Huron Casting to add 150 jobs

By AMY HEIDEN

Up to 150 new jobs could be added at Huron Casting, Inc. in Pigeon, thanks to an $825,000 grant from the Michigan Jobs Commission.

The grant will be paid to the Village of Pigeon and go directly to Detroit Edison to help construct a $5.2 million power line bringing 120,000 volts for the company's new melting and pouring line.

Huron Casting co-owner Leroy Wurst said his company will pay $1.2 million as its share of the cost of the high voltage line, while Detroit Edison will pay the remaining $3.2 million.

The grant money will be used to build an electrical substation on the company's property. The line will be constructed from either Gagetown or Bad Axe, Wurst said.

Sen. Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) and State Rep. Mike Green (R-Mayville) announced the grant Thursday, and cited the efforts of Carl Osentoski of the Huron County Economic Development Commission in obtaining the funding.

"Through determination and a coordinated effort, the EDC is making a real difference in the Thumb," Green said.

The EDC was also helpful in getting a $1 million grant to Harbor Beach for development an industrial park.

Huron Casting, a steel foundry, produces shell-molded steel castings for several industries, including railroads and the military.

The company is developing prototype castings for various automotive companies which could spark in-

Red Hacker Tournament in Pigeon this weekend

In an age when Chicago's Scottie Pippen throws a chair across the court in a rage over a foul call, and when Houston's Vernon Maxwell storms 12 rows into the stands to punch an alleged heckler in the jaw, young athletes need real role models.

For the 1995 season, the Red Hacker basketball tournament is implementing "Take Out The Trash" — a code of ethics to which tournament participants must adhere. Trash talking and referee bashing will not be tolerated.

"At Red Hacker's 1995 tournaments, kids and adults will focus on playing the game of basketball without the use of trash talking," says Tournament Director Redford Maust of Pigeon.

The tournament comes to Pigeon this weekend, Saturday and Sunday July 22-23. For details, call 1-800-968-3865.

"Dunking is allowed at the tournaments — giving players and opportunity to showcase their ability to fly," he says.

But dunking can become a source of disrespect among players if left uncontrolled.

"Our Take Out the Trash policy will ensure good sportsmanship, our 9-foot rim divisions will ensure the excitement of high flying dunks. Red Hacker tournaments allow participants the choice of a regulation 10-foot rim division or a 9-foot rim division," Maust says.

"We have faith in the athletes that they can dunk in the games and still show re-

Mike Eisengruber named to Bean Commission

Gov. John Engler announced the appointment of Michael Eisengruber of Sebewaing to the Michigan Bean Commission, which promotes market and economic development opportunities for the state's bean industry.

Members of the Commission are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Eisengruber has been Vice-President of the Bean Division for Cooperative Elevator of Pigeon since 1985. Prior to that, he was employed with Sebewaing Farmers Cooperative as a co-op student, Assistant Manager and then Plant Manager from 1977-1985.

He is a board member for the Michigan Bean Shippers Association and recently served a term as the organization's president. Eisengruber is appointed to replace Robert Green of St. Johns, and to represent the Michigan Bean Shippers Association for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1997.

Sattler closing law office

Steve Sattler, Sebawaing attorney, has recently accepted a full-time position with Tuscola County District Court, and has closed his private law practice.

On Monday, July 10, Sattler began his new duties as the Attorney Magistrate/Court Administrator working under District Court 71-B Judge Kim Gaspie in the Tuscola County Court House.

In his new position, Sattler will handle all small claims and preside over civil infraction hearings.

Additional duties to this newly-created position will include administrative duties involving budget and personnel, as well as signing warrants.

Most counties in Michigan employ magistrate who are not attorneys. The Tuscola County District Court chose to fill the magistrate's job with an attorney which would not only give the position more credence, but also expand the jurisdiction it could cover.

Sattler, a Unionville native, graduated from Unionville

STEVE SATTLER

High School in 1969, did undergraduate work at Olivet College and received his Juris Doctorate from the Thomas Cooley Law School in 1978.

He has practiced law in Sebawaing since 1983, where he made his home with his wife Carol, stepdaughter Tiffany, and son Joshua.

Sattler has been unsuccessful in recent attempts to sell his law practice, so it could stay open.

"I guess small town attorneys are unique," Sattler says, "Not many lawyers were interested."

Sattler indicated his office had closed on July 10 and former clients should check on their files.

creased production, Gougeon said.

Huron Casting currently has a 200,000-sq. ft. production facility and is building a 30,000-sq. ft. addition to house the second melting and pouring line. The company has about 330 employees and is Pigeon's largest employer.

Wurst said the new jobs could be added within the next two years, thanks to the new power line.

"If we don't put the line in, we're limited to 10,000 kilowatts of power," Wurst said. "By having 120,000 volts, we're removing that restriction. It allows our business to grow and employ more people.

"The state will get its money back over and over if we add new employees."

Wurst estimated it would take a year for the high-voltage line and substation to be built. Adding the new power line will also prevent the slight power distortion some Pigeon residents experience when the miller is powered up.

Once the line is installed, the company won't draw power from the current Pigeon substation unless maintenance is being done on the high voltage line.

New steakhouse, pub in Pigeon BK LeMasters, Rookies to open

By AMY HEIDEN

Putting years of experience in restaurants and pubs to work for themselves, Brian Knoblock and Dave and Marcie LeMaster will soon open BK LeMasters and Rookies Pub in the former Greenfields restaurant building on Caseville Road in Pigeon.

BK LeMasters will be the name of the restaurant portion of the business, while Rookies will be the pub, Dave LeMaster says. And while they'll share a menu, each will have separate business hours.

BK LeMasters is planned as a steakhouse, serving the finest choice steaks and prime rib available, says chef Brian Knoblock, who has worked at the Bank 1884, Garfield Inn and Hersel's on the Bay.

His specialty will be bourbon steak, but patrons can also order one of four sizes of prime rib and two sizes of ribeye steaks.

Those steaks will be lightly seasoned with a mesquite steak seasoning, just enough to give a slight mesquite flavor, Knoblock says.

"We will serve only western grain-fed beef, the best we can get," Knoblock says. "And each steak will be branded with our distinctive brand before it comes off the grill."

Barbecue ribs will also be one of the specialties, Knoblock says, with rib tips available as an appetizer.

But if barbecue doesn't quite fill the bill for a hungry diner, there will also be pizza and calzones and nachos supreme. Specials not on the menu will also be available for lunch and dinner.

Knoblock is also excited about offering prime-stuffed potatoes. A giant baked potato is cut in half, hollowed out and deep fried, then stuffed with thin strips of prime rib, mushrooms, sautéed onions and melted cheese.

Beef won't be the only item available, though. BK LeMasters will also offer some seafood and chicken dishes, as well as southern fried catfish with a Dijon batter.

Cajun food such as blackened ribeye will be served and diners will be able to order a side order of fresh perch with their steaks.

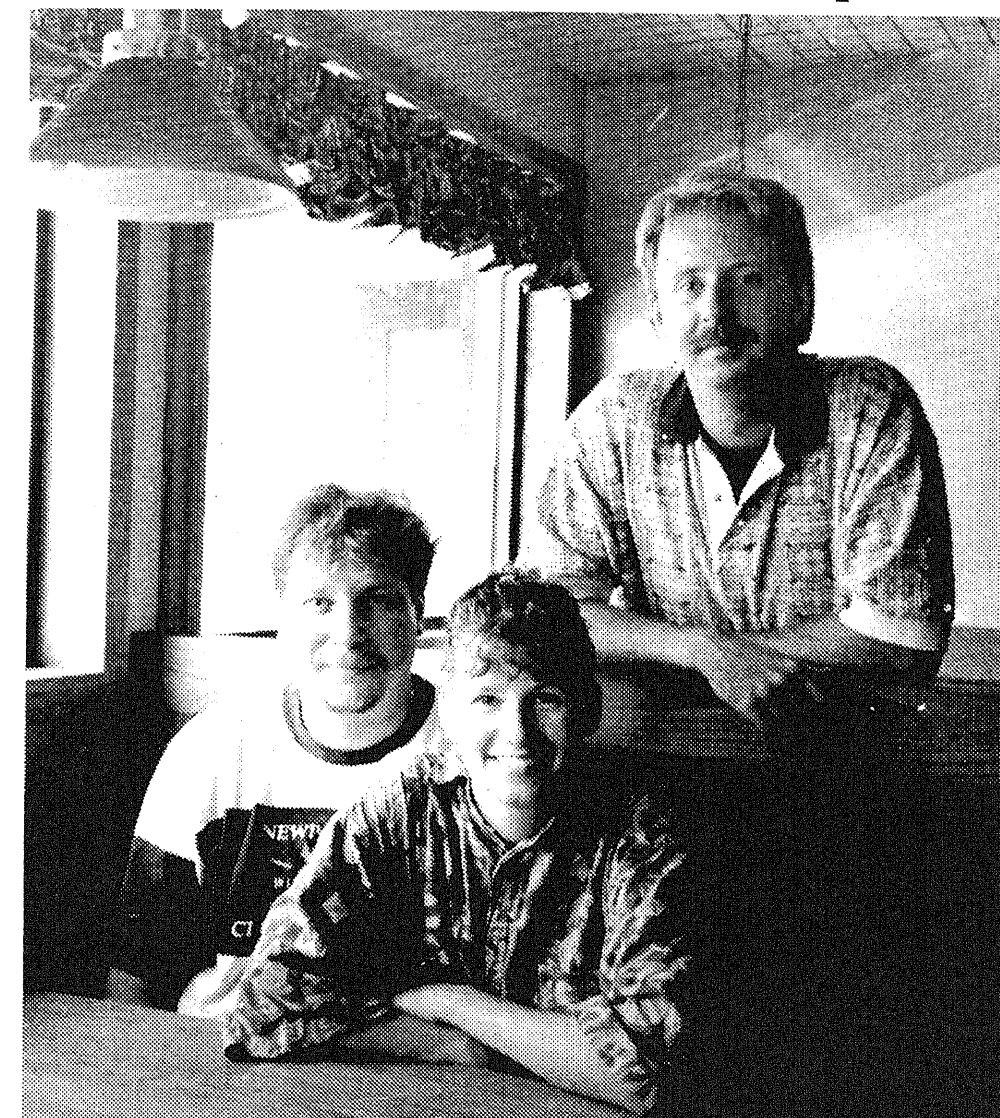

And should a diner order a burger, they'll be able to build their own sandwich at the Burger Bar. Two sizes of burgers will be available, and the customer can step up to the Burger Bar and choose from a wide variety of condiments, such as sautéed onions, special sauces, the restaurant's signature Jack Daniels Barbecue Sauce, lettuce, tomatoes and more.

"We want to offer reasonably-priced food in a more casual atmosphere," Knoblock says.

"People are welcome to come in their jeans and enjoy a great meal. We're excited to be opening and we want to have a family-type atmosphere."

The dining room is being remodeled to reflect a farm and country atmosphere, with antiques proudly displayed throughout the room. A horse-drawn plowshare is the centerpiece of the room to set the country theme.

Plans include adding a shelf around the room to display the antiques the owners have collected, including bird cages, lanterns, milk bottles, farm tools and medicine bottles. A huge antique cash register will greet customers as they come in the front door.

NEW OPERATORS: Dave and Marcie LeMaster and Brian Knoblock sit in part of their new steakhouse - pub to open soon in Pigeon. BK LeMasters will be open 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Rookies Pub will be open 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in Pigeon. AMY HEIDEN PHOTO

While the dining room will have a country theme, Rookies Pub will have a high school sports theme.

Dave LeMaster plans to display football helmets from local high schools over the bar mirror to highlight high school sports. A 1976 Laker graduate, he says the Laker helmet will be the centerpiece.

BKL Management will be operating the bar for former owners FourWest Ltd. until the liquor license transfer is approved, and LeMaster is busy making plans to make the pub a popular place to meet. He's already well-known in the area, working as manager of the Bella Vista in Caseville and acting as a deejay.

A wide-screen TV will show all the sports available, and LeMaster plans to bring in the QB1 game system, an interactive satellite entertainment system in which patrons can play along with the football game.

The player competes with other players throughout the country and could win prizes and money for amassing the most points in the game.

Any menu item will be available in the pub, and after the dining room has closed for the evening, sandwiches and snacks will be available for bar patrons.

"We want the place to reflect our personalities and make it look like 'us,'" LeMaster says.

The LeMasters and Knoblock hope to be open by Farmers' Festival or the first of August. They're already taking reservations for weddings and banquets.

Only one meeting at a time at Caseville Council

Only one meeting at a time will be held by the Caseville Village Council from now on.

That's the result by a 5-1 vote on a motion by councilman Dick Kundering to restrict meetings to one per day. Previously, the council would hold public hearings or additional meetings before the regular council meetings.

But questions on pay for the meetings brought the motion before the council, according to Deputy Clerk Shelley Stirrett.

Council members are paid $25 per meeting with no limit on meetings according to the village's charter, but an ordinance limits the members to being paid for only three meetings a month.

At the same meeting, council accepted the resignation of Village Clerk Lori Hewlett, who resigned for personal reasons. Stirrett will fill the position until some is appointed to the post. The job will be permanently filled in the March 1996 election. Applications for the job are being accepted at the village hall until July 28, Stirrett said.

A bid of $13,001 from Duane and Gloria Belanger of Warren for a piece of property on Legion Drive. That property now holds a well house, and the well will be capped and the building removed. Council accepted a bid of $2,200 from Thumb Well Drilling of Port Austin to cap the well.

Council will be asking the Huron County Drain Commission to investigate dredging the Pigeon River within the village limits, in response to property owners who say that silt is building up in the riverbed. That buildup makes it impossible for many to get their boats near their property, the owners say.

"by the numbers"

WHAT'S IN A NAME? Early explorers had several names for the Great Lakes. Dollier and Gallinee, who explored the area in 1670, called Lake Huron both "Lake Michigan" and "the freshwater sea of the Hurons or Algonquin." Later, in 1679, LaSalle's group referred to Lake Michigan as "the Lake of Illinois."

3% per year is not his favorite idea

By CARL DAST, Pigeon

Subject: 3% per year: Someone in Washington says 3% per year is OK. So they raise everybody's pay 3%.

I for one remember when real good cars sold for less than $1,000. I say we are getting better cars now for $25,000 each and we could fix our older cars but today no way.

People buy each other's labor. When my neighbor gets a raise, the product that he makes sells for more and it is just a round-robin game, unless the government leads the way and stops that 3% per year.

By the year 2020, 25 years up the road, a $25,000 car will cost our children as much as $50,000. But that is OK for some but not for me. Greed again leads the way.

Three percent per year compounded. You figure it out. My advice, look both ways before you vote or jump.

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR:

There's an old saying that you can take a man off the farm but you can't take the farm off the man. Well, that's very true.

When I was growing up, I worked on farms as a hired man. I worked for some good people and some were a little hard on me. I always got the dirty work to do and that didn't make me like being a farmer very much.

Once I worked for a man who was real good to me. Every once in awhile he'd send me to help some farmer do some work. Once he sent me to help string out tile and unload them from a box car.

The man made me stack the tile on the wagon while he carried them to me. I kept up with him, but I couldn't carry them out fast enough. So he carried them to me, but it was very hot. He got a sweat on in a hurry, but he kept at it.

Once a neighbor needed a man to go thrashing for him, so the boss sent me. Back in those days, people hauled their grain into the barn and thrashed it when they got around to it.

Well, this man had hauled in his barley. It was that old kind of barley that had beads on it and there was some smut in it. And, it was very hot. I was there all day and the next day I had thrash fever.

A lot of people don't know what that is, but it's like the flu and makes a person ache all over.

Well, the boss told me he wouldn't have to send me, but I could take the day off and I laid under a shade tree and went to sleep. When I woke up I was covered up and had a pillow under my head. The boss' wife had covered me up and gave me a cold drink and they were very concerned about me.

Then I worked for a farmer who wanted to get all the work he could out of me and he had me out harrowing with four horses in a big field.

It was 11:30 and it started to rain, so I hitched and went to the barn and the boss said it wasn't quite 12 o'clock, but it was too wet for the horses so I could carry in straw for the straw stack until noon.

I would have thought if it was too wet for the horses, it would be too wet for me, too! Once he told me to let the horses rest at noon, for one hour and 15 minutes and I could rest one hour and clean out a ditch in back of the pig stable while the horses rested.

It was in the Depression time and a fellow was lucky to have a job.

He was giving me $25.00 a month and told me he'd give me another month's work, but he'd only give me $20.00, so I stayed another month. A lot of hired men only got $18.00 per month, so I thought I was lucky to have a job.

When I got done, I got a job with a farmer for $25.00. He didn't have a tractor, but I always liked horses so I felt lucky to have a job.

I worked for that man over seven summers and when I started to farm, he loaned me money to buy some cows and later on a tractor. He helped me buy my farm and when my barn burned down, he loaned me money to build a new one.

I farmed 'til I retired several years ago, but I still get my farm papers. I guess I didn't do too bad by farming. I worked on the road and in the quarry and the canning factory here and in Florida, but farming is still in my blood.

Sincerely yours,

GEORGE KEIM

Wow! This past week's hot weather must have gotten under the sweaty skin of lots of local folks... there's plenty of grumbling out there in this collection of "what's on your mind." So, as I reach for the fan, here are selected comments this week:

A. of Elkton: To the blond woman in the black Jeep who stopped on the main street in Elkton to scream at her kids: I hope you realize how many people saw you scream at the top of your lungs at your kids and just how stupid you looked doing it. I also hope you realize that that is no way to treat kids and it will be a wonder if those kids don't grow up with all sorts of problems. Lighten up, lady!

R.H. of Sebewaing: Does anybody know what's going on, on M-142 west of Pigeon? That road was in better shape before they started. Is it going to stay that way or what?

(I wondered that same thing, R.H. We'll check with the Huron County Road Commission, which is maintaining this state highway.)

P.K. of Uby: I was fishing in Downtown Sebewaing, behind the stores, when I saw a dog by a dumpster, full of flies. This dog was chained to the dumpster, no water to drink, no place to get out of the heat. Some people said it was the son's dog. This was Saturday, July 15. Nice people in this town, ha! Please check on this poor dog.

(How about it, neighbors or Sebewaing Police?)

Tim of Caseville: I always buy the Bay City Times on Sunday. That is the best deal, for good comics and even coupons.

O. at Oak Beach: I want your readers to know, after too many years without a boat launch ramp here at Oak Beach, finally we have a ramp, a place for people to launch small boats.

H. of Elkton: Readers should know how the owner of Active Industries treats his production employees. On days like this when it's 90 degrees, it's 120 in the factory, for people running the presses. There is no kind of air conditioning system. When I'm fortunate enough to get an occasional break of a few seconds if the line is stopped, that's the only time I can take a moment to wipe the sweat from my face and out of my eyes.

All the fanfare you gave to Active Industries a few months ago with space was hurtful to those who work there. If they cared about their employees, they'd get some fans.

Sam F. of Sebewaing: I live at the corner of Davis and Pitcher Streets in Sebewaing. Rohde Bros., who put in sewer and water here, did an outstanding job. I think Rohde Bros. and their whole crew should be commended for it. But you still have those people who cry about everything. I'm one of 'em who says they did an outstanding job. Thank you very kindly.

D. from Unionville: Tax dollars are going to be wasted again when an administrative decision is forcing the ag classes to move to another room, so the ag room can be converted for computer use. The room is completely equipped for Mr. Kieser; now they'll be changing things for both ag classes and computers. The School Board is letting Mr. Grant and Mr. Gainforth make this wasteful decision. I'm going to vote no next time they ask for any additional millage, if they're going to waste dollars like this.

(As you'll see from a USA School Board story elsewhere in this issue, new Supt. Rich Ramsey has been directed to make the best decision for the proposed move.)

R.B. of Sebewaing: With all the power outages in the Thumb this past week, I think Sebewaing should be extremely thankful we have our own power plant.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: These three messages were held over by mistake two weeks, after being received about June 27.)

D. of Sebewaing: I watched the fireworks in Sebewaing. It was one of the best shows ever. I hope all of Sebewaing watched.

T. of Bay Port: I went to the parade with my granddaughter and three-month-old baby. We sat in a shaded place and along came all the super-shooter squirt guns and cannons. They and the fire engines started shooting water and really scared the baby. They woke up the baby and got us all wet. Do we really need that?

M. of Sebewaing: What happened to senior citizen day at the Sugar Festival? At least we could have had our bingo.

■ The first reported killing of a human by a robot occurred at Jackson on JULY 21, 1984, when a 34-year-old worker was caught between the robot and a safety bar, crushing the man. He died five days later of his injuries... Violinist Isaac Stern is 75 today. Actor/comedian Don Knotts, who starred for many years in the Andy Griffith Show, is 71...

■ The first person ever designated as "Public Enemy No. 1," John Dillinger, was killed by FBI agents as he left the Biograph Theater in Chicago after seeing Clark Gable star in the movie, "Manhattan Melodrama," on JULY 22, 1934. Dillinger, a bank robber/murderer/prison escapee, carried on a nine-year crime spree. He was supposedly betrayed by a "lady in red." One of his escapes was made with a small pistol which Dillinger carved from a bar of soap...

According to legend, on JULY 22, 1376, the German village of Hamelin bargained with a vagabond piper, to rid the town of its many rats. The music of the "pied piper" attracted all rats to follow him and they drowned when he walked them into the River Weser. Seeing how easy the task was, town officials refused payment so the piper played his music again, causing all the town's children to follow him into a hole in the hill, never to be seen again. Although a legend, the story has many versions, one being that it actually happened in 1284 when a young man left Hamelin, taking other young people with him, all seeking their fortunes in greener fields... "Wonder Woman" Lynda Carter is 44 today, and Ruth Buzzi, comedienne/actress, is 59. She gained her first fame as a member of the Rowan & Martin Laugh-In...

■ The JULY 22 reference to the Pied Piper of Hamelin brought back many memories, and raised questions of how a few lines or verses can remain in the memory of 5, 6 even 7 decades. Lines like, "The River Weser, deep and wide, washes its shores on the southern side. A pleasanter place you never spied, when here begins my ditty, almost 500 years ago, in Hamelin was a pity." And also, "Rats! They fought the dogs and killed the cats, and bit the babies in their cradles. They ate the cheese out of the vats, made nests inside men's Sunday hats, etc., etc."...

Horsin' Around

by Kate Pickering

'Til death do us part

We all get older, faster and faster it seems, every year. But that goes tragically double for our pets and horses. Dogs, as we all know, skip seven years ahead of us at a time, and horses about three or four. To me, this leaves a terrible gap between great loves and short lives.

My horse Tex is 17 years old this summer, which puts him at about 55 or 60 in human years. Of course, that's not old enough to start worrying about death or euthanasia, but unfortunately, it's old enough to start thinking about it. (Which, given my variety of neuroses, I will do every single day...)

But it's also just old enough to put me in a precarious position in terms of his health care and exercise. The vet and farrier both tell me the worst thing I can do for him at this point is retire him too early.

Keeping his blood flowing, his joints lubricated and his weight down, all achieved with rigorous regular exercise, is vital to his health and well-being over the next five years. It could make all the difference between a short miserable conclusion to his life and a long, happy, comfortable retirement.

But the second worst thing I could do for Tex, it would seem, would be to become too cavalier about his age and condition. It could prove harmful, even fatal, if I were to ride hard and aggressive over tough terrain for miles on end like we used to love to do.

Most assuredly I must convince my jockey, my family and Tex's many fans that his racing days are over as well, which is not easy when we start to get those annual challenges. It's tough to grit my teeth and say, "no, no, he's too old and fat for that now," when I know keep in my heart that old horse would still love the opportunity to blow everyone off the track.

And so it is with great caution that I begin this dreadful tight-rope walk I know so well. After all, this is the third such balancing act I have embarked upon in 25 years of horse ownership.

Sometimes it goes beautifully and unevenly, like with my old mare Candy, who lived calmly and comfortably for 30 long years, then went peacefully within a couple of hours.

And sometimes, of course, it goes quickly and tragically, like with Charlie, who had a few bad years of ups-and-downs and touch-and-go's before we had to make the decision to end it for him—much too soon, in my opinion.

But although it tears my heart out to see my horses get old so quickly, there is someone else who is starting to age as well. Someone who's starting to give a bit under this stress, someone who's beginning to show the unmistakable signs of aging. Me!

And it may very well be that Tex is the last horse for whom I can maintain the strength and fortitude to provide special retirement care. It may very well be that Tex is the last horse my heart can bear to take down that long road to eternity. It may very well be that Tex is the last horse I will own, love, keep and nurture "till death do us part."

Mehr about alte stores

Wir haben etliche alte Bilder received in recent Wochen, concerned mit Sebewaing Streets. Die alte Bilder sind extremely sharp und clear, obwohl Sie schon 80 oder 90 Jahre alt sind.

Wir haben schon oeffters Geschichten erzahlt von Herr und Frau Stuetzer, die ein Jewelry Store hatten auf die same Location da Layher Jewelers immer noch ihr Store operaten. Der Stuetzer Store war ein classic, old-fashioned business Platz, mit ein gut ge-painted Store Front.

Auf die Street Level war die Tuer in die Middle, und Panels und display Windows an jede Seite.

Wenn mann auf die Sidewalk steht, und schaut den Store an, dann sieht mann an die linke Seite (zum nord) das Wort "JEWELER" in feine, huebsche, grosse, goldene, runde Letters. An die rechte Seite (zur suden), sieht mann das Wort "OPTICIAN," auch in feine, huebsche, grosse, goldene, runde Letters.

Hoehrer oben, in dem Awning, ist der Name, "JOHN STUETZER." Noch hoehrer, an ein grosses Sign, sagt es "Edison Photographs and Records."

In die display Windows sieht mann kleine und grosse Uhren, und an several kann mann even die Pendulums sehen. Next zu die Tuer steht eine grosse, prachtvolle Uhr, die mann heute "Regulator" nennt. (Wer weiss was solch ein Antique heute kosten wird!)

Auch haengen dort kleine Bilder und etliche Lampen (seit es schon hohe electric Poles zeigt, so kann mann assumen das es electric Lampen sind) und etliche kleine Displays, vielleicht Jewelry.

Next door zu Stuetzer's Store, zum suden wo jetzt eine Insurance Office ist, stand Clabuesch City Drug Store, auch mit ein feines classical Gebaeude und huebsche goldene Letters.

Zur nord, war ein Schuh und Stiefel Store. Vor den Store war ein Pfosten mit ein grosser wooden Stiefel instead of ein Sign.

Upstairs, ueber den Store, war die Sebewaing Blade Office, mit ein grosses, neues, frisches Sign. Am ein End sagte es "Job Printing" und am andern End war es "H.G. Muellerweiss, Pub." Ein Stairway, mit starke Railing, ging Upstairs an die nord Seite.

Dieses describes nur 3 Business Plaetze, aber es ist obvious das die Geschaefte sehen alle neat, neu und inviting aus. Es gab schon cement Sidewalks, aber North Center Strasse war nur Grund, nicht einmal Gravel. Mann kann denken wie muddy und sticky das wurde mit Regen oder Schnee.

Ueberall standen hitching Posts, und etliche Pferde waren angebunden.

Es ist ein guter, frischer Look zurueck zu eine alte Zeit, aber es zeigte Sebewaing als ein junges, gutes, prosperous Dorf.

Die Moral in die Geschichte ist, wie schoen es waere wenn wir nur fuer eine Stunde zurueck gehen koennten und die original Strasse ansehen!

& SIDEWALK SALES
during Pigeons Farmers' Festival
July 27, 28 & 29
SPONSORED BY THE PIGEON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Special displays this summer include over 100 old and new cameras, a newly restored pianola, antique musical instruments, 500 obituary notices, 1890 and 1904 plat books, Pigeon High School memorabilia, horse shoe bits and shoes, souvenir glass, music boxes and butter pads.

The Historical Society has a couple of other reasons for people to get excited about the history of Pigeon.

They're selling Pigeon historical afghans, featuring line drawings of historical sites and landmarks of Pigeon like the old school arch, the Pigeon River Camelback Bridge, the Municipal Building, Band Shell, Thumb National Bank & Trust Co., Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon District Library and the Limerick Road One Lane Bridge.

The artwork was provided by Laker High School art students, under the guidance of art teacher Lee Deneen.

Made from the same quality three-ply yarns available in afghans sold at the Pigeon River Mercantile & Wool Co., these afghans are in shades of hunter green and ivory, and will be on display at numerous Pigeon businesses during the Pigeon Farmers' Festi-tival and for sale at the Depot Museum. All funds raised will benefit museum projects and maintenance.

Each afghan comes with an historical booklet describing the history of each site pictured on the afghan. Also for sale are Pigeon historical videos and computerized cemetery plat books for Caseville Township Cemetery and Grand Lawn Cemetery. This trio of historical offerings is "a real historical value for the people of Pigeon," according to Kathleen Eichler, publicity chairman for the Historical Society.

Manure offered at Thursday's show Circus is coming to Caseville!

You're invited to come for the fun, when Kelly-Miller Circus brings its big 3 Rings of entertainment to the Caseville School grounds this Thursday, July 20, with performances at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Caseville Chamber of Commerce sponsors the circus. And, circus leaders offer you a true bargain: "Step right up folks, and take home all the circus manure you wish."

Circus manure is high class, they say, as elephants have varied diets from eating foods such as apples, peanuts and loaves of bread. Circus Jungle Fertilizer is pure and unadulterated, officials say, and it will help your ailing garden grow better.

The Circus has mounds of exotic manure, full of minerals and ready for you — just stop by the circus grounds with appropriate carrying tools.

Step right up, folks, and grow the finest garden or turf with official circus manure — available after Thursday's shows in Caseville.

Jeremy Wissner will perform at Pigeon Band Shell

Local musician plays with Symphony Band

By SALLY RUMMEL
It will be a homecoming of sorts for Laker High School student Jeremy Wissner, who will join fellow members of the Blue Lake International Symphony Band on stage at the Pigeon Farmers' Festival — when the orchestra makes a special appearance on Thursday, July 27 at 4:30 p.m. at the Pigeon Band Shell.

It will be a homecoming because the 110-member band has spent this summer traveling in Europe and this Pigeon performance will be musicians enrolled in the 1995 program from the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a prestigious summer school of the arts located in northern Michigan.

Students — all between the ages of 13 and 18 — are carefully chosen for the program on the basis of character, as well as musical ability, to represent the finest example of American youth.

The young ambassadors will be hosted by European musical organizations and their communities, where they are staying in private homes with local host families.

The Pigeon Farmers' Festival Committee is pleased to add this musical event to next week's festival schedule and invites the public to make plans to attend the Thursday concert, while enjoying all the other festival events.

Wissner is the son of Greg and Carol Wissner of Elkton.

HELP! Host families are still needed!

Local families are invited to host members of the 110-member Blue Lake International Symphony Orchestra for one evening, while they make their appearance during the Pigeon Farmers' Festival.

"We are so pleased to have these talented young people with us during the festival," says Rhonda Buehler, who is coordinating their visit locally. "We really need the support of the community in making them feel welcome."

What is needed are host families — people willing to bring one or more students into their home for overnight lodging on Thursday evening.

Host families may pick up their student(s) at the Band Shell on Thursday, July 27 at 6:30 p.m. after the concert, provide overnight lodging (sleeping bags or couches are fine!), Friday morning breakfast and a sack lunch for the bus trip to their next concert location.

Host families are desperately needed, according to Buehler, as 110 students are depending upon the hospitality of the local community. To volunteer for one or more students, contact Buehler at 517-453-2506.

By AMY HEIDEN

Several pollution problems plague Saginaw Bay these days, but the state Department of Natural Resources can't do much about a couple of them.

That was the message Charles Bauer, an Environmental Quality Analyst with the DNR, gave Friday, in a special meeting in Caseville. He spoke at a Clean Bay Workshop in Caseville, sponsored by the Huron County MSU Cooperative Extension Office and the Huron Soil Conservation District.

One of the top complaints from shoreline residents is smelly muck and foam washing up on beaches — but several factors contribute to the problem, Bauer said.

"The interior of the Bay is relatively shallow and that lets in lots of sunlight," he said. "Zebra mussels clarify the water of suspended algae, but they don't 'clean' the water. They filter the algae out."

"With increased light penetration, plants grow and then they die off. As they die off, bacteria starts the decomposition process and as the bacteria feed, it takes oxygen out of the water. It's the bacteria decomposing the plants that causes the smell," Bauer said.

Other causes of pollution that the DNR watches closely are farm field run-off, septic tank failures, toxic contaminants from various sources, combined sewer overflows from large cities that dump bacterial contaminants into water sources, marinas, and industrial facilities.

The problem with farm field run-off in the Thumb, Bauer said, is that the soils in the area are mainly clay and toxins "adsorb" to the clay particles.

That means that toxins adhere to the surface of each clay particle instead of being absorbed. When soil runs off into drains and rivers, it can carry toxins along with it.

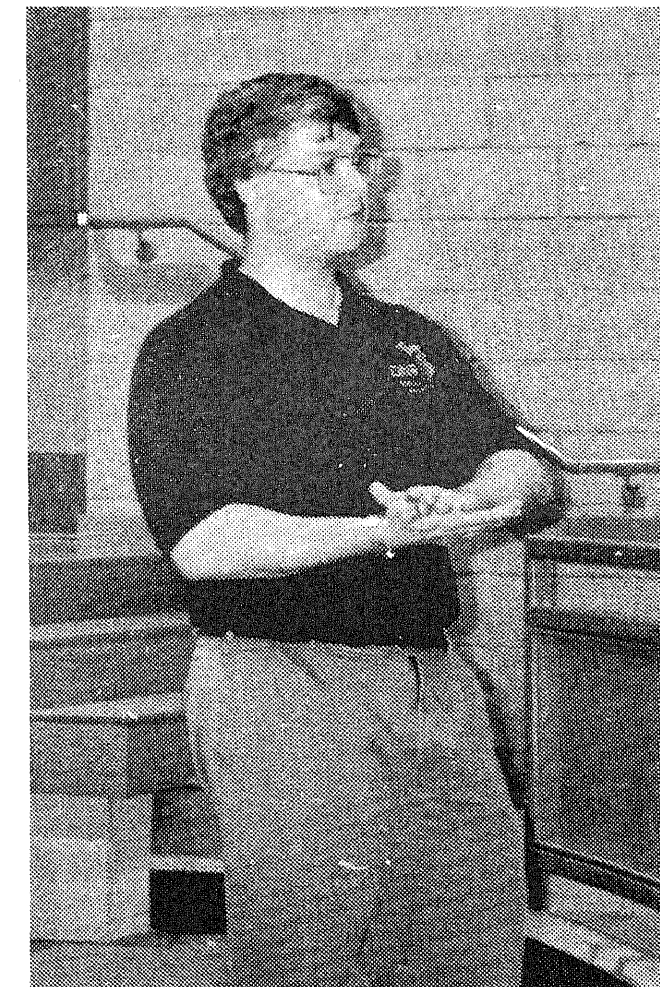

Bauer told his audience there are three things they can do to help protect the Bay and their drinking water supplies.

Maintenance is first on the list, he said.

"You need to maintain your septic systems and wells and be aware of what you're putting on your lawns. People don't realize it, but incorrect applications of insecticides and fertilizers can run off into the Bay," Bauer said.

Residents also need to be aware of water quality issues in their communities, he added.

"Be aware of what you're doing. Find out what's going on with water issues. Report contamination," he said.

Get organized to get the water quality message out

The Clean Bay Workshop also featured Dr. Ted Loudon, who spoke on maintaining a septic system; Dale Lipar, who spoke on wells; and Carrie Andrich of the Huron County MSU Cooperative Extension Service, who gave tips on the proper use of lawn care products.

Page, Ariz. is a unique city. Founded in 1957, it was the home base for thousands of imported workers who constructed the Glen Canyon Dam.

But now, with countless acres of recreational water at its doorstep, it is fast becoming the hub for visitors to the Glen Canyon National Recreation Area.

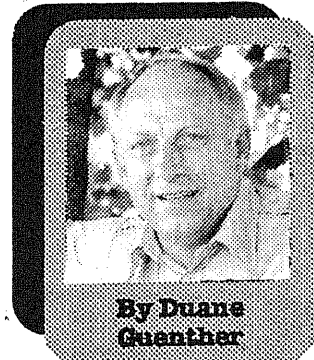

I've been in Page a couple of times before. Once when Sweetwife and I took a raft trip down the Colorado River and another when I joined a group of nomads on a perilous desert hike in Marble Canyon.

On both visits the city turned out to be a beautiful oasis after several days of blistering heat in the surrounding desert's clime.

This time, like the others, I continued to be amazed at how new this desert city looked. But then thinking back, it is only 38 years old. Page, and more specifically the Interstate Marina, was our jumping off spot for a week's adventure cruising the canyon coves of Lake Powell.

It was a misnomer to think the trip would take place in Arizona, for as soon as we hit the water we were on the Utah side and would stay in the southern portion of the state for the remainder of the trip.

Our mode of transportation was a 42-foot houseboat and the crew consisted of four couples and a single. The personnel connections ranged from spouses, high school classmates and cousins to good friends and although we hadn't seen some in quite a spell, the cramped quarters we were about to share would break down any facades brought aboard.

Free from fax, phones and time clocks, our plans for the week were simple — do anything you wanted, whenever you wanted to do it.

We had a basic itinerary to cruise from our landfall to a floating marina 50 miles up the lake and then return. Our camps along the way would be in one of the hundreds of canyons which fed into the main body of water.

We were completely self-contained with fuel, food and water and our sleeping quarters would be on one of the three decks accommodated by our craft.

We towed a couple of small boats which came in handy. The first, an 18-foot, center console ski/fishing boat powered by an 85-HP outboard, would be used as a speedy shuttlecraft to seek out campsites and take breezy joyrides.

The second, a 14-foot fishing skiff, to prowls the narrow canyons and hug the sheer cliffs in search of piscatorial quarry to feed us on the final evening.

The cooking arrangement was simple and effective. Breakfast was a catch-as-catch-can, and each couple between towering walls of red sandstone.

The lake it created is 140 miles long, holds nearly 27 million acre feet of water and supplies hydro-electric power and water storage to over 1 1/2 million people in Arizona, California and Nevada.

But the recreational side effects of this dam and impoundment are astronomical. Today, Lake Powell winds its way through a desert paradise providing an up-close view of balancing rocks, pinnacles, buttes, arches and amphitheaters.

The combination of red sandstone, clear skies and equally clear water, makes this a memorable place for the outdoor enthusiast.

It all began with a bike... 65 years ago

DEAR READERS: This column is dedicated to my late father, William Ross.

DEAR MR. ROSS:
My husband and I are in our mid-sixties and retired. Our only income is Social Security which is very adequate for us.

We have chosen to spend our retirement years raising foster children. We love kids and have four of our own, plus 14 grandchildren. None of them are in need like the two they have chosen to place with us.

The girl is 8 and the boy is 10. I can't give their names because they are from an abusive home.

Could you see fit to get them a bicycle? I don't think these kids have ever had anything special. Believe you me, they will get plenty of love in our home. — Mrs. F.D., Santa Rosa, CA

DEAR MRS. D.:
On a warm summer day, there's nothing like riding your bike with the wind rushing through your hair, the smell of fresh-cut grass and the concrete whizzing by below your feet.

Ahhh - to be a kid again!
For the two special children you're opening your hearts and home to, please purchase each a shiny, new bicycle with the check I'm sending. May it be the source of endless hours of enjoyment - the good old fashioned kind. $$$$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:
My daughter, who will be 7 years old, desperately needs a bicycle. Unfortunately, she is unable to ride a "normal" less expensive bike. She was born with Spina Bifida which limits the use of her legs. She is unable to balance or pedal a regular bike so she needs a "special" three-wheel bike.

two beautiful girls. We don't have a car. I'm grateful for our shelter and that we have food in our stomachs.

What I was hoping for is a new bike. I have a very old one which is about to fall apart. It has only one brake working, it doesn't shift and the tires are almost worn thin. My brother says it's a hazard to ride, but I have no other means of transportation.

Could you help me get a bike? I just can't afford one or a helmet. All I need is a sturdy one — nothing fancy — to get me through the rain, snow and sunshine. I know that my request isn't a real noble cause or anything, but thanks for considering. — Ms. D. C., Tacoma, WA

DEAR MS. C.:
What planet did you come from?

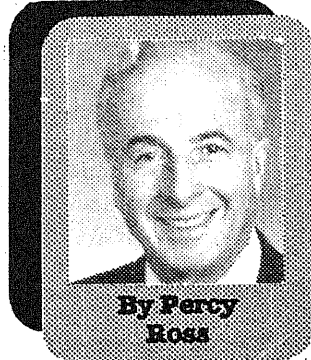

You'll have to forgive me, but it's just so rare for me to learn of someone who would opt to have a bike as transportation rather than a car. I like your style!

The check I'm sending will purchase a sturdy, all-terrain bike, complete with helmet. May you be the envy of all who are stuck in traffic. $$$$$$

DEAR READERS:
On Dec. 24, 1977, I gave a bicycle party to 1,050 underprivileged children in Minneapolis, during which each child received a new bike.

Due to the mail I received after that party, the idea to start a syndicated newspaper column was formulated and hence this column.

I owe it all to my dad who got me a "bone shaker" of a bike from the junk yard. It was the only bike I ever owned.

I've been on medical leave from my job since October '94 due to health problems. My daughter and I would be very thankful if you could help with some of the expense. The bike she needs costs between $250 and $300. P.S. Enclosed is a picture of my daughter. She is able to walk (thank God) but has to wear short leg braces. — Ms. S. M., Chattanooga, TN

DEAR MS. M.:
I would think that a bicycle for your daughter would be a good source of physical strengthening. Also, it's a way to socialize with the other kids in your area who have no physical limitations. Just like people come in all shapes, sizes, colors and conditions, so do bikes. Please purchase one which will be appropriate for your daughter with the check I'm sending. $$$$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:
I'm 25 and a single mother of

Blueberry Heaven

Fresh blueberries are one of summer's greatest treats. Peak season is from mid-June to mid-August when more than 60% of all North American blueberries are harvested. At a low 42 calories per 1/2 cup, blueberries are an excellent source of vitamin A and a good source of vitamin C.

Select blueberries that are plump and firm with a light, powdery gray-blue color. Blueberries should not be washed until ready to use.

Refrigerated blueberries will last at peak flavor for 2 weeks. To freeze berries - wash, dry and freeze in an airtight container.

Whole Wheat Blueberry Muffins
1-3/4 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. baking powder
2 eggs
1/4 cup melted butter
3/4 cup sour cream
1-1/2 cups fresh or frozen blueberries

Sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder together. Beat eggs in separate bowl, add butter and sour cream. Combine liquid with dry ingredients, stirring only long enough to moisten. Fold in blueberries. Fill muffin cups about 2/3 full and bake at 400°F for 20-30 minutes.

Routine business in Pigeon

Pigeon Village Council granted a variance to John and Lori Smith in a public hearing last week. The Smiths want to build a front porch that would be two feet closer to the lot line than ordinances allow.

Council also adopted its policies and procedures manual, and set Monday, Aug. 14 as the date for a public hearing to act on a rezoning request by the 4-E Group. The hearing pertains to the property next to the Pigeon Post Office, expected to be enlarged this year.

Aug. 17 was set as the date of a meeting by the Planning and Zoning Commission to update the village's recreation plan. The state Department of Natural Resources requires plans to be updated every five years to qualify for grants.

USA Board reorganizes

Longtime President Ray Bauer was re-elected to another leadership term at the regular July reorganizational meeting of the USA School Board.

Other officers elected last week were Vice President Dianna Schaffer, Secretary Joan Hofmeister and Treasurer Charles Squires.

Board members entered into a discussion with Tim Downing, President of A.J.D. Management, Inc. about handling the exchange of ownership of the present USA Middle School in Sebawaing. Downing's company has purchased the school building and 21 acres of land located between Main and Bay Streets for $150,000. He plans to build senior citizen housing in the renovated building.

Problems passing the state fire inspection on the newly-built USA Middle School adjacent to USA High School have delayed vacating of the old building which in turn has caused concern with Downing's company, he told the Board.

"We are almost two months behind schedule," Downing said. "We were hoping to get work completed on the outer structure before the snow fell, but it doesn't look like that will happen." USA Building and Grounds Director Don Adams said band room contents have already been moved and the shop would be moved next week. Plans for the major classroom moves will take place on July 24 with the move being completed by Aug. 7, he estimates.

Although Downing indicated the School District will be able to use the athletic fields for the next couple of years, he did voice concerns over the auto traffic on the grassy areas surrounding the fields.

The School Board agreed to honor a 30-day notice clause developed earlier — and in return Downing would allow the Board to hold an auction of unwanted items on the old Middle School grounds.

The USA Board also listened to a lengthy discussion on moving of the ag room to place the technology lab nearer the new Middle School.

Reasons for the move included the fact that both 8th and 9th grade students will be required to take the tech class. Members of the Ag Advisory Committee were present, asking to keep the Ag room where it is presently located. Board members felt that the move was an administrative decision and asked Supt. Rich Ramsey to settle the matter.

In other business, the USA Board:

- Heard two letters read from a concerned grandparent relating to discipline in connection with the prom and athletic eligibility.
- Established the second Monday of the month as the date for regular school board meetings.

- Selected three banks and an investment firm for depositories of school funds, and tabled board committee assignments until next month's meeting.

- Approved bills for the general fund, hot lunch account, athletic account and the 1993 construction fund.

- Accepted Schaffer's Bakery bid for baked goods.

- Approved Don Adams as the Transportation Supervisor, and approved Cheryl Nitz as the new Administrative Technology Secretary.

- Accepted National's bid for bleachers at the new athletic complex at a cost of $50,000.

The entire bridge and paving project cost over $574,000, the Road Commission spokesman said.

All Around The Western Thumb

Gretchen Duever, Eric Gardy, J.D. Wheeler and Adam Herford of the Laker FFA Chapter attended the 1995 Washington Leadership Conference in the nation's capital.

The conference is an activity of the National FFA Organization in cooperation with the U.S. Dept. of Education.

The week-long program helps FFA members improve their leadership skills, develop an understanding of the nation's heritage and prepare for leadership roles in their chapters and communities. Sessions on self-confidence, goal setting and team building were combined with discussions on personal development, motivation and citizenship to help members become effective leaders in the science, business and technology of agriculture.

Visits to Mount Vernon, the Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery, the Jefferson Memorial and other historic sites in Washington were included in the conference. A highlight of the week was a visit to the office of Sen. Carl Levin and Cong. James Barcia, both of Michigan. The chapter's FFA advisor is Don Wheeler.

Shown are, from left, Gardy, Herford, Wheeler and Duever, with a National FFA official. The trip to the conference was sponsored by the Cooperative Elevator Corp. and the Michigan FFA Alumni Association.

TWO GERMAN VISITORS, Edgar and Margarete Schlegel of St. Peter-Ording, left and center, were in Sebawaing recently to observe the auction and dispersal of the estate of Margarete Sidagis, Mrs. Schlegel's aunt, who died May 13 at her home in Sebawaing. Shown with the Schlegels, at right, is Yvonne Ball of Sebawaing, personal representative for Mrs. Sidagis.

The Schlegels spent several weeks here to attend the Sidagis committal service and prepare for the July 1 auction. Mrs. Schlegel's brother, Hans Manus of Wetzlar, also spent several days here with his sister and brother-in-law before he returned to Germany.

Sale of the Sidagis home at 180 E. Bay Street is being handled by Ball.

Mrs. Sidagis and her late husband, Dr. Joseph Sidagis, came to Sebawaing in the mid-1950s. He was a native of Lithuania who had done medical work during World War II in several areas of Germany. In carrying out medical relief services following the war, he met Margarete Manus, a nurse who was born in Bremen, Germany, and they were married on Dec. 24, 1953. They came to Sebawaing where Dr. Sidagis carried on his medical practice until his death on April 26, 1987.

Mrs. Schlegel and her brother visited their aunt and uncle here on many occasions. During her youth, she spent a year here, attending USA School.

An interesting sidelight on the international movements and activities of the families concerned the late Sidagis car, a '94 Chrysler New Yorker. The Schlegels decided to ship the vehicle to their home in Germany when a local resident here asked them, "Do you have any idea how much it will cost to ship the New Yorker all the way to Bremerhaven?" To that she replied, "Do you have any idea how much it would cost to buy a Chrysler New Yorker in Germany?" In St. Peter-Ording, Schlegel manages an American-owned Best Western Hotel.

High winds clobber Thumb during heatwave

By DUANE GUENTHER and AMY HEIDEN

Bill and Carol Bain were ready for an ordinary summer evening last Thursday, but a strong weather system — which swept out of the Dakotas, blasted Minnesota and then proceeded to rake through Michigan — had other ideas.

He was lounging on the sun porch while she was busy grilling their supper as the storm entered Wildfowl Bay and headed straight for their home.

"I'm sure it was a tornado," Bill Bain says, "I saw the water of the Bay being sucked up and I headed for the basement."

Carol Bain had just stepped out the back door to check the grill and when she saw the clouds retreated through the front door. At the same time, a huge tree next to the front porch crashed down.

Before the storm was over, several more trees were

A major thunderstorm ripped through the state and the Thumb Thursday evening, with winds up to 60 mph and heavy rain.

Trees and tree limbs were down throughout the area, as well as numerous power lines. Power outages were reported in many areas, with crews from Detroit Edison and Thumb Electric Cooperative working overtime over the weekend to repair the damage.

The storm caused lots of damage to trees and some buildings, and a Harbor Beach man was killed when a barn collapsed on him during the severe weather.

Scattered power failures were reported in Pigeon and Elkton, with just sections of the villages having no electricity.

uprooted or snapped off, one careening through the back portion of the Bain's roof. Contractors have verified the house has shifted on the foundations and had cracked in several places due to the high winds.

"We spent some frightful minutes," she says, "and we're lucky it didn't do more damage."

The Bains, who have lived in Bay Port for the last eight years, weren't the only ones who lost trees, Cedar Street looked like a war zone the next morning—as did many other streets and roads in the Western Thumb.

No official tornadoes were reported, but some major wind damage occurred throughout the area.

The photos shown here represent a thumbnail look at the type of rapid, yet massive, destruction which occurred in a timespan of about 15 minutes, about 5 p.m. Thursday and again lesser winds on Friday.

IT TOOK large machines to remove some of the downed trees, as this scene from Bay Port shows. The town was among the hardest-hit during the brief storm.

OLIVER TOWNSHIP firefighter Ken Heiden directs traffic around a large branch caught in power lines on S. Main Street in Elkton, on Thursday.

BILL AND CAROL BAIN had an unwelcome visitor at their home during the storm...

A CAR WAS CRUSHED in front of the former Kilmanagh School, but no one was injured in the mishap. Police have not yet made a damage dollar-value total.

Red Hacker Tournament in Pigeon this weekend

spect and sportsmanship," Maust says.

Maust insists that athletes show a mutual respect for one another because he will maintain a family atmosphere where parents feel comfortable allowing their children to participate. His philosophy also makes communities more accepting of the tournament, allowing healthy competition for youth and adults.

"It takes the entire community to get across the idea that good sportsmanship is still important in basketball and other sport," Maust says.

"Despite what young people see at the professional level, there is still a right and a wrong way to behave. We feel showing respect for both opponents and officials is the right way."

That can be hard to get across when some of the biggest stars in the NBA —

Phoenix's Charles Barkley, Indiana's Reggie Miller, New York's John Starks and San Antonio's Dennis Rodman — are notorious trash talkers and whiners. Even Michael Jordan, often seen as a role model for young people during his playing days, was known as one of the feistiest trash talkers in the game during his career.

Talking trash used to be a way to have fun playing hoop in the backyard on a Sunday afternoon. It became a way to get under the skin of an opponent and has blossomed into a sign of utter disrespect.

That started to change as the NBA began to market itself as a game of Michael Jordans and Shaquille O'Neals rather than of the Bulls and the Magic.

Since then, the NBA's popularity amongst youth has soared beyond the National Football League and Major League Baseball in popularity.

But the NBA and its stars are not responsible for your child's behavior. Most of the responsibility to instill good sportsmanship in a child falls to the parent and the coach. So what if your child begins to follow the examples of Pippen, Barkley and Maxwell? Here are some suggestions:

Parents are Robert and Christine Dutcher of Unionville.

Grandparents are Geardean Koepf and Jerry and Katie Dutcher of Sebawaing.

Great-grandfather is Harold Weisenbach of Sebawaing.

CBM plans dinner Aug. 5 at SSC

Commemorative Bucks of Michigan will hold its 14th anniversary Awards Dinner on Saturday, Aug. 5, at Sebawaing Sportsman's Club.

The Awards Dinner is a tribute to Michigan's trophy whitetail deer, bear, elk and wild turkey, and the hunters who took them, organizers say.

Trophy registration is from 2-5 p.m., dinner at 6 p.m. and awards presentation at 8 p.m. Raffles and door prizes included.

Tickets must be purchased one week in advance, and no tickets are offered at the door. For details and tickets call Gary Richter at 883-3864.

Civil War comes to Port Austin

The 10th Michigan Infantry and Port Austin KOA & Resort are holding a Civil War Heritage Days program on Friday-Sunday, Aug. 4-6.

The large encampment area is located at and around the former 754th U.S. Air Force Base in Port Austin.

The 10th Michigan Infantry hosts the event, and will be commemorating the 130th Anniversary of the ending of the American Civil War.

This will be a full encampment featuring two Battle reenactments, Company and Battalion Drill, Ladies Social, Military Dress Ball, Living history camps, First Person presentation and more, organizers say.

Pre-registration is required for authentic branches of service and for this year is limited to the first 150 troops.

The large automatic organ which stands 7 feet tall, 8 feet wide, and weighs 1300 pounds was originally used on a large merry-go-round on the beach at Playland next to the Cliff House in San Francisco.

Five large buildings are filled with hundreds of dealers buying, selling and trading.

The Michigan Antique Festival is the Midwest's largest antique & collectible markets with special interest auto shows. Show dates are July 22-23, with special earlybird passes available Friday during dealer set-up.

Midland Fairgrounds are located just north of U.S. 10 Eastman Avenue exit.

Enjoy the sounds of yesterday at Midland's Michigan Antique Festival, July 22-23.

The Great Wurlitzer band organ will be on display and in continuous operation, belting out lively tunes reminiscent of the amusements of its time.

Come to listen and marvel at this mechanical music machine. Built in 1925, this Wurlitzer band organ is voiced with string, wind and percussion instrument sounds which allow it to play like a 20 piece band, offering an endless variety of music for over 10 hours!

The large automatic organ which stands 7 feet tall, 8 feet wide, and weighs 1300 pounds was originally used on a large merry-go-round on the beach at Playland next to the Cliff House in San Francisco.

Rescued from like a museum relic, this beautiful organ has been repaired and restored and is in top working order. Once again the Great Wurlitzer band organ is the center of attention, performing like it did in the "The Roaring 20's", entertaining the young and old alike.

Antique pedal cars, scooters, bicycles, wagons and other toys will also be featured by over 800 dealers. The indoor and outdoor booths display and sell antiques, folk art, unique collectibles and a wide variety of hobby items. Five large buildings are filled with hundreds of dealers buying, selling and trading.
