Mother's Cook Book

The happy life may be poor and humble in externals. It may have many restrictions and privations, but it is enriching the pure in heart, the power of loving, serving and sacrificing; it is beautiful in contrast to the worldly life of pleasure that finds no peace or rest in the soul itself, only puerile activity like that of a cloud of insects that will die and leave no trace on the great interests of the world.

Good Home Dishes.

All housewives today are trying to keep down the expenses without reducing the nourishment for the family and it is a problem with foods soaring higher each week.

Cornstarch Pudding.

This may be made equally as well from rice flour, which is about the same in price as cornstarch. Scald a pint of milk, add two tablespoonsfuls of cornstarch well mixed with four tablespoonsfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt, cook until smooth and the starch is well cooked, then add a small teaspoonful of vanilla, a beaten egg and a sliced banana or two. Put into serving dishes and when well chilled serve with sugar and thin cream or top milk. The bananas may be used to decorate the top, adding them just before serving if desired. A finer grained cake will result if a tablespoonful of cornstarch is added to the flour and sifted with it, subtracting a small portion of the flour as given by the recipe. The thinner a cake will bake without falling, the more delicate and tender will be the crumb.

Corn Relish.

Cut corn from 20 ears of corn and cook four onions, two green peppers, one red pepper, one large head of cabbage. Mix all together with three pints of good elder vinegar and let come to a boil. Take a half cupful of salt, one-half cupful of flour, two cupfuls of sugar and one tablespoonful each of ground mustard, celery seed, one-half teaspoonful of turmeric powder, two tablespoonsfuls of mustard seed all well mixed with one pint of vinegar; pour over the pickle and boil for 30 minutes, then bottle while hot. In two weeks it will be ready to use.

Delicious Dessert.

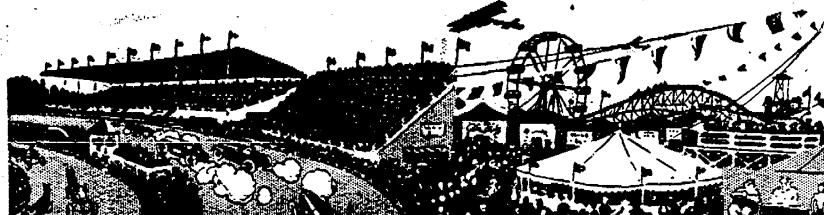

Take a half glass of jelly and the white of one egg unbeaten on a platter, beat until stiff and thick, then stir in a few chopped bananas and serve, with or without cream and sugar. One may cut rounds of cake and heap them with the mixture, making a most dainty dessert. Any kind of fruit not too moist may be used, well-drained pineapple, chopped apple, or bits of ripe pears.

Last year the bees produced in America 250,000,000 pounds of honey. That was a little more than 2 percent of the normal consumption of sugar in the United States.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

AUG. 31 to SEPT. 9

Unequalled Entertainment Features Every Day of the Big Annual Exposition

There will not be a moment's delay in the succession of thrilling and interesting amusement numbers which make up the entertainment program of the Michigan State Fair this year.

Thousands of dollars have been spent in bringing these remarkable entertainment features together, forming the greatest array of exhibition and platform talent ever gathered at a State Fair.

Ruth Law and Louis Gertson Disbrow Defends Race Title; Wild West, Horse Show, Midway, Fireworks are Daily Features

Two of America's most renowned masters of aviation—Ruth Law, the only woman milie, Clark, Klein, Horsey and others—will fade into insignificance when you put me in there, I mean? Won States; you stop the car and let me go an daring to stick my face in that river?"

The car was brought to a stand still night river bank in the starlight. Obeying the inner prompting which he did flights not stop to analyze, Smith left his seat is nothing behind the wheel and walked over the edge of the embankment where Jibbey had descended. With the glint of the roadster's acetylenes turned the other way, Smith could see Jibbey at the foot of the slope, lowering himself face downward on his propped arms in addition to immense exhibits of farm produce, live stock and mechanical farm helps. Valuable educational suggestions are offered in the Child's Welfare Exhibit, Boys' Live Stock Judging Contest, Girls' Canning Contest, Better Babies' Exhibit, Boys' State Fair School and Girls' Milking Contest.

Connie Mack.

every game they go into. From this time on they're going to improve. I'm a mighty mistake student of this national pastime if the Athletics are not found kicking considerable dust around before the end of the 1918 campaign gets here."

Donovan figures and so does every other baseball manager who has had a glimpse of him—that Ray Bates is one of the finest players the minor leagues have yielded in many a day. He also believes Witt the equal of any shortstop in the American league, with the possible exception of Roger Packington, his own short fielder. Second base is a problem, but McInnis is fully the equal, perhaps the superior, of any man doing first base duty.

"There isn't a thing wrong with that outfit of Connie Mack's," Donovan ruefully remarked. "I only wish I had a pair of those birds working for me. I might have a chance to win a pennant before he makes the going so rough."

Where is the manager who wouldn't like to have Bush Myers and Noyes pitching for him; and where, oh, where can you find a big league who wouldn't spend several thousand dollars for Wally Schang?

The foundation has been built for another fine baseball team in Philadelphia. Managers and baseball men everywhere believe it is due.

Knee Breeches for All Men

May Be Style After the War

One of the possible results of the great war is the return on the men.

The trousers that bag at the knee are coming into disrepute, owing to the fact that so many million men wear knee breeches as they fight.

Even the kilts of the Scotch, which are found to be most useful on the fighting line, says the Columbus Dispatch. For men of action knee breeches are more comfortable and less cumbersome, and soldiers are asking why men have been content all these years to wear stovepipe casings on their legs. And they are the men who are going to exert influence after the war. Their disinclination to return to trousers and their example, together with the fact that other people have become accustomed to seeing men in knee breeches, may put trousers out of business altogether.

There is going to be a new world after the war, and knee breeches for men may be a part of it.

WORLD'S LARGEST CHECK.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The largest check ever issued in the world has been returned to the United States treasury, paid and cancelled. The check for $200,000,000 was signed by Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo and represented the first payment on the loan of the United States to Great Britain.

Other large checks which have been signed by Secretary McAdoo within the last six months are one for $100,000,000 to France and one for 100,000,000 to Italy. Numerous other smaller checks ranging from $100,000 to $75,000,000 have been signed as loans to our allies.

Previous to January, 1917, the largest check that had ever been signed by a secretary of the treasury of the United States was one for $40,000,000 in payment of the rights of the French Panama company for the privilege of constructing the Panama canal.

SOME SMILES

A Disappointed Admirer.

"What is your wife's opinion about woman suffrage?"

"Well," replied Mr. Meekton, "I'm kind of disappointed. She takes any old banner they hand her and just stands around without saying a word on the merits of the question."

No Info to the Enemy.

"I wish to see Mr. Jones about a bill."

"He's away on vacation, sir."

"Did he leave any address?"

"Yes, sir. For bill collectors it's 'Somewhere in America.'"

EXEMPT FARMERS STATE BOARD PLEA

M. A. C. TELLS PRESIDENT THAT DECREASED PRODUCTION WILL FOLLOW DRAFT.

FARMERS SHORT OF HELP NOW

If Experienced Men Are Taken From Farms, Plan for Larger Acreage Will Be Nullified.

Lansing.—A farm protest against the war in which the country is at war, and among the National Army men who have been voice by the state board of agriculture in a resolution asking exemption from army service for farmers and farm hands actively engaged in agriculture.

The suggestion that their places might be taken "by raw recruits from the towns, ignorant and untrained," was accepted as a policy which it was put into effect will lead to disaster in agriculture.

The board adopted a motion which was sent to President Wilson requesting that the draft be suspended against farm hands the result will be to nullify in a measure the government's plans for larger crop acreage.

The memorial recites that farm help, even before any are taken in the draft, is so scarce that a considerable acreage of this year's crops is suffering for want of labor.

Charles Scheffer, of Freedom, near Ann Arbor, met instant death when fell from the deck of a boat of a windjammer.

Directors of the Sanilac County Red Cross have started a campaign to raise $30,000 within the next six months, or at the rate of $5,000 a month.

Nine chicks hatched in a case which was sent to New York and labeled "fresh." The chicks were discovered at Brown City.

One-third of the men examined in Flint were accepted for the draft without claiming exemption. Seven per cent were found physically unfit.

Charles G. Hansen of Menominee and Perry F. Powers of Cadillac have been appointed on the Michigan agriculture commission by Premier Lloyd George.

The thirty-seventh annual reunion of the veterans of the Sixteenth Michigan Volunteer Infantry was held at Pontiac. Fifty veterans and their wives were in attendance. Fifteen members have died since the last meeting.

An petition is called in the memorial to the president's message that an adequate force to raise food is an essential as an adequate force to fight.

In order that boys who are not in the service, the American Legion may have two weeks more for fall farm work, the closing board decided that the opening term of the college would be delayed until October 15.

One of the weeks will be made up by rescheduling the Christmas holiday from two weeks to one.

WILL FORCE DELIVERY OF COAL

Governor Warns Mines He Is Ready to Put Case Before President.

Lansing.—Due to the laxity of coal mines, either deliberate or unintentional, in the state of Michigan, the state is preparing to force the coal barons to furnish an adequate supply of anthracite coal before the winter demands again create a coal shortage.

State Sen. George S. Stetson, a telegram to the head of one of the hard coal producing companies, warning them that this state has secured so far but 6 per cent of the coal it will need, and that it is imperative that the state's coal companies will be taken up at once with President Wilson.

This telegram, supplemented by the appointment of a committee which is, if possible, to bring into the state its normal shipment of hard coal, came as a result of a conference between the state and the coal barons in all parts of the state. Coal dealers, non-coal dealers, and representatives of state boards were present.

The coming winter will be a crucial one in the submarine warfare. By next spring, when the lake boats would return to their home waters, the Barlow will be ready to meet the demand.

AUTO SMASHED INTO BUGGY

Unknown Driver Had No Thought Of Damage Done, But Ran Quickly Away.

Somewhere about midnight Saturday

Hans Pientka, who works for Roy Lowery in Bridgewater, was driving home and when at the river bridge near Mr. Rehfuß's his horse was frightened by an auto which was partly tipped over. The auto drivers were leading his horse past when up the road they saw an auto approaching at a terrific speed. They tried to signal the driver to stop, but he paid no attention it is alleged and his car hit Pientka's buggy with great force. The horse was disengaged from the vehicle and ran home, minus harness.

Before Pientka or the other men knew it the fellow drove away, but they hope to secure his arrest. The buggy was badly wrecked.

FARMER SHUFFLES OFF

James Oberle of Norwell Took Own Life by Hanging Himself in Barn.

James Oberle, middle-aged farmer living about two and a half miles south of the village of Norwell on a farm that was formerly owned by his father, Peter Oberle, deceased, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn Friday. He had been hauling manure with his brother Peter and when the latter returned from the field and found James gone he thought he had gone to the house. Later, not finding him there a search was made and his body was found hanging in the barn where he had adjusted the noose around his neck, fastened the other end to a rafter and jumped of the hay mow.

The two brothers, Peter and James had worked the farm together for years and James had always appeared contented and happy. He leaves a wife but no children.

Clara Sticher of the Signal Corps of Grayling, Iola Lloyd of Napoleon, Mrs. M. C. Graham of Munice, Ind., Gaita Waters, Mrs. Carrie Burtiss, Hazel and Charles Burtiss of this village included the dinner party. HISTORY OF PALMER FAMILY

Paper Written And Read by A. R. Palmer of Jackson at Family Reunion, August 23, 1917

Just how and when Walter Palmer known to America is not certainly known, but it is on record that he was here in 1629 and that he built the first house in Charlestown, Mass.

He was a man of note in the Massachusetts Colony and held various local offices. In 1643 he moved to Plymouth Colony, later he was at Stonington, Conn., and the first religious service there was held in his home, March 22, 1657.

Walter Palmer was born in England as early as 1585. His oldest child, Grace, was born in England in 1608. He was twice married, the last time to Rebecca Short, in this country, about 1633. From this union we are descendants.

Walter Palmer had children by his first wife, Grace, John, William, Jones, Elizabeth, which we would think a good-sized family. Children by second wife were: Hannah, Eliza, Nehemiah, Moses, Benjamin, Gershon, Rebecca, making 12 in all. We are directly descended from at least three of these: Gershon, Nehemiah and Hannah. This comes about by the intermarriage of relatives among their descendants. I understand that the mother of Sylvanus Palmer traced back to Walter Palmer through six lines of descent. Most of these 12 children of Walter Palmer lived to marry and have children and there is a record of 52 grandchildren and 171 great-grandchildren. There were probably many more than this.

Our family line is usually traced to Gershon, who was known as Deacon Gershon. Walter begat Gershon, Gershon begat George, George begat Dr. Joe, Dr. Joe begat Joseph 2nd, who married Susan Kenny who lived to be 102 and was well remembered by Mrs. Mira Cole. Joseph 2nd and Susan had children: Stephen, Susannah, Chester, Joseph 3rd, Elias, Lucy, Wheeler, Welthy, Asber, Ledyard. Nearly all of us are pretty closely connected with this family. Stephen, known as Deacon Stephen, married Prudence Palmer and was the grandfather of Sylvanus and other brothers and sisters, the great-grandfather of Don and the great-great-grandfather of Howard Schofield. This same Deacon Stephen was the father of Priscilla, who was the wife of Steward Palmer and mother of Austin. Deacon Stephen was also the father of Lucy, wife of Franklin Webster and grandmother of Lucy Martin and Arda Johnson, and also of Lura, the first wife of Uncle Roswell Randall.

The fourth brother, Joseph 3rd, married Abigail Wheeler and was the father of David Wheeler, Russell Denison and Harry Miner and so grandfather of Henry, Abbie and myself. A sister, Lucy, was the mother of Steward Palmer, who married his own cousin Priscilla, and a brother, Asber, married Phleena, a sister of Franklin Webster.

Go back to Deacon Palmer again: His wife Prudence was a sister of Joshua Grant Palmer, grandfather of Josh, Lester, William C. Lewis and Herbert Palmer. David Palmer, father of Philander Palmer, was a brother of Joshua Grant Palmer and great-grandfather of Herbert Hassler and Mrs. William Bland, the Bancrofts, Esther, Harper, Norman Watson are grandchildren of Joshua Grant Palmer, as are the Luces and Minnie, Carrie and Fred Randall. This line of Palmers seems to diverge from ours with the children of Gershon, as their line of ancestry runs Walter, Gershon, Ichabod 1st, Ichabod 2nd, Peleg, Joshua Grant; while ours is Walter, Gershon, George, Dr. Joe, Joseph 2nd, Joseph 3rd. Ichabod 2nd was a Revolutionary soldier so that all his family line will have no difficulty in tracing back and becoming Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, if they desire to do so. And as Grandmother Prudence, wife of Deacon Stephen, was a sister of Joshua Grant Palmer, all that family can do the same.

There were so many marriages of relatives with each other and so many repetitions of the same name applied to different persons that it is very difficult to trace the more distant relationships with certainty. It hardly seems as though Sylvanus Palmer was of the same generation from Walter Palmer as Emmet Luce and Henry Palmer, but that is the way the record stands. Sylvanus, Sophia or Mrs. Poucher, Will and Lewis Palmer, Emmet Luce, Esther Harper, Minnie Randall, Norm Watson are all of the same family and second cousins. Of course a number of these are first cousins but each family as a whole is second cousin to the other families. Mrs. Howard, Don are first cousins; Henry, Abbie and myself as representatives of one family are second cousins of Sylvanus and his brothers and sisters. Emmett Lowery, Don Palmer and May through their father are third cousins. If there is no nearer relationship than that, through Gershon Palmer, and I know of none, Henry, Abbie and myself would be and are sixth cousins of Josh, Lester, Will and Herbert.

To come to the events of the past year: Our association has lost heavily in the death of the last two of the original promoters of our union, Mrs. J. G. Palmer and Dr. E. N. Palmer, the first on Nov. 2, the other on Feb. 28. Both had an interest in us that never flagged, both were fertile in suggestions, always ready to do anything asked of them and were capable of doing it, always ready with a word we were glad to hear in our gatherings, each possessed of social powers equalled by few, I know not on whose shoulders their mantle will fall or who is capable of taking their places. Both believed in the utility and value of our union and the doctor especially left us almost his last injunction for us as an association, "Keep up the annual gatherings of the Palmer-Randall Reunion."

Besides these, Mary Etta, daughter of Frank Lowery, died Aug. 30, last, aged four and half years.

Samuel B. Palmer, who we all remember as a frequent attendant at our meetings, quiet but interested and helpful, died May 1, aged 75. Mrs. Don Palmer, with whom we met two years ago, died Feb. 26. Morris Streeter of Greenville, Mich., died Feb. 24. Six deaths in all.

Of births we record the following: Marie Alice, daughter of Major Fred Palmer, born March 13, at San Diego, Cal.; Alice Wauuna, daughter of Sidney Lowery, born March 26; Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Bert Lowery, born June 13; Ruth Virginia, daughter of W. R. Arksey, granddaughter of Will Randall, born Sept. 27; Dorothea Almeda, daughter of Frank Randall, granddaughter of Will Randall.

Of marriages there were three: Grace Randall, daughter of Fred Randall, married Homer Culver of Wolverine, Mich. Flora Vining married Wm. H. Curtis of Rives township, Jackson county. Hazel Brooks married L. J. Beal.

The 11th annual Palmer-Randall reunion was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lowery in this village, Thursday, Aug. 25. The attendance was somewhat less than usual, several families not being represented at all, but there were over 70 present. All ages were represented in the company, from small children to F. M. Palmer of Bridgewater who will soon be 89.

The fine lawn and ample shade afforded space for a long table at which 65 were seated at once and the high cost of living did not lessen the excellence of the repast.

Vice-president H. Palmer of Brooklyn made a pleasing master of ceremonies and the short program was full of interest. Piano solos were contributed by Marian Schofield of Norwell and Ina Palmer of Clinton and vocal selections were rendered by Marian Palmer of Brooklyn and Mrs. Frank Holmes of Norwell. A historical paper, the printing of which was asked for, was read by A. R. Palmer of Jackson. Impromptu remarks were called for from several. H. F. Schofield of Norwell expressed his pleasure at being present for the first time and his pride in his right to be there as one of the family. Mr. Noble of Toronto said he had had a sample of the family—his wife, Mabel Palmer—in his home for a number of years and was glad to find the family up to date. A letter was read from Mrs. Laura Bell Palmer-Scammon of Spokane, Wash.

H. F. Schofield was elected president for the next year. Mrs. A. H. Palmer, vice-president, Miss Minnie Randall was re-elected secretary and Mrs. Arda Johnson was re-elected as treasurer. A. R. Palmer was named as historian.

At their invitation, the meeting next year will be held at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Will C. Palmer of Brooklyn, in August, the exact date to be fixed by the hostess.

Among those present at the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. couch Dorr of Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dorr and Mr. Partridge of Grass Lake, Mrs. Myron Randall of Mason, A. R. Palmer and Mrs. Mary Bettis, Mrs. Anna Jewett and Mrs. May Laraway, Don Palmer and Mrs. Norman Watson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Benham, Don Palmer and Miss Ida Palmer of Clinton; C. P. Holmes, Elma Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmes of Norwell; A. H. Palmer and Mrs. Palmer, Adnie and Ruth Palmer, Mrs. Myra Palmer and Miss Marian Palmer of Brooklyn; Dwight Walter and family, Whitney Palmer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palmer, Roy Lowery and family and Mrs. Nettie Lowery of Bridgewater.

Friendship were renewed, social ties strengthened, life's experiences compared and the company dispersed feeling that the day had been worth while.

Smith did his various errands quickly. When he reached the fourth-floor suite again, Tibby was out of the bath; was sitting on the edge of the bed, wrapped in a towel, with the steaming cup of coffee still upon Smith's hurry order beside him on a tray.

"It's your turn at the tub," he babbled cheerfully. "I didn't have any glad rays to put on to it so I sciped some of your bedclothes. Go to it, old man, before you catch cold."

Smith was a good boy, pointing for the bath. "Your turn will be up in a few minutes, and I've told you to send it here," he said. "When you want to quit, just ring in the same corridor to the right in the same corridor; suite number four-sixteen."

It was a long half-hour before Smith emerged from his bathroom once more, and in the interval he had been up, and Tibby was also clothed. He had found one of Smith's pipes and some tobacco and was smoking it in the living room, when one who had suffered the pains imposed by one who had suffered the pains imposed by two days of total abstinence.

"Just hangin' around to say good-night," he was saying when Smith returned the borrowed pipe to its place on the mantel and said his smile to the definite: "After all that's happened to us two days, I hope you're going to forget my crazy rappings and not lose a sleep about that Lawrenceville business. I'm interested in the busines, but you know there's no man's double trouble; that; and once in a while—just once in a while—I've got sense enough to know what I'm doing. You saved my life, and I'm going to do the best I can for you to let me go. I guess the world wouldn't have been much of a loss if I had gone, and you knew that, too. Will you—will you shake hands with me, Monty?"

CHAPTER XX.

The Face-Sitter. Smith made an early breakfast on the morning following the auto drive to the abandoned mine, hoping thereby to avoid meeting both Miss Richardson and Tibby. He was really empty when he went in his accustomed place at one above tables, but he had barely an order when Starbuck arrived.

"You're a young fellow, I suppose this morning, John," said the mine owner quizzically, as he held up a finger for the waiter. "How's the grub?"

Smith's answering grin had something of its former good-nature in it. "Today's the day, Billy," he said. "The moon's midnight we might have the water running in our franchise. It's chugging around in the back part of my mind that Stanton will make his grandstand play today. I'm not the man to groan on the edge of the bath. There are a handfuls of tables, but he had barely
