"I'm afraid not," replied the dentist, dryly. "It will cost you a dollar."

MICHIGAN FOR CATTLE

Upper Peninsula Undergoing Great Change in Hands of Cattle men from West and South.

Marquette, Mich.—Scattered along the upper peninsula of this state are perhaps half a hundred ranchers who have come from the western grazing states in search of new pastures. The coming of these men from Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming with their sheep, cattle and horses makes a unique feature in the history of the development of so-called waste lands in upper Michigan.

These wideawake seekers for better conditions than they had are estimated to have taken up and populated with their animals from 100,000 to 150,000 acres of this land above the straits, and there are said to be more than a million acres left.

This movement from the plains of the west and south began to look like a practical plan two years ago. The government has opened up so much of the western land to homesteaders that grazing lands have been cut up and it is not practical to move about large flocks without driving over lands of settlers. Besides, many of the natural water holes used by cattle and sheep on the ranges became private property. These and other conditions made winter feeding of stock necessary and profits were out of the question.

The land taken up by these newcomers costs from $10 to $15 per acre, the better tracts of swampland that have been cleared by forest fire and tangled dead brushwood, with the growth of blue grass and wild clover that follows brings the higher price. Average size of the ranches is about 3,000 acres, but some are as large as 15,000 acres. The average capitalization is about $50,000. After stocking the newcomer must build his home and shelter for stock, and improve enough land to raise his winter feed. Thousand-acre ranches require forage growing tracts of 300 to 400 acres.

PLUMBING THE DEPTHS.
An American motorist, stopped by a Scotch constable for speeding, hinted broadly that he might pay to be let off.

"What, sir?" cried the constable. "Dare ye suggest that I will take a bribe? Dare ye dare to insult me, sir?"

"Oh, excuse me," said the American. "I'm really—"

"But now," put in the constable, "supposin' I was that kin' o' man, how much w'y ye be inclined to give?"

Stephen Brighton, son of Mrs. Wm. Brighton, who has been in the U. S. regular army for 21 years and has been located at Camp Upton, Long Island, as quartermaster sergeant in the missionary department for a year or more, came home accompanied by his wife and two children and they have been having a family reunion at the parental home. His brothers, William, Edward of Sylvan, Leo of Clinton and Grover with their sister Mrs. Otto Pfeiffer of Trenton have been making the old home ring with laughter. It is the first gathering of this kind they have enjoyed in many years.

Every farmer knows that wheat does not change into chess but that chess is a plant long known and of much annoyance to Michigan farmers. The seed will live in the ground for years and retain its vitality. Oftimes it is pretty well cleared from wheat by use of the fanning mill. The government inspection of wheat it is claimed will lower the grade and the price if chess is found in the wheat. The best way is to go through the fields and destroy the chess weeds and the rye also from wheat. Farmers used to do this but perhaps have neglected to do so at least so it looks to one passing near a wheat field.

When Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Burtsell of Lansing were on their recent eastern trip, while in New York they went out to Mineola to see the British dirigible R. 34. They were also at the battery when the George Washington bearing the presidential party passed and also viewed the grand parade on Broadway, having a close view of the president.

A whole drama wrapped up in a single person—and that person one of the most charming dramatic readers in America.

—That, in brief, is one feature of the program of Hettie Jane Dunaway on the third day of the coming Chautauqua.

Miss Dunaway is herself all ten of the characters of her "All Star" production of "Just Plain Judy," an adaptation from "Daddy Long Legs," in which are introduced other stories, spoken songs and cartoons.

This talented actress presents in a single program ten characters with complete changes of costume, carrying along a touching little story through tempest and sunshine, laughter and tears, unassisted save by the delightful musical accompaniments of the Misses Ringgold and Major, one playing on piano and violin in the features of the number.

Hettie Jane Dunaway appears on the Chautauqua program Thursday evening.

A suit has been started in Kansas City to decide who owns the air over a man's house, store or farm. He objects to having airplanes flying over his premises, probably from fear of the operator or his machine dropping onto his roof or in the strawberry patch and doing damage. There is apparently no law to prevent a man from building a house, church or tower going skyward as high as he likes to. But when not in use that way it seems a little bit selfish not to allow a bird or a flying machine to pass over. We heard of a suit being brought a number of years ago to prevent telephone or electric light wires from being strong over the premises of a city resident, but never heard how it turned out.

Bank robbers have become so numerous that many of the banks throughout the country have installed a system to give alarm when an attempted hold up of officers and robbery is attempted. Banks nowadays have little fear of night robbers as their vaults and safes are burglar proof, but arrangements are made for giving alarm at various places about town, should anyone attempt to hold up the cashier. Banks are insured against burglary but a bank known to be provided with gongs and other alarms is less liable to be attacked, hence a cashier's life may be in less danger.

In the class of 1915 of the Grass Lake school there were six boys, all of whom entered the U. S. service in the late war.

MERRY PARTY AT LAKE

Wolf Lake, Jackson County, Graced
By Large Party of Manchester
Young Ladies.

Frank Lowery's auto truck has transported some pretty heavy loads through the country but never so merry a one as he took to Wolf Lake Sunday afternoon. It was composed of 14 young ladies of the village with their outing finery bound for a week's vacation at a cottage on the north shore of the lake near Chas. Akin's landing.

Those composing the party were Misses Alta Grossman, Ethel and Ethel Furgason, Ruth Steinway, Hilda Luckhardt, Mae Riedel, Matilda Haarer, Alma Jedele, Helen Wurster, Ella Miller, Margaret Kirk, Alma Wiedman, Jennie Martin. Mrs. Rose Martin is chaperoning the party.

STATE TO MAKE MAP

U. S. Survey and State Co-operate
To Produce New and Reliable
Topographical Map.

A topographical map of a section of the state containing about 700 square miles is being made by the U. S. Geological Survey in co-operation with the state of Michigan, according to J. H. Jennings, geographer of survey. The section now being mapped lies between latitude 42 degrees, 15 minutes and 42 degrees, 30 minutes, in longitude 84 degrees, 45 minutes, comprising a strip of territory about 17 miles wide and 40 miles long. Eaton Rapids is on south line. Albion is in the south cornersouth. Albion is in the south west corner and Chelsea is near the southeast corner.

This map, it is claimed, and we hope is being made with great care, is based on accurate triangulation.

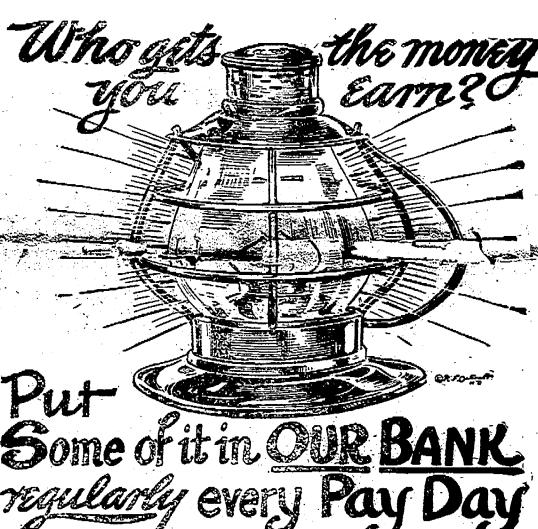

and precise leveling and when completed should portray this section of the earth's surface. All roads, railroads, houses, streams, lakes, woodland, swamps, etc. should be shown, as well as the shape of the hills and valleys by means of "contour lines" 10 feet apart vertically. This map should be of great aid in any work of public improvement, such as good road investigation, soil survey, drainage investigation, location of canals, railroads, trolley lines, etc. It should form an accurate base for all investigations by any department of the federal government which will hereafter need a map. When completed and published it may be obtained from the U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., but it will not be completed probably before two or three years.

People who have driven autos in California are always praising that country because of the delight of driving over those well-constructed roads. Now we learn that in many sections of the east country roads are being oiled to keep down the dust.

We have often thought that it would be a good thing to oil at least one road running east and west and one running north and south in all such towns as Manchester. It would invite a larger number of tourists and add greatly to their comfort, as well as to our own.

Miss Alma Landwehr of The Enterprise office expects to take a vacation next week, and accompanied by her sister, Miss Helena, of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Hendershott and daughter Edna of Mt. Clemens, will go to Buffalo next Monday by boat and from there they visit Niagara Falls.

James S. Knoe, who speaks at Chautauqua Friday evening on "Community Efficiency," has kindly consented to give a special talk to the Welfare Club and others interested in civic and community affairs at the Knights of Pythias club rooms at 1:00 p. m., Friday afternoon.

Take a pencil and put down where every cent of your last money went. You will see how much went for extravagances and things you really did not need.

If you put this money in our bank, in a year it would make a good round sum.

More than 32,871,000 tins of Velvet Tobacco were sent to the boys in France—enough, if placed end to end, to reach 2340 miles or nearly from New York to Brest. How much it helped them, their friendly letters testify.

Velvet makes friends easily—because, like true friendship, it has been allowed to ripen naturally. For two years, Velvet ages in wooden hogsheads, and when it comes out it is just right—no kick, no bite, no harshness.

CUT OUT PROTHIRRING.

The American people have all along been made to believe that when the war was over not only Britain, but France, Italy and all Europe would be literally out of money—strapped—the New Englanders had to express that the sum of money which had been loaned by the United States to foreign nations, and since the armistice had been signed, millions of dollars have been loaned there, though it was supposed that there had been a check put to the loaning business.

Men who have been in Europe to study finances believe that more loans will be made, and that the cost of our commodities by foreign nations and unless the government can succeed in getting these loans will be a diminution of purchases made, and that smaller loans will be made.

Our people have been led to believe that the war was over, and over there that the people would be obliged to pay any price asked for because they could not get them anywhere else, and this is probably the reason for the seemingly unwaranted advance in prices, in that the American people does not share to the extent he should.

The big interests have such a firm hold on the government that it is hard to get a good many that the government inquiry into conditions will come to nothing, even if it is shown that there is profiting beyond reason.

We need no mention that the interests have been very well some of them because they have been long at the business, but there are long added to the list since the war began, and these are the ones to round them up and control them.

But it must be done before the workmen are made content with the wages of President Wilson.

We are glad President Wilson is giving more attention to this.

Conrad has given a good deal of time to the discussion of the League of Nations that seemingly other important nations have overlooked and the country is really suffering from a disordered condition that can be checked none too soon.

It appears that the supply of ice in many places is running short and deliveries are being discontinued. It is in particularly condition as August is usually the month when Manchester has had no ice delivery to homes in several years, except as we seem to get along. Coal, closets and good cells help preserve food and fruits.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

She wiped an errant tear away, and made her way to a store. The stock of ready-made clothing drove her to the conclusion that she would remain in Hazelton, and, invariably dressed in Mother Hubbard gowns of cheap cotton print with other garments to match, she eventually found a coat and skirt, a sort of a waist and skirt, and a comfortable pair of shoes. Hats, as a milliner would understand the term, there were none. And so, in such a coat, such a skirt, she had gone into the Klappan, and out again—whence the truth became her secret, well-tilted at the proper angle about her body.

Then she went back to the hotel, and sought a bathroom.

Returning from this she found Bill, all in a tattered and worn, unloading his trunk of sundry packings of new attire.

"Ah, everything is lovely," he groaned.

"Oh, I'm sorry," jumped at the petts, and made a fat pat on the back of the trunk he had gone through. He's a prince, old Bill," said a man.

"For me? Oh, yes," as he looked at the handwriting and postmark. "I wrote to Lorraine Marsh when we were in the north. Good heavens, look at this!—it's been here since last September."

"Huckleberry knew where we were," Bill explained. "Something in camp like that they hold said two or three days for me that have gone into the frontier."

She put aside the letter, and dressed while she packed his trunk. Then with books and gear of a hard trail obliterating, and with a smile upon them, they sought the dining-room. There, while they waited to be served, Hazel read Lorraine Marsh's letter, and with a smile of Bill with a self-conscious little laugh.

"There's an invitation there, we might accept," she said casually.

He returned the letter as the waitress brought their food.

"Wouldn't be nice to take a trip home?" Hazel suggested thoughtfully.

"I'd love to."

"We're going home," Bill reminded gently.

"Oh, of course," she smiled. "But I mean to Granville. I'd like to go back there with you for a while, just to rest."

"To show 'em," he supplied laconically.

"Bill?" she pouted.

Nevertheless, she could not deny that there was a measure of truth in his last remark. She did want to go home.

She looked across the table at her husband, and, though to her own profound satisfaction he had done well. Vlewed from any single whopper, Bill Wagstaff stood head and shoulders above all the men she had ever seen. She was a bit of a girl, naturally, clean-minded and capable—doubtless she had captured a lion, and, though she might have desired that impulsion, she wanted Granville to see her lion and hear him roar.

"Still thinking Granville?" Bill queried, when they had finished an unusually silent meal.

"Yes, I'm afraid," she said.

"I'm afraid," she said again.

"But I'm afraid," she said again.

"I'm afraid," she said again.

During the storm Tuesday night lightning killed a milch cow belonging to Chris Holly. They would not have noticed $150 for the cow and it is a serious loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Uphus attended a pleasant surprise on Mrs. Harkness, near Jackson, Sunday, the occasion being her birthday; it was also made a family reunion.

Misses Frances Herman, Margery Smith, Katharine O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. William Seckinger and Martin O'Brien of Ypsilanti were Sunday guests of Henry Herman and family.

Eleven members of the Camp Fire Girls had a day's outing at Gladys Herman's last Friday, the occasion being in honor of Dorothy Wulffman who is to leave with her parents for a new home in Port Huron. A pot-luck dinner was served, after which the happy party left for Wampler lake and a good swim was enjoyed by all. On their return to the Herman home supper was served. In remembrance of the occasion Miss Dorothy was presented with a silver spoon.

BRIDGEWATER

Lewis Trolz spent Sunday evening at Ann Arbor.

Miss Edna Eiseman of Manchester spent Sunday with Jacob Schneider and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Roahm and family of Saline spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Seckinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Braun and daughter Anna of Manchester were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Merz.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trolz and daughter Adeline, Clarence Ahrens of Sharon and Miss Alma Wiedman of Manchester spent several days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Beatenhead at Unionville.

Drain Commissioner Deake of Ypsilanti was in town this week posting notices of letting of contract for construction of Bridgewater No. 2 drain, at Wm. Every's on Tuesday, Aug. 19, at 10 o'clock a.m.

Walter Luckhardt recently completed on his farm a concrete barnyard which is something distinctly new in this township, in fact there are probably but few in this country or state. The barnyard being in clay soil and continually muddy was a great annoyance. The new concrete floor covers about 6,300 square feet and thus far has proven very satisfactory. It slopes to one corner so the drainage may be collected and utilized.

An Appeal.

To all public-spirited citizens of the Village of Manchester: The Welfare Association wants you to become a member. You can be associated by paying $1. We have kept the town alive by the free moving pictures and the band. Through its influence we have made many improvements, such as oiling the streets, building the band stand, erecting welcome sign on the bridge, etc., and more will be accomplished, but we need help. We were put under heavy expense in buying a new picture machine, this alone costing $300. We feel you are benefited and we ask you to assist us when the Finance Committee ask you to join the association. You are under no binding obligations to attend meetings, but we feel that you should help financially, at least. Do not turn down our committee when they solicit your help.

WAMPLER LAKE

Hotels and cottages are filled and there are long waiting lists.

A number from here have attended Chautauqua at Manchester this week.

It is rumored that a new hotel will be built between Maple Grove and Cedar hill.

Henry Lentz has purchased of Mrs. Ives the property adjoining his at Maple Grove.

The old Adrian boat club and adjoining property bought by Henry Lentz some time ago and rebuilt by him, has been sold to Tecumseh parties.

Pat Egan, Harry Van Tuyle and Andrew Mack each sold a horse and delivered at Manchester Wednesday to a dealer who will ship a number south.

Mr. Hoagland and Mr. Buck joined Mr. Halstead, who formerly spent the summers here, in a fishing expedition to the northern part of the state the past few days.

There was considerable excitement here Sunday evening when a great light was seen south of the lake and many thought Ed. Brighton's buildings were afire. Many started to drive over, but it was soon discovered to be a grass fire on Will Nichols' place.

Charles Akin, proprietor of the north shore resort at Wolf lake, in Jackson county, is seriously ill with kidney and heart trouble. Mr. Akin formerly lived here and had the first refreshment stand at Wampler lake, it being located where The Farm refreshment stand now is. Before that he owned the Rothfuss farm and had dances and accommodated fishermen and others.

During the electrical storm that visited this section Monday afternoon about 6:30, while Charles Dibble and family of Adrian were at supper, Miss Velma, a girl about 15 years of age left the table to obtain a drink of water in the kitchen. A bolt of lightning struck that corner of the cottage and she fell to the floor, expiring instantly. The father was also shocked by the lightning, but not seriously injured. The sad news of the young girl's death cast a gloom over the resort and all deeply sympathized with the family in their affliction.

FREEDOM

The late rains have been of great benefit to our crops.

Rev. and Mrs. Noah Frye of Detroit visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davenport the past week. To be sure the gentlemen visited their favorite spots on Pleasant lake.

J. A. Goodyear and daughter Louise and Miss Ada Stringham of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Stahl of Detroit camped in Schneider's grove at Pleasant lake from Saturday to Monday afternoon.

Arrangements are being completed for holding a county Grange picnic at Pleasant lake next week Thursday and Friday. The first day an auto trip will be made through this excellent farming country, with some games and community singing on their return. On Friday there will be speaking, games, music and a general good time. Every farmer in the township should attend both days, if possible. They don't have to belong to the Grange to be welcome.

About 125 people attended the Uphaus family reunion held at Pleasant lake, Thursday, July 31, members from Detroit, Saline, Ida, Jackson, Ogden, Dexter, Manchester, Sharon, Freedom and Ypsilanti being present. JAS. S. KNOX Unhappy is the community that does not know itself—that is the creed of Jas. S. Knox, whose lecture, "Community Efficiency," is a feature the fourth night of the Chautauqua.

Mr. Knox is one of the best known "Community Doctors" in America. He is a keen student of civic life—has studied community problems all over America and expounds the better way of living and growing with the times in a most eloquent manner.

Mr. Knox speaks at the Chautauqua Friday evening, following a musical prelude by the Royal Hawaiian Singers and Players.

CAN'T OVERWORK BRAIN.

Don't be afraid of thinking too much. You can't. "The more the mind does," says William James, "the more it can do." Another great doctor recently said: "In all my practice as a physician dealing with nervous and mental diseases, I can say without hesitation I have not met a single case of nervous or mental trouble caused by too much thinking or overstudy. What produces mental trouble is worry—emotional excitement—lack of interest in one's work."

So, don't be afraid. Think and study and plan. Train your mental powers. You cannot overwork the brain as long as you give it time to recuperate. It is worry that destroys the brain—worry and fear and bad feelings and mental idleness.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

NORVELL

Frank Pittman was in Jackson on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krausse spent Sunday at Portage lake.

H. F. Schofield and family of Jackson called on friends here last Thursday.

Mrs. A. M. Dean is spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Ann Arbor and Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wahr of Ann Arbor were here Monday to pick huckleberries and visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krausse.

C. P. Holmes, Bryant Holmes, Linden Jenkins and Miss Elma Holmes left Wednesday for Niagara Falls, making the trip by auto.

The home of Misses Alice and Mabel Harper was the happy meeting place of the Harper family for their annual reunion, Saturday, Aug. 3rd. About 35 were present from Ann Arbor, Brooklyn and Grand Rapids.

A heavy rainfall accompanied by high wind and hail struck this part of Norvell township early Monday evening. The windmill on A. J. Austin's farm was blown down, also a chimney on Harry Austin's house. Hailstones measuring four and five inches in circumference were picked up in the village. Lawns are badly strewn with leaves and twigs beaten from the trees. Corn was badly damaged.

Work on the state road was begun at the Austin corners on Tuesday. We understand quite a change will be made there and gravel taken out for use nearby. People driving east from Jackson to Manchester better turn to left at Napoleon, drive north, turn first turn to right, go east, turn first turn to right, go south, turn left after crossing railroad, going east two or three miles and after crossing river take first turn to right and go south to second turn after crossing railroad and turn to left at brick schoolhouse 3 1/2 miles west of Manchester.

DID YOU?

Did you ever stumble around in the dark to look for a match and find that—

Doors stand out nine feet from the wall?

The table reaches entirely across the room?

The electric light switch has disappeared?

The wall advances to the center of the room to meet you?

The chairs each have 27 legs?

And the bureau, upon which you left the matches, has disappeared entirely?
