Work to begin on Huron's first Habitat For Humanity home

BLESSING THE LAND FOR HABITAT HOME: Nearly two dozen local ministers and lay people gathered Thursday morning to bless the site of Huron County's first Habitat for Humanity home in Owendale. According to HFH Upper Thumb Chapter President Brian Reinhardt, volunteers are being encouraged to donate money, time or talents in building this first home, which will be sold to a qualifying family. They will pay off the modest mortgage, and those funds will be reinvested into more homes. The local chapter hopes to build three homes by 1997, throughout the Thumb. HFH is a non-profit ecumenical Christian housing ministry dedicated to eliminating poverty housing from the earth. An estimated 15% of Huron County residents live below the poverty line. If just 50 of the 80 Upper Thumb churches will each consider a monthly $50 pledge — providing $30,000 annually, enough for one home a year.

Caseville's equestrian team is learning

By AMY HEIDEN

Caseville Public School's newest team will never draw a big crowd to home games — mainly because there aren't any.

The biggest members of the team weigh about 1,000 lbs. and it takes a steady, kind coach to get the best performance from them.

Half the team members have names like Mi Flier, Pandemonium Agate, J.L. Firecracker and P.S. Patchwork Polly. And they don't even have to attend school to be eligible to compete for year-end prizes.

No, it's not some strange, alien team. The newest team sponsored by the school is the Caseville Equestrian Team.

With four members plus their equine teammates, they join only three other equestrian teams in Huron County.

Harbor Beach, Lakers and Bad Axe schools also sponsor teams, although the teams' rosters are short and they receive no financial support for their competitions.

The schools' recognition only means that the teams are able to compete at the state level for championship honors, says Caseville's Equestrian team leader Pam Roth.

Beet deliveries 99% done

Before Saturday's snowstorm began, sugar beet deliveries to the Sebewaing Plant of Michigan Sugar Companies had totaled 605,000 tons, according to Dick Jacoby, Sebewaing plant area manager/agriculture.

That's 99%-plus delivered, he added, saying that only about 1,500 tons are still out in the field, on about 100 acres.

From here on, everything depends on the weather, Jacoby stated. He said tonnage amounts to 16 tons per acre. Processing is going well, he added.

M!CH!GAN "by the numbers"

OH DEER! Here are the number of car-deer crashes reported in our area for 1994, according to the state DNR and AAA:

Huron County	946 crashes
Tuscola County	865 crashes
Sanilac County	1,006 crashes
Lapeer County	938 crashes
Bay County	196 crashes
Saginaw County	867 crashes
Statewide	56,666 crashes

That's up 19% from the 47,813 crashes reported in 1993. In all, five persons died and 2,040 were injured last year...

Caseville Board rescinds grading changes for year

After a brief student walkout two weeks ago, and a special 7 a.m. board meeting last Monday, the Caseville Board of Education rescinded the use of a new grading policy.

The new grading policy would have used only scores from tests and other forms of student assessment to arrive at a grade. The former policy allowed teachers to add in scores from homework assignments.

Some Caseville High School students walked out of school briefly on Nov. 1 to protest the new grading policy and met with Principal George Bednerek and Supt. James Stahl to discuss the new policy. After meeting with Stahl, administrators agreed to a compromise in which first marking period grades would be reassessed using the new policy, but if a student's grade was lowered because of the new rules, he or she would receive the higher grade.

But more than 90 parents, students and faculty members attended a special board meeting on Monday, Nov. 6 to discuss the grading policy. There, the board unanimously voted to drop the new grading policy in response to parents' and teachers' concerns.

"Apparently they all like the old system of giving lots of good grades," Stahl said. "Our MEAP scores indicate we need to make some changes. But that's my opinion. It's a minor disappointment. We will still continue to try to improve the school."

Only A, B, C or N grades would have been given under the new policy. A N grade means that a student has not mastered the subject matter taught in a class and the student would have to be retaught the material and tested again.

Stahl said the Board would probably review the grading policy again next year.

Christmas Open House Sunday in Sebewaing

By DUANE GUENTHER

Are you ready for Christmas?

The Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce is, and they invite everyone to Sebewaing's Christmas Open House this Sunday, Nov. 19.

Time is 12 noon to 4 p.m. and Chamber members invite the public to sample a little bit of their season's greetings by enjoying the many events scheduled for the day, to kick off this holiday season.

Most businesses will be open from noon until 4 p.m. on that Sunday and on every subsequent Sunday until Christmas, says Chamber President Steve Langford of Mutual Savings Bank.

This year, instead of roaming through town, Santa Claus has established his headquarters at Claerhout Greenhouses south of Sebewaing.

He will appear in town on kick-off Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m. where kids can get a free phototaken with Santa. Santa will also be at Claerhout's every Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. for the remainder of the holiday season.

After shopping during the Christmas Open House, you may want to grab supper at one of Sebewaing's restaurants — then take in the evening performance of the USA Community Band's Christmas Concert.

The band will perform at USA High School at 7 p.m. with refreshment served following the concert. A free-will offering will be taken with proceeds going to the Caring & Sharing Program.

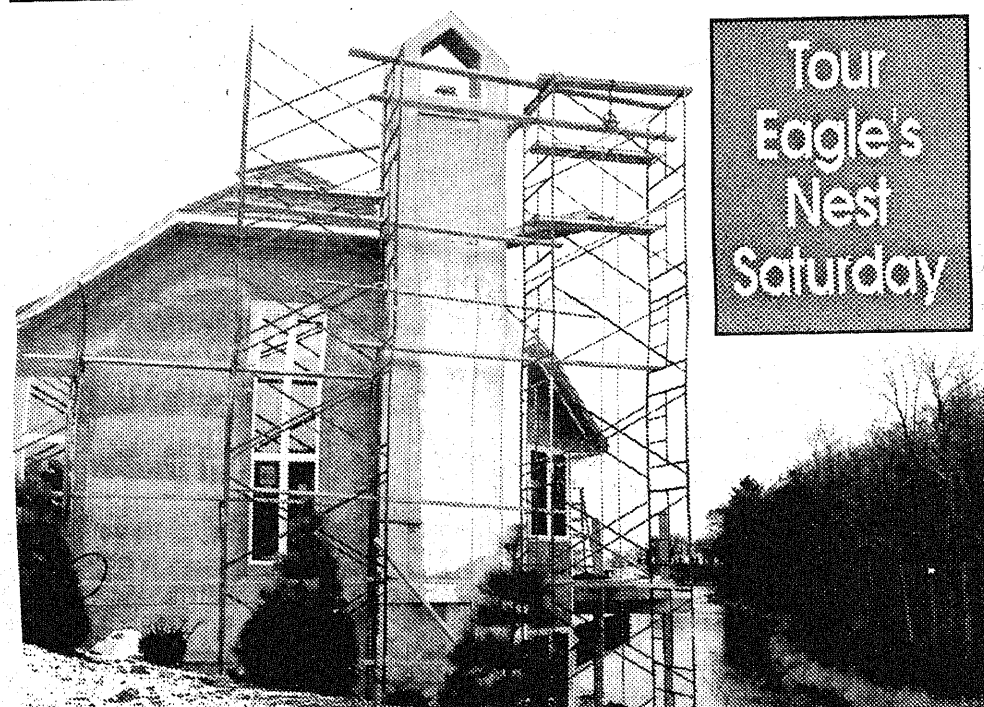

And, there's more — on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 25 and 26, you may register at participating Chamber Members for a chance to win, 10 Sebewaing Gift Certificates worth $25 each.

On Sunday, Dec. 3, the Lake Huron Community Arts Council will open their Heidelberg Gallery doors for the Christmas Tree Displays in Downtown Sebewaing. Many local businesses, families and community groups have decorated trees for a holiday display.

After viewing the various trees, don't forget to register for a chance to win a Holiday Wreath, provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

Then on Sunday, Dec. 10, the USA Drama Club, under direction of Joan Hofmeister will put on a Christmas Play at 2 p.m. Location is the Heidelberg Gallery.

On Sunday, Dec. 17, you could be selected by the Chamber of Commerce's Mystery Shopper. He (or she?) will be visiting Chamber businesses and awarding a $10 Sebewaing Gift Certificate to a lucky shopper at each participating business.

CASEVILLE'S FIRST CONDOMINIUM project is holding an Open House for the public this Saturday, Nov. 18. Eagle's Nest Condos are now under construction on River Street, along the Pigeon River, owned by Jeanette Beadle. One model will be available, and full details are offered in the special Eagle's Nest section inside this issue of The Newsweekly.

Caseville equestrian the team which also includes Leah Raymo and Michelle Mohr. Because Raymo and Mohr don't own horses, they compete with two of Roth's four Half-Arabian horses.

Although the team only received school recognition this year, they did well at the three meets in September.

"Everyone placed in a class at least once," Roth said. "And Kristin was named to the All-County Second Team."

That All-County team was composed of riders from 12 teams in District 14, which reaches nearly to the Detroit Area. Only three meets are held each year, in September, and all the classes are well-filled with riders and their mounts.

All teams are composed of ninth through 12th-grade students and classes are not divided by age, Roth said, making the competition keen.

A member of the Laker team, Mindy Krohn, also was honored with a year-end award by being named to the All-County First Team. Harbor Beach's Kristi Ramsey and Bad Axe's Alicia Morin also were named to the All-County First Team.

Caseville's team competes in a variety of classes, including in-hand showmanship, in which the horse is shown in a halter and judged on the handler's ability to control the animal.

That was Raymo's specialty this year, Roth said, and she did well for a first-year team member.

Other classes included hunt seat, saddle seat, or western equitation, in which the rider is judged on riding ability, and trail classes, which judges the rider's and horse's ability to negotiate the kind of obstacles found on a trail.

Because of the size of the team, they can enter only six events and they can't share horses, Roth said.

While most horse shows place some emphasis on the appointments of the rider and horse, team equestrian events focus more on the abilities of the rider, Roth noted.

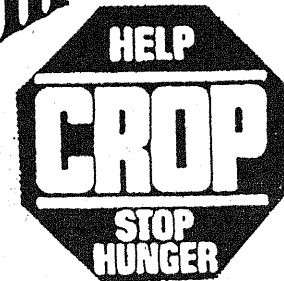

"It can be an expensive sport so they try not to focus on the cost of the equipment," she said.

Roth said the team would welcome new members, but she understands that it may be difficult to find those members.

"The problem is that very few kids have horses," she said. "But on this team, you don't have to be a real athlete. Physically and mentally challenged students can participate because it is a team event. It's strictly for fun."

COURT NEWS ANSWERS: This is as good a time as any to explain some of the terms and usages of court proceedings, one of the most-popular items appearing on our pages.

That's why we take special care of court proceedings — and always place them in the same spot here on Page 3 to be consistent.

We cover court news in any court if they occur in an area roughly west of M-53 or if they involve a person residing in that Western Thumb Area. And, on these minor cases, we cover NOTHING if the person is found innocent — so your name only runs if and when there is guilt determined.

Here are several questions which come up regularly, and our general policy as answers:

■ I DON'T WANT MY NAME PUBLISHED. PLEASE KEEP IT OUT OF THE PAPER. Sorry, we've never done that in 10 years. We attempt to run all violations, no matter who they involve, along our guidelines above. Hopefully, publication will deter some peoples' actions.

■ WHAT DOES "PLED GUILTY" MEAN? The person involved usually was charged with a greater offense, but pleads guilty to a lesser charge in front of the judge.

■ WHAT DOES "NO LICENSE IN POSSESSION" MEAN? DID THE PERSON GET A $200 OR MORE TICKET JUST FOR FORGETTING HIS OR HER LICENSE THAT DAY? No, it's not that they forgot their wallet or purse. In nearly every case, that means a person already had his/her license restricted from an earlier offense and was caught driving without a valid license in force. Generally, charges or fines are greater, because that person should not have been driving at all.

■ WHY ARE SOME FINES DIFFERENT FOR THE SAME OFFENSE? In some cases, a larger violation took place (higher blood level alcohol, higher speed over limit, etc.) and so a higher fine is imposed. Sometimes, the current charge is a second or third violation. Judges have some latitude in setting fines, but many more are spelled out now than back in 1986, when we became the first (and only) area paper to cover District Court regularly. Plus, state and local laws are much tougher now, resulting in more arrests...and more names published in Court proceedings.

■ WHAT IS "DOMESTIC VIOLENCE?" This charge usually involves one adult physically abusing another adult in the same home.

■ WHAT IS "PROBATION VIOLATION?" Some of the largest fines levied in local courts involve persons who violate their probation. Normally this involves people who were previously found guilty or pled guilty to a charge, say of impaired driving. Often they agree not to consume alcohol during their probationary period — and a probation violation means they have been caught doing so. Judges don't like that.

There are many more things deserving explanation, but we try to treat everyone equally. Let me know your thoughts, and we can address this subject again later.

In addition to the auction items, door prize drawings will take place hourly and people of all ages can enjoy face painting, cake walk and lots of food concessions.

Goose season ends here

DNR officials have announced that the goose season ended last Sunday, Nov. 12 for the Huron/Tuscola Goose Management Unit. The closure came 20 days early, as hunters bagged 750 Canada geese — which was the agreed limit set forth by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

The management area subject to the closing is bordered by Kilmanagh Rd. on the north, Bay Port Rd on the East, and Bay City-Forestville road on the south. It also takes in the area east and north of M-138.

While hunters can still take other goose species within the management area, Canada geese are no longer legal targets.

As we see it

Habitat For Humanity deserves and needs local support

When nearly two dozen local ministers and lay leaders met last week to dedicate the site of Huron County's first Habitat for Humanity house, the smiles all around that plot of land in Owendale were very wide. And with good reason.

After all, HFH is a rare combination of volunteers who want to do more than simply "mission work" or giving others a hand-out. It's a non-profit, ecumenical Christian housing ministry dedicated to eliminating poverty housing from the earth. Habitat works in partnership with individuals, churches and groups to build houses with families in need of decent, affordable shelter. Volunteers provide construction, administrative and other vital skills in this worldwide mission.

And the need is great, even locally. HFH Upper Thumb Chapter leaders say 15% of Huron County residents live below the federal poverty line — and 71% of those are mothers with children under the age of five. Among about 19,800 Huron County homes, 173 have no plumbing, 230 have no kitchens and 720 have no phones.

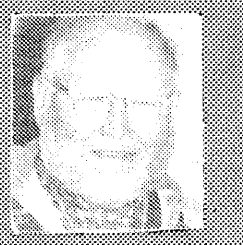

In Saginaw and many other communities, HFH volunteers started by getting large corporate donations to build these homes which are sold to their occupants — whose mortgage payments provide the seed money to build more homes. But HFH Upper Thumb Chapter volunteers are starting the other way — noting that if 50 of the 80 churches in Huron County each pledged just $50 a month to HFH, that would yield $30,000 annually — enough to build one home per year.

Nationwide, HFH builds one house every 47 hours, and the local chapter hopes to construct three homes throughout the county by 1997. That's a big goal, but people can donate money, skills and/or construction time. One church group could, say, shingle the roof or another could encourage its youth group to paint each HFH home for a day.

This is a loving ministry where the money is never used up — the payments keep coming back to build more residences. The local HFH volunteers are asking for a minimum of prayer from each Thumb Area church. Even here, the need is great and the laborers are few. HFH allows many people give a little and help a lot — and that's mission work that matters, right here close to home. It deserves as much support as locals can donate...

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR,

Well, this time of the year when I was still farming, I felt pretty good if I had my barn full of hay and straw, my greenery full of oats, my crib full of corn and my corn all cut and shucked.

Then, before it froze up, I was doing my fall plowing and my good wife had a lot of fruit and vegetables in the cellar, a lot of coal in the coal bin, and some wood piled up, and the children had their winter clothes all paid for.

I sold enough beans to pay my taxes and interest, and we had a few more cattle than we had in the spring. What more could we want?

I hear that most of the sugar beets are out by now. I never had many beets on my farm, but I can remember helping take out the sugar beets. It used to be a hard job. Some years it was so wet that you could hardly get them out and sometimes it was so dry you couldn't hardly get them out whole.

Westill lifted the beets with horses and sometimes we had to hitch three horses to the lifts, then you'd pull them out and put them in small piles and take a beet knife and top them.

We'd throw them on small piles and cover with beet tops so they would dry out. Next you'd haul them to a beet station and load them on a train car to get shipped to the sugar factory.

If the ground was wet, you could haul two to three ton on a wagon and you'd have to fork them by hand on the wagon, then fork them to get them off again.

If they didn't have a train car to put them in, you'd throw them on a pile and then you'd haul them to a car after. It was quite a job, but a lot of people had beets and we didn't have a beet barvester like they do now. So we did the best we could.

Once a man close by the school had 10 acres of beets and didn't haul them, so the sugar company offered $1 per ton for anybody to haul them. Well a lot of farmers got together and hauled them.

Back in those days, we school boys all thought that our team of horses was the best. One school boy said his dad had the best team.

Well we kids watched the farmers haul out the beets and they boy who thought his dad had the best team saw his dad pull out another wagon and he felt pretty good.

Then we saw another fellow haul his dad's team out and then my dad came out with his team all by himself and pulled it out on the load.

Well all the boys laughed and said how good my dad's team was and the boy who bragged about his team got mad and told me he'd lick me on the way home from school! If one of the big boys wouldn't have helped me, he would have done it.

That was a long time ago and today when I think of all the things that took place and a lot of things that I went through, I have a lot to be thankful for.

The Bible says to honor your father and mother and you will have a long life. I had good parents and they brought me up good. I didn't inherit a lot of money, but after I thing of what my dad used to tell me: Have a good time, but don't break or steal anything. That is my advice to all young people.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE KEIM

THE FINAL WEEK! This is your final chance to make next Tuesday's PHONE FORUM very special for special people. We're featuring only "thank you" messages next Tuesday, Nov. 21 — in honor of next Thursday's observance of Thanksgiving.

We've received several already, but be sure we have your "thankful" PHONE FORUM by 5 p.m. this Friday, Nov. 17. All will be considered for next week's special column.

Now, here's what your neighbors and friends have on their minds:

S.L. of Caseville: As a Caseville taxpayer, I am concerned about what appears to be a definite lack of communication between Mr. Stahl, Mr. Bednarek and the School Board. Thanks to the students who walked out, the public is aware of the goings on in our school district.

(Depending on what you heard, the problems were solved rather quickly, S.L. See our story in this issue for the final word.)

J.D. of Pigeon: I think the best Thanksgiving gift of all would be if the Lions canned Wayne Fontes. He only won this week because of a few lucky breaks. If our team isn't better than Tampa Bay, we're in big trouble. And the coach is the main reason. (Well, that's not QUITE what we had in mind for "thankfulness," J.D. Maybe you'll have something nicer to say next week?)

T. of Pigeon: I just wanted to let you know Bob Seger will be on CBS This Morning this Wednesday, Nov. 8. I know you're a Seger fan.

(Thanks, T., for the message — even though I missed seeing Michigan's rock superstar. I don't listen to these tapes until after Friday night... Hope YOU watched him, at least!)

William from Sebewaing: The entire profession of writers and commentators becomes suspect when you hear all their unending discussions of whether President Harry Truman did the right (or wrong) thing when he ordered the atomic bomb used in August, 1945. We had no choice during a war, and he did the right thing. These people who second-guess should have to eat their words.

O. of Elkton: Instead of tricks or treats, why can't we give a nickel or dime to the little ones? We used to collect for UNICEF. We helped others, and did something for someone else. (It's an interesting idea, O., but I doubt if kids would be happy to not have all that candy...)

Stan of Sebewaing: Here is an idea — why don't all the stores close everything on Sundays? This would give people a chance to worship and to spend time with their families. There should be a law that no stores can open on Sundays, like the old days. (That's an interesting concept, Stan, but some businesses would always want to be "different" and stay open. Plus, current laws say government can't tell stores when or how to operate.)

Concerned USA taxpayer: I am really tired of these complainers. If they have gripes about our school, go to the administrators. Go to the school board. Go to the teachers. They all work for you. I have found them very helpful. They solved my problems and answered my questions.

Scott from Sand Point: Which direction should my ceiling fan be running in the winter? I think you are supposed to change it from summer to winter. I have air conditioning in the summer. Thank you.

(Good question, Scott, and here's what a local "expert" tells us: Ceiling fans should be blowing the hot air downward in winter, since cold air settles on the floor.)

In summer, the air should be blowing up, whether or not you have air conditioning, to move warmer air upward. Many ceiling fans have a switch near the motor to reverse direction.)

S. of Sebewaing: I agree with Gunther and Shirley about the elk. I think it's a shame people have to kill a beautiful animal like that.

(Sorry, S., but that's what hunting is all about, isn't it?)

N. of Sebewaing: Why do the papers get so big on Sundays? If they would deliver all the sections on Saturday, when the paper is small, we would have more time to read it, all day Saturday and all day Sunday.

Yarns From The Thumb

■ It's TUESDAY, NOV. 14: "The old year is a dying." It's the 318th day of 1995 so only 47 remain... Ever hear of Nellie Bly? A woman news reporter used that as her pen name and she set off NOV. 14, 1889, to break the "round the world in 80 days" imaginary record created by Jules Verne's "Phileas Fogg." She not only matched Phileas' record, she beat it, taking just 72 days, 5 hours and 11 minutes...

On this Nov. 14 in 1666 a doctor in England transfused blood from one dog into another. He "let the blood of one dog out, till he died, into the body of another on one side, while all his own ran out on the other side." The first dog died forthwith, and the second "died very well." In writing his report, the doctor agreed the system worked well, "but it is not likely to be of any great use to man..." Mayme Doud Eisenhower, wife of the 34th U.S. President, was born NOV. 14, 1896. She lived to be 83... Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, was born NOV. 14, 1765. He died at 50... Jordan's King Hussein is 60 today. The UN Secretary with the repetitious name, Boutros Boutros-Ghali is 73 today, Charles the Prince of Wales is 47, actors Brian Keith is 74 and McLean Stevenson is 68...

■ Firearms deer hunting begins in Michigan today, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15... Probably less important to many is another event, National Clean Out Your Refrigerator Day. Do it in preparation for the holidays, when turkey, stuffing and pumpkin pie will be stored there. It's sponsored by Whirlpool Corp. of Benton Harbor... German General Erwin Rommel, commander of the WWII Afrika Corps, was born Heidenheim, Wurttemberg, NOV. 15, 1891. Accused of helping plan a Hitler assassination plot, he was "invited" to swallow a poison pill or be tried for treason, found guilty and executed. He chose the former, near Ulm, on Oct. 14, 1944...

■ THURSDAY, NOV. 16 is the Great American Smokeout, to encourage smokers to kick the habit for at least 24 hours... After playing its first 0-0 tie in a football game with Northwestern, the University of Chicago won its first victory ever on NOV. 16, 1892, defeating the University of Illinois, coached by Amos Alonzo Stagg, who became one of the best-known coaches in history. A founding member of the Big 10, UoC is no longer a member of that league... Birthdays today: Actress Lisa Bonet 28 ("Cosby Show"), actor Burgess Meredith 86, and big league pitcher Dwight Gooden 31...

■ The Suez Canal was opened for ship traffic on NOV. 17, 1869... Queen Elizabeth I ascended the British throne on this date, 1558. The event was celebrated in England as a holiday for a century after her death in 1603... Today is Homemade Bread Day, a day for the family to remember and enjoy making, baking and eating homemade bread... Danny DeVito is 51 today and singer Gordon Lightfoot is 57...

■ An event attended by fewer than 600 people doesn't seem like a record-breaker, but that's how many attend the Custer State Park Buffalo Auction in Custer, SD, when about 400 surplus buffalo calves, yearlings, mature cows and two-year-old bulls are sold for breeding, ranches and barbecues...

■ Ever hear the name Louis DeGuerre? He's the Frenchman, born in 1789, who invented the daguerreotype photo process, one of the first methods to chemically fix a photo image on a permanent base (usually a piece of metal). The process was accepted by the French Academy of Science on Jan. 7, 1839... Sir William Gilbert, librettist for the famous Gilbert and Sullivan comic operas, was born NOV. 18, 1836. He died of a heart attack experienced while saving a woman from drowning (he was 75 at the time)...

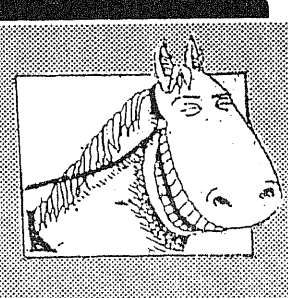

And, happy birthday, Mickey! Squaky-voiced Mickey Mouse appeared on the screen of a movie house (the Colony in NYC) for the first time on NOV. 18, 1928, in the cartoon film "Steamboat Willie," Walt Disney's first animated cartoon talking picture (that was 67 years ago)... Alan Shepard, the first American astronaut to travel into space, is 72 today. Actress Linda Evans is 53, and actress Brenda Vaccaro is 56...

The Detroit Daily Mirror carried the first Tracy strip in 1931, and eventually it was syndicated in 1,000 newspapers. Gould retired in 1977 and died in May, 1985... Comedian Dick Smothers is 57 today.

Horsin' Around

Beat from the beets

The old timers will tell you, beet season used to be a bear. And the old photos that prove it do abound.

No doubt you've seen pictures in the pages of this very publication which show big teams of horses pulling heavy wagons of dirty sugar beets through deep, muddy fields. The expressionless faces of the folks in the photos are pale and drawn indeed, the intense labor of the harvest exacting a pricey toll on the human spirit.

My Dad always said "hard work never killed anybody," yet I feel certain that, in the end, it is what gets us all.

But, oh how times have changed. The harrowing experience of pulling beets with the hard labor of men, women and children has been replaced with big, efficient machines of man's own making. How quickly they scoop the sweet beets from the icy cold earth. How effortlessly do the big trucks rumble onto the roadway to take the harvest to the processing plant.

How easy it all is now, here as we move toward the 21st century. Right?

Wrong! I know nothing of what is actually required in this day and age to take a sugar beet from planting to processing, but I do know that it appears to be every bit as grueling and laborious as ever it was using a team of horses.

In fact, with horses and human labor, there were at least simple forces of nature which governed the work and prevented over-exhaustion. The arrival of darkness, for example, automatically signaled the end of the workday. And the pelting of icy rain meant the horses and wagons stayed home.

Now, however, we often see the bent backs of young men in a muddy field trying, without success, to dislodge a 40-ton piece of equipment which is firmly entrenched in knee-deep mud. Now we see the lights of the trucks and tractors and beet pullers in the fields till after dark, after supper, after bedtime and beyond.

Now we are treated to the sight of tired faces behind the wheels of big rigs, waiting in interminable lines to dump their loads and get back to the fields. Now we hear the annual grumbling of white color motorists who angrily poo-poo the untidy roadways which result from the travel of the awesome beet-harvesting machinery.

But of course, in all fairness, there are enormous advantages associated with the new harvesting technology, right? Certainly farmers can harvest more beets in less time than they did decades ago, and it's true they can indeed produce a superior product under less than ideal conditions. But is it all, in fact, "easier?"

Reporting my the side of the road, this is Kate Pickering saying, "It sure doesn't look like it."

Nie wieder!

Unsere Generation war lucky zum hier leben da unser Town ge-changed hat von Deutsch zu Englisch.

Vor wir geboren waren, hat mann seldom Englisch ge-heard in Stores und auf die Streets. Das ist ge-changed durch die Jahre.

In unser Confirmation Jahr (1932) hat unser Pastor alles in Englisch ge-teached except occasionally lernin wir Bibel Texts in beide Languages. (Dann, in Adulthood war Ich oft froh zum favorite Texts in beide Sprachen zu kennen).

Einmal hat unser Pastor uns ein Test gegeben in ein "Blue Book," da wir Deutsch schreiben mussten. Ach, welch eine Mess das war! Meiste hatten nicht die foggiest Idee wie zum die Deutsche Words spielen. Der Pastor hat nie wieder das Deutsche-schreiben required.

Anyway, wir hatten immer noch Deutsche Services, aber immer weniger.

In 1949 ist unser alter Pastor List retired, nach 31 Jahre in Sebewaing. Der neue Pastor, der exactly 31 Jahre alt war, hat ge-offered zum Deutsche Sermons delivern an eine "every other Sunday" basis. Aber, sagte er, er musste die Sermons lesen; er konnte Sie nie memorizen.

Das hat die Old Timers ge-suited, aber Sie sahen schnell wie tedious es war fuer den Pastor, so haben Sie "once-a-Month" requested.

Das ging an fuer ein Monat oder zwei, so haben die Old Timers decided das es hat zu viel Zeit und Effort genommen, so haben Sie alle Deutsche Services aus-ge-cut.

Jetzt fuer unsere Story:

Durch die Jahre hat niemand even gefragt fuer Deutsche Services. Dan kamm Pastor Light, und er konnte nicht even ein Wort Deutsch sprechen. Das hat keine Difference gemacht weil es gab keine Deutsche Services anyway.

Ein altes Couple wollte die Light Family inviten zu Dinner kommen. Pastor Light wusste das der alte Mann konnte sehr wenig Englisch verstehen. Die alte Frau wusste etwas mehr aber Deutsch war immer noch Ihr Favorite.

So fragte Pastor Light ein Deutscher Freund zum Ihn ein Deutscher Segen teaehen. Mit dem Deutschen Segen wollte Pastor Light die Mahlzeit anfangen.

So, hat der Freund den Pastor ge-coached zu seine Haende folden und zu sagen, "Eine gesegnete Mahlzeit." Der Pastor hoffte das ein Deutscher Segen wird das alte Couple plesen.

Da Sie alle sassen, fragte die alte Hostess ob der Pastor das Tischengebet sprechen wird. Dies war Pastor Light's grosse Opportunity, und vor er anfang, hielt er seine Haende auf und sagte, "Eine gesegnete Mahlzeit," und hat ge-followed mit dem Gebet.

Die Frau war so ge-pleased. "Oh, my," sagte Sie, "du kannst auch Latin sprechen!"

Pastor Light hat later zu ein Freund gesagt, "Das war der Abend da Ich decided hab das Ich werde nie wieder ein Attempt machen zu Deutsch sprechen."

Die Moral in die Geschichte ist, "Der Reward kommt in was wir tryen, nicht nur an was wir completen."

60 Seconds The rooster's call

"... whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved." ACTS 2:21

Most Christian churches use the cross on the top of their towers to proclaim that they are dedicated to preaching the Christ of the Cross as the way to God.

Others have lambs, and occasionally a church with a rooster on its tower. In Jerusalem stands such a church, known as The Church of Cock Crow, located, according to tradition, where Peter denied his Lord after which he heard the cock crow. The crow of that cock in Jerusalem reminded Peter of his sin, after which he repented and wept bitterly.

Churches today still remind people of their sins and call them to repentance and faith in their Savior. When the church voices the call to repent, we need to listen.

of Bay Port was travelling north on Rose Island Road about 11:45 p.m. when the car he was driving collided with a train.

According to police reports, Harmon failed to stop at the railroad crossing and struck the 15th car of a train. Train engineer Timothy Michalik of Bad Axe was not aware the accident had occurred.

Harmon was taken to Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon, by Sebewaing Township Ambulance and later transferred to St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw. His condition is not known as of press time.

■ Sebewaing Township Firemen were kept busy Thursday morning trying to extinguish a pickup truck/trailer fire at the south village limits on M-25.

The pickup, owned by a Bay Port farmer, was traveling south on M-25 with a trailer load of straw, when a businessman in the vicinity of Luke's Market saw a fire coming from the truck and called in the alarm.

The fire, which fire officials believe started near the muffler of the truck, soon spread to the trailer full of straw, and the farmer abandoned his truck in front of Kuhl's Building Products.

Firemen battled the blaze for several minutes, and the Sebewaing DPW was called in to turn over the truck and trailer so firemen could spread out the contents and put the flames out. The truck and trailer were a complete loss.

■ A major farm fire destroyed a barn owned by a Bay City man just west of the Elktion Plant of Cooperative Elevator Co., about 1:30 a.m. Monday morning, Nov. 13 (yesterday.)

Elktion - Oliver Police responded to the dairy milking farm operation managed by Richard Krohn, Jr., at 4317 Pigeon Road, Elktion, where several animals, a large quantity of hay and the building were lost. Additional help was received from Pigeon, Kinde, Owendale and Bad Axe Fire Departments, but the building was a total loss.

No exact amount of loss was reported, and investigation into the cause is ongoing, Elktion Firemen said.

Caseville teen dies in crash

A 17-year old Caseville girl died in a one-car accident Wednesday, Nov. 8, when the van in which she was a passenger struck two trees on a private drive in Caseville Township.

Crystal Adams was killed in the accident, while the driver of the Chevrolet Astro, Richard Cieslinski, 16, Pigeon, and two passengers, Melissa Ann Hewlett, 16, Caseville, and Kelly Lee Pierce, Jr., 17, were injured.

Reports from the Huron County Sheriff's Department say

Cieslinski's vehicle was traveling on a private drive north of Dunn Rd., west of M-25 in Caseville Township. The van struck a small tree, then glanced off and hit a larger tree.

Adams and Cieslinski were apparently using seat belts, the reports say, but it is unclear if Pierce was wearing a belt. Police reports indicate that the van was not equipped with a seat belt for Hewlett.

All four crash victims were transported to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon, then Cieslinski and Pierce were transported to St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw.

Caseville Police Department and the Scheurer Ambulance Service assisted at the crash scene.

Marina questions continue

A continued concern about use of Pitcher and Davis Streets near the new Sebewaing Municipal Marina popped up again at last week's Sebewaing Village Council meeting.

Brock Peacock, a resident whose home sits at the intersection of Pitcher and Davis, voiced concerns over the dead-end at his end of Pitcher, and also questioned whether a tree on the east corner of the intersection near the stop sign would be preserved. Peacock also wanted to know who is going to seed and water grass at the end of the dead-end.

The street committee assured Peacock that dead-end and double-arrow signs have been ordered for the intersection in question.

Council approved building permits for James Rabun, Anita Holdwick, Patsy Aquilera and Gilbert Mueller, and approved a fence for Gordon Eastlick.

In old business, a report on the former Esterline Building indicated the demolition is completed and went very well with the lot being graded and seeded on Nov. 6.

Sebewaing Mayor Dave Wineman also reported on a recent meeting with Tim Downing of A.J.D. Management Inc., about possible purchase of the old Sebewaing High baseball field adjacent to the former USA Middle School now owned by Downing's company.

Although Downing did not indicate he was willing to sell, he did offer the village the use of the field for the next several years, or until the second phase of this complex is ready to take place. Downing agreed to maintain the field during this period, but asked Council to consider placing the area under the village's liability waiver.

A report on the Center Street "bridge fishing" question was discussed. Council learned that the signs have been received and are now in place. The "no fishing" controversy first surfaced at Mayor Wineman's summer "town meeting" and was enacted during one of the October council meetings.

In an effort to please everyone, the "no fishing" signs have been placed on the east side of the Downtown bridge crossing the Sebewaing River. Fishing will be permitted on the west side of the bridge and on the boardwalk at Muellerwise Park. Closure of the east side was to allow pedestrians to cross the bridge without having to dodge fishing poles, five-gallon pails and lawn chairs, Council members noted.

In committee reports, the Street Committee received a request from the Post Office for more reserved parking for their vehicles. Committee will discuss it.

The Light and Water Committee will study a request from Huron Cable to sign a 15-year agreement. The committee will continue to study the matter and make a decision in the near future.

Drunk drivers, they've got your number — 9-1-1

Driving drunk or impaired is about to become even riskier business in Michigan with a new statewide campaign encouraging people to use 9-1-1 to report suspected drunk drivers.

State Police Col. Michael Robinson tells drunk drivers to take notice: anyone at any time using a cellular or regular telephone can make a free call to report driving that may indicate an intoxicated person is at the wheel.

"Drunk Drivers: We've Got Your Number 9-1-1" recognizes that drunk driving has been named the No. 1 violent crime in the United States by the FBI, Robinson says.

In Michigan, almost 38% of the state's traffic fatalities involved alcohol in 1994.

The campaign, sponsored jointly by MADD and the Office of Highway Safety Planning, has been endorsed by Gov. John Engler and many lawenforcement officials and groups.

The program was formally launched in Charlotte, Grand Rapids, Negaunee, Northville and Traverse City this year.

"When it comes to driving drunk, the perception by some of the public is there are many drunk drivers out there but only a few get caught," Robinson says. "Drunk drivers may think they can travel undetected;

but with this campaign and the number of cellular phones, their chances of being caught are greatly increased."

Here's Pigeon Christmas holiday schedule

By SALLY RUMMEL

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas, and that's because Pigeon's big holiday celebration kicks off Thanksgiving Weekend — only 10 days away!

The Pigeon Chamber of Commerce will host its Open House on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 24, 25 and 26, officially welcoming the start of the Christmas season.

Shoppers can take advantage of lots of hometown bargains, plus enjoy decorated, themed Christmas trees in participating businesses.

TREE LIGHTING FUN: A special town-wide event is planned for Friday night, beginning with free hot dogs and pop at 6 p.m. at the new downtown mini-park, compliments of Thumb National Bank & Trust Co.

Santa will arrive via help from the Thumb Two-Cylinder Club, and a tree-lighting ceremony will take place at 7 p.m., lighting up the mini-park and the Village of Pigeon's Christmas lights.

CHRISTMAS ELVES will greet Pigeon shoppers on Saturday and Sunday from 12 to 4 p.m., giving away Pigeon Money as a thank-you for shopping in Pigeon.

Bean soup will be dished up by the cupful, compliments of the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce and served up by members of local service organizations on Open House Sunday from 12 to 4 p.m.

SANTA AND KIDS: And of course, Sunday, Nov. 26's big event is the official arrival of Santa Claus in Downtown Pigeon at 2 p.m., when he and Mrs. Claus will visit with local children until the drawing at 3 p.m.

At that time, 10 toys will be given away to lucky children, who are invited to return again during the next three Saturdays — Dec. 2, 9 and 16 — for more chances to win!

LIGHTS CONTEST: Local homeowners will have a chance to decorate their homes for fun and prizes in Pigeon's second annual "Holiday Lights" contest, coordinated by Stacey Cettel.

Winners in three categories — Judges Choice, Viewer's Choice and Best Christmas Display — can take home a total of $425 in Pigeon Money.

To win prize money, homeowners must be registered in the contest. A registration form is available inside this week's Newsweekly, or forms may be picked up at Thumb National Bank & Trust Co.

COUNTRY CHRISTMAS SATURDAY: The Christmas fun in Pigeon has just begun and will be highlighted by a daylong "Country Christmas" celebration on Saturday, Dec. 9.

Pigeon will be bustling with activity, for families and either "Lunch With Santa" for the very young set (age three through kindergarten) at the Pigeon District Library from 12 to 1:45 p.m. or "Christmas Lunch" (for first through fifth graders) at Pigeon Elementary School from 12 to 2 p.m.

Free pizza and pop will be served to all age groups, according to Carrie Damm, who is coordinating Pigeon's Christmas celebration this year.

Participants in both age groups need to pre-register, she adds. Forms will be accompanying children home from school, or will be available at the library and Pigeon Elementary School.

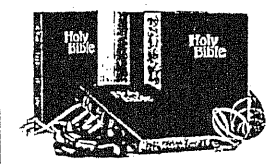

HOLIDAY HOURS: Pigeon's retail holiday shopping hours are still being finalized as of Monday night's Fall Chamber Meeting of the general membership at Scheurer Hospital at 7 p.m. Suggested hours for participating retailers will be announced next week.

For more information on Pigeon's upcoming Christmas Open House and "Country Christmas" celebration, contact Damm at 517-453-2030 or Pigeon Chamber of Commerce President Edwin Eichler at 517-453-4321.

Willow Tree Haven opens near Gagetown

A new retirement home has opened near Gagetown, offering a place to live in a special place to live.

Willow Tree Haven has been open since June, and owner Connie Maxson says her goal is to make the lives easier for several seniors in her care.

"It was my mother's dream to live in a beautiful home along with several elderly folks and make their lives just a little bit easier for them," Maxson says.

After her mother died of cancer at the age of 74 and after Maxson's aunt died two years ago, she decided to continue that dream with Willow Tree Retirement home.

She doubled the size of the original home at 6974 McElldowney Rd., Gagetown, by adding a family room, dining room, four bedrooms and three bathrooms.

Maxson decorated much of the house in teals, burgundies and mauves and features handcrafted wall hangings, afghans and quilts.

She currently has two ladies living in the retirement home and has room for four more in the near future. Residents must be ambulatory, while Maxson does the laundry, cooking and cleaning — and provides transportation for shopping and doctor visits.

Private and semi-private rooms are offered, plus social opportunities. A local hairdresser makes house calls regularly, Maxson adds.

"I want to spoil my ladies — take them a cup of tea when they'd like one. They're retired — they came here to be spoiled," Maxson says.

For details, contact Maxson at 517-665-2493.

The pheasant trip

Last week I left for South Dakota on my annual pheasant hunting sojourn. Why do I pull up stakes in the middle of the multiple hunting seasons going on right here at home to incur the expenses of an out-of-state hunt?

Three reasons: Birds, birds, and more birds.

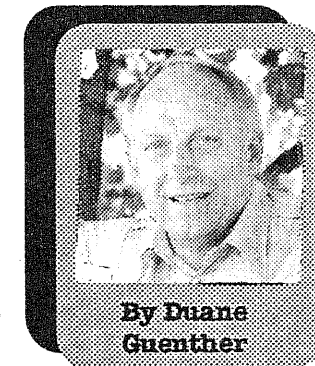

Years ago, when a combination of habitat loss, pesticides, and an increase in predators gave the bird population of Michigan a nose-dive, I vowed to treat myself to a few "quality hunts" in regions where today's hunting is similar to what it used to be around home.

When it comes to pheasants, a trip to Kansas, Iowa or South Dakota can give you a taste of "yesteryear," and it won't cost you an arm and a leg to have the experience.

The group I hunt with makes their headquarters in Huron, S.D. It's a mid-sized college town located in the east-central part of the state.

The real hotbed for pheasant hunting is a little more to the south and west near the city of Chamberlain, and more specifically in a town called Winner.

Here flushes of 150 to 200 birds are common, but with its popularity comes a price, such as booking your motel rooms years in advance and paying gunning fees that hover around $100 per day.

By Duane Guenther

Our area has a little less notoriety, and a few less birds, but the trade-off is more than worth it.

We hunt in this area because one of our pheasant hunting crew was born and raised in the vicinity. Instead of hiring big time hunting guides we join forces with the local football coach, and last year killed a bundle of birds on a farm owned by his quarterback's dad.

But, you don't have to know anybody to have a good pheasant hunt in S.D. These mid-western states are still in the grips of an agrarian society which views hunting as a popular recreational pastime, and hunters as solid citizens who can be trusted as friends. A courtesy knock on most farm house doors will gain you permission to hunt all the land you can cover in a day.

Last year I drove to our hunting site, partially because I wanted to hunt a few more days than the rest of our group, but mostly to give myself the independence of checking out some new hunting areas on my trip out. It was a trip of 1,080 miles from my front door to the hotel's parking lot.

The trip took 18 hours, one way, cost me $100 in gas, and another $100 for two nights in a motel and a couple of meals. This year I am going to fly from MSB to Sioux Falls for $200, and split a rental car - another $50, which will cost out the same as last year.

The best part of this year's deal is the time spent traveling - six hours round trip compared to 36 hours last year.

Pheasant hunting is big business in S.D.. Hunters making the trip should be prepared to spend around $65 for an out-of-state hunting license which will entitle you to, two five-day hunts.

A little tip when filling out your hunting periods is to select the first five days you plan to hunt and then take the last five days of the season for your next choice.

If you get a chance to go out again, or can alter your last hunt as any conservation officer can change the dates on your license to fit your schedule. Neat, huh?

Although your license may seem a little pricey, everything else needed for your hunting trip is lower in cost than you will find at home. We stay in a four-story hotel, complete with pool, hot tubs, and a restaurant called "The Library" for a little less than $47 per night.

You can find them at the edge of town for around $40. A hunter I befriended last year has offered me a room in his mother-in-law's house for $10 a night and she will provide a good, old-fashioned "prairie breakfast."

Most hunters buy their shells in town rather than buck the airline's stringent rules on transporting ammunition. I found the prices to compare very favorably with those at home. Restaurants are a little cheaper - and be prepared to chow down.

These hardy people are used to harsh weather conditions and serve up meal portions that make a thresher's table look like a light lunch. Two necessities for a pheasant hunting trip to S.D.

would be good waterproof boots and the best briar resistant pants you can buy. The hunting environment you will encounter is wet, rough and unkempt.

CRP lands, mile-long cornfields; and swampy sloughs spell tough terrain, but it also is the place that holds hundreds of birds. You will need comfortable, well broken-in boots to keep you on your feet. Your pants will also take a beating. While nylon-faced are good, I found the heavier Cordura-faced to be the best.

S.D. has a long pheasant season lasting from the third Saturday in October to middle of December. The daily limit is three roosters and hunters are allowed to transport 15 birds home.

While opening day is a tradition to behold, smart hunters go later in the year when the massive cornfields are down and the birds are congregated in pockets. The weather conditions may be a little tougher during these late hunts, but seeing so many birds tends to warm you up miraculously.

Last year, on our last hunting day, we had just finished filling our limit at the end of a long, winding slough and were resting before heading back to the hotel. Our dogs, not wanting to quit for the day, wandered ahead and began working a ditch bank.

As we gazed into a beautiful setting sun the horizon suddenly exploded into a massive flush. We later estimated between 50 and 100 pheasants had taken to the sky one time.

The sight made me promise myself to return, and last week, I did....

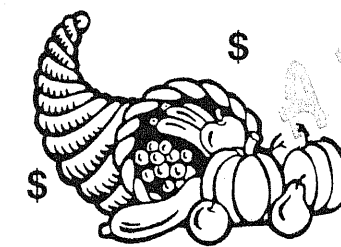

It's a girl!

George and Kristi Eurich are proud to announce the birth of their daughter, Mackenzie Paige Eurich, who made her awaited debut on Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1995. She weighed nine pounds and measured 20 inches long. Her grandparents are Duane and LoAnn Rieman of Sebawaing and Tom and Sarah Eurich of Unionville.

Her great-grandparents are Adella Rieman and Arlene Kunisch, both of Sebawaing, and Paul and Doris Nagy of Vassar.

On Sunday, Oct. 15, Mackenzie was baptized at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Sebawaing by Pastor Martin Hagenow.

Her sponsors were Kari Rieman, Jeff and Jodi Williamson and Tom and Renee Eurich. A luncheon was served in her honor at her Grandpa and Grandma Rieman's.

Shortcuts for Time-Saving Meals

What do you do when you need to get somewhere fast? You take a shortcut! On busy week-nights you need some shortcuts to make your meal-making journey shorter and faster. Try the following suggestions to make healthy meals easy:

1. Take time to plan. Before you shop at the supermarket, set aside a few minutes to think about upcoming meal needs. Consider your family's schedule, activities and food preferences. Try to include grain products, protein and some fruits or vegetables to add a healthy variety.
2. Keep time-saving ingredients on hand: fresh produce; grated cheese; refrigerated bread items; ready-to-cook meats; frozen vegetables and meal-making mixtures; prepared foods from the bakery & deli; pasta and rice.
3. Use quick-fix methods. Already-seasoned main ingredients, pre-cut veggies from produce, and make-ahead and one-pan recipes can speed meal preparation.
4. Choose easy-to-prepare recipes that feature few main ingredients and cooking steps.

Practice these steps and you're on your way to fizzle-free meals!

6 Thumb hunters seek elk this year

Six Thumb Area hunters were randomly selected to participate in this year's Michigan elk hunt Dec. 12-19.

They were among 165 state residents that were selected for the hunt.

The individuals were computer-drawn from a pool of 37,194 eligible applicants. Of the 165 hunters, 65 will have the choice of taking either an antlered or antlerless elk, while 100 will be allowed to take only an antlerless elk.

This year's elk hunting areas will include portions of Alpena, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Montmorency, Otsego and Presque Isle Counties, says the state Department of Natural Resources.

The December elk hunt follows two very successful September hunts in which 165 people were eligible to hunt, and 56 adult bulls and 51 antlerless elk were taken.

A new state record for weight was established by a bull with a dressed weight of 830 lbs.

Local hunters receiving Hunters' Choice licenses are: Terry Krohn of Elkton, James Osantoski of Bad Axe, Ken Stoick of Caro and Duane Depinski of Bad Axe.

Receiving antlerless-only permits were: Robert Diegel of Caro, and Anthony Grant of Sebawaing.

Thanks A Million!

It's not nice to mess with Mother Nature...

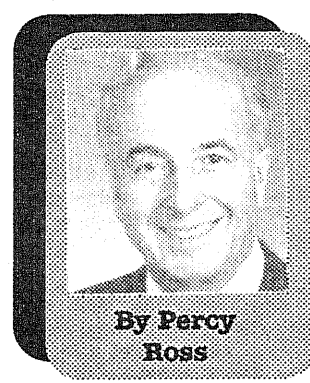

DEAR MR. ROSS: I have completed my first year of college, majoring in environmental science. During that year I joined Web of Life, an environmental organization run by science majors.

The group consists of students working together for a common goal. What money we do accumulate comes from loans and what we make from recycling.

Due to our very limited budget what we do for Earth Day is minimal.

Web of Life would like to do more and get other students involved and aware. We've been looking into reviving a location on campus known as the "Friendship Circle."

For 15 years it has been a part of the campus' background, hardly noticed. I, along with some other members, would like to plant flowers, grass, lay some stones and place a few benches as to turn it into the Friendship Circle once again.

I hope that you will consider helping us and most importantly, the environment. — Miss H.S., Dayton, OH

DEAR MISS S:

It's not so long ago that we burned our trash and filled local junk yards with discarded appliances. We have abused the earth and depleted most of our natural resources. If we don't become environmentally conscientious now there will be no tomorrow. The check I'm sending will fun your renovations of the Friendship Circle. It's a small start, but that's how big things eventually become to be. $$$$$

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I thank God that I've never had to draw welfare or food stamps. I'm not knocking it for folks who are disabled, but folks that are able to work should get up off it and earn their own bread and butter.

I've had some jobs that folks say how do you make it?

Then I say when I give God His part first, then He stretches the rest of my dollars! It hasn't always been easy for I was by myself 12 years raising my four girls.

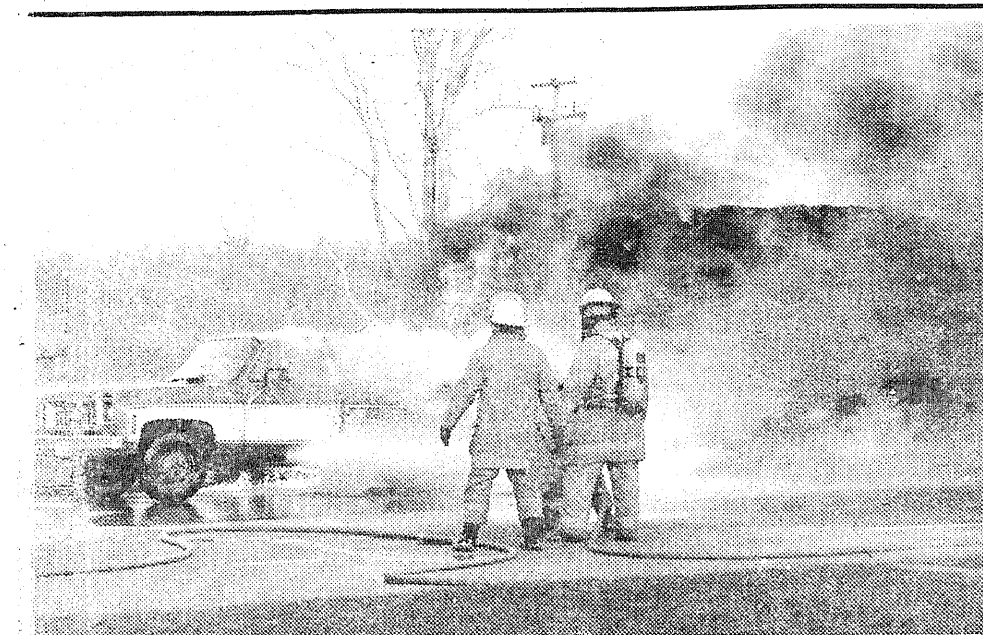

I do, however, have a request. If you know how to get my husband unaddicted to pornography, please let me know. — L.S., Somerset, KY

DEAR MRS. S:

I suggest pasting together all the pages of his magazines. Then, record over any inappropriate videos with an evangelist's church sermon. I doubt it will cure him, but it sure will frustrate him. $$$$$

FARM BUREAU INSURANCE Making your future more predictable

Here's some basic Internet facts & figures on the information highway. It helps to have an adventurous nature when you start your roaming.

I love to make discoveries (just ask anybody who's gone on vacation with me!) and a brand new World Wide Web site makes me gloat like a kid with a new toy. I'm still learning how to find information, but like most learning experiences, it's a ton of fun.

Like many people, I am somewhat of a novice at computers, having used one only at work in recent years. Now that I have my own home computer, my very own toy, connected by America Online to the Internet, it's easy to make forays into the cyberspace world.

There's an incredible amount of information out there, just waiting for someone to find it, on just about any subject.

You might want to buy stock in the phone company when you begin your browsings, as it's very easy to forget the clock as you wander through the Net like a lost tourist!

To find information, first you need a computer (of course), a Web browser, available on various software at computer stores or through the on-line services, and you should know a smattering of the language.

■ INTERNET: A vast collection of computer systems tied together much like a spider web. Originally, it was developed for the military to help exchange information between universities that did contracting work for the government.

Once computers became more powerful and cheaper (the $2,000 computer you might be using is vastly more powerful than the huge mainframes in use 10 years ago), the Internet became more and more available to the average computer user who possessed a modem to connect his computer to telephone lines.

■ WORLD WIDE WEB (www): The fastest-growing part of the Internet, made up of thousands of "pages" with colorful graphics, text, even music and computer software. Get to the right page and you can download that software to your computer for your use.

■ PAGES: A "page" is like an electronic magazine. When you access a site with its Internet address, you'll find the "home page," which is like the cover and contents page of a magazine. And there, you may find links, directing you to even more pages.

■ LINKS: If a page has highlighted words, they're "hyperlinks." Click on the highlighted word with your mouse and the computer will automatically go to that page. A web site could be linked to a number of pages, all devoted to one portion of the subject you're interested in.

■ E-MAIL: This is electronic mail, the most popular feature of the Internet and a key selling point of the commercial services such as CompuServe and America Online. E-mail allows you to send correspondence to the "mailbox" of someone else. Just like regular mail, you need to know that person's e-mail address to send them a message. Because e-mail is so fast, computer users have taken to calling the Postal Service "snail mail," as in "I'll send you a copy of that file snail mail." (With apologies to postmasters everywhere!)

■ URL: The "Uniform Resource Listing." That's the gobbledegook of letters and slashes that tells the Web where the page you want is located.

Lady Pats win one, lose one in final week

Leah Collon tossed in three triples during the first quarter and then added 11 more points for a game-high 20, to lead the Patriots to a 59-40 win over the Mayville Wildcats.

Linda Davila added 13 points and Shannon Schafer chipped in with 11 more to give USA their third win of the season.

Riding on Collon's crest, USA registered 21 points during the first quarter which gave them a commanding 9 point lead and never relinquished the lead thereafter.

USA controlled the boards throughout the game with L'z Hampshire playing a fantastic defensive game. She and Linda Davila ended up with 12 rebounds apiece with most coming on the offensive end of the court.

The Pats built on their lead by outscoring Mayville 17-10 in the third quarter and coasted through the 4th to seal the victory.

USA had Mayville's number this year, as two of their three wins came at the expense of the Wildcats.

Earlier in the week, the Patriots hosted the Redskins from Sandusky.

"They have one of the premier girls' basketball programs in the Thumb," remarked Todd Cramer, assist-pours in 20 point to lead USA to final win of season

LEAH COLLON

tant coach for the Patriots. "Everyone is trying to emulate their success," he added.

Although the Patriots hung tough at the beginning of the game and again during the start of the third quarter, the Redskin strength prevailed.

Led by LaGault with 14 points, the overpowering depth of Sandusky's bench proved to be the difference overall.

"We hung tough at the beginning," Cramer said, "but they continued to move people in and out with little decrease in their team's efficiency."

Linda Davila and Leah Collon headed the offensive attack with 9 points apiece, while Liz Hampshire had 9 rebounds.

The final score was Sandusky 57, USA 31.

USA now gets ready for tournament play when they meet the Lakers on Tuesday, November 14, in the first round of district play. Tipoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. at Cass City High School.

Lady Bulldogs down Eagles

The Owen-Gage Lady Bulldogs defeated the Caseville Eagles Tuesday night 51-35, as both teams get ready for district play.

The Bulldogs led 14-4 after the first quarter. The Eagles struggled offensively and were behind 27-3 at the half.

Caseville mounted a comeback in the third but couldn't close the gap. Owen-Gage's Susie Roemer led all scorers with 17 points, with Tonya Smith scoring 14. For Caseville, Amy Stahl led with 13 points and Karla Pittenger chipped in with 10.

On Thursday, the Lady Bulldogs racked up another win, this one a 60-47 victory over North Huron.

The Dogs got off to a good start in the game, leading 14-10 at the end of the first period and 32-25 at the half.

They applied some defensive pressure in the third and held the Warriors to only six points—and later outscored them 18-16 in the fourth.

"It seems like we're starting to peak at the right time for districts," Coach Dean Roller said.

Jennifer Winchester led the Bulldogs with 16 points, while Kate Powers had 15 and Tonya Smith added 14.

The Bulldogs are 9-11 overall and 7-7 in the league at the end of the regular season.

They take on the Port Hope Blue Stars for the fourth time this year, in district play Tuesday night in Port Hope.

Lakers earn win in season-closer

The Lady Lakers basketball team posted a big 66-35 victory over division opponent Bad Axe Thursday night.

This one was a big win for a couple of reasons:

First, this was the last home game for the four seniors, Kristen Damm, Betsy Drury, Jody Herbert and Angie Weidman, who were honored in pre-game ceremonies.

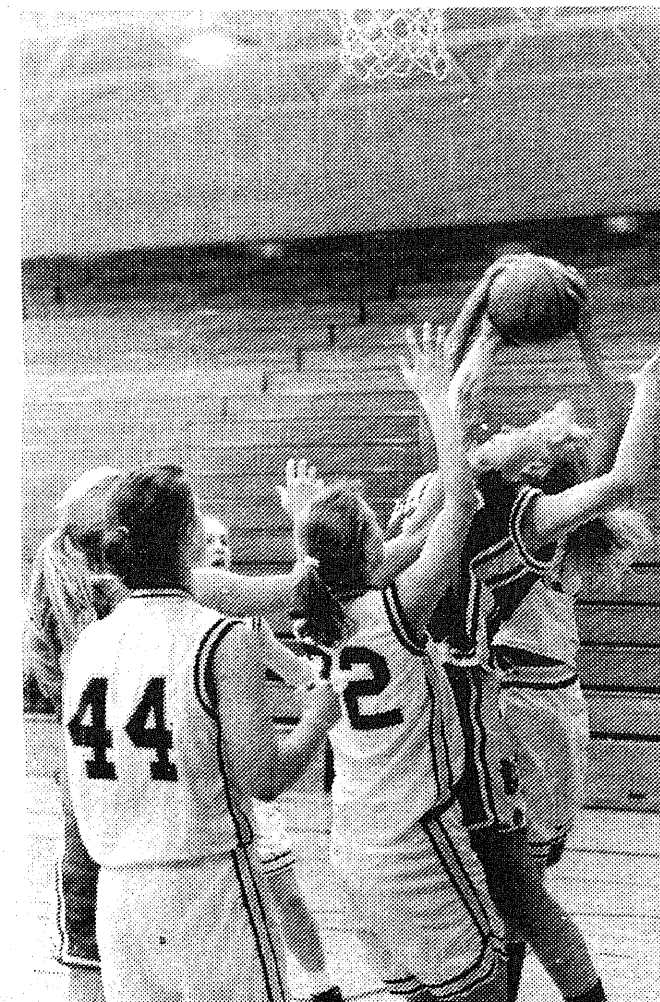

And secondly, with district play starting this week, Coach Paul Beachy wanted to get his players ready for the "second season."

Both teams came out in the first quarter with full court defensive pressure, but they managed a good offensive showing against the pressure. The Lakers led 12-10 after the first quarter.

In the second, the Lakers' combination of inside play and outside shooting proved to be too much for the Hatchets and the Lakers took a 31-15 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The second half was all Lakers, and all team members saw plenty of playing time. The Lakers led 51-23 at the end of three, and maintained a sizable lead through the end of the game.

Drury and freshman Robin Rathje led the scoring with 17 points each. Weidman followed up with 12 and Damm had 11.

Highlights for the regular season for the four Laker seniors were Drury scoring 332 points, which produced a 16.6 scoring average, good for second place in the area. She had an 8.6 rebound average per game.

Weidman scored 272 points, which was a 13.6 ppg average. She also had an 8.6 rebounds per game average, and led the team in blocked shots with 39.

Damm finished the regular season with 194 points, good for a 9.7 ppg average. She also led the team in shooting triples, connecting 39 times during the season. Herbert scored 40 points, good for a 2.1 ppg average. She also shot a good 64 percent from the free throw line.

The Lakers take their 13-7 regular season record into district play at Cass City Tuesday, where they face USA.

If successful against the Patriots, they'll play the winner of Wednesday's game in the finals on Friday night. All games start at 7:30 p.m.

JUNIOR VARSITY: The Laker JV ended their season with a loss, but the game was close throughout.

They jumped out to a 13-4 lead during the first quarter, but the Hatchets closed the gap. The Lakers led 15-13 at the end of the first period. The second quarter saw the Lakers maintain their slim margin and they led 21-20 at the half.

The second half was anyone's to win, and the Lakers were outscored by two in each stanza, which produced a final score of 40-37, with Bad Axe on top.

Shannon Pionk led with 10 points, while Kristi Gehrs scored seven. Rebecca Kolar and Michelle Miller each had five, Kami Shaw and Christy Schulze each had four.

PIGEON ROTARY CLUB

Julie Walsh, Pigeon native now serving as Regional Coordinator of the Michigan Tissue Bank in Lansing, spoke on "Tissue Donation" at last Monday's meeting of the Pigeon Rotary Club.

The Michigan Tissue Bank was founded in 1977 to provide high quality human tissue for transplantation to treat a number of diseases and medical conditions. Tissue grafts are obtained from human donors who have died.

The MTB serves the entire state of Michigan, providing these vital tissues to those in need. The need for tissue - including eyes, skin, bone, heart valves - increases daily, but the number of donors has remained nearly constant over the last three years.

Walsh told the group: "Cameal transplantation restores sight for over 42,000 people in the U.S. each year."

Skin transplants can help save the lives of thousands of severely burned patients each year.

Heart valves help children and adults who have diseased or defective heart valves.

Almost everyone can be a tissue donor. Age criteria allows for donations from individuals age 0 to 85.

Medical history must be reviewed at the time of death to determine if specific criteria are met.

Tissue donation will not interfere with customary funeral or burial arrangements. An open casket funeral is possible.

Michigan Sugar Company recently announced a new staff addition for its Sebewaing Plant. Wilfred J. Forbes joined Michigan Sugar as assistant chief engineer for the Sebewaing sugar processing facility.

He holds a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala. Before joining the company, Forbes was a lieutenant commander at the U.S. Naval Trident Center in Kings Bay, Ga.

Now in its 90th year of business, Michigan Sugar Co. operates four sugar processing facilities in the State, and the company's subsidiary, Great Lakes Sugar Co., operates two Ohio facilities.

The company's sugar products are marketed under the Pioneer Sugar, Peninsular and Great Lakes labels. The products are distributed throughout an expanding midwest market.

Michigan Sugar Co. is based in Saginaw and is a subsidiary of Savannah Foods & Industries, Savannah, Ga.

Two local students are among 272 freshmen at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, who have been named members of the Carl and Winifred Lees Honors College this fall. They are:

CALVIN FUERST, son of Ken and Judy Fuerst of Sebewaing, majoring in Biology and JENNIFER BITTERLING, daughter of Jerry and Roberta Bitterling of Unionville, majoring in pre-communication.

These students have recorded achievements beyond traditional academic skills by participating in high school sports, musical organizations and journalism as well as community service projects, WMU officials say.

The 1995 Huron Area Junior High Honors Band held its 10th annual concert at the Laker High School auditorium Sunday, Nov. 12.

Eight Huron and Tuscola County Area schools sent some of their finest Junior High band musicians to participate in the concert.

Participating from CASEVILLE SCHOOLS were: Nichole Gaido, flute; Lynda Brooks, flute; Rebecca Erer, clarinet; Amanda Shoup, clarinet; Mary Bedford, clarinet; Joseph Nichol, alto saxophone; and David Smith, baritone.

Participating from LAKER JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL were: Erin Gulash, flute; Jessica Weidman, flute; Teresa Osen, flute; Laura Dubey, oboe; Melissa Winkel, clarinet; Jessica Schuette, alto saxophone; Tiffany Maust, alto saxophone; Garrett Buehler, tenor saxophone; Brandon Elenbaum, trumpet; Peter Eichler, horn; Jim McQueen, trombone; Stacey Kreh, baritone; and Jeff Nimtz, tuba.

Bach-Kilmanagh Lutheran School of Sebewaing has been awarded a $500 grant for the 1995-96 school year by Aid Association for Lutherans.

The grants were provided through the AAL Lutheran elementary school faculty. This year AAL awarded a total of $750,000 to nearly 1,500 Lutheran elementary schools nationwide.

The school may use the funds for consultants, speakers and resource materials. Activities may concentrate on such areas as teaching strategies, classroom organization and management, interpersonal relationships.

Sarah Zagata of Sebewaing was awarded the 1995 Sweepstakes Trophy at the Huron Community Fair this summer.

She was the top beef show person and went on to compete against the top showmanship winners in horses, dairy, swine, sheep, feeder steers and market steers.

The winners of each division had to show all six animals and were judged according to their showmanship abilities.

The contest is sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association of Huron County and is held yearly as the finale to 4-H and FFA Livestock competition.

Other accomplishments for Zagata this past summer included being elected State Senator by her peers at the Farm Bureau Young People's Citizenship Seminar held at Alma College and being chosen to attend a State of Michigan Summer Institute program. She was selected for "Law and You" a two week program held on the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

Zagata is a junior at USA High School and the daughter of Mike and Lorene Zagata of Sebewaing.

USA-FFA's Jason Martens and Dan Sweetman are presenting an electrical wiring project to USA School Mechanic Class.

The class has been learning about electrical wiring and proper usage. The two as advanced students constructed a mini shed which runs on full power to eight receptacles, two of the three-way switches, one of the two-way switch and three lights with a GFI to protect them from danger. The breaker and utilities really work just like in a normal electrical situation.

St. Felix dedicates bell tower

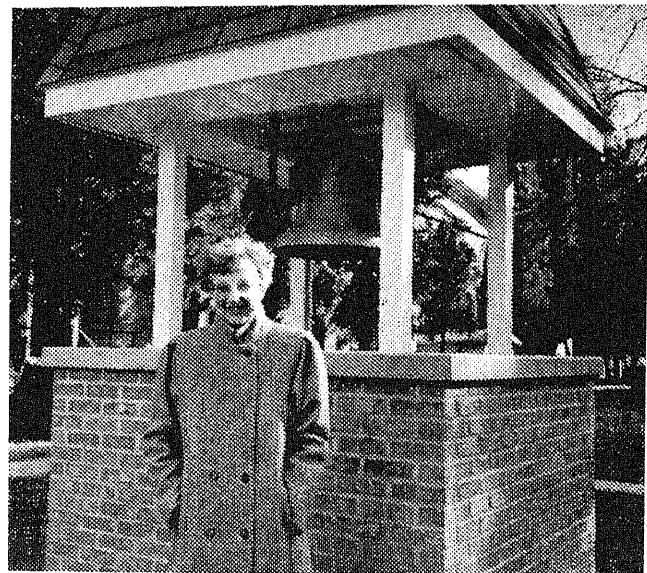

By AMY HEIDEN

In 1901, the brick church that houses St. Felix Catholic Church near Pinnebog was erected. The next year, a large bell was added to the bell tower to call parishoners to worship.

The bell has been rung thousands of times over the years, but in 1992, the bell tower atop the church had deteriorated so badly that the bell could no longer be rung without fear of it falling.

Church members decided then to put money aside for construction of a new tower to house the bell.

So the bell was removed and stored in the church's garage, then in Bob Johnson's barn while the bell tower was repaired and the louvers that sent the bell's clear rings through the countryside were bricked up.

Earlier this year, workers from Sobczak Construction built a new bell tower between the church building and the rectory.

Mary Schwartz, pastoral administrator at St. Felix. A special dedication was held Sunday.

It's a girl!

Mark and Michelle Gangler of Akron announce the birth of their daughter, Rachel Rae, on Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1995 at Bay Medical Center in Bay City.

Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Amelia Gangler of Unionville and Mrs. Ruth Buckius of Bay City.

Then, Johnson, Dick Peterson, Tim Fisher and Dennis White brought the bell out of its temporary retirement and installed it in the new tower.

A steeple and cross echoing the steeple on the church building were added, and White added a button in the church that allows the bell to be electrically rung from inside the church.

The bell has been rung every weekend to call worshippers to Mass, and is tolled for funerals, according to Sister

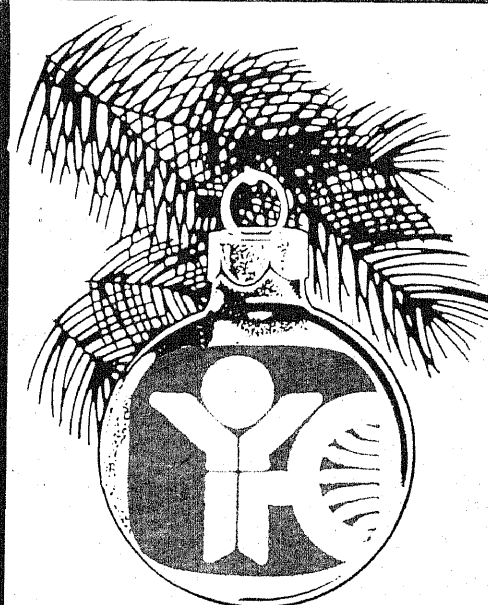

It's a boy!
