The question considered was the reduction of the tariff on wocis. It was abown that at the prices paid in foreign parts for wools, which would come into competition with—the products of the United States were the tariff taken off, wool could not be profitably grown east of the Mississippi river, which of course would cripple one of the greatest industries of this country. It was also shown that the price of ment should be censid and that the production of wool and muttoo ought to be fostered, rather than crippled. Accordingly the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Resolved and wool could not be fostered, rather than crippled. Accordingly the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Resolved and the solved.
