AT CHURCH Just look at her now-little humbug !-What a sight Mrs. Ward is, this morning!
That woman will hill me, some day,
With her interstible lines and crimmons!
Why will these old things dress so gay? And there's Jenny Wells with Fred Tracy How can this girl next to me act so? Ob, dear ! what a dreadful long sermon! Through at last! Well, it isn't so dreadful, After all, for we won't diue till one. How can people may church is poky! So wicked! I think it's rest fun.

worn and wretched. Jenny and I for lower deaptir, and lower and fines, in awful state, we proceeded to the tribunal.

The door of the old library stood open, as if awaiting our entrance. As we passed in, Robert's head sank lower upon his breast, while Jenny and I walked with downcast eyes. We felt that we were in the dreaded presence, and we did not wish to behold it.

There was a breathless pause, then a round, mellow, beautiful voice, full of sweetness, broke the silence.

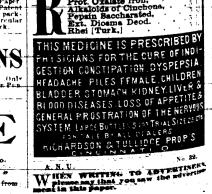

"How is—this? Robert, my boy, what's the matter?"

I thought that, all at once, a tide of blossoms, and fragrance, and sunshine had burst into the grim of the production and burst into the grim old library. Robert lifted up his face and downcast eyes. So did Jenny, and so did I. In
