Sugar industry expects bright future

By DUANE GUENTHER

More than 300 beet growers and guests met at the Colony House in Cass City last Tuesday, for the first combined Sebawaing Beet Growers Association meeting of Small Growers' Breakfast and annual Sugar Beet Day.

Speakers during the early part of the day conducted sessions on herbicides, replanting, nitrogen rates, population tests, crop insurances and other items of interest to the growers.

After a mid-morning break, President Stan Gettel called the Growers meeting to order and introduced Jim LeCureux, Huron County Extension Agent, who presented "The Innovative Farmers and Farming Practices." Main theme of the slide show dealt with a high residue cropping system that has been experimentally introduced on two area farms.

Michigan Sugar Company President Dave Roche summarized the company's feelings on the upcoming 1995 Farm Bill — noting concerns because more than half the present Congress has never voted on a Farm Bill.

He reiterated the necessity to promote present U.S. Sugar Policy by stating facts such as:

- the present policy presents no cost to U.S. taxpayers;
- it generates $26 billion for the U.S. economy;
- it provides 420,000 U.S. jobs, and
- it contributes $30 million annually to reduce the federal deficit.

Roche stated there is a move nationally to reduce the 18 cent loan rate, but the sugar growers are definitely against that. He also felt a compromise with growers from the Red River Valley Cooperative would be valuable before the 1995 Farm Bill came before Congress.

He evaluated this year's local sugar processing campaign using the "good" and "bad" analogy, stating that — while the quality was excellent — yields were down.

The company was disappointed with the Sebawaing factory performance during this year's campaign, he said, noting production dropped by 500 tons per day.

His drawing on national TV

The daily 5:30-6 a.m. Ag Day program on WNEM TV-5 showed a Thumb Area drawing last Monday morning, Feb. 27, by Shane Buschlen of Caseville.

The show is hosted by Al Pell, and a minute or two before closing, he and the "weather girl" flash on the winning picture of the day. Monday morning it was a new lady meteorologist and she and Al went through their usual patter about the picture.

Then the meteorologist spoiled it all when she said, "Caseville, MI" — What's MI, oh yes, it's Mississippi, isn't it?" she said, unsurely.

Anyway, the picture was by Shane Buschlen of Caseville, MICHIGAN. He's a fourth grader at Bay Port Elementary.

Elkton Lioness Club presents play at Lakers this week

The Lions Club of Michigan, in cooperation with the Elkton Lioness Club, will host a premiere showing of a benefit performance of the play, "First Night," by Jack Neary this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 9-10-11 at 8 p.m. at Laker High School.

All proceeds will go to fund the many programs of Lions Club of Michigan, including Leader Dogs for the Blind, summer camp for the sight-impaired, a wellness program, and others.

The play is being produced by Limelight Productions, whose showing of "First Night" is part of a state-wide tour, according to Elkton Lioness representative Linda Zarnke.

PROMOTING HURON COUNTY: The tip of the Thumb was represented by a tourism booth at this year's Outdoorama '95 sport and travel show, which ran Feb. 24 through this past Sunday at the Novi Expo Center. Huron County's information booth was manned by representatives of nearly every local town daily, and offered thousands of tourism brochures. Here, Michigan United Conservation Club Northern Rep. # Yoders travel to Ecuador to help build church

By AMY HEIDEN

For Darrel and Lynette Yoder, traveling to Ecuador meant more than an opportunity to help build a church and do a little sight-seeing. It meant the chance to put their Christian faith to work in a very concrete way.

"We wanted the experience of being with other Christians to help others, because they're our brothers and sisters in Christ," Lynette says. "It's forgetting about yourself for a little bit."

The Bay Port couple traveled to the South American country and the city of Guayaquil as part of Rose-dale Mennonite Mission, the outreach arm of the Conservative Mennonite Conference.

The Yoders are members of Pigeon River Mennonite Church, which belongs to the Conservative Conference. The conference has 10 missionaries in Ecuador, and the church the Yoders were to help build would be used to reach out to the local people.

They spent the coldest weeks of the Michigan winter laying concrete block during the hottest weeks of the Ecuadorian summer, when the temperatures reached well into the 90's and stayed there through the nights.

"I worked like crazy the first night, but after that I took it easy," Darrel says with a chuckle.

Goal of the group the Yoders worked with was to enclose the two-story church with cement block, which meant lifting bags of cement to the second story with a rope and pulley.

"We mixed all the mortar by hand," Darrel says. "We did have an electric saw to cut block because it was of poor quality and was easy to cut."

The Yoders also got a feel for the poverty of some families in Ecuador, eating with a family that served only rice, beans and lentils. The family slept in a one-room house containing three double beds and housing 11 people.

But that poverty didn't extend to their spirits, the Yoders say.

"People were very generous with what they had," they say. "They wanted us to see Ecuadorian ways and wanted to share their culture with us."

Not all their time was spent working on the church, though. They had time to travel to the country of Columbia, just north of Ecuador.

The trip between the two countries was an adventure all its own, they say, with buses careening around corners and passing other busses on uphill two-lane roads. "I asked one guy what all the crosses were on the sides of the road and he said that's where people have died," Darrel says. "And when you see a whole bunch, that's where a whole group died in an accident."

Now that they're home, the Yoders are thinking they'd like to try another service project, this time with their entire family. "We'd like to do it again sometimes, because it's good for us to sacrifice and go and help someone else," Lynette says.

Caseville students compete in math

Several Caseville School students will be competing in a math competition sponsored by the Michigan Council of the Teachers of Mathematics.

Winners of the local competition will be competing in the regional competition on April 29 at Delta College, and the final round will be May 20 at Central Michigan University.

The competition is for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students.

Those competing from Caseville include sixth graders Nicole Gaide and Chad Forman; seventh graders Ryan Guster and Jessica Willen-berg; and eighth graders Danielle Lenar and Nathan Gaide.

company's priority list and promised more computerization, new training, dealing with morale issues and evaluating the management structure as means to rectify the existing trouble spots, he said.

Roche concluded by assuring listeners that Michigan Sugar will be a long-term survivor in the U.S. sugar industry and introduced Mark Flegenheimer, the company's new vice president of administration.

Michigan Sugar's Vice President of Agriculture Bob Braem highlighted the harvest by stating 1994 was the driest season in a long time.

He indicated the factory had seven days over 50,000 tons, with the largest being 58,800. He touched on contract changes and gave an example of the difference between the old 7% and the new sliding scale method of payment, which amounted to $.15 per ton or about $3 per acre.

After a ham and roast beef dinner, President Gettel re-convened the afternoon growers' session, including election of directors to fill the expired terms of Larry VanHoot, Stanley Gettel and Bill Herford.

President Gettel reported that, locally, there were problems with the plant, especially the flume system and also with the relationship between workers and management.

He also noted trips he had made to Washington D.C. to request market allotments and plug for an increase in sugar prices. He stated that in industry meetings with cane growers, they agreed on the low cost of the program, the 18 cent loan, but struggled with control of the market.

Cane growers wished for beet growers to stay with 53% of the market, while the beet growers were hoping for 55%. The beet people would also like to fill any cane shortfalls rather than let them go out to the import market.

He made a comparison of what the U.S. Sugar Policy has done for this country — saying at present, sugar price per pound is lower than bread, cereal and even dog food. The sugar price has risen less than 10% over the last several years while the price of other staple products has risen much more dramatically.

All present directors were re-elected.

Bob Young, executive vice president of the Great Lakes Sugar Beet Growers Association, spoke briefly on the necessity of working with cane growers to present a united front before the 1995 Farm Bill comes before Congress.

Beet growers would be satisfied if the bill stayed the same, he said, noting present retail sugar prices are 25% lower than any other developed country in the world.

Main opposition is coming from the Sweetener Users Association, made up of large companies like Coke, Mars, and other major users of sugar, Young said. That group wants to abolish the Sugar Program completely, to help the new Congress fulfill its pledge to reduce the size and role of government.

Both Young and Gettel emphasized it is essential that the sugar provision be kept in the 1995 Farm Bill.

Jim Sattelleburg reported on the year's activity of 4-H events and listed winners of the clubs growers awards which were presented at their annual banquet.

Barcia backs continued local harbor dredging

8th District U.S. Cong. James Barcia (D-Bay City) says he will help restore any proposed cuts for dredging Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron harbors, as announced this week in Washington, D.C. budget maneuvers.

President Clinton's advisors had announced plans to stop dredging in rivers and harbors including Sebewaing, Bay Port, Caseville and Port Austin, effective this year, in federal cost-cutting in the Army Corps of Engineers' budget as announced this past week.

"I disagree with the Corps," Cong. Barcia said Monday.

The Great Lakes are an international resource, utilized by commercial fishermen and boaters who travel throughout the lakes. These harbors generate a great deal of commercial activity, which in turn generates tax dollars.

"Cutting dredging for these facilities is tremendously short-sighted," Cong. Barcia said. "I believe this program is much more important than the Corps has said."

"I will do all I can to restore funding for this activity."

DE Foundation

aids 'Walks for Warmth'

The "Walk for Warmth" campaigns of four social service agencies will benefit from $3,500 in grants from the Detroit Edison Foundation.

Contributions were given to the Human Development Commission, which helps people in Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, and three other agencies.

The agencies will use the money to help many needy clients pay their winter heating bills. This year, staff, volunteers and friends of the agencies walked for warmth on Feb. 25.

The "Walk for Warmth" campaign has become a significant fund-raiser, with the four agencies last year raising $225,000.

LORI MILLER, TV-5 meteorologist, met last Tuesday with students of Immanuel Lutheran School, Sebewaing for an afternoon school assembly on — naturally — weather and weather forecasting.

Miller's 45-minute presentation included an introduction to the causes and forecasting of weather, a video on the violent nature of tornadoes and hurricanes, plus questions from the students.

Unfortunately for the students (and their hopes for a snow day in the near future), Miller says that due to the El Nino Effect, there was not much of a chance for a strong snowstorm for the rest of this winter season.

In appreciation for her visit, the school presented Miller with a personalized Immanuel Indians school T-shirt. Her parting message to the students was "Keep Your Eye To The Sky!"

As we see it

Just DO it, leaders...

Our nation's Senate worked and slaved and huffed and puffed last week, trying in vain to propose a Constitutional Amendment which would require our national government to live under a balanced budget.

While the thought of spending no more than one takes in is the only choice for all American individuals, our leaders have consistently spent more than we generate in taxes... and our future generations will pay the difference.

Now, after a huge Republican effort to seek the Amendment approval in 35 states, the balancing act concept is dead, for now — and the "winning" Democrats are chuckling with their triumph.

Except, there's more to this concept than even a Constitutional Amendment can mandate. Win or lose, our lawmakers can start NOW by adopting a balanced budget of their own... cutting programs equally across the board. An Amendment would require this — yet the budget-makers can do the same thing, right here, right now, for the right reasons.

Here's one real opportunity for both parties to bring about the type of spending responsibility we've lacked for decades... but, will they actually do it?

TCC turns down realignment plan

By AMY HEIDEN

A majority of school athletic directors in the Thumb CConference voted to realign the conference — but that majority wasn't enough to successfully pass the issue. The vote was 8-5 at a meeting last week on realignment, but 10 "yes" votes were needed for approval.

Officials from Harbor Beach, Mayville, Reese, Sandusky and Ubly voted against the proposal, while Cass City, Lakeland, Bad Axe, Bay City, All Saints, Cros-Lex, Deckerville, Marlette and USA voted yes.

The realignment would have changed the members of the Thumb CConference and American Divisions.

Cass City, Lakeland, Reese, Mayville, USA, Bay City, All Saints, and Bad Axe would have made up the National Division, and Cros-Lex, Deckerville, Sandusky, Ubly, Harbor Beach, and Marlette would have made the American Division.

Many school officials have expressed concern about long travel times to some opponents, with teams not arriving home until midnight. Realignment the conference would cut down on travel times, some officials say.

But those voting no expressed concern about changing long-time rivalries as well as about scheduling conflicts. Laker Athletic Director Dick Paul says no matter what the outcome of the vote, being in the TCC is better than the old Blue Bay Conference.

"We're just happy to be in the TCC, and maybe down the road it will come up again," Paul said.

"It's much better than what we had in the Blue Bay Conference with playing each other over and over again."

"This is rural kids playing rural kids and that's the way it should be."

Lakers needs modern schools, not tradition

By NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST, Elkton

In last week's Newsweekly editorial, you mention the "catastrophic" loss of pride and value if our villages' elementary schools are closed. And you say a bus trip isn't as small-town, quaint and traditional as walking to classes. Have you seen how many kids are dropped off to school in the mornings by their parents or babysitters, even though they live only a short distance away? Most kids who attend our three elementary schools ride the bus from the outlying areas anyway, so most don't get that "quaint, traditional" joy of walking to school.

There's a place for "quaint and traditional," but when you're talking about schools and education that will prepare my child for the 21st century, leave the notions of quaint and traditional out of it.

Traditional teaching methods that have been proven to work — yes, include that. But with those proven teaching methods, give my son an up-to-date environment in which to learn, give him up-to-date computers and other learning tools.

Face it, our elementary schools are older than the parents of the kids attending them. Maybe the buildings can be renovated, but they will never, ever be modern and efficient.

It makes sense to have my elementary child taught science by a teacher strong in that subject, or taught language by a teacher who's an expert at getting across the right ideas.

Right now, he may not be getting that. He's taught by a teacher that must be a jack-of-all-trades, strong in some subjects, not so strong in others.

I don't understand the concept of "loss of pride and value." As Laker fans, we have a lot of pride in our school and its sports and academic teams, yet that school isn't located in any one village. A community's pride doesn't rest solely on one school building.

Let's not let notions of quaint and traditional get in the way of the education our kids need to get good jobs when they become adults.

A. from Pigeon: I heard that tickets to the basketball districts in Harbor Beach can only be purchased in advance, that none will be available at the door. That's because the Harbor Beach gym is so small. It's time the powers that be think about having districts at schools that can handle the crowds and parking, like USA or Lakeland. These small gyms are ridiculous, and you have to look all over town for a parking place. Harbor Beach and Ubly are the two worst places to hold a tournament.

(Makes sense to me, A. Larger gyms are better for the fans and for the players, too.)

E. of Sebawaing: Too much O.J.? I think most people would agree with that. It should be a good reminder to all of us to pray to God that justice prevails. If O.J. isn't guilty, they should be looking for who is. If this doesn't happen, human life will again have less value, just as with the abortions.

John of Elkton: Your editorial a few weeks ago on the atomic bomb was just great. Only problem is, we should have had the bomb when the war started and used it shortly after Pearl Harbor.

Also, I think there should not be delayed starting times for schools, one or two hours. The kids are the losers. They lose one or two classes, just so the teachers don't have to work an extra day or two or three in the spring, to take away from their 2 1/2- or three-month vacation.

(Gosh, John, we're the ones who made up the "summer off" schedule for our schools, back when the kids worked on their family farms. Personally, I like delay days, in case the weather DOES clear between 7 and 9 a.m. or so...)

Dissatisfied with PBS: If PBS wonders why it doesn't receive better support, here is a hint. Look at next Saturday afternoon's program listing: All mixed up again, switched times, dropped programs like New Yankee Workshop and American Woodshop replaced by those amateurish freebies. When they solicit donations, why not give snappy 3-5 minute talks, by various TRAINED speakers instead of the wearying 15-minute repeats that must bore even the performers to death. Come on, if you want better donations, then serve better programs and plan your solicitations MUCH better...

J. from Elkton: To the person on Maude Street in Elkton that lets his little dog roam around to do its business in my yard, I'd appreciate you keeping her in your own yard. I don't like to clean up after your dog.

B. from Elkton: What kind of coach lets his team run up a 115-39 score? North Branch Wesleyan scored that many points against Owen-Gage and I think that's disgraceful. The Bulldogs try their best, but for the NBW coach to let his players run like that is terrible. It's one thing to win a game, but it's another to try to humiliate your opponent. There's no sportsmanship in that at all. And this is supposedly a Christian school? I think not. Keep your heads up, Bulldogs. You're much classier than they are.

Jerry of Pigeon: Why do people pull out in front of you, when you're driving? They wait a few seconds, then pull out when you get closer to them. You have to slow down so you don't hit them. If they would wait five more seconds, they could pull out behind you and drive any slow speed they want.

Andy from Caseville: People are saying Sparky Anderson should do what his boss tells him, but I agree with him. He is in the middle of a strike situation and will have to manage the real players after the strike ends. This is for the good of the team.

L. of Caseville: This is a comment on Huron Memorial Hospital: If they can spend so much on new acquisitions and new wings, they should treat their assets, the employees, just as well. The workers just want to keep what they've got and not lose anything.

(Labor disputes are difficult for all concerned, L., and here is your comment. Well-run businesses need good workers and physical plants, don't they?)

We can sing confidently, "Death, where is thy sting? Grave, where is thy victory?" Through faith in our Savior, the victory is ours, through our Lord Jesus Christ!

PRAYER: Thank you, Heavenly Father, for Your Gift, Your Son, our Savior! Amen.

Do you ever wonder if your freshly-licked and newly-stuck-on stamp really stayed on the letter that you just dropped into an outside mail box on a sub-zero day? Admittedly, it's not the biggest problem that faces us in life, but it's one of those things that we can wonder about.

That's why those self-adhesive Postal Service stamps are a GREAT improvement over the lick-ons, and they don't cost one cent more, either. Even stamp-buying is on a "good news, bad news" basis. The good news is that no matter whether you buy singly, in booklets, on sheets, stick-up or lick-up, the price is always the same—32¢ each. The bad news is that whether you buy one, or 1,000 or more, there is no quantity discount—32¢ each...

This baseball strike is laughable! Yes, laughable! Several players will be losing around $40,000 PER GAME if the strike continues (Cecil Fielder will lose only $39,344 PER GAME). The signed players on 40-man teams will lose a total of more than $3 Million EACH DAY the strike goes into the regular season. If they want to strike with salaries like that, LET 'EM !!!

Horsin' Around

by Kate Pickering

REALLY horsin' around!

I try diligently, every March, to make it to the Michigan Horse Council's annual Trade Show, Stallion Exhibition and Expo in Lansing.

Why? Too many reasons to list, but I'll try! It's informative, educational, fascinating, exciting, intriguing and just plain fun! It's a horse person's holiday, which becomes evident when you see the throngs of (usually) mild-mannered horse-persons running around wildly like kids on Christmas morning.

And why shouldn't they be excited? There are helpful representatives from breeding farms, training centers, feed dealers, fencing manufacturers, trailer companies, and sporting organizations just waiting to offer you good advice, free samples, tons of literature and great bargains.

There are seminars, luncheons, tack booths, craftsmen, contests, raffles, fashion shows and, best of all, beautiful, impressive, real-live stallions all stabled indoors.

At Expos of years past, I have lunched with such prestigious members of horse society as Secretariat's owner Helen "Penny" Chenev. I have listened, in rapt awe, to top trainers such as Richard Shraake. I have enjoyed speakers from all over the country, gotten involved in important legislative changes, learned a thing or two about "horsey" politics, and even signed a few petitions.

But in addition to rubbing elbows with top equine celebrities from all over Michigan and the U.S., I can always count on meeting plenty of friendly new "regular folks," and lots of old Huron County friends, too!

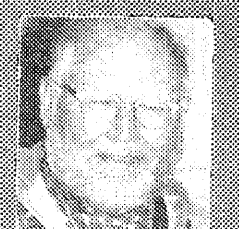

I have attended Expo so regularly, in fact, that I got pretty comfortable finding my way around the huge old Lansing Civic Center. But this year, it's going to be conducted at a whole new locale — the "Lansing Center." That should provide some new and interesting challenges for us.

So if you love horses, ever had a horse, would like to own a horse or just plain love horses, you should make plans to attend this year's Annual Expo in Lansing this weekend, March 10-12.

See you there!

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR,

The other day somebody asked me how far back I could remember.

Well, it would take some thinking to remember something that happened 60 or 70 years ago, but every night before I go to sleep, I can think about something that happened a long time ago.

Some things aren't so pleasant, but then, there are a lot of things that are pleasant.

I remember when the streets of Pigeon were only gravel and a lot of the back streets and alleys were just mud. There were big ditches on each side of the road and some were full of water in the spring.

There was a big ditch along Berne Street. It was full of cattails and lots of poliwags and frogs and we kids used to wade in the ditch.

There were no sewer pipes in the street and all the water ran into the ditch. There weren't sidewalks all over like there are now and on Saturdays, the hitchhiking posts were all full of horses and buggies or wagons.

On Saturday night, the people were all dressed up as though they were at the fair. If you wanted to see somebody, you just stood still and soon they'd come walking by.

People stayed in town 'til 12 midnight and the lights were shut off and the stores were closed up.

Once I had my Dad's car uptown and I came back for it and it was piled full of groceries, so I just waited a little and another car drove up and the man got out and took all the stuff out. He said he thought it was his car. Well, he thanked me for not taking his stuff!

All the stores were busy and they put on extra clerks to take care of the people. There were three barber shops in town and you had to draw numbers for a haircut or a shave back in those days.

There weren't any electric razors and the farmers would get a shave and it would last one week 'til the next Saturday!

There was a dance hall uptown and of course, a lot of young people were dancing and the theatre was open for two shows. It only cost 15 and 25 cents to get in.

A Wahre G'schichte

bei Hanswurst

Es ist long ago ge-happened

Wir complainen heutzutage das alles zu die Dogs geht, und wir sind richtig about it.

Wir haben schon immer mit Crooks dealeen muessen aber noch nie so bad wie jetzt.

Small-time Crooks waren schon immer mit uns, for example. Wir waren junge Kerle im Familie Store da kamen eins 4 oder 5 Guys herein, Guys die mit eine Carnival arbeiteten. Sie sind ueberall herum ge-walked, haben dieses begut und ge-handled.

Zwei von die Guys sind zum Meat Counter ge-sauntered, wo 3 Stuecke Thuringer Sommerwurst, jeder so 10 oder 12 Inches lang, auf den Butcher Block lagen.

Thuringer war dick und gross, schoen moist, und die best-schmeckende und most-expensive in Store.

Der eine Roustabout hat etliche auf-ge-pickd und ge-smelled, und dann wieder hingelegt.

Auf einmal sahe Ich das nur 2 Stuecke noch dort liegen. Ein Stueck war gone!

Grad dann hab Ich ge-noticed das der Eine Guy mit dem Side Button an seine Bib Overalls rum-ge-fooled hat.

Dann hab Ich ge-realized das er das eine Stueck Thuringer in sein Pant Leg gestueckt hat, und hat die Wurst String um den Side-Button ge-winded, so das er beide Haende free hatte.

Ich hab schnell zum Onkel Art ge-whispered, und er hat den Guy approached, dieweil er noch beim Butcher Block stand. "Kann Ich Ihnen helfen?" fragte Onkel Art, als er ein langes Butcher Messer aufpickte.

"No," hat der Roustabout ge-answered, "Ich brauch gar nichts."

Onkel Art hat mit seine empty Hand den Guy an die Overalls ge-patted und in die andere das Messer gehalten. "Was about diese Sommerwurst? Surely du willst diese kaufen."

Der Guy hat sein Side Button unbuttoned, und hat die grosse Sommerwurst auf den Butcher Block ge-tossed und sagte, "Ich will dieses Ding doch nicht essen."

Art hat ein besserer Grip ans Messer genommen, und sagte, "Ich will es auch nicht essen, und meine Customers auch nicht — especially wo du es in deine dirty Overalls gehabt hast."

Bei dann hat jeder in Store die Conversation gehoert, und alle standen dort und haben gegafft.

Art hat zu ein Clerk ge-called, "Hier, wrap diese Wurst auf, und wiege es auf die Scale. Dieser Kerl hat grad die ganze Wurst ge-purchased." Er hielt immer noch das grosse Messer.

Ich kann nicht rememern wieviel die Wurst wiegte — about 3 zu 4 Pounds — oder wieviel Sie kostete — possibly $1.50 oder so.

Der Kerl hat sein Purse aus seine Pocket ge-hauled, hat das Geld aus-ge-counted, hat seine Wurst auf-ge-picked, und mit viel swearing und grumbling ist er hinaus ge-walked. Und das war Sebawaing's Crime Wave fuer den Tag.

Die Moral in die Story ist: Es waren Happy Days da $1.50 die Crime Wave fuer ein Tag ge-solved hat.

We country kids always got our ice cream cones for five cents. A double dip was 10 cents. People sat in the ice cream parlors and visited.

One Saturday night, a couple of young fellows tried to play a trick on me. They had their girlfriend coax me to take them in to get a sundae. Of course, they went in too and ordered malts and the girls ordered big dishes of ice cream and I figured they were pulling something on me. They thought they'd get me to pay it.

Well, I didn't get much spending money, so while they were eating their ice cream and drinking their malts, I slipped up to the counter and paid for my malt and slipped out the door.

The waitress asked them to pay for the treats and the guys didn't have enough money to pay for them. They had to borrow some money from the girls.

Well, it was a little trick, but I wasn't dumb enough to pay for it and those guys were mad at me for quite a long time!

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE KEIM

Pigeon to celebrate National Quilt Day with sale event

By SALLY RUMMEL

A community has to show case what it does best, especially in today's competitive retail and business market.

That's exactly what the town of Pigeon is going to do on the weekend of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 16-17-18.

In addition to offering traditional retail "March Madness" sales, the community of Pigeon is going one step further to encourage shoppers and visitors into their doors: visitors to each participating business will have the chance to view a handmade quilt selected for or by that business for display.

"With Pigeon's strong heritage of quilting and a re-interest among young people in the quilting arts, we felt it was a natural" for Pigeon to tie into the observance of National Quilting Day, which happens to fall on Saturday, March 18," according to Pigeon Chamber of Commerce President Ed Eichler.

"And since Pigeon has traditionally held March Madness sales that weekend anyway, we felt it was a perfect tie-in and another draw to bring visitors in to Pigeon."

Business people in the community will be encouraged to either find a quilt from their own family that can be used for display, or to ask for help from the Pigeon Chamber in locating a themed quilt that goes along with a particular business.

For example, a sporting goods store might want to display a "fish and tackle" quilt and a flower shop might want to display a "tulip quilt." Historical quilts will also be popular.

The display of quilts in Pigeon's "Mad About Quilts" event and March Madness Sales will all take place for three days, March 16, 17 and 18 and will hopefully become an annual event.

"There are lots of other types of activities that can go along with an event like this," explains Eichler. "Maybe in the future Pigeon can hold a quilt auction, a full-size quilt raffle, quilting blocks design contest by young people, etc."

"The important thing is, that Pigeon concentrate on its strengths - like heritage and art - and work as a unified community to promote them."

"There has been lots of enthusiasm by business people so far," says Dave Geiger, who wears two hats in Pigeon: one as the Mayor of Pigeon and the other as "Pizza Dave" at his restaurant, Alyce's Palace.

Geiger has been very supportive of other Pigeon promotions, according to Eichler, even applauding the bringing in of farm animals on the streets to promote Pigeon's rural and agricultural bounty.

The Pigeon Chamber of Commerce is hoping that "Mad About Quilts" will give shoppers another reason to visit Pigeon and invite anyone with questions or suggestions to contact Chamber President Ed Eichler at 517-453-4321.

Huron Audubon Club plans April 29 Hawk Fest (and potluck)

By MONICA ESSENMACHER
Club President and Hawk Watch Leader

its fourth annual Hawk Watch at Port Crescent State Park. Each March through May, the Huron County shoreline is part of a migration route used by a variety of raptors including the Michigan

"threatened" species, the Osprey, plus the "endangered" Peregrine Falcon. In conducting a hawk watch, observers count and identify by species the hawks flying past the watch site.

Hourly weather data is also recorded.

This is then submitted for publication in the Hawk Migration Association of North America's journal, Migration Studies, and becomes available for use by researchers worldwide.

We are part of a nationwide network of hawk watch sites, and through this project, Huron Audubon contributes to data which is used to determine population trends and conservation needs.

Since our hawk watch is a completely volunteer effort, we are unable to provide full-time coverage throughout the season. Our hawk numbers appear to be in line with those at the nationally-known Whitefish Point watch site near Paradise in the U.P.

It is our goal to increase coverage at the Port Crescent site to collect more solid and useable data. This year, Huron Audubon Club invites all interested persons to join in the annual HAC Hawk Fest on Saturday, April 29.

Bird bander and noted birder Thomas Heatley will allow small groups of attendees to observe his trapping and banding operation.

Next, a slide presentation on raptors (hawks) will be hosted by David Stimac.

Persons wishing more information may call Club Vice President Roy Elie at Sleeper State Park, 517-856-4411.

Lady Lakers win Districts

The only way the Lady Lakers could have lost in district competition Saturday was to not show up at the gym in Cass City.

Show up they did, to win back the district title they lost last year. Playing with a ton of confidence and style, the Lakers got the easiest kind of win over Uby in the finals 15-1, 15-2. Earlier they defeated conference foe Cass City 15-0, 15-2.

The games were the type that would make it easy for the Lakers just to set the cruise control and lose their focus, but Coach Sue Frederiksen was determined not to let that happen.

"I was pleased we stayed focused, and that was the big key for us," she said.

"We talked about it in the locker room, about the goals they had set throughout the season, which ones they'd accomplished, which ones they hadn't. And one of their goals was to take everything one step at a time once they got to district level, to go out and play every game hard."

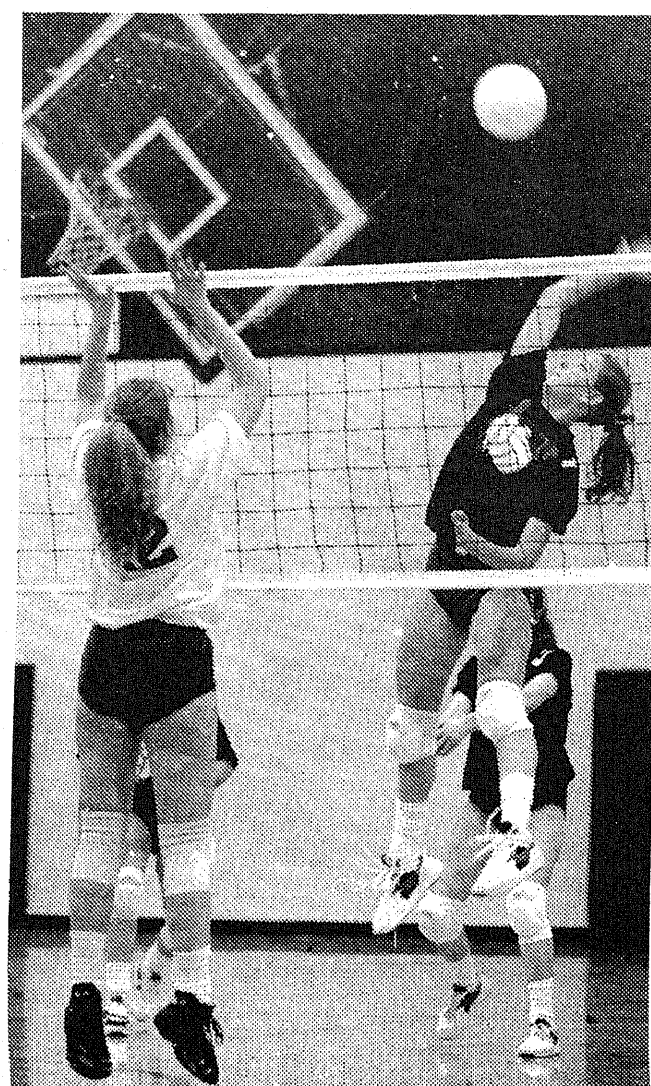

In the two games against Uby, the Lakers took advantage of a string of Uby errors, including four straight missed serves. In the final game, Casey McLellan served six straight points, then Julie Esch and Nicole Kolar stepped up for the final points.

Several players had extremely strong games, Frederiksen said. Top hitter Betsy Drury was hampered a bit by a nagging infection, and that meant other players stepped up their play.

"Casey played really well," Frederiksen said. "Angie Weidman has come on really strong, and Julie Esch, that back row attack by Julie is really fun to watch."

"And I noticed (setter) Michelle Bolda started mixing it up a little bit so Betsy wasn't getting the ball all the time, which is smart to do. I didn't want Betsy jumping on every single play."

For the day, the Lakers were

led by Bolda with eight assists, three aces and a kill. Kolar had a kill, nine attack receptions and two aces. Weidman had nine kills and four blocks, while Drury had 12 kills, seven assists, an ace and two blocks. Kristen Damm had a kill and two assists.

McLellan had three kills, two aces and three blocks. Sarah Krebs had four kills and five blocks. Esch had six kills, two aces and three blocks. Jody Herbert had three service receptions and two aces.

The district championship gave the Lakers a season record of 44-12-5.

Now they move on to regional play on Saturday at Michigan Lutheran Seminary. They'll face conference foe Bay City All Saints in the semi-finals, and if successful, go on to meet the winner of the Brown City-Freeland match.

Frederiksen sees little trouble on the horizon, as the Lakers have defeated All Saints twice this year.

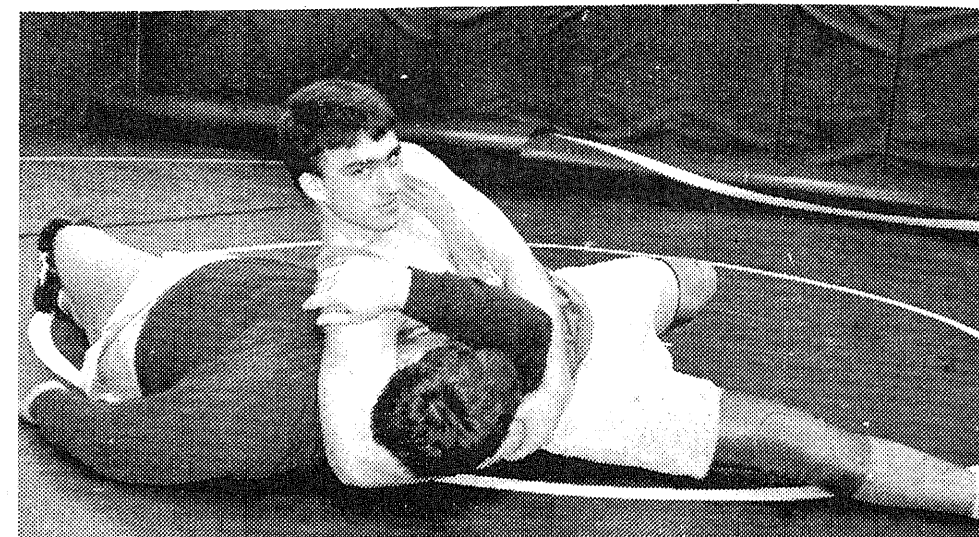

"The only thing that poses a problem for us is if we don't play well on our side of the net," she said.

"If we don't pass serve well, we're in trouble. If we pass serve well, they're in trouble. We've got some dynamite hitters on this team. If we stay focused, if we play well, nobody can touch us. I don't think we have a weak spot on the court."

They're looking for O-G's John Shope...

John Shope, a graduate of Owen-Gage High School, was a member of the 1984 All Star Football game, and officials from the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association are looking for him. Shope, along with other members of the 1984 team, are invited to the Awards Banquet at Lansing Center in

Gola head to state finals

LAKER WRESTLER Brian Gola, shown practicing with teammate Pete McArdle, is on his way to the state finals this weekend in the 185-lb. class.

By AMY HEIDEN

It's been quite a few years since a Laker wrestler has qualified for the state finals — but this year Brian Gola will be making the trip to Battle Creek this weekend to try to wrestle his way to the top of the heap.

Gola, a junior at Laker High School, qualified for the state meet in the 185-lb. class by finishing in the top four in the regional meet.

At the state level, the competition gets tougher, as the top 16 wrestlers in the state will be there to try to earn the championship title.

"My goal is to at least medal in state," Gola says. "Mentally I have to get prepared and work my butt off this week and wrestle hard."

Gola has been wrestling for only two years, but has already been named to the All-Conference second team and this year has a 20-13 record.

He also plays varsity football, this year in the halfback and outside linebacker positions, and competes in track in the 400m run and the mile relay. Last season, he scored a TD and 11 extra points for the Lakers.

Pressed to name his favorite sport, Gola finally admits that wrestling holds a special appeal.

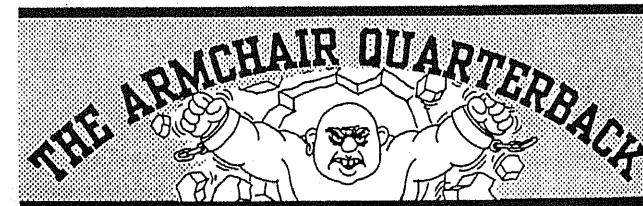

"You're competing with someone of equal strength," he says. "It's an individual competition to see who's better and you don't have to rely on anyone else."

Laker Wrestling Coach Kevin Klaeren thinks Gola has an excellent chance to win or at least place near the top in his class at the state level.

"He's increased in confidence this season, and has really improved," Klaeren says. "This is an incredible feat for a second-year wrestler. I think he's got a good shot because at that level, you're down to the top 16 in the state."

■ MARCH MADNESS IS gearing up. In both high school and college hoops, the excitement is building. Truly one of the great sporting events of the year is upon us.

What Thumb Area team could emerge as a 1995 tournament Cinderella team? Who could be a sleeper in the area districts? The Armchair Quarterback has been predicting a Caseville Eagle District crown for sometime now. I still stand by that. Does anyone know when Caseville last won a district crown? Other possible sleepers could be USA, Bad Axe, North Huron, Owen-Gage. You never know about March Madness. Great teams have lost in the districts every year. Can Reese make a run in the tournament or will they fall victim to a sleeper? Stay tuned for lots of fun!

■ PIGEON RESIDENT CARL DAST'S recent comments in the paper about not enough support for girls athletics by fans is very true. Girls athletics have made giant strides and should be supported by fans. If you haven't seen a girls basketball or volleyball game lately, you are truly missing some great athletes.

Good luck to the Lady Lakers, Owen-Gage Bulldogs and North Huron Warriors in Volleyball Regionals!

■ THE BATTLE FOR STATE SUPREMACY in basketball is Michigan State this year. It's been a long time wait for Spartan fans. Well deserved for Jud's last year. For him to beat Michigan twice this year is "icing on the retirement cake."

■ WATCHING GOLF ON TV is bad for an avid golfer. The green grass and lovely golf courses send shivers down a golfer's spine. I know of a guy who took a chunk out of his living room carpet with his 9 iron!! Watch for the signs of this temporary winter bug. The only cure is going somewhere warm to play golf...

■ PREDICTION: Someone (U.S. Government) will have to eventually re-pay O.J. Simpson for time served in jail. He will be released because of a hung jury and demand to be paid for being wrongfully held in jail. Justice will not be served in this case. He will walk free because he could afford the "Dream Team."

■ CONGRATULATIONS TO THUMB Area conference champions: Thumb C National - Marlette, Thumb C American - Reese and North Central D - Kingston. The Armchair Quarterback's prediction for Thumb Area districts are money in the bank (Bank of England!!!)

In the Class C at Harbor Beach, the Lakers of EPBP will emerge from a long winter's nap and win a tough opening game against USA and go on to win the district crown. In Class C at Deckerville, Reese will fight off a scrappy Marlette team in a battle of Thumb C divisional champions and take the district title back to Reese.

Class B at North Branch has the Bad Axe Hatchets switching from C to B. That will not be in their favor. Caro will take the crown. And, in Class D at Akron-Fairgrove, I said it earlier, Caseville will get past host A-F in the opener and Cinderella itself to the District Ball!! Good luck, area teams.

■ QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Will Chris Webber stay with the Washington Bullets or will he become a Detroit Piston? Call Phone Forum at 883-3100 or 453-3100 after 5 p.m., please, with your comments. Some may appear here!

Good Luck,

Lady Lakers!

USA ends play with win

By DUANE GUENTHER

The USA Patriots had little trouble notching their 12th basketball win last Friday, with an easy victory over the Redskins of Sandusky.

The long road trip to Sandusky did not seem to tire the Patriots, as they jumped out to a 21-15 first quarter lead and were never seriously threatened after.

They built on their lead with a 14-9 edge during the second stanza and entered the lockerroom at halftime leading 35-24.

A 18-12 third quarter put the Pats up 53-36 and they increased the spread to 23 points when Coach Manninen went to the bench. Even though the Redskins were able to outscore USA 29-22 in the fourth quarter, the Patriots had enough of a cushion to ensure the win.

USA employed a pressing man-to-man defense during most of the game which tended to keep Sandusky on edge and forcing them into many turnovers. On the offensive end, the Patriots were very successful in taking the ball to the bucket and got the Redskins early and often.

The Patriots converted 36-43 free throws, which was really the difference in the game. For the second straight game, Matt Kuhl and Jason Cleveland were on fire with their charity tosses.

On Tuesday, against Mayville, the duo hit 20 for 20, and Friday night at Sandusky, they were 20 for 22.

Jesse Karls was high point man for USA with 16 points, including 4-4 from the free throw line. He was followed by Jason Cleveland with 15 points, and he was 13-14 from the line. Matt Kuhl rounded out those in double figures with 11 points, and he hit 7-8 from the charity stripe.

In all, 11 Patriot players figured in the scoring.

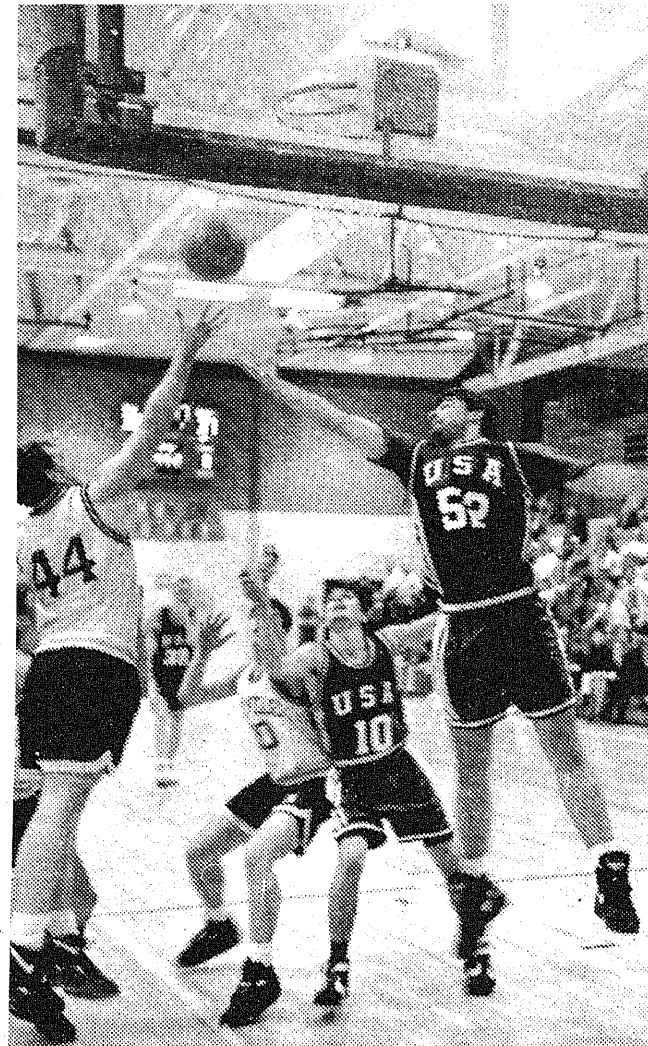

USA will go head-to-head with the Lakers from Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the District Tournament in Harbor Beach. The winner will advance to the finals on Friday.

The Pats looked like they were going to have an easy time at last Tuesday's basketball game, when they jumped out to an early lead and caused Mayville to go into a cautious, controlled offense—but the Wildcats had ideas of their own.

Spurred by a couple of quick 3-pointers by Jesse Karls, USA spurted to a 16-12 first quarter lead and would have really controlled the tempo of the game had it not been for a cautious and patient Wildcat team.

Midway in the 2nd quarter, the Cats had pulled even at 18-18, but a breakaway by Kuhl, who was fouled, resulting in a 3-point play, and a couple of quick buckets by Burich and Hofmeister pulled the Pats ahead 25-18 and caused the Wildcats to call a time out to think things over.

If Mayville's slow game tempo had lulled the fans to sleep during the first 3 quarters, they began to wake as the Wildcats pulled closer and closer with each bucket.

Finally, with 1:50 remaining on the clock, Matt Kuhl knocked down a couple of free throws to give the Pats the lead and their first points of the 4th quarter.

USA began to implement the stall and the Wildcats responded by wasting several fouls in their attempts to regain possession of the ball.

Just when it looked like it was over, Mayville hit a 3-pointer to tie the score with .02 seconds on the clock. USA was unable to get off a shot and the game ended in a tie setting up the first of two overtimes.

Both teams speeded up the tempo in the first overtime and scored 12 points to have the score knotted at 57-57 when the buzzer ended the period. A couple of dramatic fouls near the end caused even the stout hearts to quiver.

Laker title hopes fall short

By AMY HEIDEN

A lot of things needed to happen for the Lakers to get at least a share of the Thumb C Conference National Division title.

Marlette, who beat Cass City earlier in the week, needed to lose. They didn't. The Lakers needed to beat Bad Axe for the second time this season. They didn't.

So with the 51-48 loss to the Hatchets, the best the Lakers could get was a four-way tie for second place, with an overall 12-8 record, 5-5 in the league.

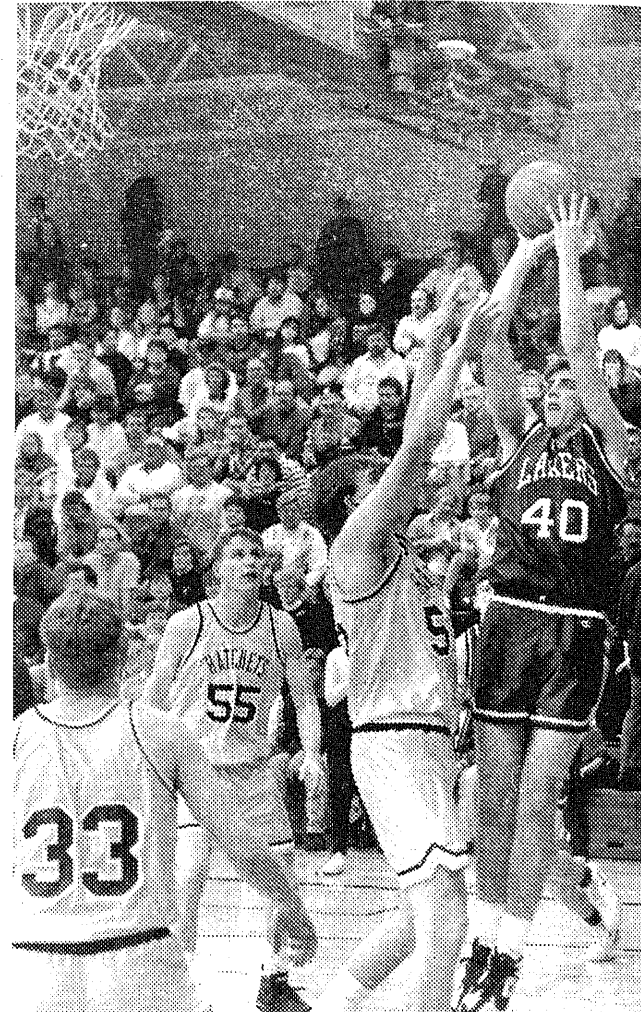

A brand new season starts this week, however, with district play at Harbor Beach. And this is that rare year when any of the teams can win it—and never mind the wins and losses during the season.

Ubly played Harbor Beach last night, and the winner of that game plays Cass City on Wednesday. The Lakers take on USA tonight (Tuesday), and the two winners will meet again on Friday for the championship. The Lakers will be gunning for their fifth straight district championship.

WHAT THE Lakers needed on Friday against the Hatchets was a big finish, one they didn't get, scoring only six points in the fourth after both teams were within a point or two of each other the entire game.

"It was nip and tuck the whole time," Laker Coach Bill McLellan said. "We missed a heck of a lot of little pups down there. We just didn't make shots when we had to." The biggest lead anyone had during the game came in the first quarter, when Hatchet Jeremy London sank a three-pointer to make it 12-8.

After that, the game could have gone either way, with only a couple of points separating the two teams. And by the end of the first half, Heath Krohn tied the score at 22-22 with a free throw. The Lakers ended the third period with a 42-39 lead, but the Hatchets began to chip into that lead in the final period. The Lakers were unable to score in the first 3:30 of the fourth until a jumper by Eric Gardy broke the ice to give the Lakers a 44-43 edge.

Bad Axe's Joe DeLong put the Hatchets up for good with a pair of free throws with just over a minute left, with a 49-48 lead.

Gardy blocked a Bad Axe shot in the waning moments of the game, then Maust drove downcourt with the ball. But DeLong stripped the ball and the Hatchets regained possession.

The Lakers were forced to foul three times in the last seconds to put Bad Axe in the bonus, and they finally sent Anthony Shemka to the line. He calmly sank both tries for the three-point lead.

A final Laker try at the basket bounced off the rim at the buzzer.

Maust led the Lakers with 18 points, while Krohn had 12, and Jeremy Brakenberry, Gardy and Pete Beachy each had four.

JUNIOR VARSITY: The JV team defeated Bad Axe 49-44 in their final game of the season. Tim Russell had 14 points, while Rick Rokicki and Clint Braun had eight each. Their final record is 5-15.

Discover Nutrition

Discover Nutrition in the Supermarket! There are no "good" or "bad" foods, only good and bad diets. Favorite foods can fit into a healthy balanced diet - just check out our aisles in every department.

Produce - 5 servings of fruits and vegetables are recommended per day. They are packed with nutrition and supply vitamins A and C, folate, potassium, iron and magnesium. Almost all choices are fat-free or low-fat.

Meat/Seafood - Meat supplies nutrients such as protein, iron and zinc. Most seafood and poultry choices (without skin) are low in fat. When looking for lean beef or pork choices look for the words "loin" or "round" - round tip roast, tender loin steak, loin center chop, sirloin roast.

Dairy - Dairy products are good sources of calcium and we need 2-3 servings per day. Low-fat choices: skim or 1/2% milk, reduced fat cheese and cream cheese, fat-free or low-fat yogurts.

Cereal, Pasta, Rice & Bread - 6-11 servings of grain products are recommended daily. Grains are usually low in fat and provide complex carbohydrates, B vitamins and iron. Whole grain cereals are an excellent way to start the day and also provide fiber. Pasta, rice and bread help to balance out your meal plan but watch those high-fat sauces and spreads! Snacks - Many crunchy snack options fit within a low-fat diet. Look for reduced fat versions of your favorite chips. Pretzels, rice cakes, and low-fat microwave popcorn are good choices.

ST. PETER LADIES AID, Bach

Members of St. Peter Lutheran Ladies Aid, Bach, met March 2 at the church for their regular monthly meeting. Rose Faber and Bernadine Kunder served as hostesses and also presented a devotional based on Luke 22:1-6 developing the theme that man's best plans go to naught if they contrast with God's plans.

The business meeting was conducted by President Inez Nitz. A report was given on the first of the Lenten suppers that had been served by the Ladies Aid.

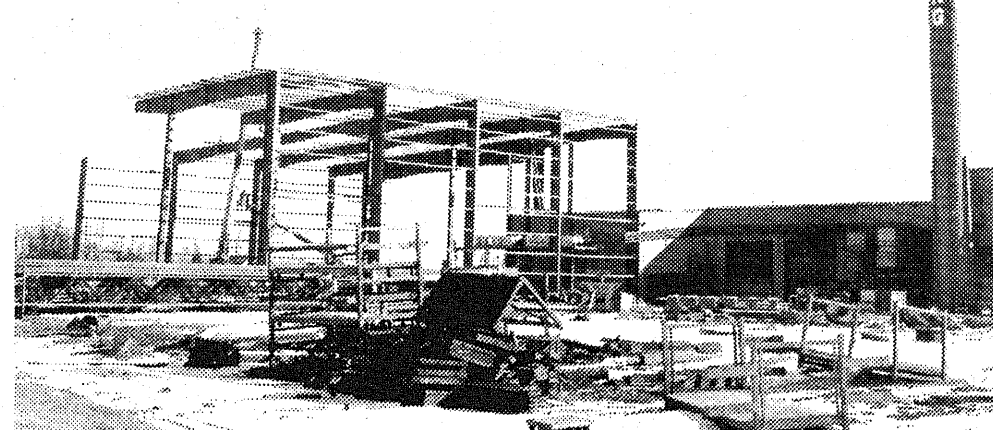

Among several matters of business was setting March 20 as the date of the annual church cleaning by the members.

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens dinner will be served on April 20 at the church.

The social hour had a St. Patrick's Day theme and included a game and refreshments. Inez Nitz won the house prize for being "the most Irish."

New owners at Caseville shop

By AMY HEIDEN

Even though Harbor View Flowers and Gifts in Caseville has changed owners, the commitment to providing the best in floral arrangements and gifts hasn't changed, according to new owners Deb Rheinheimer and Karry Baker.

The two women purchased the business from previous owner Diane Patterson in February.

Both had talked about some day owning a business in partnership, with Baker handling a floral shop and Rheinheimer dreaming of owning a travel agency.

That dream may yet come true, and with the purchase of Harbor View, the two are a step closer to fulfilling their ambitions.

Baker was an employee of the firm for six years before taking over as owner, and when the opportunity arose to buy the business, she asked her longtime friend to join her as owner.

While Baker has been working as a floral arranger, Rheinheimer has been attending Great Lakes Junior College in Bad Axe and is only three classes short of a degree in computer technology.

She's putting that training to good use as the business's bookkeeper and learning the florist trade along the way.

Although the owners are new, Harbor View remains a full-service florist, ready to provide arrangements for weddings, funerals and other occasions.

They also have fresh cut flowers, dish gardens, balloons, baskets, dried and silk arrangements and many unique gifts. They can wire flowers anywhere in the country by the TeleFlora wire service, and deliver in the Caseville-Pigeon area.

Baker and Rheinheimer plan a grand opening during Memorial Day weekend, and plan to add to their selection of gifts.

Their hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. Their phone number is 856-3536. For floral emergencies, call Rheinheimer at 453-3192.

Best Caseville Shanty Days event yet...

By AMY HEIDEN

For the first time since its inception, Caseville Shanty Days turned a profit for the Chamber of Commerce.

And that money will go back into the Shanty Days fund to help make next year's fourth annual event even better, says organizer Linda Hogan.

State Department of Natural Resources officials told Hogan that at least 2,000 cars were parked on the ice on Saturday, which translates to 8,000 to 9,000 people participating in some event, or simply being a spectator.

Button sales were the big moneymaker for Shanty Days, Hogan said, because the buttons were required to enter any of the activities on the ice.

"We ordered 4,000 buttons and we sold all of them," Hogan said. "Out of the money we make, we have to pay for tents, insurance, trophies and security."

Over 200 racers participate in the snowmobile drag races and motorcycle races, with a huge crowd of spectators looking on.

"All in all, we had a very successful weekend, with the sunny weather," Hogan said. "Everything seemed to click into place."

"We'll be meeting to fine tune some things because every year we learn something new. We'll be talking about adding more activities for families."

Over 100 volunteers contributed their time and efforts to make Shanty Days successful, Hogan said.

People came from all over the Thumb, with at least 10 volunteers from the city who belong to the Caseville Eagles Club. Thirty-six Chamber members either helped themselves or sent employees to lend a hand.

If Shanty Days expands, as organizers want, even more volunteers will be needed to keep the event successful and growing.

Outdoororama

Tom Washington knew what he was doing when he set the dates for MUCC's Outdoororama. He put it into one of those most boring periods of any outdoorsman's calendar.

True, there still is some good ice fishing to be had, and bunnies are legal targets for small game hunters, but I'm sure that most sportsmen are looking for the coming of another great year in our great state.

And nothing perks the sportsman's appetite like a stoll through Outdoororama. MUCC's brochure promoting the event, says, "Michigan's Great Outdoors Comes Indoors for 10 Great Days." Those days were from Feb. 24 - March 5, and if you are one of the few who has never experienced this outdoor show, you are really missing something.

I had a double pleasure this year. I not only got to see the show, but I, along with Sweetwife and two other couples, had the honor of representing Sebawaing in the Huron County Chamber of Commerce booth on Sunday, Feb. 26.

Working in the booth gives you a first hand opportunity to share your love for the outdoors, along with showing off the place you choose to live, to many fine people from all over the state. And I was surprised to find that most of the down-state folks know quite a bit about this utopia we sometimes do not realize we have.

Outdoororama is held in the Novi Exposition Center located a stone's throw from I-96 and Novi Road. It is a large building that housed the more than 400 individual booths along with some remarkable outdoor displays.

And it isn't just for the "hard core" hunter and fisherman, but offers something for all members of the family.

Along with the booths and displays is an entertainment stage and a seminar stage, which are filled with mapy different, and interesting activities through the 10-day period.

A new feature this year which really attracted the just short of your prize. It sure gave people a fish-eye view of fishing.

Another area that caught my eye was the MUCC/Chrysler Corporation education booth. In it you could learn how to create your own backyard wildlife habitat, receive some easy household recycling tips, and find out how to care for our public lands.

Tom Dokken and his Oak Ridge Retrievers always put on a great stage show, and this year was no exception.

I caught the last part of the act, but was just in time to watch a young girl, picked from the audience, trying to shield the prying eyes of a beautiful Black Lab while Tom mingled among the crowd and hid a retrieving dummy.

Once back on stage, he put the dog through an elaborate series of moves using only a whistle and hand signals until, much to the delight of the crowd, he led the dog crowds was a display called Shark Mania, located on the Outdoororama Reef. The setup included a revolving mount of a Great White Shark, the world's largest fish caught on hook and line, along with the fighting chair and the rod and reel Captain Greg Dubrule, from Noank, Conn., used to catch this monster.

As an added attraction, a long carpet runner was positioned in front of the chair with prizes posted at several intervals along the carpet.

The idea was for you to slip into a harness and try and run to the prize of your choosing.

The catch was, you, as Greg snapped on his 600-pound test line to the harness and always seemed to stop you straight to the dummy. The lab then retraced his steps, even using the back door of the trailer/stage to make a perfect "to-hand retrieve."

Tom answered hundreds of questions and gave some outstanding tips for those of us who try and train our own dogs.

The MI Assn. of Gamebird Breeders and the MI Duck Hunters Assn. had displays of many of the game birds and waterfowl native to Michigan. It was interesting to see pheasants, quail, and chukkas in the large pen and to watch the beautiful "duck on the pond."

Sweetwife was captivated with the drake Pintail and the bull Canvasback, a couple of ducks that most people do not experience in the wild, although they once ruled the skies over Saginaw Bay.

MUCC biologists Dennis Laidler and Bruce Wojcik brought their Birds of Prey and Wetland versions of Wildlife Encounters to enlighten visitors to the event.

Not too many people get a chance to view an eagle, falcon, hawk or owl at such close quarters, and with no screen or glass to interfere with that special camera shot.

It seems like I could go on forever. I haven't covered the Snakes Alive show, the Wildlife Chef with Bob Garner, popular TV host, or the Turkey Calling Classic, Ways of the Walleye, the Archery Demonstrations, the Sneak and Deke for Diving Ducks, or how to field dress, butcher and prepare your venison, with MSU's Extension Specialist Glenn Dudderar.

And what about all those outfitters offering you the chance of a lifetime with their Rocky Mountain Elk Hunts, or fly-in pike fishing trips. I guess I just don't have the time or the room.

Which simply means, that next year, mark this time of your calendar, get off the sofa, and join the thousands of people who visit Outdoorama. To make sure you don't miss it, why not think about joining the 120,000 members of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs?

THIS EVENT AT SEBEWAING VFW Hall occurred about 35 years ago, and honored World War I veterans who were hosted by World War II members of the two local Veterans Posts. Hosts were represented by Norman Hensel, extreme left, commander of Post 4115 VFW, and Robert Eisengruber, right, commander of American Legion Post 293, both in uniform. Guests seated are Otto Eberlein, Charles Orr, John Volz, Henry Finkbeiner, Frank Pankratz and William Weidner.

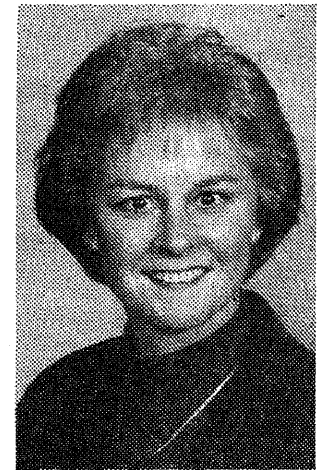

Standing, between the hosts, are Ottomar Armbruster, Theodore Juengel, unknown, Fred C. Martini, Russel Jeffery, Merlin Pengra, (possibly William Bergman of Pigeon) and Henry Stoekle.

Coincidentally, standing side-by-side at left rear, are Hensel, who had just become Sebawaing Village Clerk, succeeding Ottomar Armbruster, standing next to him, who had just retired. The event was possibly an observance of Armistice Day, the WWII veterans believe. Only those two, Hensel and Eisengruber, are still living. Latest of the WWI veterans to pass on was John Volz, seated third from left, who died Oct. 21, 1992, at the age of 97.

Thanks A Million!

What do you give a village that has nothing?

DEAR MR. ROSS:

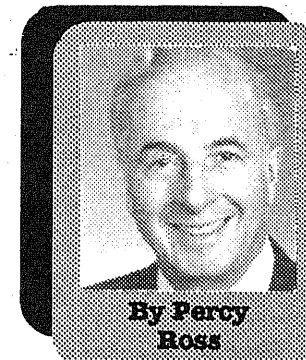

For the past six months I've been living in Guatemala. The majority of the time I lived in a village with Indian families and a few people from the U.S. I quit my job and went down to try and help with the development of a project to help communities that lack health care, education and ways to support its families.

I witnessed the horrors of extreme poverty, violence, malnutrition and preventable diseases, but I also learned about life.

By the time I left, I felt like I had contributed less than I received. I would like to be able to return the gracious gift that was given to me by these Indians.

In the village where I lived, the people have organized a small health clinic which is staffed by qualified Guatemalan health professionals and U.S. volunteers. They desperately need to begin their vaccination program which will save over 3,000 rain forest children from measles, mumps, tetanus, polio and whooping cough.

The problem is that they need a propane refrigerator to store the vaccines (there is no electricity). The refrigerator costs $1,000.

By Percy Ross
I would be forever thankful if you could give this money. — Ms. L. L. Carlisle, PA

DEAR MS. L.:
For $1,000 a person can save the lives of 3,000 children — that's 33¢ a child. Only an ignoramus would balk at that offer.

From the Sharing is Caring Foundation, please accept the forthcoming $1,000 donation. God's speed in the delivery of those vaccinations. $$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:
This is a plea, not for money, but for your print capability. My soon to be ex-wife reads your column and I would like to reach her. We are both fighting for custody of our three-year-old girl. My wife wants sole custody and I want joint. I said many horrible things about her in court (all true) to get temporary joint custody. For this, she openly hates me, even in front of the child.

I just want to tell her that she is still my partner in raising our daughter. We've got a tough job to do and I could use some help.

Mr. Ross, my wife made a better friend than an enemy. Life is short-forgive quick. — Scott L., Slinger, WI

DEAR SCOTT:
I'm glad to help you, as well as my other divorced readers with children. Whether your anger is petty or justified, learn to bury the hatchet with your ex-spouse. If you don't, your children will resent you. $$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:
I know my problem may not be considered critical, but I'm in need of four kitchen chairs. You see, my daughter and myself are always eating either in the living room or our bedroom because we don't have chairs. The old ones had to be thrown out because they were broken up.

I priced some pretty good ones for $24.99 each. In fact, I recently had the money in my hands but I knew that it wasn't mine to keep so I returned it. See, I had cashed a check at a bank and the teller gave me too much money back ($100).

I gave him back all the money that he had given me and told him to count it again. He thanked me, plus he even sent me a thank you note in the mail.

So I did my good deed which made me feel not good, but great for a couple of days! Even if you can't help me, thanks for all the others you do help. — Ms. B. F. B., New York, NY

DEAR MS. B.:
What's wrong with this picture? You're honest and don't capitalize on the bank teller's $100 error, only to write the millionaire philanthropist, who refuses your request. I'll tell you what's wrong — $100 isn't nearly enough to compensate you for your need and your honesty. That's why I'm sending $200, along with my very best wishes.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT:

HOW WE MEASURE STUDENT PROGRESS

By Robert Drury, Superintendent

While the word "testing" produces feelings of fear and panic in children and parents alike, most dictionary definitions simply define it as a critical examination observation, or evaluation.

Today's schools are working to assure parents and students that when it comes to testing, nothing sinister or threatening is going to happen.

Each state requires a certain amount of testing, including the State of Michigan requiring the Michigan Educational Aptitude Test. The results of those tests are reported to the local board of education and to the public.

Although educators use these test scores to evaluate the effectiveness of a school's programs and curriculum, these results should not be used to compare schools or students from one year to the next. Because each school and each student is unique, it is difficult to make comparisons between schools or from one year to the next.

Parts are urged to use test scores as a benchmark in tracking their child's progress throughout the school year, and from year to year. A student's performance on an evaluation can clearly show understanding of basic skills, as well as a comprehension of subject matter.

Approximately every seven years nationally normed standardized tests are revised. The professionals who prepare these tests measure results and establish new norms which are generally higher than the tests' previous version.

Within a generation, these tests are renormed approximately three times, which means children today are scoring higher than their parents did.

A number of states, including Michigan, now require educators to administer a test to measure the higher-level thinking skills of students. The goal is to convert students into active learners rather than passive recipients of information. While standardized tests are normally multiple choice, the new tests require students to write detailed answers in order to demonstrate critical thinking. In Michigan the MEAP is moving to this format.

Also, students are often asked to take classroom pre-tests and post-tests to determine just how much they know at the beginning of a program versus what they know at the end. These tests indicate whether or not those children are ready to progress to the next level. Locally, our Chapter I students take pre- and post-tests. At the Technical Center, those students also must take pre- and post-tests to measure what they already know versus what they need to be taught.

All in all, while testing is vital to structuring educational programs, the best source for final assessment of a student's learning is the school staff. Your school's principal and teachers can best address your child's grasp of curriculum and course content. Please visit your child's school to find out more about the assessment process, and your child's test results.

LAKER STUDENTS FIND ART CLASS TO BE FUN!

By Sue Frederiksen

Mr. Lee Deneen teaches the art classes at Laker High School and fills his classes to capacity almost every hour. In speaking to several students in the advanced art class, students commented that the class is enjoyable and relaxing.

Michelle Bolda and Jaime Niebel, 2 seniors in the class, stated that working independently and at your own pace were 2 reasons they signed up for the class. Art class is fun and you have the opportunity to talk to your friends as you work.

Jason Martinez enjoys drawing and working with his hands. You can take your time to perfect a certain aspect you are working on, the class is not rushed.

Craig Owens is working on a clay model. He enjoys expressing his feelings in art.

Sara Clabuesch and Sara Krebs enjoy the fact that you can socialize as you work. It's a much more relaxed environment than the academic classes.

Aline Foster decided to take the class because it's not only fun, but she has the opportunity to gain more experience in the art field.

Mr. Deneen will be taking his seniors in Art II, and all of his Art III and Art IV students to Central Michigan University on March 30. The students will visit the art museum and tour some of the art classes to see what college students do in art class.

Mr. Deneen also requests that anyone who has old crayons and candles that they would wish to donate to Laker High School, please bring them in. They will be put to good use.
