Fish Eyes.

A young woman of Baltimore recently visited an old chum in Washington whom she had not seen for a year. He told her that the Baltimore girl one afternoon, "that your husband had such eyes, but really I haven't found it so."

"Just wait until the miller's girl comes with my new hat and the bill."

John's Discomfort.

Little John sat upon the stairs looking disconsolately.

"What's the matter, Johnny?" asked his mother.

"Well, you see, Cousin Isabell, they let me hold the baby on my knee sometimes, though he can't even hold his head up yet, but since they began it he's gained only two pounds and three ounces. And I've just been thinking that I'll be an old man before the baby is born."

The Frank Man.

"And I'm the only dad you have ever."

"Wait a minute, Mother. Before you ask that, do you want me to lie and say that I'm not the truth and satisfy your curiosity?"

A Lesson to Him.

Professor Tom footed a mile in silence and then abandoned it. Another took it up and at 11 feet struck gold. When Raftery heard the news he said, "I never leave home without a claim until I've gone a foot further!"

Surprise for Mother.

Mary—Mother, were you at home when I was born?

Mother—No, darling. I was at the grand opening of the new hospital.

Mary—Weren't you awfully surprised when you heard about it?

Lost a Sate.

"I want," said the very plain girl, "a book entitled 'Cultivate Your Natural Beauty'."

"Here it is," said the clerk, who was not too sociable. "Are you getting it for a friend?"

And the very plain girl put her purse back into her bag and went right out.

As they passed Lime Point, Mr. Gibney prepared to shorten sail and illustrate his clairvoyance of the wind range through the ship.

"I'll open up on 'em," he said, "and then the wind'll blow us along."
