Inside: TIME FOR THE 26TH ANNUAL "HOLLY BERRY FAIR" in CASEVILLE...

50 Immanuel Lutheran Sunday School years

CAMPFIRE SINGING was a special part of Immanuel's Sunday School celebration. PHOTOS FURNISHED

On Oct. 8, 1944, Immanuel Lutheran Church, Sebawaing, started a Sunday School, under the direction of the late Frank Marquardt.

Fifty years later—on Oct. 9, 1994—the congregation observed the golden anniversary of its Sunday School with a day of celebration.

Children sang in both worship services. During the afternoon about 150 young and older gathered to enjoy several hours of family fun with a 1940s flavor.

Lawrence Koch supplied horsedrawn hayrides. Other activities included horse-shoes, volleyball, face painting, small group games, and refreshments.

Activities were led by volunteers of the church, by members of the eighth grade Sunday School class and members of Branch #1243 of the Aid Association for Lutherans.

A campfire songfest with marshmallow roast closed out the day's activities.

Joan Hofmeister was recognized by AAL #1243 for her many years of dedicated service to her congregation and community.

"Other special events are scheduled for throughout the year as we say thanks and give glory to God for faithfulness during our first 50 years," says Richard Wroblewski, Sunday School Superintendent.

Pigeon Mini-Park is dedicated

MORE THAN 80 GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS and community supporters lauded the progressiveness of Pigeon at the Dedication of its new Downtown Mini-park last Wednesday.

Guest of honor was U.S. Congressman Jim Barcia, who ceremoniously placed a brick given to him with his name engraved on it in the historical brick walkway which connects downtown with the Pigeon Historical Museum.

"I know the vital role you play in the history of the State of Michigan," said Barcia. "Your Museum is recognized as one of the premiere museums in the state. I appreciate the past 12 years I've been able to participate in your Farmers' Festival Parades."

Speaking on behalf of the Pigeon Historical Society was President Marie Leipprandt, County Commissioner R. Dale Wertz offered his congratulations and making remarks as Chairman of the Beautification Committee was Neal Eichler. Introducing each guest was Ed Eichler.

Barcia and his wife Vicki were special guests at an informal reception afterwards at the Pigeon Village Hall, hosted by the Pigeon Historical Society, and they toured the Museum and new senior living complex Country Bay Village during their visit to Pigeon.

Sugar beets are 95% delivered

By Monday morning, 95% of the 1994 sugar beet crop had been delivered to the Sebawaing Plant of Michigan Sugar Company, according to Agriculture Manager

Richard Jacoby. That means 620,000 tons had been delivered with about 30,000 more tons still awaited.

Tonnage and sugar content look good, Jacoby added, saying that yields will be about 18.3 tons per acre and sugar content is at an "excellent" 19%.

During the delivery campaign, 15 piles with 26 dumping stations were in operation.

All The News That Fits We Print!
by Mark Rummel

FIVE TOTALLY-UNRELATED THINGS I DON'T UNDERSTAND: 1. How is it that our family of four somehow has FIVE toothbrushes in the medicine chest? And why is it no one knows why that fifth one is there?

2. How is it that four 10-year-old boys can spend a night with one 10-year-old boy and end up with one T-shirt left over? The main part of this question I don't understand is that NO ONE claims that T-shirt, which SOMEHOW came to be located here!

3. How is it that after a summer camp-out with 13-year-old friends, one large black flashlight (with good batteries) remains at our house—and again no one claims it, when asked. (It makes me worry about the things belonging to us which probably turn up at others' houses... but we don't miss!)

The interesting sidelight (bad pun) about the flashlight is that our rugged standard family orange flashlight ends up with DEAD batteries after that same camp-out, so we're probably just about even...

4. Why is it that the Detroit Lions always seem to fall behind or lose just about the time I start watching the game? This happened during Sunday's lackluster performance against the New York Giants (when Bay Port's Tom Beer got national attention and some real playing time, by the way.)

The Lions were ahead by a touchdown in the first quarter when I started watching, so the lead quickly became a tie. Then I left for most of the rest of the game, came back to find a Lions lead in the fourth quarter—which ALSO vanished while I was watching.

Good thing I stayed away during overtime, when Detroit finally won! (Have you ever felt the game changes for the worse when you're watching?? I wish I had that much power.)

5. Finally, I've never understood how we here in the Thumb can be in a high school football region that includes Detroit schools 120 miles away, but not Mid-Michigan schools 40 miles away?

Whatever the reason, go Lakers and go Patriots!

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A community is like a ship; everyone should be prepared to take the helm!" (Karl Hertz)

Last call for Pigeon video!

Pigeon's history video project is nearly complete, and sponsors MUST sign up by Nov. 4 to be included, says organizer Edwin Eichler. Family sponsorships at $100 each are still sought, which lists the family in credits and gives three tapes, worth $60. If interested, contact Eichler at Pigeon Telephone Co. at 453-4321. Delivery is expected yet this month.

Tuscola Township posts

Although four Tuscola County townships will host elections for board members during the Tuesday, Nov. 8 General Election, the only nearby election is found in Akron Township.

Republican Donald R. Schmuck, 42, a DPW worker for the Village of Unionville, is the lone candidate for the supervisor seat.

Schmuck was appointed to the position when Wilbur Partlo passed away.

Tuscola votes on liquor

Tuscola County voters will decide whether to allow Sunday sales of packaged liquor, during the Nov. 8 General Election. Tuscola is one of six counties in the state that don't allow sale of packaged liquor on Sundays.

"All of the other counties around us—Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer, Saginaw, Bay and Lapeer—allow sales of packaged liquor on Sundays," said Greg Ralston, owner of Ralston's Party Store in Caro. He proposed placing the issue on the ballot.

"I'm not condoning drinking and driving," said Ralston. "There is much more of a chance of that by forcing residents to go outside of the county for their liquor purchases, rather than just around the corner from where they live."

The same Sunday liquor sale proposal was defeated by county voters four years ago. Tuscola has 39,887 registered voters.

No Tuscola judge contests

Judicial elections for probate court and circuit court are uncontested in Tuscola County.

Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent, Jr., 46, and Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, 46, are unopposed for re-election. Both posts are six-year seats.

4 Tuscola Board contests

Four of the seven Tuscola County Board of Commissioner seats are contested during next Tuesday's General Election. Contested races are:

■ In District 1 (Akron, Columbia, Almer, Ellington and Wisner Townships,) incumbent Republican James D. Schafer of Unionville, controller for Gettel Motors Co., is challenged by newcomer Democrat Tracey L. Seath of Caro, manager of Sorrento's Restaurant, Flushing.

■ In District 4 (Indianfield and Wells Twp.) incumbent Democrat Norma J. Bates of Caro, a retired interior design saleswoman, is challenged by newcomer Republican Susan A. Osborne of Caro, a realtor for McLeod Realty, Caro.

■ In District 6 (Tuscola and Arbutus Twp. and City of Vassar,) incumbent Democrat Robert Russell of Vassar, a retired factory worker, is challenged by newcomer Republican Gerald C. Peterson of Vassar, a quality assurance supervisor for General Motors Corp. Saginaw Division, Saginaw.

■ And in District 7 (Vassar and Millington Twp.) newcomer Democrat Ronald C. Hubbard of Vassar, a retired truck driver of Superfoods Inc., Bridgeport, and newcomer Republican Roy W. Petzold of Millington, an inspector for General Motor Inc. Chevy V-8 Engine, Flint, square off.

In non-contested races, Tuscola candidates are:

■ District 2 (Elmwood, Elkland, Novesta and Kingston Twp.) newcomer Republican Dr. Edward C. Scollon of Cass City is unopposed;

■ District 3 (Gifford, Fairgrove, Denmark and Juniata Twp.) incumbent Republican Kenneth G. Hess of Vassar is unopposed;

■ District 5 (Fremont, Dayton, Koylton and Watertown Twp.) incumbent Republican Donald P. McLane of Mayville is unopposed.

All seats are for two years. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. There are 39,887 registered voters in the county.

Road funds coming here

Three Western Thumb communities will receive an unexpected boost in transportation funds from Gov. John Engler and the state Department of Transportation.

Communities of Kinde will receive $1,930, Port Austin $1,206 and Owendale $807 in the state funds.

The Tuscola County Road Commission will receive $16,000 and Cass City gets $5,000.

The unexpected funds are the result of savings M-DOT achieved by taking advantage of low interest rates earlier this year, officials say. State Trunkline Bonds were refinanced in March, resulting in total interest savings of nearly $2.7 million, to be shared among 168 local road agencies, they say.

Instead of spreading the savings over time, M-DOT is making the entire savings amount available to the communities who qualify.

The Newsweekly Forum

As we see it

Some election week thoughts

All U.S. residents are supposed to cast ballots next Tuesday, and we can rest assured the airwaves on Nov. 9 will be free of the clawing, name-calling and poor sportsmanship which has marked this election year as one of the less-enlightening and most foul ever.

This is a fine time to consider several election options, which — if in place instead of the current frustrating system — would make us all less angry and bitter about the government which is supposed to be serving us, instead of the other way around.

■ First, it was interesting that Gov. John Engler mentioned a unicameral — or one house — legislature, during last week's debate with Democratic challenger Howard Wolpe. Gov. Engler says he supposed the idea of one house for Michigan 20 years ago, as a young representative. Now, Nebraska is the only state with a unicameral legislature, and leaders there say it simplifies government — while saving money. And, some independent studies rank Nebraska's legislature as the nation's most accessible and representative. Sounds like a good idea, doesn't it?

■ Second, we all should consider an amazing tax plan being discussed (mostly by Republicans) right now. A movement is underway to change the U.S. tax code so that everyone pays a flat 17% of their income in taxes — no more, no less.

The longer you consider this option, the smarter it becomes. First, an entire class of tax preparers would be out of work, but they could quickly become investment counselors, since we'd have more spendable income and time with money.

■ Third, an idea forwarded in our "Phone Forum" in recent months is being discussed, too. Why not let all persons who wish to serve in government enter an "election lottery," some of whom would be chosen at random to serve, say, two-year terms?

As proponents say, this couldn't be any worse than some of our officially-elected leaders — and we may actually get some very qualified people, since government wouldn't be a lifetime job.

■ Finally, if you haven't been fascinated by this across-party-line endorsement of Democrats by Republicans and vice versa in this state and elsewhere, you haven't been paying attention. Only in this 1994 election year, thankfully...

Also you must not have heard the remarks that were made that the rezoning was paramount to Pigeon's survival.

I have been informed that a member of the Zoning panel took a petition around for signatures to kill the rezoning request prior to the formal hearing.

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR,

Well, this is Halloween time and years ago we kids looked forward to seeing what the town looked like on the next morning.

Back in those days people didn't all have bathrooms in the house, and people used to have a little house out behind the house and a path leading back to it.

And unless it was pretty solid, it was always upset in the morning and then the people were in bad shape till they got the neighbor to help them to get it set up again.

And all the old cars and wagons or buggies were in the street and once in a while a little outhouse was on the main street up town and once in a while there'd be a buggy on top of a building.

We kids couldn't see how they got up there. A lot of store windows were soaped up and anything that was loose was moved, and as long as nothing was stolen or broke, people just laughed at it. The village had a couple of men to put the stuff back.

Once some boys came to a place and the dog barked so loudly that the boys caught him and put him under a 50-gallon oil barrel that had the top off, and when the people came home they found him.

It made the people a little mad, but other people had a big laugh about it.

When I went to school the first year they were building the big school building that they tore down so we had school in that whitehouse by the Masonic Hall.

On Halloween the teacher made a witch and set her in the bedroom, and just before school let out, she got it out and told one of her pets to come up and reach in her pocket and get something out. Well, she got out a cookie so she told some more girls and boys to come up and get something out. Then she told one of the boys to come up and he reached in and he pulled out his hand and said there wasn't anything in there.

The teacher reached in and she couldn't find anything there. There were at least six or seven of us left that didn't get any, so she said it's too bad, the cookies were gone. But she said us boys were big enough to do without.

Once after that all of us kids went up to the depot to see the boys going to the army. That was in 1917. There were a lot of young fellows from Bad Axe and Elkton and Pigeon on the train and somebody passed out candy and cigars to them.

When they were gone, teacher told us all to get back to school and she sent one of her pets to go to the store and get some cookies and crackers.

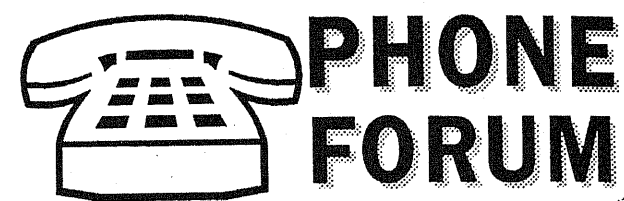

Well, when we came back to school either they didn't get enough or some body got more than their share. There wasn't enough to go around so about six or seven of us didn't get any.

I talked with a fellow that had her for a teacher and he remembered that she used to pull those tricks.

Well, I lived through it and with the help of the Lord I got a good education and enjoyed good health and have a good family and a good place to stay and lots of friends. So when I've finished my stay on this earth, I got a better place to go.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE KEIM

A.L. from Pigeon: Since MariAnne Dast had that great letter about NAFTA and GATT and urged everyone to contact their Congressmen, how many of you know that the Capitol Hill switchboard has an 800 number? It's 1-800-768-2221. Thank you.

K.N.V. of Kilmanagh: This is a special reminder to vote this Nov. 8, it's very important. Please vote with whatever is in your heart, whether it's libertarian or independent. How we care today is what we show tomorrow. Our future generations are depending on us. They will think about how we voted. In the end, they will either curse us or bless us. Thank you.

Rebecca from Sebawaing: I want to state I would like all the people who complain about beet haulers to realize it's not easy for us trucks on the road, either. It takes a long time to get our trucks moving, then some little car pulls out in front of us and wants us to slow down. If we all shared the road, we wouldn't have so many people mad at us beet haulers.

B. from Sebawaing: "To the girls varsity basketball coach" - why have you not taught your starting five what the word TEAM means? There are just as good of players on the bench who you could rotate more than a half minute in the whole game. At least they don't cry, pout or have an attitude problem.
(B., why not take those comments directly to the coach, or athletic director? Coaches try to make their best choices, since their goal is to win games, right?)

T. of Pigeon: This is about emergency vehicles, like ambulances and police and fire trucks: I see many cars ignore them, and I don't understand this. And, I also get angry when people don't stop while a funeral group is going by. People, you are supposed to pull over to show respect and so that those people can stay together. Surely you can wait one minute so they can stay in a group. It is rude to not pull over when a procession goes by.
(I agree, T. It only takes a moment... and I have to think most people feel stupid to suddenly be in the middle of a funeral procession. Likewise, pull off the road to give emergency vehicles all the room they can use, folks...)

Mike of Sebawaing: Why is it that we spend so much of our time and attention on stupid things like O.J. Simpson yet we don't know what is happening around us that is important? Can you name your State Senator or your County Commissioner? Probably not. But I bet you know O.J.'s lawyer's name. No wonder this world is going down the tubes. Thank you.

K.H. of Caseville: All these TV ads for political candidates tell us what is wrong with the other guy. What they should be doing is telling us why we should vote for their guy. We end up getting nasty reports about the opponent. What we need are promises and pledges from the person paying for the ad. We need "pro" ads, not so much "anti" stuff.
(I agree, K.H. If they'd spend as much time telling us what THEY will do, we wouldn't need to hear so much bad about the opponent. No wonder politics has such a black eye.)

B. from Elkton: I think the kids at the Huron Youth Center did a fabulous job at the Haunted House. It was even better than last year's and they obviously worked very hard. Good job, kids!

Thankful in Caseville: Thanks to the Depner Family on Conkey Road, who for years gave so much enjoyment to the young and old with their pumpkin people. The many hours of hard work putting up the decorations and painting the pumpkins is always entertaining for the children. We all miss you very much this year, but we understand. May the Lord bless and keep you, and good health.

(It just doesn't seem like fall without the Depners, does it? Hope things are better soon, and that the pumpkins are back next year.)

B from Pigeon: I would like to know what happened to the Lakers Friday night. Did they forget to come out at halftime? Or did they go home? Or did some old ladies come out at halftime to play? Thank you.
(Now B., that's a low blow. No team wins every game, and the Lakers DID make it into the playoffs. Don't YOU ever have off nights?)

Horsin' Around

by Kate Pickering

'Trail' by fire...

Oh, I admit: I was nervous as hell!

As you may already know, this spring I purchased a rank little filly who has a mind of her own. But if I don't say so myself, I've been uncharacteristically perseverant in my efforts to gentle her and turn her into a portly old lady's trail horse.

However, portly old lady's horse is (apparently) not what my four-year old filly thought she would grow up to be, because all spring and summer she's been arguing with me about this intended "makeover." She has made it clear she would much rather be the horse of, say, a handsome young man who would allow her to gallop fast and furiously over dangerous terrain! But she doesn't know just how lucky she is. Handsome young men sometimes do not fuss over the quality of hay they feed, nor the level of protein in their sweet feed. Handsome young men sometimes are not quite as meticulous about clean stalls, the control of summer flies, the comfortable fit of saddles and bridles nor the regular rotation of dewormers.

So I set a date. I decided that if she could not be convinced, in one year's time, that loyalty and obedience were a fair exchange for excellent care, good food, fresh water, equine companionship, fifteen acres of pasture and unlimited love and affection, then come next spring, she would have to go. But as the tepid months of this summer flew by, it appeared we were well ahead of schedule. We enjoyed progress in every important area. We taught her to clip, lunge, load, trailer, stand quietly for saddle, and shoeing and to be easily caught with no ropes or trickery.

But my speckly little firecracker held out in some areas of ridability. She argued with me for months on end regarding certain requests made from the saddle. So when it appeared, early in October, that she had at last conceded, I needed to be doubly sure. I needed to test her in a foreign environment. So, nervous as hell, or not, I agreed to take her on the last club-sponsored trail ride of this fall.

The beautiful October Sunday dawned more bright and beautiful than anyone could have hoped for, but I'm sure my friends and relatives could tell by my short temper and testy attitude that I feared not only the possibility of physical danger, but also the real possibility that Sheena would disappoint me, show glib disregard for our summer-long training, and fling me to the ground in front of a hundred horrified onlookers.

Oh, me of little faith! My scrappy, homely Appaloosa proved that not only has she made tremendous progress in her training, but that she has also developed a very visible love and respect for me. (And that, quite frankly, she is more manfully and well-behaved than a couple of our older horses.)

While some of my companions were rearing, twirling, fiery steeds, Sheena remained calm and cool-headed. Oh, she was certainly interested in all the activity and malay, but confined her curiosity to a bright eye, alert ears and quick step. Overall she remained steady and under control and I was so proud of her I could have burst!

So perhaps we have at last met somewhere in the middle. Since she has shown me she is willing to come halfway toward my ideal of a "portly old lady's horse," I suppose I can try, in the future, to ride with some of the carefree aplomb of, say, "a handsome young man."

Eine gute memory

Ein most interesting Karl ist Carl Dast von drueben in Pigeon, der sein ganzes Career in die Bay Port Quarry ge-spent hat. Carl war in ein Quarry Heim geboren in 1906 weil sein Vater dort arbeitete. Er war nur 14 Jahre alt da er bei die Quarry Farm employed wurde, als Teamster. Er arbeitete part-time bis er 16 war, dann hat er seine Schule verlassen und wurde ein fulltime Employee. Durch die Jahre wurde er oft promoted und war Boss fuer eine lange Zeit.

Heute gibt es niemand wie Karl Dast, der solch eine Memory hat about die Quarry, die Workers und was die Quarry meinte fuer die local Economy.

Die Quarry fing an in 1888 und sie haben building und high-grade crush Felsen und Riprap und andere Sorten Felsen aufgetragen. Zu einer Zeit hat die Quarry jedes Jahr about 500,000 Tons Limestone ge-shipped, das mainly fuer Strassen und Wege, und auch fuer bauen, ge-used war. Fuer viele Jahre hat die Quarry ge-advertised das Bay Port Felsen waren das "hardest Limestone known."

Carl's Career hat fuer 65 Jahre ge-lasted und er hat even Heute noch solch eine scharfe Memory daser hunderte Freunde und Fellow Workers recallen kann. Besides, er kann remembren welcher Job die Fellow Workers hatten, ob sie eifrig oder faul waren, und in meiste Cases, wenn und wie Sie starben. Das ist all the more impressive wenn mann remembert das einst waren mehr denn 125 Arbeiter in die Quarry.

Carl kann Machinery errinern, und beschreiben, und kann sagen wer das Machinery ge-runned hat. Solch eine Memory! Die Quarry hatte ein Boarding Haus, zwischen 1912-1930. Als waren soviel wie 40 die dort regular Residents waren. Es gab auch familien Haeuser da ganze Familien wohnte, und das war wo Carl und seine Eltern wohnten.

Carl's Vater Chris war fuer 27 Jahre ein Manager in die Quarry, und in 1941 wurde electrocuted auf den Job.

Das mussten exciting Jahre sein, weil die Quarry war eine ganze Community, fuer die Company und die Arbeiter. Es gaben Fights, und Strafen, und auch Parties und Dances. Es gab eine Quarry Schule, die immer noch steht, aber Sie war schon fuer viele Jahre nicht mehr ge-used. Wahrscheinlich wird das Schul Building nie wieder ge-used, weil es ist in bad Shape, und jetzt kostet es sehr viel fuer Labor und Materials fuer solch Gebaeude auf-fixen.

Die Amerikanische Custom ist ja immer zum alte Buildings destroyed und die alte Schule sieht ziemlich tough aus. Es waehre gut wenn Sie koennte ge-saved werden, aber wir betten das Sie wird herunter ge-knocked.

Wir probieren mehr Carl Dast und Quarry Geschichten zu hoeren und dann werden wir Sie weiter passen zu Euch.

Die Moral in die Geschichte ist: Bleib immer jung und beautiful, sonnst wirst du schnell im Kopf ge-knocked.

60 Seconds

Nothing beyond?

"I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever." Psalm 23:6
Last month, in honor of the discovery of the new world, Americans observed the birthday of Christopher Columbus. Before he sailed off to find a passage to India, the world maps simply showed the Atlantic Ocean and the notation: Ne plus ultra — "nothing beyond."

Then Columbus discovered islands and lands where people had thought nothing existed. He discovered there WAS something.

.....
Here is a parallel with our lives. Some people claim that after this life, there is nothing. Many think that they are born, they work, they eat and drink, they age, they die and that is the end.

David, writer of The Psalms, gazing into the future, sang with confidence, "I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever." No doubt about his faith, that indeed, there is something beyond.

Centuries later, Paul wrote that Christ "is risen from the dead and become the firstfruits of them who slept." John identified those "who washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the lamb."

.....
They heard, they saw, they knew that not only is there "something beyond."

.....
They knew that what lies ahead is the greatest, and the best — not just for a few years, but forever!

.....
PRAYER: Lord, we believe, through Jesus' resurrection we will be forever with you. Amen.

Farm video to offer kids' tour of agricultural life

Sugar Company's factories in Sebewaing and Caro. "I followed Kurt around through all of the farm work.

I've been at his place 25 times from April to last week," says Lupp, with a smile. "We videotaped the whole farming season, starting with field cultivating in the spring all the way through corn harvest to the last step of plowing." Lupp has taken a year's leave of absence from from his teaching position at USA to explore other avenues of art.

"I wanted to learn more about multi-media, and this project is sure fitting the bill," says Lupp. "It's been a learn-as-you-go project and is teaching me so much more than I ever dreamed possible. "I expect I will go back to teaching, and if I do, I can bring what I've learned with me."

Ewald, Lupp and the Abbeys formed One Video Incorporated to produce the video.

The video is narrated and has an original music score written by Bay City Western School teacher Ken Marotzke, Jr., and is edited by Jeffery Jones of Freeland who does work for several mid-state video producers.

The video is due for completion by Thanksgiving and will be available by calling 1-800-FARMS96.

THE SCHEURER HOSPITAL AUXILIARY works hard throughout the year to raise funds to support the hospital. With those funds, the auxiliary purchases equipment that benefits hospital's patients.

A perfect example are the new beds for the 19 residents in Scheurer's long-term care unit. Six new beds arrived last week and six will be delivered in the spring, according to hospital administrator Dwight Gascho.

"Many of these old beds were brought over from the old hospital on Main Street," Gascho said. "We certainly appreciate the auxiliary's purchase of the new beds."

The new beds save space in residents' rooms and are easier to raise and lower, according to Long-term Care Unit Manager Lois Harcourt.

Thanks A Million!

Gold rush has folks in a hurry

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I have a request for my husband, who does not know I'm writing you.

I would like to ask you for $300 so I can buy a pump for his gold dredging kit.

This gold mining is not a hobby. It's something my husband is pursuing as a way of extra income. He has considered getting a second job, but we would never see him and my four children need their father as any child does. Many people who live in our area do this as a hobby and make a good profit from their efforts.

We looked into buying a kit at some local stores. The average cost for the box and high banker (dirt separator) without a pump is about $250. We couldn't afford that so we made a homemade kit.

The pump, however, cannot be homemade. The average cost for those are about $400 and a lot of them are plastic.

We have the opportunity to buy a cast iron pump for $300. It retails for about $600, but we don't have the money.

We need the extra income to pay our property taxes. In the past they have gotten paid through many miracles and our selling things, but we'd like more of a consistent way of paying them.

Thanks for your time and consideration. — Mrs. J. C., Ontario, OR

DEAR MRS. C.:

By golly, there's gold in them there hills! It's good to know that the entrepreneurial spirit is alive and well in Ontario.

By all means, please accept my $300 for a pump to complete your gold dredging kit, so you can pay your property taxes in a timely manner. Good luck!

DEAR MR. ROSS:

If a sob story is what I need to tell you in order to get help, then I guess I'm out of luck, again. I could quickly fill this letter with recent major setbacks, but I'm too excited to wallow in self-pity.

I've "almost" started my own business! Me, a 26-year-old single, welfare dependent mother of one.

It started a month ago when I began mending clothes for friends and neighbors. Word of mouth and my inexpensive charge has brought in more business than I can do by hand. What I need is a sewing machine, which will open doors for me a regular eight-hour day job could never open.

I can work at home, even make clothes from patterns. I would not need a baby-sitter, transportation or clothes to work in. I can actually become self-supportive if given the opportunity to pursue this fantastic avenue.

I've enclosed a copy of what I need to begin my business. It may not seem like much to you, but with this machine I could have the chance to work for myself.

Who knows, I could become a famous designer! In the meantime, it would provide a needed income for my family. While I'm asking, could you see spending an extra $25 for business cards? — Ms. K.T., West Palm Beach, FL

DEAR MS. T.:

Where do you get off thinking that your request "might not seem like much" to me? I'll admit the dollar amount is small, but your enthusiasm, short and long-term goals mean the world to me. Sew bee it!

I'm honored to give you a start in the business world via my forthcoming check, which will also purchase some sewing notions, in addition to the machine and business cards.

I wish you every success. $$$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:

Give, give, give! Can't you ever take? "Take my wife, please. She's on my back all day long about what I'm not doing."

I know you prefer to give money rather than advice, so I'll take whatever you send and head for the border. — Mr. P.L., Omaha, NE

DEAR MR. L.:

Would that be Canadian or Mexican? Actually, I lost your address so I can't send you anything.

However, I've got your number — that of being a two-bit comic who steals other people's material. $$$$$

DEAR PERCY:

I don't know if you're trying to buy your way into heaven or what.

Your public gift-giving seems to fuel only one thing and that's your larger than life ego. It's wonderful you help people, but I'm suspect of your motivation. Is it because you delight in the pitiful voices of the masses rising up saying, "Thank you, Percy you've saved my life!"

Or, do you delight in seeing you; name in print? I bet you won't print my letter even though it would mean seeing your silly name in print.

I think it'll hit just a little too close to home, if you know what I mean. — A Skeptic, Moses Lake, WA

DEAR SKEPTIC:

On the same token, I've always been curious about people who think they have to find a negative, underlying reason for what at face value is a positive, uplifting thing.

I guess the old adage about "it takes all kinds," applies to both you and me. $$$$$

Successful mums sale makes Sally Beers happy

By MARY DRIER

"Mums" the word when it comes to fighting cancer in Huron County.

Longtime American Cancer Society volunteer Sally Beers of Sebawaing couldn't sell mums this year as she has since 1962 to raise funds for cancer-fighting, so Don and Tammy Claerhout of Claerhout's Greenhouse in Sebawaing stepped forward — and the 85-year-old Beers is smiling these days.

"The mums plants have all been sold and what a great job they did!" said Beers.

"They brought me a check for $500 for the American Cancer Society. It took my breath away, you can be sure."

Beers has been a fund-raiser volunteer for the Huron County branch for 45 years and has served as its president for 30 years.

"A big thank you to Don and Tammy for raising all this money to help raise funds to help us fight the battle, and with so many people who care, it can be done."

Beers has sold mums since 1962. She has single-handedly raised over $1 million over the years for the local American Cancer Society unit, mostly through the sale of mums.

Beers' crusade against cancer is a personal one done in memory of her late husband Ford, her mother and sister — all cancer victims.

A new state American Cancer Society award has been named for her — and she was the first recipient of the Sally Beers Award in April.

Pigeon Chamber changing holiday promotions

By SALLY RUMMEL

Pigeon will host two big Christmas events this year, adding a "Country Christmas" weekend on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11 to the already-popular Thanksgiving Open House Weekend Friday through Sunday, Nov. 25-27.

Reason for the change?

"We wanted to add a holiday event that focused on family activities people could enjoy in Pigeon, without taking away from our big kick-off shopping event, which happens every Thanksgiving Weekend," explains Pigeon Chamber of Commerce President Pam Sturm.

"We also knew it was time to make a change from our big weekly drawings and ticket giveaways, as these promotions seem to have worn themselves out."

A Christmas Committee formed this year to re-work the promotion and came up with the following plan:

■ OPEN HOUSE WEEKEND: A total of $400 a day in Pigeon money will be given out by Christmas Elves to lucky Pigeon shoppers on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 26.

Free bean soup will be given away. Santa will arrive in town at 2 p.m. and a Kids' Drawing will be held at 3 p.m. (note the time change from 4 to 3 p.m.)

■ WEEKLY KIDS' DRAWINGS: Kids' Drawings will be held Sunday, Nov. 27 and Saturday, Dec. 3, 10 and 17, all at 3 p.m. Ten prizes will be given away, and children must be present to win.

Because of the extra children's events planned during "A Country Christmas," bikes will not be given away weekly.

■ COUNTRY CHRISTMAS: The whole community is putting on its Christmas best for the weekend, hosting a variety of special events for all ages.

Children from age three to kindergarten are invited to attend "Lunch with Santa" on Saturday, Dec. 10 at the Pigeon District Library, where they will enjoy free pop and pizza and a small gift, courtesy of the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce.

Older children in grades one through five will be hosted by Pigeon Elementary School staff, parents and helpers for a "Christmas Lunch" that day, which will include a holiday craft, sports activities and more.

The Kids' Drawing was moved to 3 p.m., and preschoolers will sing Christmas songs from 2:15 until the drawing, downtown.

■ "Moms and Dads" will enjoy their own special shopping day on Saturday, Dec. 10 and will have a chance to be a Christmas elf winner just for shopping in Pigeon. Bean soup will also be provided free to shoppers.

■ Parents and children alike are invited to see the Pigeon Historical Museum decked out in its Holiday Best inside and out, and two old-fashioned decorated Christmas trees on both Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11 the possibility of a Christmas Quilt Show is being explored at the Winsor Gallery.

Free hayrides for all ages will be provided by Thumb National Bank & Trust Co.

■ Two local community organizations will also be getting into the act, with Bluewater Thumb Youth for Christ and the Pigeon Rotary Club sponsoring their Apple Pie Sale, with pie pick-up to take place on Saturday, Dec. 10 (location to be announced).

"It will be just one more reason to bring people into town and another way to get other local groups involved. And besides, what better time of year to have freshly made apple pies available for holiday feasting," says Sturm.

■ First United Methodist Women will sponsor a Christmas Cookie

PIGEON HISTORICAL SOCIETY President Marie Leipprandt, Chamber President Pam Sturm, Pigeon District Librarian Naomi Jantzi and Laker Elementary Guidance Counselor Dave Wojcicki are involved with the celebration of Christmas '94 in Pigeon.

Anyone interested in participating in a Cookie/Bake Sale may contact Amy Guster at 453-2515.

■ The emphasis on Sunday, Dec. 11 will be "The Reason for the Season," highlighting musical groups performing from 1 to 4 p.m., followed by town-wide Christmas Caroling and hayrides.

Country Bay Village will have six decorated Christmas trees on display for visitors to see, and the Museum will again be open for holiday visitors.

■ HOLIDAY HOURS: The following holiday hours for area retailers have been set by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, kicking off with Open House Weekend: Fridays until 8 p.m., Saturdays until 5 p.m., Sundays 12 noon to 4 p.m., Dec. 19-23 until 8 p.m. and Christmas Eve Dec. 24, retailer's discretion.

Details about the upcoming Christmas Promotion will be finalized at the Monday, Nov. 7 dessert meeting of the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce at 7 p.m., hosted by Country Bay Village.

"With so many changes being made this year to our Christmas promotion, it's very important that each business be represented at this meeting," says Sturm.

Working on this year's promotion are Dave Anderson, Rick Aymen, Carrie Damm, Peg Edler, Wanda Eichler, Amy Guster, Jim King, Fred Orr, Sally Rummel, Pam Sturm and Dave Wojcicki.

Fall revivals this week at Salem

Salem United Methodist Church, Pigeon will host Fall Revival Meetings Sunday through Wednesday, Nov. 6-9 at 7 p.m. each evening.

The Rev. Jack French, ordained minister of the Missionary Church, will be keynote speaker.

A nursery is available for young children and a special program is planned for primary age children, according to host Pastor Steve Miller.
