THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1887.

The Michigan wheelmen will meet in Ann Arbor July 8. A programme will be given later.

The 1th Michigan infantry will hold its reunion at Ann Arbor. A braver regiment never faced the enemy.

It is claimed that during its period of growth Indian corn draws from the soil six times its own weight of water.

We have received an invitation to extend the exercises of commencement week, June 24 to 28, of the state normal school at Ypsilanti.

The dates of the annual encampment of the Southeastern G. A. R. association, to be held in this city, have been changed and the reunion will be held one week later than originally arranged, August 30 and 31, and September 1 and 2 having now been decided upon. This step was necessary in order to secure the use of the tents belonging to the state militia. — Adrian Times.

Counterfeit postal notes are said to be in circulation, and instructions have been issued from the superintendent of the money order system at Washington, cautioning the postmasters of every money order office to make themselves thoroughly acquainted with the appearance of the postal note, in order that they may be able to decide as to the genuineness of any document which may be presented as a special note for payment.

A bill to regulate the rental of telephones has been reported favorably in the house at Lansing, as follows: Where only one is used by an individual or firm, shall not exceed $2.25 per month; where more than one is used the price shall not exceed $2 per month. The charge for out of town connections is placed at 15 cents for the first five minutes and 5 cents for every additional five minutes. This is substantially the Indiana law, and is similar to the Dodge bill which was defeated by one vote two years ago. Although we are now out of the telephone business and have to pay for our messages the same as other people, we consider this tampering with people's business. Why not regulate prices for W. U. telegraph messages, etc.? The two-cent railroad bill was killed because it was unjust and this telephone bill should receive the same fate.

Michigan Crop Report, June 1.

For this report returns have been received from 960 correspondents, representing 722 townships. Six hundred and fifty-two of these reports are from 429 townships in the southern four tiers of counties, and 168 reports are from 152 townships in the central counties.

The growth which was so severe and general at the time the report for May was issued continued until the latter part of the month.

At this date all crops are doing well. The condition of wheat in the southern four tiers of counties is 75 per cent, the comparison being with vitality and growth of average years. This is eight per cent below the condition on May 1, and five per cent below the condition June 1, 1886. These figures indicate a yield per acre of 137 bushels, while the average yield per acre as estimated by correspondents is 131 bushels.

The condition in the counties of the southern four tiers ranges from 69 in Washtenaw to 97 in Lapeer. The condition is highest in the east four counties of the fourth tier, viz: St. Clair 93; Lapeer 97; Genesee 91; and Shiawassee 92.

In the central counties the average condition is 89, and in the northern counties 89.

With favorable weather until harvest the yield of wheat will doubtless be somewhat better than these figures indicate. Yet whatever the final output, it will certainly fall far below what it would have been had an average amount of rain fallen during April and May.

Damage by "Hessian fly," "insects," "worm," etc., is reported by 128 correspondents in the southern four tiers of counties. Of these reports nine are from Barry county, six from Berrien, 14 from Cass, 16 from Jackson, and 13 from Washtenaw.

In the southern four tiers of counties eight per cent, in the central seven per cent, and in the northern six per cent of the 1886 wheat crop is still in the farmers' hands.

The area planted to corn equals the area planted in 1886, and not to exceed three or four per cent of the area planted failed to grow. The area sown to oats equals, and the area sown to barley is less than in 1886. In condition, compared with average years, oats and barley are each 84, the condition June 1, 1886, being 97, and clover meadows and pastures are 80, and clover sown this year 75, as compared with 95 and 96 one year ago. In the southern counties 39 per cent, in the central 21 per cent, and in the northern 18 per cent of the clover sown failed to grow.

In the southern counties the wages of farm hands average, with board, $16.39, in the central $16.53, and in the northern $9.40; without board, the average in the southern counties is $23.53, in the central $25.51, and in the northern $29.51.

Apples promise in the southern counties 81 per cent, in the central 87 per cent, and in the northern 94 per cent of an average crop.

In the southern counties 208 correspondents report the outlook for peaches at 85 per cent of an average crop. Of living, healthy peach trees there are comparatively few in the state.

Concerning the fruit prospects the following information, mostly from fruit specialists, has been received. From S. H. Mann, Lenawee county.—The apple crop will be very light this year. If I were to venture an estimate it would not be above 25 per cent of a crop. Peaches are not raised in Lenawee county to an extent that is worthy of any report. The trees winter-kill.

From Jacob Ganzhorn, Washtenaw county. The indications are that there will be a full crop of apples. Peaches have not well and will be a full crop. All other fruits promise full crops except cherries. They fruited so full last year that they were unable to perfect fruit buds this season, hence a very light crop.

CALIFORNIA.

Third Letter.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—I left Los Angeles last Tuesday at 1:30 P.M., and arrived here the next day at noon. As we leave Los Angeles on the S. P. R. R. we pass through the San Fernando valley and our first stop is at the new town of Burbank. This is where James Wells has located. It is a paper town as yet, that is you can see the town, but you must imagine the houses. As we pass Burbank the valley widens, and as far as the eye can see are fields of wheat and barley. This valley is claimed as one of the granaries of the state. The next place of note is San Fernando. This is larger than Burbank, but is quite new. The land is very fertile and they have water, which is very necessary here, as land without it is almost valueless. Soon after leaving San Fernando we enter the first tunnel, a mile in length, and we pass through in seven minutes. Here are five tunnels to pass in seven miles. None of them as long as the first, however. When we arrive at the summit of the mountain we find a pretty little valley with a running stream of water, and two little towns, Newhall and Lang. Now we are descending quite fast and go through Alpine and Lancaster, situated in the Antelope valley. This is much larger than the San Fernando, but is not so well cultivated, being used mostly for cattle ranches. As we reach Mojave we see indications of crossing the mountains again. At Tehachipa the railroad goes around the mountain and crosses itself in order to ascend. I wished to see this but night overtook us before we arrived there and I saw nothing more until daylight at Merced. From Merced to Lathrop is a very fine grain country, well improved, with acres and acres of wheat. I found San Francisco quite a town, and was fortunate enough to find a quiet, clean and moderate-priced hotel. I had my dinner and spent the afternoon looking about the city. After supper, as I was coming down from the dining room I met the clerk who told me that a friend wished to see me. I went to the office with him and found Dr. Bert Bessie, who had by accident, selected the same hotel that I had, and saw my name on the register. I was very glad to see him and I think he was happy to see the face of a friend. He will not stay here long, but will go to Los Angeles to-night or in the morning, and I shall be alone again. We went to Menlo Park yesterday and spent the day looking over the country residences of the rich men of this coast, such as Stanford, Hopkins, Flood and Felton, and several others. We also saw their city houses, built on the hills in this city. The Stanford place at Menlo is not very large. Only 1400 acres of as fine land as I ever saw. He owns 700 horses, all fast stock, and he keeps an army of men to care for them.

MAY 30.—We leave Sacramento at 7:15, and it is soon dark we see little of the country except a few orchards and vineyards. It is extremely warm, 102° and no wind. I go to sleep and at daylight Tuesday am awake, and find we are passing under the snow sheds of the Sierra Nevada mountains. The sheds extend over the track for miles, and hide the view from the cars, but occasionally you catch a glimpse of deep canyons, and lofty peaks covered with a mantle of white, and the sides with pine forests. As we arrive at the summit the sheds disappear and the snow lies in banks close to the track. The air is cold and it seems like winter. Now we come to Donner Lake, a beautiful sheet of water, low down in a canyon. This is a celebrated fishing resort. The Truckee river which rises in the mountains near here, is a very swift stream and runs down through the canyon, and for a long distance the railroad follows the windings of the stream, first on one side, then on the other. We descend very rapidly now and soon the snow disappears, the mountains grow smaller, the timber less, until we reach Wadsworth, when all that remains in sight is a low range of hills. Still further the valley widens and the land is more barren. Alkali shows on the surface and the hills grow beautifully less, and we are down where the weather is too warm to be comfortable. Now we pass for miles through a desert. In the distance it looks like a large body of water, but it is only a mirage, as it is nothing but glistening sand. 12:30 P.M.—At Humboldt, 20 minutes for dinner. Here is a nice stream of water and some fruit trees. From the car windows I can see a few cattle, sheep and horses, and can hear a mocking bird sing—quite a country we have just left behind us. From Humboldt to Winnemucco the country is much the same. To the left of us we see the Humboldt River and along its banks everything looks fresh and green. To the right we can see snow capped mountains in the distance. I shall stop off at Salt Lake City to-morrow for a few days. H.C. CALHOUN.

Tecumseh will have a regular old fashioned celebration this year. Arrangements are being made for a display of military, bicycle races, etc., and a display of fireworks. The matter is in the hands of the young business men who will make it a success.

We often hear farmers and horsemen speak of the good qualities of Dr. J. C. Burroughs' hoof ointment, and we understand that it can be found in nearly every stable in the country. It is good for man or beast, and we learn that the proprietor receives orders for it on every mail.

While C. M. Burch was driving a fat steer through town Monday the animal became enraged and turned on him, knocking him down. Help was near at hand and he was rescued before being injured to any extent.

CLINTON.

The Tecumseh team came up here last Friday to play our boys a game of base ball and were defeated.

The Haase Bros. are talking of putting in an electric light plant to light the business portion of the village.

Dick Steffens lost his pocketbook containing $101 in the flume of his mill, and the book went through the water-wheel before he discovered his loss. Almost haying time.
Everything is growing rapidly now.
Farmers are busy cultivating corn.

We are having some very hot weather now.
The pond is getting full of grass and weeds.
The sidewalk across the public square has been repaired.
Holt & Co. are putting more new machinery in the mill.
A good templars society has been organized in this village.
A new sidewalk is being built on Jackson street west of town.
Only two or three of our citizens attended Sell Bros' circus.
A band of street musicians were playing on our streets this afternoon.
The alumni association hold their reunion next week Friday evening.
The union school children talk of having a picnic in Granger's grove on Saturday.
A nice shower of rain would be enjoyed now and it would do no harm just before haying time.
Freeman & Burtless took in 27,000 pounds of wool last Saturday and Mack & Schmid took in about 10,000.
Byron Hill has the contract for papering and decorating the center church in Sharon and it is needless for us to say that it will be done nicely.

The firing of firecrackers and explosion of torpedoes on the streets is a nuisance and should be forbidden as they frighten horses and people. The council should put a stop to it at once.
The class day and graduating exercises of the senior class of our union schools will be held at school hall next Thursday evening, June 23. The programme will be found under the head of School Items.

Fred Martty has one of the most knowing dogs in town. He is a great favorite and it is a pleasure to see him play ball or chase a silver dollar. He will get the dollar every time and return it to the person who threw it.

But little work has been done the past week by the gas company. There are a large number of blank deeds in the farmers' hands and they should fill them out and hand them in as soon as possible in order that operation may be commenced.

Last evening as Mrs. Lazell and Mrs. Miller, her friend from Ypsilanti, were riding about town, the boys on Ann Arbor hill fired guns and firecrackers and so frightened the horse and the ladies that Mrs. Miller fainted. A stop should be put to the racket at once.

On Tuesday evening, as Mrs. Vogt and a lady and child were driving home from town, when descending the hill east of Soleville, the kingbolt to the buggy broke, letting the front end of the buggy down. The horses ran a short distance when one horse broke his leg. The team belonged to John Immer and the horse was killed yesterday morning.

Justice Perkins had an interesting case for disposal last Saturday. It appears that Lew Benedict's cow intruded upon the premises of Ed Hunt and raised Ed's ire. Lew offered to pay damages and take care of the cow but an accumulation of words made him disgusted and he struck Ed, who went to Ann Arbor to have prosecuting attorney Norris take up the case, but finally returned here and had Esquire Perkins issue the warrant. Lew pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs, amounting in all to $5.35, but the matter must have cost Ed. much more.

On Tuesday morning 72 members of the Manchester German workmen's society and between 40 and 50 of their friends filled the two passenger coaches at the Ypsilanti branch depot and accompanied by the cornet band took an excursion to Ypsilanti, at which place the state convention of the German workmen was held. At Bridgewater and Saline other passengers boarded the train and when they arrived in Ypsilanti they marched up town making a fine appearance. Delegates from various societies were present, but Manchester took the lead. A dance and concert in the evening amused the people until 10:30, when the train returned here. A number of members of the order, including the president, N. Schmidt, will remain at Ypsilanti two or three days.

When we asked Marshal Besimer why the dogs were allowed on the streets without being muzzled, he replied that some of the aldermen thought that the scare was over and they might as well let them go. Now ain't that a pretty mess of porridge? When the common council of this village pass a resolution ordering an ordinance enforced, and then after the council adjourns certain members say you need not pay any attention to it. Now is the very time that every dog should be muzzled and our people are afraid of being bitten by dogs that are not, and if the officers do not attend to their duties the people will take the matter in their own hands. It is known that rabid dogs have been through the country biting dogs, etc., and we cannot afford to take any chances.

Rev. W. L. Palmer, of Norvell, was in town on Tuesday arranging for an entertainment and competitive examination at Norvell on the 28th, a notice of which will be found in another column.

Planting Fish.

On Friday last Mr. Marks and his assistants from the state fish hatchery at Petoskey, passed through here in his car with a quantity of wall-eyed pike for distribution along the line of the Lake Shore and Michigan Central railroads.

The car came here on the noon train from Adrian and was transferred to the Ypsilanti Branch and went to Ypsilanti with the afternoon train.
The ENTERPRISE found Mr. Marks and companions very gentlemanly and ready to answer questions and give information regarding the business.

He said he had left with persons who would deposit them 250,000 for Sand Lake, and a like number for Wampier's Lake, and would leave at Bridgewater 150,000 for Joslyn Lake.
He says that this distribution is the result of an examination made by him of the various lakes in Southern Michigan, one year ago, and he is confident that they will prove a success. The fish grow rapidly in certain lakes and are a gamey fish when grown to full size.
We asked him regarding the trout planted in our spring brooks, and he informed us that they were doing finely.

that they grew much faster and larger in our brooks, owing to the length of the seasons and warmth, than they do in the northern part of the state.

In reply to our question regarding the qualities of the german carp, he said that the River Raisin between Clinton and Manchester was a grand place for those fish as the marshy, grassy banks were favorable to them, and that they would move the grass down like a mower. The fish feed only upon vegetable matter and are really a good food fish. Some people class them with the sucker or mullett, but they are a much better fish and grow larger, and he thought that our people should send an order to the hatchery at once for a quantity, and he assured us that in a few years they would supply the whole country with good fish.

SCHOOL ITEMS.

Examinations in geometry and physics this week.

The baccalaureate address will be delivered at the Lutheran church next Sunday evening.

The senior class has been offered an inducement to good scholarship by the board of Adrian college. To the one having the highest standing at the close of the year, a handsome diploma will be awarded and tuition free for the entire course.

The last society meeting of the school year was held in chapel hall last Thursday evening. The farce entitled, "The Dutchman's Ghost" or "All Right," was well acted. FREEDOM.

The party who went to North Lake on a fishing excursion last Saturday, had fine success and enjoyed the trip very much.

Albert Drexelhaus and John Bernt went to Ypsilanti Sunday and visited their friends who are attending the normal.

At Ann Arbor last week while John Burg, jr., son of a prominent merchant, was watching the unloading of Forepaugh's circus, he was struck by a moving train and had both legs crushed. Amputation was necessary, but the poor lad died in the evening.

Ann Arbor is said to be experiencing a greater building boom this spring than it has had for many years. Every citizen seems to have been recently endowed with the idea of fixing up his lawn, making improvements on his house, and in fact, doing everything which can be done to add to the beauty of the city.

The Saline Observer says: The correspondents from Saline, of the Argus and Register, are indulging in a war of words, and then mentions the fact that "A stock company is being talked of by a number of her citizens for the purpose of enlarging the village cemetery." They must be getting desperate down there.
