarian view of quilting do not always realize the value of the quilts they create," explains Eichler. "It was a skill their mothers and grandmothers passed down to them for a practical purpose, yet today's women are carrying it a step further, realizing the intricacy of the art."

The 1994 Summer Show of quilts is called "A Gathering of Quilts," and will be on display through Sunday, Sept. 11. Celebrating art forms from developing countries is the purpose behind the gift shop, which is open at no charge to browsers and buyers.

All of the imported folk-crafts featured at the gift shop are marketed through SERRV, Sales Exchange for Refugee Relief. "It's a way of focusing on the rural development concept I believe is so vital for our community," explains Eichler. "In selling SERRV handicrafts, I know that the people from developing countries who made these items are receiving a fair market value for their work."

"I think it's a really important link in our rural community to be able to support this alternative trade concept." The Winsor Gallery is one of only a very few "profit businesses" to be selling SERRV items.

"I had to assure SERRV that we are selling their folkcrafts in an area struggling to keep a rural area downtown vital. Most SERRV items are sold in non-profit situations."

HOTEL COMING: Ed and Wanda Eichler are helping to create their vision of what a successful rural community can be, and their dream continues with their plans to create between 20 and 30 hotel rooms, utilizing the upstairs of the former Diener building, as well as expanding at the east end of their building.

"We're hoping that Pigeon becomes a destination for quilting guilds and groups and they need a place to stay while they're here," explains Wanda Eichler.

"While quilting customers would have first priority, the hotel would be open for business customers and the public," they explain.

While the hotel concept is in the Eichler's near future, the opening of the Winsor Gallery is the Eichler's dream taking place today — with the hope that Pigeon can create its own rural niche.

HE'S A FIRECRACKER — Besides being an original rock-and-roller inductee into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, Little Richard puts on a memorable concert. Would YOU like to see this rock legend live, at Meadow Brook Music Festival at Oakland University? You can — and here's how:

Be one of the first four people to come into either our Sebewaing or Pigeon Offices after 1 p.m. on Tuesday (today) and ASK for Little Richard tickets... you'll receive TWO FREE tickets, compliments of The Newsweekly! Don't miss it!

O.J. WHO? — Have you ever seen more overdone, overblown and overwhelming news coverage than the murder of O.J. Simpson's ex-wife... and his subsequent arrest? Folks, I'm a news guy who likes news in all forms. But this is MUCH TOO MUCH!

Police and lawyers are releasing information that shouldn't be released, they're dropping hints, rumors and clues needlessly. Let's not forget that two people were brutally murdered here... and whether football legend O.J. did it himself or whether someone else did... those people deserve a just trial. Watching O.J. "turning himself in" live was too much for me. Some found it exciting; I found it disgusting. Let's allow our justice system to work, not this overbearing "semi-news" coverage we're forced to endure...

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "You cannot tailor-make the situations in life, but you CAN tailor-make the attitudes to fit those situations." (Zig Ziglar)

Local hunter on TV

Jo Weisenbach, 21-year-old daughter of Robert and Barbara Weisenbach of Sebewaing, was featured on the June 16 Fred Trost "Practical Sportsman" TV show.

She was shown with the mounted head of a "buck" that turned out to be a "doe" which she bagged in last fall's deer hunting season.

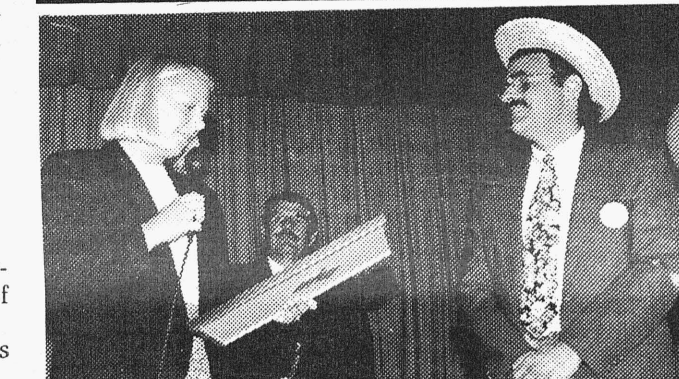

Her brothers had interested their sister in bow hunting and it was her first attempt. She saw a good-sized 8-point following a doe and when they came into range, she did everything "just right" and bagged the animal.

Her brothers ran out to bring in the fallen animal, and surprise, they told Weisenbach, she had bagged a doe — with eight points.

Trost featured the young Sebewaing lady on his show, with the mounted deer head. He questioned her and she handled her information well in her first interview "on camera."

Will she go hunting again? he asked. "Yes, indeed!" she replied, for she really enjoys the sport.

SEBEWAING'S 30TH Michigan Sugar Festival received special recognition during Friday's activities. Jenny Leach, Thumb Representative for State Senator Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City), presented a plaque to Sebewaing Village President Dave Wineman, signed by Gougeon, Gov. John Engler and Rep. Dick Allen. The plaque lauded Sebewaing's efforts in hosting the festival for three decades and noted the sugar industry's importance — 142 million tons of sugar being produced locally from 640,000 tons of beets at the Sebewaing's Michigan Sugar Plant which employs 430 people with a payroll of $5 million.

"These children have been going to Lakers for three or more years, and we felt we had a good case for 'grandfathering' them. We felt the Caseville Board would be more open-minded but the only thing they've achieved is creating some hard feelings."

Lundberg said he would continue to send his son to Lakers, saying that school's larger class sizes would help his son adjust to college better. He also said he would either pay the $700 in tuition the Laker District charges or will establish a residence in the Laker District. Another parent has his house for sale and plans to move into the Laker District.

Several attempts to contact Caseville Supt. James Stahl prior to presstime were unsuccessful. — By AMY HEIDEN

Millerwise Park gets o.k.

Fishermen who visit Sebewaing during the annual spring and fall perch run will soon find access is easier, to the Sebewaing River in the Downtown Area.

The last permits needed for improvements to make Sebewaing's Millerwise Park "visitor friendly" have been approved and village officials plan to let bids in the next few days. Each spring and fall during the perch run, it is elbow-to-elbow fishing along the Center Street bridge, adjacent to the park.

Plans are to develop the park to cater to anglers by adding fishing platforms on the park's edge along the Sebewaing River, build handicap accessible public bathrooms, add new sidewalks and landscaping.

U-ville plans road repairs

About $33,000 worth of street and sidewalk repairs are scheduled for completion in Unionville this summer.

Council members approved the $6,170 bid of Randy Terbush of Vassar for 617 feet of sidewalk on the north side of Cass Street between Merry Street and Keller Street, during last week's Council meeting. The contract for seal-coating local streets went to J & M Enterprises of Kalkaska for $7,671.

Streets scheduled for seal-coating include: Monroe, Ainsworth, Hofmeister, Columbia, Merry and Brown Streets. Also, for their low bid of $19,000 Yaroch Asphalt and Paving of Pigeon was awarded the contract to blacktop major streets: Merry from Church to Russell for $3,510, Russell from Merry to M-25 for $3,074, Cass from Merry to Keller for $4,793, Cass from Keller east to village limits for $6,851, plus $770 for manhole covers. All work will be done throughout the summer, said Village Clerk Harvey Niedrich.

In other action, the village millage rate was set at 12.5 mills for general operations and two mills for streets and sidewalks for 1994-95. The rates are the same as last year. — By MARY DRIER

Newsweekly correction:

An asterisk, denoting all A's, should have been placed next to Scott Lundberg's name in the listing of honor roll students from Laker High School for the final marking period.

Court proceedings

In 73rd District Court (Huron County,) Judge Karl Kraus last week heard the pleas of/or passed judgment on:

- Michael W. Gilbert, 22 of Bad Axe, pled guilty to driving while license suspended and found guilty of seat belt violation, following a recent incident in Caseville Township; ordered to serve 90 days in Huron County Jail and pay $235 fines and costs;
- John A. Kopack, 50 of Port Austin, pled guilty to improper plate/no license plate; $65 fines and costs;
- Mark E. Martinez, 17 of Sebewaing, pled guilty to destruction of property, less than $100, following a recent incident; four days in jail and ordered to pay $360.48 in restitution;
- Stephanie K. Niebel, 17 of Pigeon, pled guilty to minor in possession of alcohol; $70 fines and costs;
- James O. Nugent, 41 of Bradenton, FL, pled guilty to impaired driving, following a recent incident in Port Austin; 30 days in jail, $565 fines and costs and loses license for six months;
- Joshua T. Powell, 18 of Caseville, pled guilty to open alcohol in vehicle; $105 fines and costs;
- James M. Schumacher, 39 of Owendala, pled guilty to theft, less than $100, following a recent incident; four days in jail and $150 fines and costs.

Sebewaing street delay

Some Sebewaing Village residents will have to wait a little longer for street improvements, after Council members put a street project on hold, at last week's meeting.

Officials were expected to approve road work for Union Street, but tabled the project because only one bid was received to do the work. Plans are to resurface Union from Center to the railroad tracks, near the old milk plant. Council members agreed to seek new bids on the project.

As we see it

Religion DOES have its place in schools

Americans often ponder important historical concepts at holiday times such as this, although most of us first fire up the barbecue or take the car/truck/boat/camper/motor home to some far-off destination as soon as the holiday starts.

But we've allowed an inaccurate assumption to become a "truth" in the U.S. these days, and it deserves consideration at a holiday time such as this, as we remember our national roots.

We all know what the "separation of church and state" means, in which government isn't supposed to tell us how to worship... and individual religions aren't supposed to run the government. This correct founding belief came about because our European ancestors had generally been directed how to worship by the "official" state church.

And separation of church and government — especially public schools — has been the specific law of the land for about 30 years. What has happened, however, is that religion itself cannot be discussed in the current atmosphere, and we all lose.

In U.S. schools today, you can discuss how to build a bomb, how to ingest controlled substances, how to have — and keep from having — a baby. But you may not speak of religion in any way.

Something doesn't add up here.

Organized, mandated prayer is... and should be... illegal in classrooms, for obvious reasons. Who's prayer would we pray? How do we control the stigma of those who choose not to participate?

Religion is another matter. The study of religion is almost never possible, in a comparative way or in any kind of discussion of its impact on people. Yet a large majority of Americans believe in God and about half attend regular worship services. Somehow, an unknown fear has gotten out of hand.

For example, singer Smokey Robinson was to speak at two anti-drug rallies in Florida earlier this month. At the first rally, before 1,400 middle school students, he touched briefly on how religion had changed his life. School administrators were so upset they cancelled his appearance at the second rally.

Robinson wasn't inviting kids to become Catholic or Presbyterian — he was simply explaining the comfort and aid he gets from his personal beliefs.

Are we so paranoid that we cannot allow any personal expression of any kind, whenever the word "God" may be involved? And why is the study of religion (not prayer) a taboo today? Neither teachers nor students are being asked to choose a side or to convince others of one viewpoint: it just deserves discussion.

We have grossly misinterpreted what the U.S. Supreme Court said three decades ago. Religion is an important part of American life which is totally being avoided for unknown reasons. It should not be mandated, but can't it be mentioned? — Since it is a taboo subject, we learn less about our world. And we're all poorer because of that loss...

Readers' Letters

Here's the parents' side of Caseville 'release' story

By R. LUNDBERG, spokesman and "PARENTS OF UNRELEASED STUDENTS"

We wish to respond to the Caseville Board of Education's action on our request to release our children who reside in the Caseville School District but have been attending another nearby school.

First, these students will continue to attend "their" school and their education will not be disrupted by the Board of Education and its superintendent's "small-minded" response, which is...if we can't have the students' state funding, no other school in Huron County will get the funding either.

Secondly, the comment by Board member Jacqueline Miller on how we "lied" to the Caseville Board was blatantly offensive and totally incorrect. A public apology should be made to the six families involved.

None of the students changed schools because of sports and such reference is merely an attempt to direct attention away from the real issue—education.

We feel that Caseville School's size limits the educational opportunities and social experiences of high school students, which is very important and necessary for a well-rounded individual, and something a larger school can better offer.

This shouldn't be surprising; in fact, we should mention that School Board member Janice Williams inquired about sending her eldest son to junior high at this larger school, but couldn't because of transportation problems.

The Caseville Board of Education had nothing to lose by granting release of these students; they haven't attended Caseville School in three or more years and won't return in the future, which was well documented at recent Board meetings.

Supt. Stahl commented that this release would send a message "saying Caseville isn't doing something right."

We ask what message has been sent now?

We suggest the message is that the Caseville Board of Education does not care about our children, their education or well-being and, because of its resentful and narrow-minded attitude, is only concerned with making sure the students' state funding does not go to the school they attend.

Caseville Board member should apologize or resign

By MICHELE NICHOLL, Pigeon

Prior to attending the June 1994 Caseville School Board meeting, most of the parents requesting Board approval for the release of their children, caught in the heat of Proposal A, to another school district through a "grandfather" clause, knew that the meeting would be only a formality and the request would probably be rejected.

This awareness came as a result of reviewing material distributed to the Board prior to the May and June meetings by James Stahl, superintendent of Caseville School.

The material stated incorrect information as "In all cases, these students just disappeared," specific direction as "I feel that we should be nice to these people, but we can't release their children," contradictory facts like, "...Bad Axe will not release students. Bad Axe will only release students who are currently attending other schools" and biased opinions as "...I know we do a better job of educating kids than most schools, and especially our neighbors."

So the obsequiousness of the Board toward Stahl was not a surprise even though the Board members were aware that their decision would result in a loss to all parties concerned and a loss of educational funds to Huron County.

The surprise was the audacity of Jacqueline Miller announcing at a public meeting that the parents lied to her regarding the reasons why their children do not attend Caseville schools.

My child has attended Lakers since 1989 and never has any member of the Caseville School Board, especially Miller, or the administrative staff, asked me or any member of my family why we made the decision to send our children to another school district.

When Miller was confronted with this fact, in all the ignorant arrogance she could possibly muster, she simply stated that she has talked to a lot of people (excluding the parents of the children involved) and she knows they are liars as though she has mysterious access to this false information.

Never have I witnessed such liable unprofessionalism from a Board member who has deliberately spewed defamatory remarks regarding the character of someone else. It is suggested that Miller issue a public apology and resign her position from the Board.

A. of Sebewaing: Thanks to all the USA students for your pop cans for our fireworks — great job!

A. of Saginaw: Thanks so much for your wonderful Sugar Festival Edition. Your Newsweekly keeps getting better all the time. It's just like a big letter from home.

J.L. from Sebewaing: I think it's a shame that Streetball Sports encourages free-for-all win-at-any-cost basketball. And our "monitor" was worthless. On the other hand, the fireworks display was spectacular.

D. of Sand Point: I am not certain if swimming lessons are still available, but you can call teacher Kathy K. at 856-2320 for details. She lives near Caseville.

H. of Caseville: All the "personal" ads in the paper should have their names on them, so we know who they are. Or at least their town. We see these old pictures and we don't know them, for sure.

(That would be fine with us, but it would take away part of the intrigue, wouldn't it? And, the folks involved know who they are...)

M. from Elkton: Regarding the letter last week about the police chase: Instead of blaming Lonnie Hedley, someone should ask the driver of the motorcycle why he tried to escape at speeds of 100 mph? Maybe he would have lost his license and spent a few nights in jail for drunk driving, but instead his actions killed somebody. Mr. Hedley was doing his job and as a resident of Elkton, I support him totally.

W. of Gagetown: I am calling because I agree with G.M. in this week's paper. Thank you for the "Minute Mystery." I like them. They are fun to read. I'm 12 years old.

(You'll find Inspector Gordo appearing many weeks, but not necessarily every week, until we can find him a permanent spot each week...)

K. of Sebewaing: We agree about water. How much longer do Sebewaing residents have to pay towards the water bond, when our water is undrinkable??

G. of Pigeon: About all these ads on TV for politicians: I think we need new blood in government. Let's retire all the incumbents. I thought they had to quit anyway, after we passed that law last year. If we keep these same people in office, we just get more of the same, more taxes and spending and more promises.

P. of Owendale: I think MTV is disgusting and sick. Have you ever watched the filth and graphic sexual scenes they carry? It shouldn't be viewed by young people. It cannot be a good influence. Come on, why is this terrible station carried on cable TV? It should be outlawed. Thank you.

(If you want to complain directly to MTV, write them in care of 1133 Avenue of the Americas, 24th Floor, New York, NY 10036.)

John in Pigeon: About M. of Pigeon who had cigarette butts thrown out on their lawn: I agree, but I think cigarette butts are better than this toilet-papering being done every night. It's wasteful and harder to clean up than anything else. And you know who I mean.

T. of Elkton: About teachers, I think we have the right to comment about their work just like we do any other people. There are good and bad ones but they have a lot of power. They get paid a lot of money for getting the summer off.

Loren of McHenry, Ill.: I hope Walt R. will keep writing "60 Seconds." Don't give up on it. We poor sinners need all the help we can get!

B. from Elkton: I disagree with the letter in the paper criticizing Elkton's police chief. I think he was doing what he's paid to do, which is protect our streets and roads. He's not the one who was driving the motorcycle and he's not the one who made the choice to try to run from the police.

Marilyn of Bay Port: Why is it we've gotten our paper late three of the last five weeks? We expect it in the mail Tuesday but we don't get it until Wednesday. What's wrong?

(Sorry... and you're right. We've had some machine troubles in recent weeks. They promise us the troubles are now cleared up!)

Yarns From The Thumb

■ It's TUESDAY, JUNE 28, the 179th day of the year. Summer is seven days old, and the 30th annual Michigan Sugar Festival is history! There are 186 days remaining in 1994. Eighty years ago today, on JUNE 28, 1914, Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife were assassinated in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia (where so much warring has taken place in recent years). ■ At Noon today, SATURDAY, JULY 2, we'll reach the halfway-point of 1994, with 182 1/2 days elapsed and 182 1/2 days remaining... We know Michigan has a great diversity of farm crops, of forest trees, of waterfowl, of songbirds, and also a great diversity of Michigan butterflies, so many that there's a weeklong celebration of Great Spangled Butterfly Days, through July 9, at Hoffmaster State Park, Muskegon... Actress Cheryl Ladd is 42 today, former NH Gov. John Sununu is 55 and baseball star Jose Canseco is 30...

■ Summer Dog Days start SUNDAY, JULY 3 and run through Aug. 15, bringing the hottest days of the year. They were believed to be an evil time, when "the sea boiled, wine turned sour, and dogs grew mad," as humans suffered burning fevers and hysterics... That makes it fitting that now the same 45 days are labeled as "Air Conditioning Appreciation Days," to recognize the better way of life we have through air conditioning... Musician Pete Fountain is 64 today and actor Tom Cruise is 32...

■ It's MONDAY, JULY 4TH — Independence Day — when the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776. We all know that John Hancock as President of the Continental Congress, was the first signer, putting on his signature in the name of the Congress. But who was second? It was Charles Thomson, secretary of the Congress, who verified Hancock's signature...

Calvin Coolidge, the 30th U.S. President, was born JULY 4, 1872. He became President following the death of President Warren Harding in 1923. Known as "Silent Cal" because of his quiet demeanor, he was once told by a news reporter, "Mr. President, I have bet another reporter $5 that I could get you to speak three words to me." Coolidge quipped, "You lose..." "America The Beautiful" was a poem before it became a much-loved piece of music. It was published by Katherine Lee Bates, a Wellesley College professor, in a church publication, The Congregationalist, on JULY 4, 1895...

In Willimantic, CT, there's a 4th of July Parade today, and anyone can march, ride a float or watch, but each MUST bring a radio, as no bands are allowed. Marching music is played by a local radio station from boom boxes all along the parade route, plus hundreds of portable radios along the route which create an unimaginable din... Hotel executive Leona Helmsley is 74 today, Esther Pauline Friedman (Ann Landers) and twin sister Pauline Esther Friedman (Abigail Van Buren) were born in Sioux City, IA, on JULY 4, 1918, so they're 76 today, Actresses Gina Lollobrigida is 66 and Eva Marie Saint is 70, and Yankees' owner George Steinbrenner is 64...

■ Walleye fishermen are beginning to report catches — and some good ones, too. While some anglers were already concerned that perhaps the Walleyes weren't arriving this year, at least one pointed out that it was the second weekend of July, 1993, that the tasty big Walleyes began to hit.

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR:

We had some very hot weather last week. Some people said they never had seen it so hot. Well, they don't remember as far back as I can. Back in 1931 when they built the road from Caseville to Bay Port, it was a very hot summer.

There was only one house between Caseville and Bay Port. The old stage coach road used to go closer to the lake. They built that road during the Depression and they were supposed to give the men 30 cents per hour.

But so many men were out of work that they could get all the help they wanted for 25 cents per hour and they only wanted to hire married men with families.

Well, it got so hot that they couldn't get enough married men — so once the boss came down the road and told the men to beg any man who could stand the heat to work.

It got to be 105 degrees in the shade and when they got close to the lake, the men just took off their clothes and got into the lake and the boss let them stay there 'til they got out. I found out about it and went out there in the morning and got a job right away.

I was supposed to shovel sand and being a country boy, I could take the heat.

They hauled the cement and stone out with a narrow gauge railroad and every morning they took up the track and hauled it away.

We country boys could take a hold of one end of a section of track and throw it on the cars but it took two city boys on each end and I got tired of it.

I told my boss and he said, "When you see that track guy coming, go in the woods and stay there 'til he gets his gang together." Well, I tried it and got by with it.

Once they put me on the cement loading gang, The logs weighed 95 to 105 lbs. apiece and they were all hot from the sun. My fingers started to bleed and the boss put me back to shoveling sand.

Well, every morning the state inspector would look for high spots in the pavement and it was my job to rub the high spots down with a brick. Every day we killed some snakes. There were all kinds of them and once in awhile, we'd kill a rattlesnake.

It says in Proverbs that a servant is worthy of his hire.

Well, no matter how hard we worked, we only got 25 cents per hour and were glad to have a job. That was in 1931 and the work we did then wouldn't be done today by anybody for less than $15.00 per hour.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE KEIM

60 Seconds Precious peace!

"If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men." Romans 12:18

In a human lifetime, we meet thousands of people with countless types of dispositions—happy and unhappy, kindly and not so kindly, loving and hateful—on and on.

Most neighbors are friendly and helpful, but occasionally we are exposed to a snarly, growly one.

We all know which ones we like best, and we know which kind we'd like to be. What does God say about our treatment of those around us?

We know the answer before we ask the question, because our God is a God of Peace, and our Savior is a Man of Peace. In his Epistle to the Romans, Paul tells us a number of rules by which God wants us to live: Be not conformed to the world; renew your mind and seek the good, the perfect will of God; think not more highly of yourself than you ought; use well the gifts of God; abhor what is evil, cling to the good; bless them which persecute you; rejoice with the happy, weep with the sorrowing; return not evil for evil; God will repay.

So there you have it! No matter how badly others treat you, do not return evil for evil. Leave that up to God.

Instead, as far as you can, "as much as lieth in you," live peaceably with all. It's easy to be peaceable and loving with the peaceful and loving.

When you can do that with the mean, snarly ones, that's the real test.

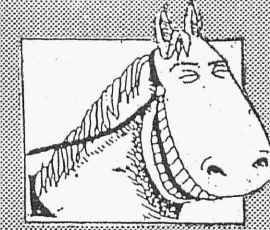

PRAYER: Dear God, help us live peaceably with all. Amen.

Horsin' Around

by Kate Pickering

Stars and stripes FOREVER!

What makes this country great? You do!

We ill-bred melting-pot mutts have done more, achieved more, advanced faster, and been quicker to help others than any other nation in history.

Sure, we're the "babies" of the globe by all estimations. We're "white oppressors" in many eyes, "capitalist pigs" in large parts of the world, uncouth in France, stupid and lazy in Japan, and deserve to die in Iran!

But I don't believe George Washington considered his a nation of "babies." I don't believe Nazi concentration camp occupants considered us "white oppressors." And I don't believe the French know of the gracious hospitality of the deep south, the serious work ethic of the mid-west, or of our fine dining from coast to coast!

Maybe the Japanese can build a better mousetrap, but they've admitted they can't build a better RACEhorse. And there's not an Iranian alive who would not be charmed by lunch with my grandmother!

So what makes this country great?

Freedom. Freedom to run off at the mouth like I'm doing now. Freedom to be a white oppressor one day, and an Augustinian monk the next! That's why the hair stands up on the back of my neck when I see news footage of foreigners raving on about their hatred for Americans... as if we are all a bunch of clones!

Well the fisherman from Maine is not the same as the cowboy from Texas. The newspaper gal in New York City is not the same as the mother of eight in Nebraska.

So how dare they say, "Americans are all this and that?" Do they know any Americans, I'm wondering?

Well I know a few. Those I know will pull over to help if they see you stranded with a flat tire. Those I know give generously and unquestioningly whenever someone at a stoplight sticks "a worthy cause" tin can in their face. The Americans I know will work in 99° degree heat to till the soil and tend the crops that feed the world.

So what makes this country great?

Well there's just not enough time and space — though lots of time and space has been dedicated to repeated and merciless slander. Well, it's the fourth of July — time to give national negativity a rest!

What makes this country great? In a couple of nutshell: the fact that we're all different — yet in a pinch we stick together. The fact that despite our many shortcomings we never lose hope. The fact that no people are as proud and strong as we are, because we are comprised of all nationalities. We draw our strength from every imaginable heritage, we glean our art from every known culture, and are descended from literally every nook and cranny of the planet.

So when a Frenchman berates America — he berates his forefathers. When an Iranian curses our soil, he curses soil his brothers walk on. And when the Japanese call us stupid — they are calling many Japanese — Americans stupid as well!

So what makes this country great? The fact that we can laughingly overlook these sad discrepancies. God Bless us! Happy fourth of July!

Virginia Leipprandt is new MASB President

By AMY HEIDEN

For the past 19 years, Virginia Leipprandt has been a fixture on the Elton-Pigeon-Bay Port Board of Education. Along the way, the Pigeon resident has asked and answered questions, probed and studied issues, but most of all she's learned what it takes to be a contributing board member.

All that experience should serve her well now, as she takes over the reins of the Michigan Association of School Boards — which represents every school and intermediate district in the state. The MASB, based in Lansing, exists to educate school board members and help them develop their leadership skills, as well as to lobby the state legislature on educational matters, Leipprandt says.

The organization also sponsors training sessions that can lead to certification for local school board members.

Leipprandt's new position includes setting the MASB's agenda for the coming year, and part of that agenda will be teaching board members to live with Proposal A's school funding.

"In the long run, I think it will benefit most schools. But right now we're having difficulty with the disparity between school districts," Leipprandt says.

"It's not so much educational reform as property tax relief. We'll be working with legislators in educational reform as we have in the past."

She has been involved with education practically all her adult life, seeing educational matters from both sides of the fence. She retired three years ago from her longtime position at North Huron High School, and along the way with husband Bruce raised two sons, Larry and Steve, who both graduated from Laker High School.

A lifelong Republican and active in the county party, she says she seeks consensus in her dealings in both politics and educational matters. And she'll stress cooperation during her MASB presidency.

"During my term, I want to stress cooperation and commitment with other educational organizations," Leipprandt says.

"A person needs to reconcile individual differences and work for the greater good. We have unique board of 21 people united in purpose but diverse in background. We need to keep people on an even keel."

As a member of the EBPB "Laker" School Board, Leipprandt has been content to step aside and let her fellow board members take the officer roles, while she keeps them informed on the latest news from Lansing.

And that insider's knowledge comes in handy when trying to guess what legislators might do next.

"The knowledge I've gained I'm very willing to share," she says. "The Laker Board has been a great help to me and I learn from them at every meeting."

"Supt. Robert Drury has been very supportive of the MASB and the board training because he knows that training will help the functioning of the board."

Leipprandt and husband Bruce, who farms in partnership with his brother and nephews, live near Pigeon.

Where the Countryside Meets the Lakeshore

Woods & Waters

Some like it hot

The oppressive heat became almost unbearable, beating down on our shoulders like some unseen anvil bent on driving us to our knees.

Water stops became more frequent and every bit of shade offered by the canyon walls beckoned for us to stop and rest, which we did with little coaxing.

We had been hiking for better than four hours, opting to start early with the cool morning air, but knowing full well that the scorching mid-day sun would catch us far up the trail.

Each of us had retreated into our inner selves, conserving our failing energy as best we knew how, and above all, trying to protect our bodies from the relentless rays of the desert sun.

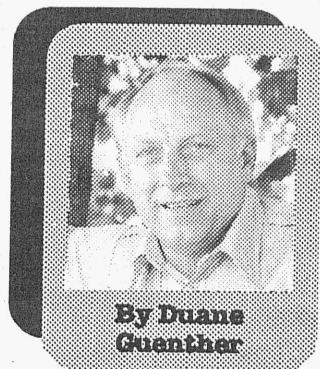

At a turn in the trail, we stopped for one of our many water breaks. That morning we had promised ourselves this trek would not turn into an endurance contest and when anyone felt like stopping, they would just stop — no questions asked.

At this particular spot, there was a large outcropping of rock, which offered plenty of shade and a tiny water seep into which we plunged our neckerchieves to mop sweaty brows and then draped the cool cloths around our necks. Leaning with my back against the softest rock I could find, I slowly took in my immediate surroundings. I was amazed.

Although we were deep into a southwest desert, all one had to do is look around and find a myriad of living things.

Most were strange looking and very unfamiliar, but being an inquisitive sort of fellow, I had planned ahead and purchased a small guidebook crammed full of tidbits concerning the natural history of the area.

Our hike was taking us through a desert scrub community, not unlike the backdrops of those "class B westerns" we all saw when we were kids. I found out later that plenty of those "westerns" were indeed filmed in this exact locale.

The vegetation of this sort of region is divided into shrubs, cacti and wildflowers. From my resting spot under the outcrop, I could plainly see examples of all three.

On the opposite side of the trail there were several Ocotillos. These spindly, flame-tipped plants are sometimes mistaken for members of the cacti family, but are really a shrub.

Midway between the Major Periods there are frequently shorter peaks called Minor Periods. Huron EDC stresses 'Service First!' in worker training

Local merchants appreciate their customers. That's the message being sent out through a comprehensive total quality management effort in Huron County called "Service First!" This program, designed for retail and service-oriented businesses, has met with resounding success, organizers say. "We are truly amazed at the participation we have had from county businesses," said Amy Braun, Project Manager for the Huron County Economic Development Corporation. "The number of businesses and individuals that have participated in the training shows there is a need for continuing this type of training in the county."

"Service First!" is a joint effort of the Huron County EDC and the Huron County Council of Chambers of Commerce and is focused on improving the level of quality in the retail and service businesses in the county. Working with Michigan

State University and a member steering committee, the EDC and the Chambers group developed content of the training provided to both business owners/managers and their front line employees.

"The goal of Service First! is to improve the experience of the consumer in our local businesses," said Tammy Claerhout of Sebawaing, Chambers group president. "What we hope to do is improve the shopping experience for both local residents and visitors to the area, with the aim of developing positive word of mouth advertising for the area.

Mick LaLopa of MSU's Travel Tourism and Recreation Resource Center, believes Service First! is a unique program and says, "As far as we know, it is the only county-wide effort of this type in the state."

Service First! members have completed the first round of training for owners and managers as well as for front-line staff. The next phase is now being formulated. "The next step in Service First! is to develop a mystery shopper program where businesses will be independently tested for customer service," Claerhout said.

Mystery shoppers will call on the participating businesses to audit their service quality and then send a report to the business so that service quality can be improved.

"This part of the program allows the businesses to review what was presented in the training and test its real-world application," Braun said.

A fool and her money are soon reunited!

DEAR MR. ROSS:

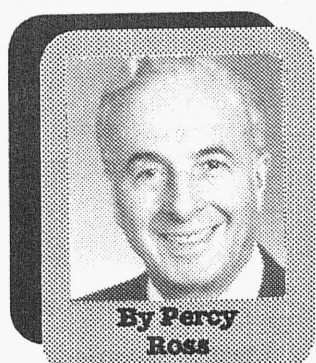

I was elated the day your check arrived. I took the bus to the bank and cashed it. It was a beautiful day and I was feeling so good I decided to walk the mile home.

I was thinking my luck had finally changed when I came across a man who was down and out. I listened to his sad story and wound up giving him $100. That left me $365.

I figured I could get a good used washer for that instead of a new one like I had asked you for. I was almost home when a neighbor stopped me. Oh, the trouble she has!

Her husband ran off and she's got four kids to feed. There went another $150 leaving me with $215.

Then my sister called. Her elderly cat needed vet attention so I told her to come over and I gave her $200. Now I'm left with $15. As I see it, I can go to the laundromat for the next month at no cost to me.

Thanks, Mr. Ross, for giving me the money to get a new washer. I'm sorry I was so foolish and gave your money away. — Ms. P. K., Brainerd, MN

DEAR MR. ROSS:

My lifestyle is paralyzing. I suffer from severe panic attacks and anxiety. It has taken over my life for the last 17 years.

I'm 46 and have been sent from one doctor to another and my funds are gone. I can't work. My husband works in sales and I ride with him while he works, because I'm afraid to stay at home alone. I've come across a self-help program. I pray this could be the answer.

It has helped thousands of people but there is no way I can afford it. It's from the "Midwest Center for Stress and Anxiety" and consists of 16 cassette tapes and study books. I can't drive anymore so this I could do at home.

If you could find it in your heart to help, I would repay you.

I've never written a letter like this before and wish I didn't have to now but I'm sure this is my last hope. The cost is $290 and to me that's a fortune. Please help me. — Desperate, Alpena

DEAR DESPERATE:

Panic attacks are indeed a crippling disorder, which can make you a prisoner in your own home. I empathize with you for having to live with this for the last 17 years.

Be held hostage by this disorder no more, for I'm sending you $290.

As for repayment, your ability to be a productive member of society will be considered payment in full.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

My mother clips your column and sends it to me. She's always trying to show me that things have a way of working out.

I'm 37 and am a single parent raising a 14-year-old son.

Eight years ago I was hospitalized for a mental illness. Even with the help of medication our lives have been rocky. I have a difficult time keeping jobs and we end up living on a very limited income.

My son is very good to me. He's classified as gifted and talented. Because of raising him alone, I started him in baseball when he was four years old. The coaches have been his idols and role models. He gets so much help there.

My problem right now is money. I haven't been able to find him used baseball shoes this year because his feet are a men's size now and they're hard to find in second hand stores.

He also needs the $50 fee for a uniform. My son is never happier than when he's playing baseball. Perhaps you can help keep him in the game. — Ms. L. C., Superior, WI

DEAR MS. C.:

For my investment of $150 I really don't expect your son to autograph a baseball for THREE SEBEWAING RESIDENTS — Lloyd Adam, Lew Tibbits and Steve Langford — have been recognized for outstanding contributions to their community in a special program during the Michigan Sugar Festival this week. Adam was lauded for his years of service as Sebewaing Mayor, and credited with expanding the community and its recreational facilities. He served as Sebewaing Village trustee from 1979 to 1987 and as president from 1988 to this year, when he stepped down. Tibbits was honored for his efforts as director of Bay Shore Camp in Sebewaing. Through his efforts, the camp has been transformed from a seldom-used site to a well-established camp ministry. Langford was lauded for his all-around community service to several area organizations. He is Branch Manager for Mutual Savings Bank. His volunteer services include USA Athletic Boosters, Lions Club, Michigan Sugar Festival parade chairman and the Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce.

To EVERYONE in the SEBEWAING COMMUNITY and to all the SUGAR FESTIVAL STAFF...

Wet, but wonderful are the words we've heard people describe the 30th Annual Michigan Sugar Festival this past weekend! We are truly grateful for the rain which will greatly help our 1994 Sugar Beet Crop, and we did our best to work around the rain drops in presenting a full weekend of enjoyment, entertainment, fun and memories for many families from the Thumb and neighboring areas.

Since we volunteered to put Sebewaing on the map with the first Sugar Festival back in 1965, our hometown event has grown. We're getting more area and regional attention and it's all because of the efforts put forth by our local volunteers.

This is just to thank all the people who help plan activities, work on committees and programs, sponsor events, floats or promotions.

We want to say a big "THANK YOU" to everyone involved in the sugar beet industry, including beet producers and processors. Everyone who attends to share the fun is vital to our success.

We couldn't have done it without every one of you, and we sincerely thank everyone...for everything. Don't forget, our 31st Sugar Festival is just 51 weeks away and we've already put our order in for good weather!

Thank you, and God Bless You All,

Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce

It was wet... but fun... in Sebewaing!

THE 1994 MICHIGAN SUGAR Princess is Brooke Gremel and Prince is Jordan Gaeth. Gremel, 8, is the daughter of Rick and Tammy Gremel of Sebewaing. Gaeth, 8, is the son of Neil and Crystal Gaeth of Sebewaing. The new royalty was crowned by 1993 Princess Valerie Irion and Prince Rob Garske. First place runner up for princess is Melissa Miller and prince is Christian Goedel. Miller, 7, is the daughter of Mark and Donna Miller of Sebewaing and Goedel is the son of Victoria Kindler of Sebewaing.

IF IT'S RAINING OUTSIDE, bring the kids' parade INSIDE! And that's exactly what planners did Friday, during the rainy Sugar Festival. And actually, farmers DID need the average of three inches which fell... although some weather watchers near Unionville recorded nearly seven inches.

CHAIRMAN OF THE SUGAR FESTIVAL, Melvin Kuhl, seemed to be everywhere this past weekend, during the 30th Michigan Sugar Festival. In fact, he regularly pitched in to get done ANY job needed doing... as this shot proves. He's helping sweep up after the Chicken Barbecue, getting ready for the kiddie tractor pull...

PACKING SAFE, SUMMERTIME PICNICS

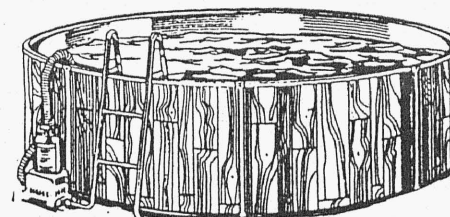

GETTING READY
• Make meat and perishable products your last selections when shopping. Check the "sell by" date on the label.
• After shopping, put away refrigerated foods first.
• Keep everything that touches food clean. Wash hands with soap and water prior to preparing any food, and after handling raw meats. Also, use separate platters and trays for cooked and uncooked meat.
• Thoroughly clean coolers, thermal bottles and containers, and picnic baskets before packing with food.

PACKING UP
• Keep all perishable food in a well-insulated cooler packed with ice or freeze-packs. Freeze small cans or boxes of fruit juice to use as insulation and drink them when thawed.
• A properly packed cooler should contain about 25% ice and 75% food.
• Package foods properly, either tightly wrapped in aluminum foil, plastic wrap or airtight containers.
• Do not partially cook meat for later grilling. Cook food completely, if cooking ahead, then wrap and refrigerate. Pack in cooler and reheat on the grill.

ON-SITE
• Keep the cooler in the shade tightly closed. Open when necessary.
• Put perishable leftovers back in the cooler as soon as you finish eating.
• Keep food out of the sun, and do not keep outside the cooler for over 1 hr.

Achievements

Mary Bedford, a fifth grader at Caseville Elementary School, is the winner of a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. She was able to put her name in a drawing sponsored by Bay Port State Bank. All students in grades three through five with only A's and B's on their last report card participated in the drawing. She is the daughter of Jeff and Carmelita Bedford.

Jaime Rugnetta, granddaughter of Grace Herford, Elton, has accepted the Provost Scholarship from Case Western Reserve University. Earlier this month, Rugnetta graduated with highest honors from Utica Eisenhower High School with a grade point average of 3.95, ranking 12th in her graduating class of 465. An active member of the National Honor Society, she has received the U.S. National Mathematics award, is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and in the Manhattan College St. LaSalle Honor Society, has been awarded the Scholar Athlete Award by the Detroit Free Press, the U.S. Army Reserve and Michigan High School Athletic Association. At Case Western Reserve, located in Cleveland, she will pursue a degree in biomedical engineering and then go on to law school. She will continue her participation in sports on the intercollegiate level as a member of the Case Western's varsity volleyball team.

RAY FIEBIG of Sebewaing is the proud owner of this collection of Sugar Festival buttons. Originally, the collection was started by Norbert (Nobby) Gaeth of Sebewaing, who gave it to Fiebig when he moved to Florida.

Since that time, Fiebig has added to it with his own collection and now has a total of 28. There were a few years when buttons were printed without years indicated and maybe a year or so when they did not issue any. Fiebig also has a Sugar Festival Peddler's Permit pin which he proudly displays.

In related matters, Sebawaing Council will contact the village attorney for options on having the railroad tracks on Union and Pine Streets repaired.

"The tracks are in terrible shape. It looks like we aren't taking care of them even though it's not our responsibility to do so," said Councilman Rodney Tietz.

Building permits for base work will increase to $25 from $15. According to members, the fee rate is only for "basic" work and doesn't impact the rates for large projects necessary to cover expenses of a building inspector, because of increases in education needed for being an inspector.

Council also approved the non-profit status of the Lake Huron Community Arts Council. "We need that if we want to have any sort of raffles," said Arts Council member James Rummel, indicating this is a standard state requirement.

Sebawaing girl still critical

A 17-year-old Sebawaing girl remains in critical condition following an accident June 17 one-half mile south of Sebawaing. Cheryl Sloboda is in neurological intensive care at St. Mary's Medical Center, Saginaw.

She and another Sebawaing girl were passengers in a vehicle driven by Stuart Trevor Hahn, 22, of Unionville.

According to police reports, Hahn failed to negotiate a curve while traveling north on Licken Road near Myers Road, went off the roadway into a ditch and flipped over. The occupants were not wearing seatbelts and were thrown from the vehicle.

The other passenger, Deanna Mielke, 17, of Sebawaing, was also injured in the accident. Hahn and Mielke were taken to Bay Medical Center after the accident, but have since been released.

'Cabaret' revue July 27 at Caseville

What better way to spend an evening than with a great meal with a dessert of great music? It's even better when the music is the coolest around, set in the intimate atmosphere of a cabaret.

Western Michigan natives Rich Ridenour and Kathy Wagner are bringing their musical talents on Wednesday, July 27 to Mitch's at Hidden Harbor to present their "In Search of Cabaret" revue. The dinner theatre is sponsored by the Caseville Community Arts Council.

Ridenour and Wagner's revue includes a wide variety of songs, from those of Gershwin, Berlin and Porter to Ned Rorem and William Bolcom.

Pianist Ridenour is a master of ragtime and early jazz and has produced two successful recordings. He has performed with numerous symphony orchestras in both classical and pops concerts and charms the audience every time.

Wagner is a vocalist specializing in traditional jazz. She has performed with various orchestras and her big band concerts with the Grand Rapids Symphony were sold out this season.

Some of the more popular numbers of the show will include "Zing! Went the Strings of My Heart," "I'll Build a Stairway to Paradise," "Sophisticated Lady," "Little Things" and "I Happen to Like New York."

The annual dinner theatre performance includes cocktails at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m. and the performance at 8 p.m.

For details or tickets, call Mitch Gogola at 856-4747.

How else do the residents of Country Bay Village spend a lazy, hazy day of summer? By having a picnic in the park.

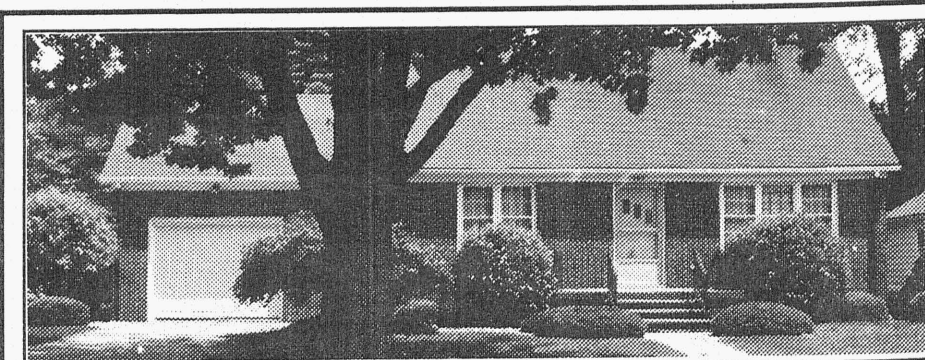

The wonderful summer weather and a time of fellowship under the pavilion at the Pigeon Recreation Park was enjoyed by all this past Wednesday.

A menu of hamburgers, hot dogs, potato salad and watermelon completed the picnic festivities.

It has been an exciting Little League season for the Country Bay Rangers. We would like to extend a hearty job well done to the team and their coaches. We are so glad to be a part of their successful season.

Country Bay Village hosted a Father's Day Open House and invited the general public. The residents and guests enjoyed the tours of the newly-completed senior apartment living complex.

Rev. Michael Norton is Trinity UM's new pastor

By MARY DRIER

A new pastor preached Sunday's sermon at Trinity United Methodist Church in Sebawaing.

Rev. Michael Norton, 34, took over as pastor from Rev. Lawrence Brooks, who was transferred to a congregation in Saginaw.

Rev. Norton is originally from the Tawas Area and left the Heritage Church in Snover, where he served for seven years, to come to Sebawaing. "I believe the church should continue to grow and reach out," says Rev. Norton.

"The challenges to our faith are great and the church has much to offer not only to our own constituency but to those who are yet to become Christians and followers of Christ."

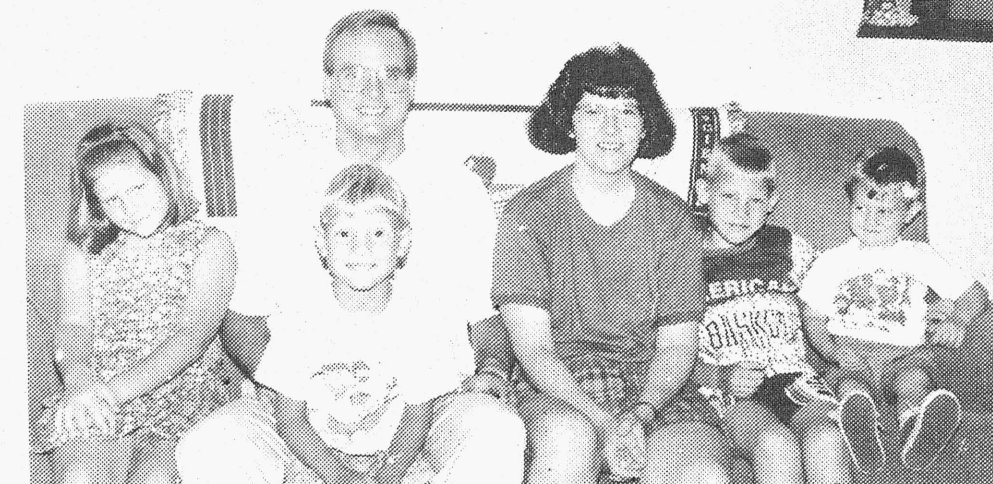

"These are crucial days in the last part of the 20th century. The challenges and the opportunities both are going to be paramount to what we have seen in our lifetime."

Trinity United Methodist Church has a rich history and Rev. Norton will become part of that history, when the church celebrates its 130th anniversary this fall.

The new pastor is a graduate of Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.

He and his wife Sue have four children, Leah, 9, Taylor, 7, Austin 5 and Jordan 2.

"Pastor Brooks' and my move are going to be advantageous for us personally and for the churches involved. I think it will work out well," says Rev. Norton.

Rev. Brooks took over as pastor of Ames United Methodist Church on the west side of Saginaw.

Rev. Brooks has fond memories of his time in Sebawaing. Leaving his parish and home of nine years wasn't an easy move.

"I have mixed feelings about the move, especially with a move to a big city after almost 32 years of ministry in small towns and rural areas," said Rev. Brooks.

The Sebawaing church has a membership of about 300 and the Saginaw parish has about 560, with an eye to the future to expand church programs to include special ser-

Comedian/singer stars at Band Shell Thursday night

Singer/comedian Jonathan Stars will hit the Pigeon Band Shell stage this Thursday, June 30 — just in time to kick off the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Concert time is 7 p.m. and the public is invited to enjoy this patriotic show.

Comedian Stars, of the Lansing Area, will give a "Patriotic Performance" in honor of the holiday, complete with songs and jokes of historical and current affairs.

Pigeon's Band Shell is located two blocks north of the vices and programs to the area's Hispanic population. "I love Sebawaing. It was a great nine years there. We plan to visit occasionally," said Rev. Brooks.

FAITH GOSPEL TABERNACLE in Bad Axe will host a gospel concert by Johnny and Elaine Gomez this Sunday, July 3 at 10 a.m.

Johnny and Elaine were featured with Lee Greenwood for a special Welcome Home Troop concert at Fort Hood, TX for over 42,000 troops and families. They have also been featured singers in leading concert halls, arenas and national stadiums throughout Asia, the South Pacific, Europe and North America and are seen regularly on TV throughout the U.S. and Canada. They also sing in churches and schools.

The public is invited to this free concert.

CONSTRUCTION ON Caseville's new sidewalk project is proceeding quickly, as workers enjoy pleasant, sunny weather. The new sidewalks will reach from the north village limits to the south end of town, about 7,000 ft. of concrete in all. The project costs nearly $100,000, with $49,000 coming from a federal grant administered by the Michigan Department of Transportation. Hunt Brothers Co. of Tawas is constructing the sidewalks.
