A boy came to the house with a note for me. It read:

"Meet me to-night after dark where we last talked.

BLANGHE SEPTON."

All day I kept aloof from the village. At night I went thither. The girl was there now, all herself, calm and self-possessed.

"John," said she. "I am going to ask of you a favor—a great favor. Will you grant it?"

"Anything you ask," I said, impulsively.
"Anything is a big word. What I ask of you may not be so easy to grant as you have left this village, for I feel that you will leave, and that very soon. What you are not to know until you have left this village, for I feel that you will leave, and that very soon. What you receive from me I want you to mease I direct. That is all. Can you promise me that?
