Soccer gaining in popularity in the Thumb

It's the most popular sport in the world and inspires some of the most devoted fans. And in the five short years since it was introduced to the Thumb, soccer has grown by leaps and bounds.

Soccer has become so popular that three local schools — Caseville, Lakers and Bad Axe — offer it as a varsity sport, although Lakers has the only girls' team at this time.

And more than 300 kids from kindergarten through high school play on teams sponsored by the American Youth Soccer Organization, introduced five years ago in the Western Thumb by Rev. Larry Salsburey and a group of committee parents. In Elkton, Pigeon, Bay Port and Caseville alone, 26 teams take to the field.

Laker High Soccer Coach Mark Weidman says the sport has become popular because kids like to run and kick the ball.

"It develops into a fast-moving game," Weidman says. "And the kids are guaranteed to play at least half of the game. And I think the kids like being part of a team and running and kicking the ball into the net."

Caseville High got into the soccer world several years ago when it dropped its football program. Injuries had taken a toll on the football team, sometimes leaving only nine or 10 players on the bench.

But now, Caseville's soccer team features 20-30 members every season. And Caseville's program, as well as Lakers', will benefit when the kids playing AYSO soccer now move up into high school.

No record is kept of wins and losses and no scores are reported in AYSO soccer, to keep the youngsters' sport from becoming too competitive, organizers say. And leaders attempt to keep the teams balanced by ranking the players by computer, so that no one team can dominate.

A Mother's Prayer

Dear Lord above, I ask of thee,
To hear a mother's tender plea.
If I use patience instead of haste;
Grant they see Thee, pure and chaste.
If I but pray instead of scold,
Hearts more Christ-like thou wilt mold.
If I ask kindly instead of harshly,
Perhaps the task they'll do more promptly.
If I show love instead of wrath,
May they follow, with child-like faith.
If I trust in Thee each day,
Thou wilt guide and lead the way.
Grant, O Lord, that I may be,
The kind of mother God loves to see.

Caseville fire vote is Tuesday

By AMY HEIDEN

The Caseville Township Fire Department is running out of space—and is turning to property owners for some help.

Next Tuesday, May 16, voters in the Township will be asked to approve a one-mill, three year property tax increase to move the Fire Department to new and larger quarters.

Township Supervisor Joseph Cilc says the Township Board is hoping to borrow $250,000 with voter approval and sell bonds to repay the money.

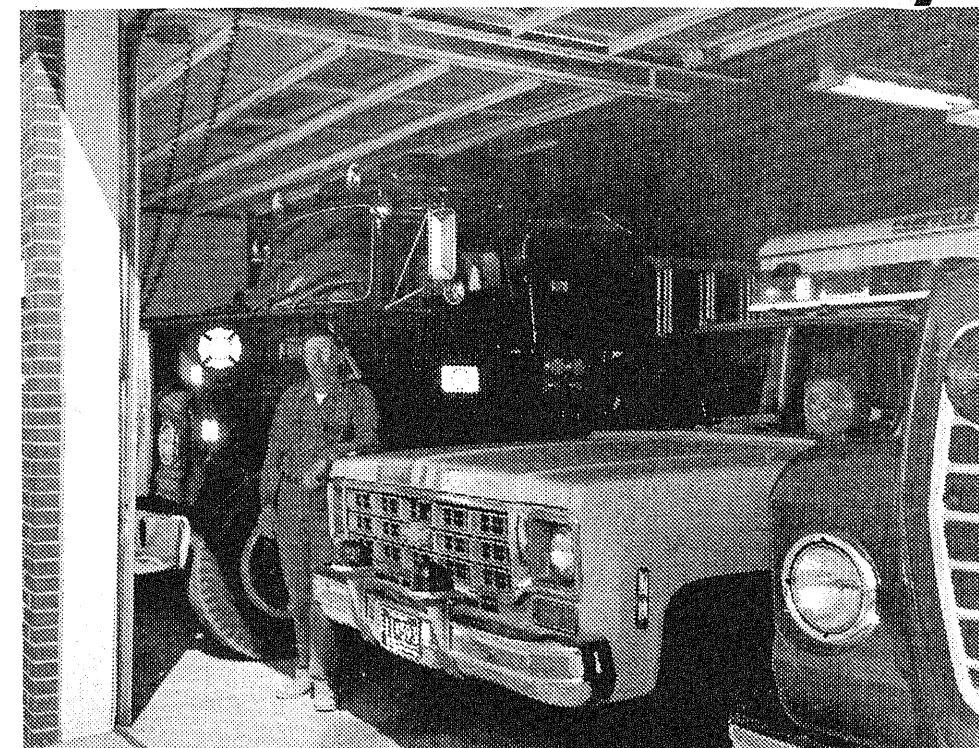

To do that, voters would have to approve the one-mill increase for three years. That one-mill increase would mean a $50 per year increase in taxes on a $50,000 home in the Township.

Voters in Lake Township, which shares fire protection services with Caseville Township, will also vote on May 16 on a tax increase package asking for a 2 1/2-mill increase over three years.

That money would be used for fire protection services as well as road maintenance and police protection.

Caseville Township appointed a Needs Committee to investigate the requirements for additional space and facilities for the Fire Department and Emergency Medical Services. In its report, the Committee said the area's burgeoning population growth requires that the Fire Department be updated as necessary to provide needed services.

In 1970, the report says, the Township Fire Department covered the Caseville

Area, including the village and township and Lake Township, with a combined population of about 1,770 people. Only two fire trucks were needed and they could be stored in a 1,000 sq. ft. building.

Twenty years later, in 1990, the same coverage area had a population of over 3,700 people serviced with four fire trucks and an Emergency Fire Service vehicle. Today, those five vehicles are crammed into the 1,500 sq. ft. garage behind the Caseville Village/Township Hall. A brush fire truck is stored in a private building, Cilc said, away from the fire hall.

Several locations were inspected for possible use as a home for the Fire Department, but the Brighton Metals building was selected for several reasons, Cilc said. The building provided the least expensive alternative in providing the needed space. Renovation would cost about $150,000, a hefty sum, he says, but less than erecting a new building.

The building is also centrally located on M-25 and has an ample water supply. It also has 10,000 sq. ft. of space, more than enough for the Fire Department's needs and enough room to add training rooms or more storage, the report says.

Although Caseville doesn't have its own ambulance service now, Scheurer Ambulance crews respond to calls in the Caseville area, about 70 percent of its total calls. Cilc said the township and village could have its own ambulance service in the future and it could be housed in the Brighton Metals building.

A public hearing about the proposal is set for Wednesday, May 10 at 7 p.m. in the Village/Township Hall, and again this Saturday, May 13 at 1 p.m. in the James Stahl Auditorium at the Caseville School.

ACW Ambulance meets $4,500 goal

Ken Currey of Unionville is happy, as are all the members of the ACW (Akron-Columbia-Wisner) Ambulance Team.

They have successfully raised the $4,500 needed to purchase a Laerdal Heartstart 1000S portable heart defibrillation machine.

"We are overwhelmed," Currey says, "and, we want to give a great 'thank you' to everybody who contributed to our fund-raiser."

Laker Jr. High presents spring musical

The Laker Junior High Drama Club will present "How To Eat Like a Child" (and other lessons in NOT being a grown-up!) this coming weekend at the Laker Auditorium.

The musical will be staged this Friday, May 12 at 7 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14 at 3 p.m.

A student discount will be provided off the regular ticket price at the door, according to Drama Teacher Mike Terrell, who cordially invites the public.

Council says: tear it down

At their regular May 11 meeting, members of the Sebawaing Village Council voted unanimously to pass a resolution accepting the "show-cause" hearing officer's order to have the Esterline Building demolished.

The order was issued at the show cause hearing held on April 19 at the Village Hall, and it was the Council's position to accept or reject the order before it became legal.

The resolution also included setting another show cause hearing to be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, May 15, at the Village Hall. That meeting is intended to allow interested parties to explain their views and present information as to why the building should not be razed.

Members of the Sebawaing Historical Society, present owners of the Esterline Building, were at the Council meeting to voice concerns as to the due process used by the Council in arriving at their position. Several members aired their views and indicated they would be present at the "show-cause" hearing on Monday, May 15.

In other business, Sebawaing Village Council:

- approved four building permits.
- discussed Mayor Exchange Day at Saint Louis on May 16, and at Sebawaing on May 23.
- Heard a report from Harbor Commission Chairman Bill Kauffold concerning the buoys in the river and the dikes used in the last dredging. He indicated that the Sebawaing River would be dredged next year.
- Approved the DPW to install steps and sidewalks in front of the police station at a cost of $2,000.

MICHIGAN
"by the numbers"

HOW MANY RESIDENTS? In 1820, the federal census said 8,765 people were living in the Michigan Territory. By 1830, our state's population mushroomed to 31,640 — about as many residents as live in Huron County today. At the time of statehood in 1837, we had 174,543 Michiganders...

Tuscola says no to ISD tax

In a "you-pay-now-or-you-pay-later" scenario, voters in Tuscola County turned back a ISD special education millage last Tuesday.

Voters were being asked to approve 1.5 charter mills for special educational use. A charter millage means that once voted in, it stays on the rolls indefinitely. Apparently, that was too much for voter to stomach.

The millage request was defeated by 508 votes, 1,962 "no" to 1,454 "yes" ballots.

What many people do not realize is just because the vote was defeated, the expense of special education does not simply disappear, officials say. In reality, it will show up at the end of the year in local school districts, as they wrestle to pay the ISD bill-back.

Special education is required of all school districts by federal law. The catch is that feds do not always pay for what they require. In this case, each local school district is still responsible for their own special education children, and even though they are educated at the Intermediate Building in Caro, the locals must foot the bill.

In the wake of the millage defeat, USA School District will be billed $46,686 for services in 1994-95, and a projected $66,695 for '95-96. This will not come as good news to an already financially-strapped district, officials add.

As we see it

Caseville fire vote deserves 'yes'

Voters in Caseville and Lake Townships have one simple question facing them in the special Fire Department bond request next Tuesday, May 16: whether to vote "yes" or "no."

A "yes" vote means a one-mill increase for three years in Caseville Township and a 2 1/2 mill increase for three years for Lake Township voters, to move the Fire Department to new, larger quarters.

As the Page 3 story in this issue points out, the current fire facilities were very adequate when constructed in 1970. Then, the combined population of 1,770 residents were well-served by two fire trucks, in a 1,000 sq. ft. building. But now, 20-plus years later, there are more than 3,700 people living in the two Townships — fastest-growing in the Upper Thumb — and five vehicles are needed by fire fighters. There just isn't adequate room.

Consider the alternatives: one major fire, if not handled with the best possible equipment and trained men, could cost far more in losses than this millage will require of typical homeowners. Local residents deserve better.

We urge a "yes" vote Tuesday, and encourage local residents to be sure to vote.

School carnival offers millions of memories

By SUE GOTTSCHALK,
President, Elkton
Elementary PTO Board of Directors

The following has been taken from our May newsletter and I feel it is worth sharing, as it pertains to everyone with children regardless of where they attend school:

Thanks for the memories. This year's carnival is over, its memory will last our students a long time. Just watching our children during this event tells us why this carnival is important, why it must continue.

It is a time of gathering with their classmates in a relaxed atmosphere and in a safe setting. Standing in line to see how many trading cards they can collect in three hours, hoping for the biggest cake at the cake walk, and trying to select the special duck with the "magic" number on the bottom.

It's a time you can walk around with yellow and pink hair, and no one seems to care. It just doesn't get much simpler than that!

Who would think that a simple bottle of "magic" ink would be such a hot commodity?

Once a year, it becomes available, like marshmallows and bunnies and Peeps.

Childhood in comparison could be just like a bottle of magic ink. Innocent until it becomes a part of you, you worry and you wonder, then it suddenly begins to disappear, vanished, only for the moment you remember it being there, just like one's childhood. In such a very short time, the innocence of childhood disappears. We must try to preserve it for as long as we can!

In this fast-paced world, we sometimes do not allow our children to be children. But a school carnival, kids and cotton candy seems to renew that need.

All the high-tech games and entertainment for children will be constantly replaced with something bigger and better.

But NOTHING can ever replace the memories of a school carnival, cotton candy and kids!

Thanks to all those individuals who were willing to give their time and talents to keep this memory alive for all our children.

Bay Shore Camp still has openings...

Bay Shore Camp is still accepting camper registrations for most of its summer 1995 camps, with only two sessions having already reached maximum enrollment.

According to Camp Director Lew Tibbits, only Co-ed Basketball I and Co-ed Basketball 2 sessions have closed.

"These two camps are very popular with boys and girls in the sixth through tenth grades," Tibbits says. "They usually fill within six weeks from the time we begin accepting applications. This year they were full within a month from the date our brochures were released."

All other Bay Shore Camp sessions are open. They include week-long sessions in traditional children's and youth camping, as well as specialized sessions in soccer, tennis and music.

Director Tibbits does acknowledge that most camps will eventually fill to capacity.

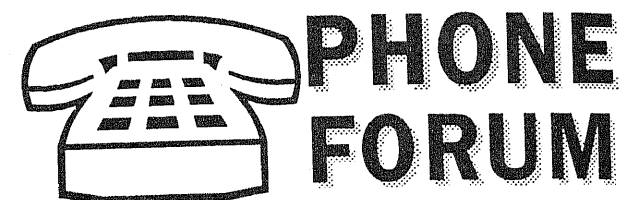

He advises parents and church camp coordinators to register their campers as soon as possible.

A longtime member of Christian Camping International-USA Division, Bay Shore Camp is in its 85th year of Christian camping ministry in Michigan's Upper Thumb.

Located in Sebewaing on Saginaw Bay, the camp served nearly 1,200 youngsters and hundreds of families during its 1994 season.

For details on youth, children's and family programs or on any special event, contact the camp office at (517) 883-2501, or write Tibbits in care of Bay Shore Camp, P.O. Box 624, Sebewaing, MI 48759.

Thanks again to our readers who write down their comments, and mail/fax/deliver them to us. We appreciate it, because you probably don't realize how difficult some folks are to hear on the phone!

If you do call, please be sure you speak clearly and slowly and that there's little background distraction noise. I've heard lots of TV shows in the background better than some callers!

And, remember to keep calling Phone Forum if the lines are busy at night. You'll get through, and we'll consider your comments and questions. Now, here's what your neighbors and friends have on their minds this week:

M. of Caseville: I am wondering why Scheurer Hospital is no longer publishing admissions in your newspaper. It was rather nice to be able to send cards to acquaintances, when we saw their name in. Thank you.

(We haven't published admissions for several years now, M. Fewer hospitals are making up the lists, since many patients are discharged in a day or two — even after giving birth! We've been told a growing number of patients didn't want their names published, either, which is their right. That means the lists often weren't complete. To be on the safe side, send them a card after you know they're home. They'll appreciate it!)

Sincerely from Elkton: Congratulations to everyone performing in Sherry's Dance Studio "Unique" Dance Recital. We enjoyed it. But it was too long. I know for a fact some young children and senior citizens had a hard time sitting through it. My suggestion would be limiting each dance student to no more than three dances, hopefully cutting down on the recital time. (I feel personally involved a little, "Sincerely," since I've been a master of ceremonies for the recitals for several years. But Sherry has heard that comment, too. Thanks for sharing your thoughts.)

T. of Sebewaing: I'm wondering why the USA School Board is looking for a superintendent from outside our district when the interim superintendent is doing such a fantastic job. (I've heard THAT comment, too, T. Perhaps you should be certain School Board members know of your feelings, by telling them directly, in person or by phone. The interview process is continuing.)

Michelle of Sebewaing: I have some questions for USA High School: Why are they trying to get rid of Mr. Kieser and FFA, when it's so important with all the farmers in the area and all the kids who really need it? There is nothing at all being said about it, and we are really disgusted that they would try to get rid of him.

(Michelle is talking about proposed cutbacks in several programs, including summer camp, which are now being discussed. USA and other schools are considering several options. As we told T. above, Michelle, be sure your School Board members know how you feel. I see a petition is being circulated, seeking to continue summer camp. Be sure you sign it, if you agree, Michelle...)

J. of Sebewaing: I was wondering about the flashing light at Main Street. To me, the only way to solve a problem is to put a four-way stop. How are they going to handle all the boat traffic and everything when they come through, and everyone is up there at the light and not able to get across? There is going to be an accident there.

(Well, for once I don't have a comment. How about it, folks? What do you think?)

MSU fan in Unionville: All this excuse-making for U of M's ex-coach Gary Moeller. They say he's got so much pressure and everyone should get a second chance. Baloney. We've all got pressures to win and succeed, in whatever work we have and we DON'T get $140,000 a year. How can a coach lead and teach young men if he can't keep his cool in a restaurant? Moeller got what he deserved.

ANTI-PRESS of Sebewaing: What arrogance the Michigan press is showing! They don't want elected/appointed boards to even gather candidate names for university and college presidential candidates! THEY demand to know about them FIRST, never mind that the very best candidates certainly wouldn't apply for fear of hurting their standings in their present positions. Why should the "PRESS" know names of ALL applicants? OK once they're narrowed to 5 or 10, but to KNOW (and then to BLAB) the names of ALL applicants will mean that the best ones won't even apply. The PRESS wasn't elected by anyone. They're not content with news GATHERING.

Der alte general store

Unser Familie General Store in Sebewaing ist suddenly wieder in die News, weil nach 100 Jahre Service war der Store so neglected das er jetzt ein Hazard ist.

Das Dach hat ge-leaked und wurde nicht ge-fixed; das Inside wurde nass und schimmelig, und jetzt sind die Walls out-gebellied und in danger of kollapsen. Das macht die Familie sehr sad, of course, weil der Store war immer eine Memory von die alte Tage, da wir jung waren, und unsere Eltern und Grosseltern in Ihr prime waren.

Ich hab ein Bild das in die Office genommen war, viele Jahre zurueck. Grossvater sass in sein Office Stuhl, an seine Desk. Er sieht aus als wenn er about 60 oder 65 war, uns since er in 1862 geboren war, muss das Bild von around 1928 oder 1930 oder so sein.

Auf das Bild haengt die grosse alte Regulator Clock an die Wand ueber seine Desk. Bilder haengen auch an die Wand, und ein Kalender. Auf seine Desk stand ein insulated Pitcher und Trinkglas.

Das surprising Feature ins ganze Bild ist eine Spanische Pistole die an die Wand haengt, an ein Nagel. Fuer viele Jahre haengte die Pistole dort an die Wand, in full view fuer jeden der an die Office vorbei laeufe. Anyone der in die Office kamm konnte die Pistole auf-picken oder in die Hand nehmen, aber so lang wie Ich remembren kann hat niemand sie je ge-touched oder auf-ge-picked.

Fuer sure hat niemand die Pistole je ge-swiped oder even remarked about.

Of course, Zeiten waren anders dann denn Sie jetzt sind. Durch alle die Jahre ist die Pistole immer in unsere Familie remained, in fact, immer noch Heute.

Wenn solch eine Pistole an eine public Wand heute haengte so koennt man schnell eine Bet machen das Sie in eine Stunde oder zwei totally disappearen wird.

Aber wir wissen das wir heute in eine andere Zeit leben. Heute ist nichts mehr sicher, oder sure, oder even freundlich.

Stealing ist ganz common, und irgendjemand der etwas sieht das er haben will, nimmt es halt immediately. Nichts zu antworten, nichts zu apologizen—nimmt es mit, und wenn Jemand complainen will, so schiesse Ihn oder schlag Ihn uebern Kopf.

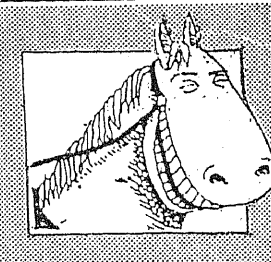

Ja, die alte Zeiten waren gute Zeiten, und wir wussten es nicht.

Unser Problem ist: Wie koenntn wir zurueck gehen, zu die alte Zeiten?

Die Moral in die Geschichte ist, wir haben expected das Zeiten immer besser werden. Wir haben nie ge-figured das Human Nature immer schlimmer wird. Jetzt ist es so schlecht das der einzige Weg zum sich gewiss protecten ist das jeder sein eigenes Gewehr immer haendig hat—and kann es auch usen!

Horsin' Around

Southern hospitality

Recently got back from my annual trek to the Bluegrass State, and was disappointed to find that Michigan was still the brown grass state when we returned!

But that got me to thinking about the whole "southern hospitality" concept. Here's my theory:

Maybe it's because we walk around like Japanese tourists with cameras, sun visors and maps of local attractions, but the people of Kentucky are so nice and friendly, it breaks my heart to have to leave when vacation is over.

And I don't just mean tour guides and hotel personnel. I mean people sitting next to you at the racetrack...they will chat away about horses, "morning line odds," the weather and any small-talk subject. People standing in line at a convenience store will strike up a conversation like you were a long lost friend. The men are shamelessly flirty, the women cheery and helpful, the kids - quiet and well behaved.

But once vacation was over and we crossed the line back into the great lakes state, we couldn't help but notice that we were greeted by a surly gas station attendant or two. Indifferent fast-food employees, and speeding, vengeful motorists.

But, as a Michigan native, I reserve all judgement! As a Michigan native, I know what it's all about. As a Michigan native, the difference is plain to see!

After all, the week we spent in Kentucky the thermometer peaked at 80 degrees. The dogwood was in bloom, leaves were on all the trees, the grass had been mowed several times, the scent of apple blossoms filled the air, and tulips and daffodils were already giving way to pansies and petunias.

So no wonder Kentuckians are friendly and bright! I'd be pretty damned chatty and cheery too, if summer came in April rather than June!

After all, our return to Michigan was met with an overnight low which plunged well below freezing, a grey cover of cold clouds, a nasty biting north wind and icy sprinkles of rain that made us think seriously about making an illegal U-turn in one of those "authorized vehicle only" lanes.

But just you wait... when Michigan's May flowers begin to bloom and the breezes of Lake Huron turn warm and wafy, we too will become a state of friendly, neighborly, welcoming hosts to the throngs of tourists headed to our sandy shores. Then we'll show 'em some of that world famous "northern hospitality!"

Carpet Barn opens in Unionville

By DUANE GUENTHER
Jeff Huffman of Bay City last week opened the doors of Unionville's newest business, The Carpet Barn.

The business, at 3118 Bay Street, features a complete line of carpeting and vinyl flooring.

Unionville residents remember the original building as the Standard Gas Station once operated by Art Binder. An addition which became a grocery store is now the site of the carpet business.

Huffman manages a carpet shop in Saginaw and lives, with his wife and two children in Bay City.

"I'm looking to move to Unionville in the near future," Huffman says. "It will be good to live in a small town."

Huffman cites a prime location and small town values as the two main reasons he selected Unionville for his business venture.

"I plan to establish a business reputation based on prices, service and honesty," Huffman says. "People will soon find out that I sell much, much lower than 'prime time' Saginaw or Bay City."

While Mohawk is his favorite carpet line, Huffman stocks many other name brands. But, it's the padding where customers will really save their money.

"I use the best pad," Hoffman says, "And, my price for the pad is really low." Hoffman brings seven years of carpet selling and laying experience to the area and promises buyers a labor guarantee for as long as the carpet is down.

Presently, his store hours are 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Saturdays and noon - 5 p.m. Sundays. "There are no games or gimmicks," Hoffman says, "And, I really stress prices and service."

Randy is looking for a job...

By DUANE GUENTHER

Randy wants a job! His job coach, Harland Koboldt, says Randy ready. So does Nancy Hebert, supported employment specialist from Cass Valley Enterprises.

All that's needed is some area farmer who is looking for a dependable worker.

Randy Menzel is a 43-year-old who lives with his family just east of Unionville. He is like thousands of other disabled workers who are looking for a chance to prove themselves in the workplace. He is presently teamed with the Cass Valley Enterprises, a Division of Tuscola County Community Mental Health, who provides supported employment for disadvantaged.

According to Cass Valley, they can give area businesses and farmers employees who want to work. They know people with disabilities are reliable and dependable workers, people with the will and the desire to be successful in the business environment.

Randy is one of these employees — and he has some ambitious goals in life.

His resume' reflects the personal goal of some day working in his community in a steady job doing something that interests him and the people he likes. He wants to earn the respect of his employer and co-workers through his hard work and dedication.

Compositing workshop Tuesday in Owendale

With new regulations in effect banning yard waste from landfills, homeowners will have to find new ways of handling leaves and grass clippings.

The best way of dealing with yard waste is by composting — and the Multi-County Recycling group will be holding a Backyard Composting Workshop at the Owendale Community Building on Tuesday, May 16 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

There, you'll learn the basics of composting, how to mulch grass clippings, what grasscycling means, how to compost indoors, what to do with finished compost and just how simple composting can be. That nutrient-rich compost can be used as a soil enhancer throughout the yard and garden.

For details, call Multi-County Recycling at 1-800-972-9012.

Nights & Weekends to be heard!

That's where Harland Koboldt comes in.

As Randy's job coach, Koboldt visits the proposed place of employment to paved the way for Randy's arrival. He learns about the job, the people Randy will be working for, and does the necessary paper work to expedite that first day on the job.

Koboldt then accompanies Randy to the job site and remains with him at the work station. He then reduces his time, depending on the difficulties of the position, until Randy can function on his own.

Koboldt guarantees the job gets done, and does not leave the site until he is positive that Randy can manage on his own.

Koboldt's presence is not only for Randy, but also to help co-workers better understand the working environment.

Randy is also receiving some additional services from Richard Osestoski of the Michigan AgrAbility Project. This is the first time the organization has joined forces with Cass Valley and their plans will include working with farmers on the modifications necessary for Randy to land a farm job.

Cass Valley and the AgrAbility are not fledglings in this business. Cass Valley has made numerous employment placements over the past several years and AgrAbility has more than 40 clients in the Saginaw Bay region.

One problem that Randy might experience is transportation to the work site. Since Tuscola County does not offer public transportation, it will be pretty much up to his family or employer to get him to the job.

However, his residence is close to Huron County, which does have the Thumb Area Transit operating and with a job site there, he would be afforded an inexpensive and convenient way to get to work.

Randy is excited about the possibility of working on a farm, or in an egg production operation. And, according to his resume', he is a hard worker who does well at tasks he likes.

Persons who would like more information about Randy or other Cass Valley workers may call 517-672-3085 or fax to 672-4261.

JOB COACH Harland Koboldt, standing, helps Unionville resident Randy Menzel look through help-wanted ads.

Methodist Men's Spring Rally well-attended

The Port Huron District United Methodist Men's Spring Rally experienced a spiritual renewal at Sandusky United Methodist Church on April 30.

Eastern Michigan District has a scheduled meeting of the United Methodist Men each spring and fall.

The Sandusky Rally was well-attended by about 200 men, with 45 men from the western side of Huron County riding in a bus to the event.

The program included greetings by the president of the Port Huron District, Lew Tibbitts, Dale and Floris Wertz led the singing.

Sharing of the Promise Keepers convention at the Pontiac Silverdome was the highlight of the meeting.

Thanks to the area churches and these men, $8,000 was raised for 1994 at the local churches for the potato project. One cent buys one potato for the needy.

The men were challenged to share God's love in their homes, in their communities, country, state, nation and world.

"For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in my name because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you he shall not lose his reward." Mark 9:41 (KJV).

Oakes is enjoying his new Caseville Manager duties

By AMY HEIDEN

Gerald Oakes knows what it takes to run a busy village. He spent over six years as manager of the Village of Almont, and still serves on the Almont Village Council. Oakes took over the $30,000-a-year Caseville job on May 1, replacing former Manager Gary Kuckel who left when his contract wasn't renewed.

Oakes comes to the manager's job with a wealth of experience, having retired from Detroit's Water and Sewer Department. He also is a registered Professional Engineer.

His experience with a water and sewer department will come in handy as Caseville is searching for a solution to continuing losses from its water system. And, like any other city or village, there are always a few problems that need some attention.

"There are some nagging problems but that's not unusual," Oakes says.

"Caseville has a lot of potential. With the resources they have available, village leaders have been doing a very good job."

Oakes began his career in village government after he retired from Detroit's Water and Sewer Department in 1985. Two years later, after serving as Almont's building inspector, he was hired as the village manager. He gave up that post in 1993 and six months ago was elected to the village council.

"After I left, my intention was to retire," Oakes, a widower, says. "I wanted to work part time."

Oakes and his family have maintained a summer home on Oak Point for 40 years, and after seeing an advertisement for Caseville's job in a magazine, he thought the job might be a perfect fit for him.

"I wanted to stay in the general area, and I'm quite familiar with this Caseville Township and Caseville," he said.

Oakes still has a year left on his term as councilman in Almont, and he says there are still commitments left to fill for that job.

GERALD OAKES
New Caseville Manager

"I have six months to establish residency here," he said. "I'm also helping to train the new manager in Almont."

Caseville ordinance says that the village manager must live within 10 miles of the village hall, and it's unclear whether Oakes' summer home falls within that range.

Oakes says he is always willing to talk to any Case-village resident who has a problem or a question.

"Anyone who has a question can come in or call," he says. "All complaints or inquiries will be handled right away."

Laker students get flag from Barcia

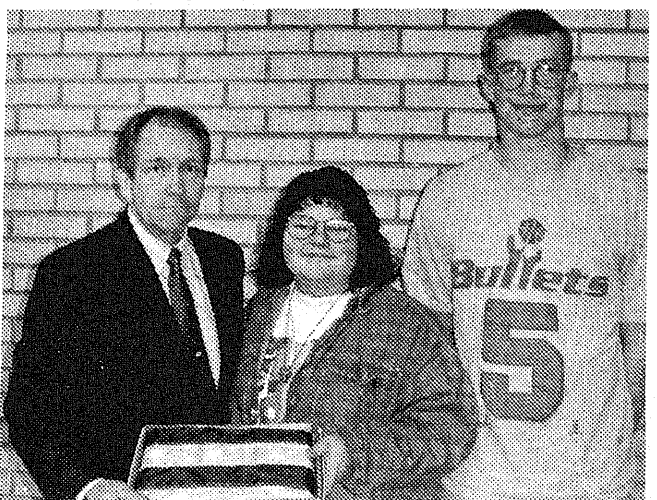

FLAG GIFT: Jim Lewis, Chief of Staff for 5th District Congressman James Barcia (D-Bay City), visited with junior students in Wayne Schember's Government/Economics class at Laker High last week.

Lewis explained the job of a Congressman, both in Washington D.C., and back in the 5th District. He also answered several questions posed to him by the students about such topics as student financial aid, voting on bills in the U.S. House of Representatives, and the Michigan Militia.

He also presented a flag to Laker High on behalf of Bar-cia. The flag had been flown over the U.S. Capitol building. Accepting the flag on behalf of Laker High was Brian Koehler, president of the junior class, and Erin Nimitz, Student Council representative.

Opposition is surfacing to Sand Point development

By MARK RUMMEL

A Sand Point landowner is attempting to form a group to oppose the planned development of Pointe West Ltd., at the tip of Sand Point.

Curtis Roth of Lapeer, who is an area native, has been soliciting contributions to raise up to $100,000 to form an association. In letters sent to many Sand Point property owners, Roth says, "we believe that this activity (Pointe West development) genuinely threatens the quality of life in this beautiful and bucolic region of Michigan."

"We are proposing to mount full-scale efforts to challenge this activity from political, administrative and legal perspectives," he says in an April 21 letter to neighbors.

He says legal counsel has been retained which have experience in opposing such developments, naming the firm of Rodger Young and Associates of Southfield.

In seeking $1,000 contributions, Roth says the money will be handled by a Flint CPA firm. If the $100,000 goal is not met as of July 1, Roth says the checks will be returned — and notes all contributions will be kept confidential. He was unavailable for comment Monday morning.

Roth's letter points out six concerns his group sees to the plan to develop up to 250 homes and condominiums on 70 acres of Sand Point land, as proposed by Pointe West Ltd. developer David Clabuesch of Pigeon.

Roth says Clabuesch also plans to create as many as 250 additional boat slips. Roth's concerns include:

- Protection of local wildlife and protected wetlands;
- Increased boat traffic in existing canals, and effects on the island area where an active DNR dredging permit is now in place, to remove 2,832 yards through 1998, Roth says;
- Increased taxes on residents to pay for roadwork and other public concerns;
- Timing of Clabuesch's plans, when many area residents were not here during early Spring;
- Lack of traffic studies, projections and so on.

Roth disputes some of Clabuesch's claims and design ideas, but Sand Point neighbors have varying views on the Pointe West concept:

Ralph McWhirter, a retired General Motors design manager who lives in Beadle Bay Subdivision, has a lot of questions about the Pointe West project, but says he has no real objections to it. He also is puzzled by Roth's letter.

"Now that Clabuesch has withdrawn his request for the high rise, what is the group opposing?" McWhirter said. "I need more details about what they're against. They say the road is congested but I haven't seen it."

"And as far as the development goes, Clabuesch is an entrepreneur and it's his right to develop his own land. I can't fault him for doing that."

McWhirter said Roth would have to explain in much more detail why he needed $1,000. "He didn't explain to me why I should send him a thousand bucks," he said.

One Sand Point resident who lives only a few hundred yards from the development and who refused to be identified says she's not at all happy with the development and the canal dredging in particular. She has lived on the Saginaw Bay shore since 1953 and lives on Sand Point year round.

"It's time somebody fought it," she said. "If the truth is in that letter, then it doesn't look good for Clabuesch. It's a shame somebody has to come out here to make themselves rich at our expense. We like our rustic peninsula. We're going to lose the place we treasure."

She also said she had received a letter from Curtis Roth that said that permits had not been obtained for dredging. But a second letter from Roth dated April 21 said that the DNR had given the developers a dredging permit for 2,832 yards through 1998.

Betty Wardhammar, who lives year-round in a cottage about 2 1/2 miles from M-25, said that she has no real objections to the project and said she had not received a copy of Roth's letter.

"I'm not hung up about it," Wardhammar said. "Maybe those homes will bring some year-round residents. The development is just not a problem for me. I know how much I love where I live. But I can understand where some of the objections are coming from."

"As long as I have my little piece of heaven here, I don't really care what happens."

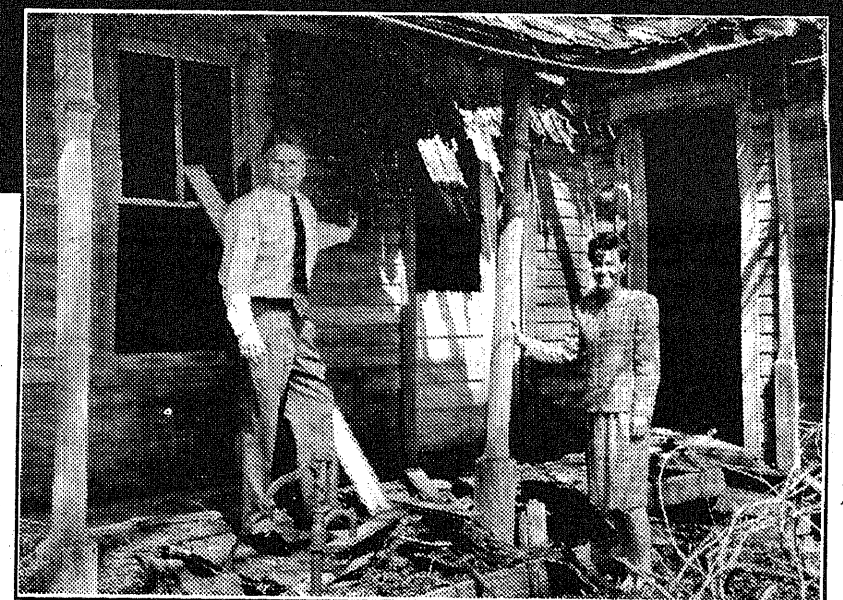

Traffic is a problem on weekends during the summer, Wardhammar said. "We breathe a sigh of relief every Sunday night when the weekenders go home," she said.

Thanks A Million!

Maybe one day justice will be served

DEAR MR. ROSS:

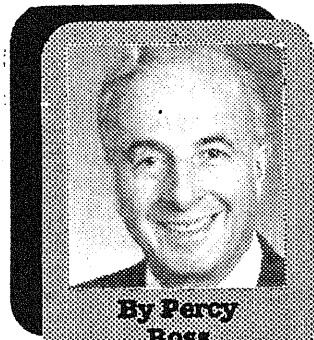

A year ago I was beaten, raped and then thrown out of a truck. All of this started because I had a flat tire and I actually thought this guy was going to be kind and take me to my friend's house — only two miles down the road.

Instead, he pulled over, beat me for two hours, put a box cutter to my throat and told me he was going to kill me.

I was in pretty bad shape. I haven't been able to work since, because of the injuries I sustained. Mr. Ross, I need help. I ran into the back of a van and my grill and headlights were damaged.

Now I can't drive at night and I have two children. My 15-year-old needs to be picked up two nights a week from band practice. I've checked and it will cost about $250 to get it fixed.

I never thought anything like this could ever happen to me. I've spent the last 14 years caring for very ill people. I was blind to the fact of how mean and cruel some people can be. My trial comes up next month. Please pray for me. The hospital threw the rape kit away and now it's my word against his. — Ms. C. G., Nashville, TN

DEAR MS. G.: It's sad how in life we can fix things like cars with modest sums of money, but no amount of money will ever erase the tragedy you've endured. The only thing you're left with is to go on-somehow, some way.

It's only a pimple on a donkey's behind, but the check I'm sending will make your vehicle road worthy. As for the rest, we can only hope that justice will be served.

DEAR MR. ROSS: My husband and I received some exciting news last week. We're going to have a baby. Our problem is we can't afford to buy all the things a baby needs. Our family bought us a crib and a changing table, and my mother is making my maternity clothes.

However, this is all the help they are able to provide. We both work and can pay bills, but there's just nothing left over. As you may suspect, this is an unplanned pregnancy.

We've only been married one year and we weren't planning to have children for five years. God had other plans I guess.

We would appreciate it if you could send us $350 for baby things. — Mrs. A. P., Tacoma, WA

DEAR MRS. P.: Everything in your letter is fine, except for one thing. In making reference to your family, you say, "However, this is all the help they are able to provide."

All? I think they're doing a great plenty. After all, whose baby is it?

Please don't take your family for granted because what goes around, comes around, and one day your child might do the same to you.

My check for baby items is on the way.

DEAR MR. ROSS: I wrote you a few months ago, asking for your help in paying off the bill for my grandmother's funeral.

Well, a few days ago, my family received an unexpected surprise — a check from an insurance company that was for full payment of my grandmother's funeral expenses.

I sincerely thank you for considering my letter, but now that the bill has been paid in full, I no longer need your financial assistance. Thanks again! — Mr. J. K., Omaha, NE

DEAR MR. K.: Would you accept a silver dollar from me for being such a gracious letter writer?

You better, because it would just kill me if you didn't and then there would be more funeral expenses incurred. I'm banking on the former

Sweet Strawberries

Who can resist the juicy, mouth-watering sweetness of strawberries? Lucky for us, strawberries are a luscious, low-calorie treat we can indulge in often without feeling guilty.

Selection - Strawberries are hand-picked at their peak of ripeness. Select plump berries with a natural shine, rich-red color and bright-green caps.

Storage - Store unwashed strawberries covered loosely with plastic wrap in the refrigerator until ready to eat.

Preparation - Just before using, rinse strawberries with caps still attached under a gentle spray of cool water. For best flavor, allow strawberries to reach room temperature before serving.

Good for You - Low in calories and an excellent source of Vitamin C, strawberries provide good amounts of dietary fiber, potassium and folacin. Nutritious snacks and desserts taste so good!

FRUIT STRAWBERRY SHAKE

- 1 pint strawberries, stemmed
- 2 med. bananas, cut in pieces
- 3 cups ice cubes
- 1/2 cup nonfat strawberry yogurt
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 Tbsp. honey

Woods & Waters

It's not the same

The last Saturday in April has come and gone, and I hardly noticed its passing. That wouldn't have been true 20 years ago.

But someone, probably laziness in a walnut paneled office in Lansing, decided several years ago to extend the season on several trout streams in Michigan.

One of those is the very place I do most of my fishing, stealing from me some of my greatest fishing memories.

The stretch from Burton's Landing to Wakeley Bridge on the main branch of the AuSable River is known to many as the "Holy Water."

This piece of water, almost nine miles long, is located in Crawford County just east of Grayling. It is an area of quality fishing, which means you must use artificial flies only with a trout possession limit of "0."

The reason for the catch and release rule is to maintain quality fishing for years to come.

Several groups, including Trout Unlimited and Anglers of the AuSable, have long professed if you don't take any fish out of the river, those which are left will tend to grow larger and smarter, thus making for better fishing.

And, after several years of collecting data, plus the experiences of numerous anglers, including myself, it has been proven their suspicions were confirmed.

However, in passing such a rule, the river within the stretch I explained, is now open to trout fishing all year. So, what have they stolen from me? The annual trout opener.

By Duane Guenther

Since I can remember the last Saturday in April has meant one thing - the opening of the general trout season in Michigan.

True, it still exists in most of the trout waters of our state, but not on the "Holy Water."

The trout opener is not the best time to catch trout, any seasoned angler will tell you that. The water is usually running high, and the cold chill accompanying this time of the year is not conducive to fly hatches.

But, any trout fisherman worth his salt will still brace the raging waters, flirt with mini-bouts of hypothermia, and tenaciously wipe snot from his upper lip just to say he has been in the river on opening day.

(If you like, you may substitute the feminine gender she for he, except when it comes to "wiping snot," there you must substitute "gently sniffing.")

For the uninformed there is more to a trout opener than fishing for trout. Like the opening of the firearm deer season, it is steeped in ancient rituals and deep-seated traditions. These may vary from trout camp to trout camp, but within the differences is a glue which bonds all trout fishermen together.

Some of my best trout openers began alone.

After skipping college classes, or later in life when I would become desperately ill on the last Friday in April, I would rise early and pointing a dilapidated vehicle northward tread my way to a riverside camping spot called Keystone Landing.

It has changed since then, more modern, with plenty of rules and well-informed, uniformed personnel to back them up. Then, it was just a grassy bank where summer canoeists stopped to rest awhile or be hauled back to Grayling.

The poor-type fishermen like myself could pitch a tent near the river and enjoy the opener like the nattily dressed snobs from the wealthy fishing camps downstream.

My trout lodge was a faded green umbrella tent. A bear to erect in daylight, and a feat never attempted once the sun went down. My bunk was a surplus army cot first draped with discarded blankets, and later, when I could afford it, a suitable sleeping bag.

My mess kit consisted of a cast iron frying pan and a battered coffee pot. Whatever I ate or drank had to be prepared in one or the other, and I can never remember having a bad meal.

An old, wooden Paygo pop case held my foodstuffs. It was easy to carry, protected its fragile contents, and when empty made a suitable fire-side stool. Waders, a rod and reel, and a pocketful of flies rounded out my gear.

I remember one opener in particular. I had gotten a late start, and didn't arrive at the campsite until just after dark.

Two other fishermen were already there and after watching me struggle with the tent,

Unionville's George Blehm recalled in story

Fish Point got a little national press this month when an article on the late George Blehm and the Fish Point Lodge appeared in the May/June Ducks Unlimited Magazine.

The article, written by Jerry Warrington of Beaverton, reminisced on the "good old days" when George Blehm's Sportsman's Haven Lodge was a favorite retreat for Saginaw Bay waterfowlers.

It included with a brief rundown on the Fish Point Lodge, as it is now known, and mentions George's grandson Doug Deming, who reclaimed the family lodge and set about restoring it to its place of historical prominence among duck hunters.

turned their cars, and thus headlights, in a direction giving enough artificial light to finish the job.

Since they had just arrived a short time before we soon struck up a conversation and decided to share a late supper. Potatoes were foil-wrapped and thrust beneath the coals of a fire one fisherman had started an hour before. A can of pork and beans was opened and sat in the fire to be cooked in its own juice.

My frying pan boiled a ring of bologna in an inch of water, and coffee was soon bubbling in the battered pot.

After supper we sat around the fire and talked well into the night. Three strangers who had not met

Blood is still needed

With the need for more human blood becoming more acute during the spring and summer months, various blood programs were listed for May by Wolverine Region of the American Red Cross at Flint.

Here are the scheduled local blood programs: WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, UBLV, Thumb Electric Office, 1-6:45 p.m.;

THURSDAY, MAY 18, CASEVILLE, Eagles Hall, 2-6:45 p.m.; MONDAY, MAY 22, PIGEON, VFW Hall, 2-6:45 p.m.;

THURSDAY, MAY 25, CARO, United Methodist Church, 12 noon-6:45 p.m.

one another before that night, but had so much in common.

There were stories to tell, flies to compare, lies to lie, and jokes to laugh at. We talked about fish we had caught or lost, places we dreamed of fishing, and rods we hoped to someday own.

There were no arguments or disagreements and no competition. It was truly a fine evening.

Breakfast was a repeat of supper and by mid-morning, someone mentioned we probably should go fishing. I rose to get my waders but one of my new-found friends offered to fill my near empty coffee cup and I sat back down.

We could fish later in the afternoon was the general consensus, but for now we just wanted to enjoy another trout opener.....

ST PETER'S LADIES AID, Bach

Seventy-five years of opportunities to serve the Lord and His Church will be celebrated at a special dinner this month by members of St. Peter Lutheran Ladies Aid Society of Bach.

Plans for a celebration dinner and other business matters were discussed at the May 4 meeting under the leadership of President Inez Nitz.

Hostesses Ethel Hessler and Dorothy Hafner led members in a devotional that reflected the tone of Thursday's National Day of Prayer.

The new heat efficient windows for the church basement have arrived and will be installed in the near future. The Aid will also help finance new windows for the parsonage.

It was noted to have the 75th anniversary dinner May 11 at Sherwood on the Hill for members and their spouses. The committee of the month is in charge of arrangements.

Ethel Hessler gave the quarterly meeting report of Frankmuth Lutheran Home Auxiliary.

After the meeting quiz games were played and prizes were won by Lorene Reich, Inez Nitz and Ida Sting. Door prize was won by Bernadine Kundering. Refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

TRIAD S.A.L.T. GROUP

The monthly meeting of Huron County TRIAD Board was held May 11 in Bad Axe with President Harry Sauer of Port Hope welcoming 16 board members.

Secretary Della Trudgen of Pigeon read the April minutes which were approved. President Sauer stated that Irene Bolzman of Sebewaing will serve as media correspondent for the group.

Sgt. R. Brent Woodward displayed the sign which will identify the Board and will be displayed at county functions. Name tags were issued to members identifying them and the area they represent. Newly-printed brochures to be distributed at area events containing information on goals of the Board were reviewed.

Mary Thrushman of Thumb Area Services for Seniors extended an invitation to county seniors to attend the 4th Annual Huron Senior Fair to be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, June 16 at Bad Axe High School. Many agencies will have informational booths and there will also be fun activities, as well as door prizes and lunch available for a nominal fee.

Sheriff Michael Gage led discussion on various concerns of senior citizens and stated it is the TRIAD Board's responsibility to listen and assist seniors with special needs and concerns. "TRIAD is a triangle with three points.

At the top are Seniors and at the bottom are local police departments and the Sheriff working together to build a pyramid of strength and stability to help those Seniors in need," concluded Sheriff Gage.

Next meeting will be 3 p.m. Monday, June 5 in the County Courthouse, Bad Axe.

Sleeper Park hosts Art Expo, dulcimers on Saturday, May 20

Final plans for the second annual Art Expo and Dulcimer Festival set for Saturday, May 20 at Sleeper State Park are now in full swing, according to Roy Elie, management unit supervisor at Sleeper. Artists from around the county will display their art using the mediums of photography, painting, clay pottery, stained glass, wood carving, etc. - from 10 to 4 in the picnic area at Sleeper State Park.

Most of the art items will be for sale. During the art show, many dulcimer players will mill around making music, preparing for their evening show at 7 p.m. at the campground. Smokey the Bear will be present during the day, as will a clown or two to entertain the youngsters with games and activities. Food concessions will also be available, adds Elie.

Well over 20 dulcimer players have signed up to play, and persons interested in enjoying their show are asked to bring their lawn chairs. Rain plans are for all activities to take place at the Caseville School Auditorium.

A Motor Vehicle Permit is required for entry into Sleeper State Park and they will be available at the park entrance. For details, call 517-856-4411.

Unionville gets water grant

Unionville village officials are smiling, since official word has been received that they will be the recipient of a $270,000 grant to improve the municipal water system.

Work on the grant began when the state Department of Public Health notified the village that its water system was deficient. And, last week, State Rep. Mike Green (R-Mayville) and Sen. Joel Gougou (R-Bay City) announced the Michigan Jobs Commission had approved the funding.

According to Gougou, the project will include improvements such as:

- An elevated water tank;
 - A new water main serving the tank from the existing wells, and
 - replacement water mains to improve pressure.
- Green said the tasks involve engineering design, plan and specification preparation, the bid process, awarding of the contract and construction and inspection of the work.
- "This is great news for a village with limited resources," Green said. "Maintaining a safe and adequate water system is crucial to the public safety of Unionville residents and the grant will be a tremendous help."

Completion is expected by the fall of 1996.

He found '23 Blade

By WALT RUMMEL

An ancient and honorable truism states that daily newspapers have a life of one-day, while weekly newspapers live happily in your home for seven days to several weeks — and much longer.

That was apparent again last week when Sebewaing native and longtime resident Norman Gaeth discovered a "saved" Sebewaing Blade in his home, from Thursday, Sept. 27, 1923.

He enjoyed looking at it so much that he brought it to The Newsweekly office to share it with the staff and readers.

■ Stories in that edition told that a sixth coat test well was found on the Mary Krauss property with a 29-inch vein of coal.

■ Another story said that four litters of pigs, all born in Michigan the previous spring, reached the "surprising total weight of one ton in six months," and qualified for the Michigan Ton Litter Club.

An obituary reported the death of 88-year-old Frank Tietz who had served in the Civil War.

■ The list of jurors for October term of circuit court included Herman Esch of Sebewaing, John Faist of Fair Haven, Elias Wideman of McKinley, Arthur Hewitt of Caseville, Flyerson Fitchett of Chandler, David Murphy of Grant and Joseph Powers of Lake Township.

■ Engineer B.W. Allen, who was installing outdoor wiring and switchboard for Sebewaing's "new electric light plant," reported that there are more than 40 miles of wires in the town. After a "well-earned vacation," Allen was to return to install a new 100-hp engine.

■ Advertisements were for G.F. Gramel, offering a Fordson Universal Tractor for $395, for Detroit; John C. Liken Company advertised 23c bulk coffee at 3 lbs for 65c, while the best 38c coffee was marked 3 lbs $1.05; oatmeal was 7 lbs 25c; Kellogg's bran flakes 3 boxes 25c; Liken's Best Flour $6 per barrel.

■ Sebewaing State Bank had total assets of $669,185, and Farmers & Merchants State Bank had $397,525.

■ Myers & Riedel Store had blankets, dress materials, gloves and knit goods and infant blankets; John Rummel & Company offered "New York Styles" in ladies' and children's fall and winter coats; William Yackie sold Silvertown Cord Tires; Eberlein Brothers Pharmacy offered new Victor Records every week.

Killdeer makes home in driveway!

OH, KILLDEER: That's not just a driveway that Ray and Frieda Parker are pointing to — it's a killdeer nest holding four tiny speckled eggs.

The Parkers' driveway has hosted the same pair of killdeer parents for the past two years, and each time the birds have laid eggs in almost exactly the same spot.

That's not unusual, say the bird experts at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary between Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Shirley Wood, staff member at the Sanctuary, says killdeer like to have a nesting place that gives them a clear view of their surroundings. The male picks out several promising spots in a lawn, driveway, roadside or a cultivated field and scrapes a nest about five to seven inches in diameter, lining it with pebbles, grass or wood chips. The female will pick one of the nesting spots and lay four pointed, dull-colored, black-and-brown spotted eggs.

Both parents incubate the eggs and after 24-26 days, the eggs hatch. If the nest is threatened, the killdeer will pretend to be injured and run away from the nest to draw a potential predator away from the eggs. And once a nesting pair pick out a good spot, they're likely to return the following year, Wood says.

Frieda says that she and Ray have to be careful when they pull into their driveway so they can give the mother time to get away from the nest.

"When a neighbor comes in, we watch them carefully so they don't run over the nest," Ray says. — By AMY HEIDEN
