CALIFORNIA GETS ROBBER

JACKSON WINS AT FOOTBALL

Son of Former Manchester Shoots Holding Man Who Was Robbing His Father.

A Riverside, Cal., paper of Oct. 29 contains this item: "While one high-wayman was holding a gun close to the side of his father, and another was robbing the money drawer at the Good Luck gas station on Clinton avenue, Allen Berger shot and mortally wounded one of the high-waymen. The unidentified man died in Community hospital about two hours afterwards from a bullet wound in his head. The attempted hold-up was at 8 o'clock. At the coroner's inquest at the Flinn undertaking parlors, Allen Berger was exonerated, the verdict being justifiable homicide. Allen Berger is a son of Addis Berger, formerly a Manchester boy and brother of H. K. Berger. Addis is an honorary member of the Manchester alumni association. Allen Berger, his son, is about the age of Dr. Clarence Berger. We don't know that he was in the late war, but he certainly knows how and when to use a gun.

LENAWEE COUNTY

Work on the Monroe turnpike in Tecumseh township may be the only road building done in that section next year.

39 YEARS WITHOUT LOSS TO ANY INVESTOR

ARE SYMBOLS OF AFFECTION

Nicknames Never Bestowed on Those Who Prove Unpopular or Are Unduly Dignified.

The selection of a name for the baby is a very important matter in most households, and of course it should be considered sufficiently to insure the poor helpless mite of humanity having a label that it will not be ashamed to sign the rest of its life. Any good plain English name will do that. But a matter even more important and not so easily disposed of is that of the nickname. What names will this young person acquire as he goes through life? That depends largely on himself and the kind of associates he has. The very last thing to be wished for him is that he should never be nicknamed. Usually the only people who are never nicknamed are either very unpopular or very dignified, though there are exceptions. But the nickname is a sort of expression of affection, and those who accumulate many as they go through life should regard them as insignia of friendship and hence of honor. The final word on nicknames was written many years ago by Oliver Wendell Holmes:

When fades at length our lingering day,
Who cares what pompous tombstones say?

Read on the hearts that love us still,
"Alle luia! Joe; hic jacet Bill."

—Ohio State Journal.

WORLD HAS CHANGED LITTLE

Electioneering Methods in Old Pompeii Much Like Those in Vogue in Our Own Time.

Archaeologists have uncovered at Pompeii a barroom singularly reminiscent of the neater sort of drinking places that were to be found in American cities before the days of prohibition, and they have found the驾驶室 of the liquor in the jars.

The outside walls of the saloon are covered with appeals to the voters of the city to "vote for Lollus for duumvir." The duumvir was a sort of selectman or half-mayor, an official whose powers or pretensions made the office one that was much coveted. The election notices are everywhere to be found on the walls of Pompeii, usually in red paint, sometimes in black. They seem to have been the customary means of notifying the citizens of nominations that had been made.

The crafts seem to have acted in place of party caucuses. "The barbers nominate Trebium for aedile," says one placard. "All the goldsmiths nominate C. Cuspus Pansa for aedile," says another. Sometimes a man is referred to as v. b., which means vice, bonus, or a good man. One is certified as "an honest young man." Of another it is said that "he will save the people's money."

The crafts seem to have acted in place of party caucuses. "The barbers nominate Trebium for aedile," says one placard. "All the goldsmiths nominate C. Cuspus Pansa for aedile," says another. Dumb Animals Pay Taxes.

It will be surprising to some people to learn that all income-tax payers are not human beings, and that some of the Canadian government's income is derived from pet animals whose human owners and benefactors provided for their future comfort by an endowment. Such is the case at London, Ont., where several such pets are annual contributors to the city's coffers. One large dog in that city receives an annual income that many small families would appreciate, due to the fact that the animal's legacy was a large one and grew from year to year by the accretionary process. Gold bonds, deposited in trust, keep him in comfort and also yield a small return to the city tax office in income levy. A beautiful Persian cat, now sleepily rounding out a life of adventure, also receives an income left by an eccentric master. There is a parrot, too. All these are contributors, though some one else has to fill out the tax form for them. There are doubtless many such animals in other countries.

Horseshoe Myth Universal.

The horseshoe in its most primitive form is of great antiquity. An old and very popular superstition, almost universally prevalent among peasantry, ascribes to the horseshoe (especially to one which has been found in the road by chance) the power of barring the passage of witches. For this purpose the shoe is nailed to the door of the threshold, and home in his "Year Book," says "Nailing of horseshoes seems to have been practised as well to keep witches in as to keep them out. In Monmouth street, London, many horseshoes nailed to the thresholds, were to be seen in 1797; in 1813 Sir Henry Ellis counted seventeen horseshoes in that street, but in 1820 only eleven remained. The great Nelson was of a superstitious turn, and having great faith in the luck of a horseshoe had one nailed to the mast of the "Victory."

Meridian of Greenwich.

The meridian of Greenwich is generally accepted as the starting line from which to reckon longitude and time all over the earth. But objections are, from time to time, raised against the universal adoption of the Greenwich meridian for such purposes. Recently Italian savants have emphasized these objections by pointing out that on the meridian of Greenwich clouds and bad weather are frequent, interfering with astronomical observations. They suggest that the civilized world should agree to adopt the meridian of Jerusalem as a common reference line, because there the skies are clearer, and the possibility of making Palestine neutral territory would eliminate political objections.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Perry were

Modern visitors from Friday until Sunday evening.

Herbert Rushton of Escanaba visited his father and Mr. and Mrs.

Waters, Monday.

Carl Wuerthner went to Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday after spring samples to use in travelings on the read.

Herbert Widmayer, who is attending business college at Ypsilanti, made his usual over-Sunday visit at the Saturday club at her home last Saturday, which was much enjoyed.

Refreshments were served.

Manchester Lodge F. & A. M. confirmed the third degree upon George Horning Monday evening. Members enjoyed refreshments and interesting remarks at the close.

Mrs. Andrew Braun entertained

George Beucler and daughter of

Ann Arbor, Misses Esther Beucler,

Clara Huber and Ezra Beucler of Novell township on Sunday.

Mr. Alber of the Ann Arbor Garage, when in town Monday, informed the Enterprise that there was an immense throng of people at the depot there to catch a glimpse of Marshal Foch as he passed through the city.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs.

Howard K. Holland of Ann Arbor will be pained to learn that their six-year-old son was struck by a truck last Saturday and sustained a broken leg. Mrs. Holland was immediately taken to the hospital and is recovering well.

Mr. Charles Burdick, of the Twenty-first Century Club at her home Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, it being the first meeting of the season. Besides listening to a greeting by the president, Miss Julia

Conklin, and experiences of vacation days by the members, present, ice cream and wafers were served.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1921.

The Senate will be in session on Friday, November 11.

There was a fall of 10 inches of snow at Lansing on Saturday.

Reactive knew that he had been automobile travel on Tuesday than on any other day yesterday at the six day.

A Grand Rapids firm recommended that a man who had driven an auto when intoxicated be deported from operating a motor-vehicle anywhere in the state of Michigan.

At last the U. S. postoffice department has decided to guard its mail trains and trucks from attacks by bandits. Mailmen armed with pistols and revolvers shot guns will accompany them under orders to shoot to kill.

Marshal Foch said: "The people of Michigan showed rare patriotism and a spirit of self-sacrifice during the war, that spirit which made brothers of the allies. I greet them as brothers and sisters who push their shoulders to the wheel of necessity and brought the vehicle of right to the goal of victory."

MARRIAGE IN THE ANDAMANS

Life Convicts Pick Brides Eight Unseen, but Women Are Allowed Three Choices.

Those of you who talk cynically of the lottery of marriage should ponder a while on the pleasant little customs of the Andaman Isles that delightful little colony where "lifers" from British India are sent. I have just been reading about them. Certainly, by comparison, a wedding over here is a thousand-to-one odds-on chance.
Look on this story.

Every Saturday morning, in those delightful Andamans, all women who wish to be married—and you can bet your life there are always many candidates for matrimony—are neatly veiled and paraded round a square.
Then prisoners, qualified by good conduct for the privilege of getting married—if, I know certain cynically minded folk who would aver that the punishment for bad conduct, must be too spartan to contemplate—stand looking on, judging as best as they can of the merits of the candidates.

But when once you've made your choice the thing is done! The veil is removed and, in the words of the ancient song, "You've got to have it whether you like it or not." Always providing, of course, that the lady is equally willing. For, to her, is accorded the option of two refusals, though the third time she's got to accept—London Mail.

How many apples did Adam and Eve eat?

Some say Eve eight and Adam two
—a total of ten only.

Now we figure the thing out for differently: Eve eight and Adam eight also—total 16.

We think the above figures are entirely wrong.

If Eve eight and Adam 82, certainly the total will be 90.

Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the ante-diluvians were giants, reason something like this: Eve 81 and Adam 82 —total 163.

Wrong again. What could be clearer than if Eve 81 and Adam 812 the total was 893?

I believe the following to be the true solution: Eve 814 Adam and Adam 812 Eve 893.

Still another calculation is as follows: If Eve 814 Adam, Adam 812 oblige Eve, total 8206. Exchange.

Explaining "Lunar Bands."

Piseux, the distinguished astronomer of the Paris observatory, some time ago reached the conclusion that the curious rays or bands extending in straight lines away from many lunar craters, such as the celebrated tycho, are produced by the deposition of volcanic ashes carried to great distances by the winds that happened to prevail when the eruption occurred. He accounts for the relative narrowness of these bands which are never more than 30 miles broad, although their length is sometimes many hundred miles. By sup-

Concerning the Brain.

Whether a person's brain becomes larger after intellectual development is still a disputed question. Smith Ely Jelliffe, an authority on the subject, says: "Weight of brain, however, has no direct relationship with intelligence, as idiots' brains are known to have weighed just as much as those of the ablest men. Intellectual capacity consists in the great multiplicity of nerve cell connections. While it is true that a number of celebrated men of recognized brain power have had large brains, there are many more of equal capacity whose brain weights have not been remarkable."

A PARADE

Hawaii is a land very literally an island-paradise. Somewhere anywhere else in the world may one make a choice of numerous islands or islets, but Hawaii has no choice but to be one island. The people of Hawaii are as good as any in the world, and in some respects, more so. Moreover, one can never be in Hawaii without making a choice of a few miles, for the good islands half of an island sweep by the trade winds in rains and beauty without which the island would be nothing. National Geographic Society.

POWER IN SCIENCE

The proper value of the power of science is probably best expressed in the scientific achievements in the art of medicine. Medicine, like the wind and the lightnings, is guided by the sun, small things coming down to a more remote period and a less removed distance, are more removed. The man who added his own knowledge to his mother that so that people would not know he was a fool. This science is still good for the great majority. Astronomy is said to be one of the best means of measuring the individual life's relative importance in the universe of matter, but it is not clear far from any human habitation. In a vast silence will probably accomplish the same.

Brief News Items

Boys are wishing for skating on the pond on Thanksgiving.

The Epworth League social at the M. E. church has been postponed.

Archie McIntyre of Leamington, Ont., has leased the Manchester hotel and has taken possession.

On account of the big corn crop this year some farmers who lost heavily by feeding lambs last winter, have decided to try it again this winter.

The Enterprise would be pleased if more Freedom friends would phone or write us the news. Ask for stamped envelopes for that purpose.

Many of our farmers have their crops gathered and are ready for winter. However there is always work that can be done on a farm to make spring work lighter.

We learn that a good many of our readers expect to go to Jackson, Ann Arbor or Detroit, Friday, to see the parade and exercises of the American Legion.

The American Legion boys expected Rev. Fr. Hackett here with them on Armistice Day but he wrote them that he had to go to St. Clair to take part in their program.

The rural mail carriers will make their usual delivery on Armistice Day. The post office will be open until 12 o'clock noon. Most places of business in the village will probably be closed in the afternoon.

Many are in favor of a Homecoming Day in Manchester next summer, and about the middle of August is the time mentioned. The Enterprise is in favor of it, and it decided upon will do what it can to make the day a successful occasion.

The Enterprise job department turns out a great variety of commercial printing but one of its customers, who is left-handed, called for a duplicate leaved blank book bound on the right instead of the left side, so he can more easily use his left hand in filling out the blanks. Of course we can make a book of that kind but it will be wrong and end too according to the accepted and long standing custom.

Music lovers of this village and community, and that means pretty nearly everybody, will be interested in knowing that Mrs. Mabel Ransall-Smart, wife of Rev. H. M. Smart, the new Methodist pastor, is to give a concert at the church on Monday evening, Nov. 28, for the benefit of the parsonage. Mrs. Smart is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, in voice and piano. She is familiar with concert work and has scores of press notices speaking in complimentary terms of her success.

There has been slight flurries of snow of late but not until Wednesday morning did we get enough of the beautiful to completely cover the ground to a depth of about three inches.

Ringing of church bells at 12 o'clock, noon, will take place all over the United States on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, to be followed by a few moments of silent prayer.

Mr. and Mr. Bennett C. Root and Mrs. Crockett are boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wurster for a few weeks as the new home is not yet ready for occupancy. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Detting have moved into the Servis house, vacated by them.

The loss of a line in the notice published by Kern Bros. last week made it appear as though electric meters would be read but once in three months, which is not the idea. The corrected notice appears this week and contains valuable information that should be read by all.

Every disabled ex-service man in the country should know that after Dec. 31st, 1921, the time limit for re-instatement of war risk insurance will expire. All ex-service men who care to reinstate their insurance which they have allowed to lapse should get busy at once. There is no time to lose. Leon Marx of Emil Jacob Post, Manchester, can assist you.

The Parent-Teacher meeting, to be held next Tuesday evening, has been postponed until the 22nd on account of the Senior lecture course that evening. Rev. Smart will talk on the Boy Scout movement at this meeting. The Boy Scouts of the high school will give the opening number, and the men's quartet will sing. In fact, the program will be carried out by men.

WELFARE HAS FINE BANQUET

United Feeling Strongly Cemented—Out-of-Town Speaker Proves Good Feature.

With an attendance of more than 50 members of the Welfare Association sat down to another get-together banquet at K. P. hall last Friday evening.

The affair was not planned as the annual event, which has always been so largely attended, but as a good-fellowship affair with an out-of-town speaker present, and it was thought 60 was all that could be accommodated, and that—most likely—that number would cover all who wished to break bread together at this time. But the number grew until extra tables were necessary, and it proved a splendid demonstration of good feeling among citizens from both village and country. The banquet was admirably served by the Pythian Sisters.

Clarence Holland, secretary of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, was introduced as principal speaker of the evening, by Pres. E. A. Lowery.

Mr. Holland, in opening expressed his astonishment at such a gathering in a town of this size, he also paid his respects to the clergy, with which he found himself surrounded, and added that he is a member of a Methodist minister. He also added a word for his home city in saying he wished us not to believe all we heard about Jackson.

Mr. Holland took as the subject for the evening: "Full Steam-Ahead," in which he made a plea for a wider scope in the activities of the whole country. "You and I and every man in the United States, and the women as well, have allowed ourselves to think nationally. You and I have got to raise the horizon of our vision; we must think internationally. Manchester is a part of the business of the state and the nation. You were considered internationally when the International Chamber of Commerce was organized in Paris something more than a year ago."

Mr. Holland admonished not to dwell long on the past, but look forward to the tomorrows. "Our tomorrows," he said "are not established by prophets. Mr. Babson, authority on financial matters, tells us that he thinks about the future, but Mr. Babson does not make our tomorrows; we make our tomorrows ourselves. Suppose the threatened railroad strike had taken place, would Manchester have been caught? No, because you would have looked forward to tomorrow and been prepared with trucks to bring in the necessities. I am almost sorry the strike did not take place. We might as well settle the question of who is boss right now. There was no compromise in calling it off, and if a similar situation arises there will be no compromise."

"There are two things that have caused more dissatisfaction and disputes than most anything else, one is misunderstanding. Not enough pains are taken to guard against misunderstandings. Even in the coming disarmament conference there will be misunderstandings, and we will not have peace. The second injurious element is procrastination. You and I have put off today some things that should have been done. The nation has been putting off some things it might have done—until tomorrow."

"Germany is the most farsighted, the most progressive nation in Europe today—she is not procrastinating. Germany is working overtime, not only in the shops, but in the offices as well.

"The big thing in your life is what you do. You think these are hard times; they are not half as hard as you think they are."

Mr. Holland's address was a stirring and interesting one and was received with generous applause.

Finally Lowery introduced Rev. F. Rottach to the association. Rev. Rottach expressed his thanks for an invitation to be present and for his reception generally in the village. Though he had been here but a short time, he said he was made to feel from the first that he was among friends. He said he would be glad to do anything for the uplift of the town.

Rev. H. Nelson Smart, pastor of the Methodist church, was also introduced and said that though a new arrival in town he feels very much at home, and thought it very fine that all could get together in gatherings of this kind, as life consists in helping each other. He was pleased to see so many farmers present, and said we owe everything that we have, practically, to the farmer. We owe more to the farmer than to any other man under the canopy of heaven.

A number of local citizens spoke briefly on the pleasures of the meeting. Mr. Pearson, traveling representative of the Redpath Chautauqua, said he had attended many meetings but had never seen a finer spirit of brotherhood than was shown here. Harry U. Kies said one outstanding regret he felt when returning to the old town was the absence of a well-supported hotel, and inferred that a good hotel is a feature the village needs. He pledged his support in affairs of the community.

There being some discussion in town about the proposition of going back to Eastern Standard time, the matter was taken up for discussion. The matter was put up to the farmers present, a majority of whom seemed to favor Sun time. The matter was put to a vote and of the 61 votes, 37 were for Central Standard and 24 for Eastern.
