OUR PRIZE OFFICE.

Under the above heading the SENTINEL published an article in its issue of the 12th inst., in which it says:

"One day last week a gentleman called in our office and asked to see a large number of an Ann Arbor paper. We found him one, and then discovered that his object was to get a copy of an administrator's sale of real estate in this city, which was to take place on that day. It had been advertised the legal time in a cheap paper in Ann Arbor, and not a soul in a Sentinel knew that this

For all practical purposes the notice which will never have been published. If there was any sale of that day it must have been made by some competent person.

And then wants to ask whether it is acting with a just regard to the interests of the property of widows and orphans? Also, that the gentleman requested that the place should be adjusted to Tipland.

And then a number of people come to our office to see an Ann Arbor paper in search of legal advertising. We have found them blow us up for not inserting a legal notice which they had ordered in the Enterprise, when upon looking through an Ann Arbor paper we would find it tucked away among the million as easily as though it belonged there.

At Ann Arbor the Courier advertises to do legal printing at reduced rates, and of course some people will take advantage of it, but if the property advertising should be outside that city the posibility of doing business elsewhere, or no better than an advertisement elsewhere, is more than an advertisement in an Ann Arbor paper as very few are taken here. And further says: We hope that those who have legal advertising to do will consult their own interests and have it done at home.

pleasant day
the right of this matter, we ask of the Judge that he shall allow "no bill" to be posted in the Probate office, underbidding on printing, and that he shall allow parties the largest liberty of choice in the publishing of their notices, consistent with a due publicity which the spirit of the law requires.

An Advertising.

To show the manner in which enterprising and prosperous business men appreciate the power of printer's ink we copy the following from the Detroit Free Press:

"—Today we carry into print an advertisement which combines novelty and utility in a remarkable degree. Between Saturday and Monday night every household in all the city will have been reached by a visit from the UNKNOWN. The paper comes to all, rich and poor alike, without asking anything in return. It is sent to the unthinking business men of Detroit, who pay the expense of the benefit, and to those who are advertising, far, which has proved in up to date and expected rapidity. In the first place we had barely intended to issue a one-half page notice, but it was so successful in most instances such a rush of advertising came in that we were obliged to change
