RHINE COST PARLEY IS HALTED

Differences Arise Over Demands of the United States.

Paris—The inter-allied conference regarding costs of the Rhineland armies of occupation, which was attended by Elliot Wadsworth for the United States, struck a snag last week and adjourned sine die.

Proposals submitted by Wadsworth on behalf of the American government differed so radically from those put forward by the allies at previous sessions that the French, Belgian and British representatives asked time to consult their governments.

The differences were over technicalities, the Quaid d'Orsay's official announcement stated.

It is reported disagreement arose on the subject of priority.

The allies' original plan was not satisfactory to the United States.

TO IMPROVE CANAL DEFENSES

Joint Maneuvers Show Modernized Methods Should Be Adopted.

Washington—Plans for improving the defenses of the Panama Canal, which army and navy experts say were shown to be inadequate, by the joint maneuvers just concluded, were discussed by Secretary Weeks with Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the senate military committee.

Senator Wadsworth recently made a personal inspection of the canal's defenses, and presented definite recommendations for their improvement.

"The coast defenses should be modernized," the senator said. "They are out-ranged by naval rifles, and the guns are mounted on fixtures of old design, which will not give them the elevation required for maximum range of the 12-inch and 14-inch guns, the largest calibre the defenses now have."

To Eliminate $2 Bill.

Washington—The evil omens of the superstitions and the chief temptation of the bill "raiser"—the two-dollar bill—appears about to pass into oblivion. Its discontinuance as a paper currency denomination will be proposed by a special committee of treasury officials along with a revision of the designs of all paper money. The purpose of the proposed revision was said to be to standardize the design of all paper money of the same denominations. The $2 note is popular with "raisers."

Unlike His Namesake.

A colored man sought reinstatement before the federal civil service commission as a laborer. The papers showed he had been dismissed for insubordination, but the department was willing to give him another trial. Taking up the case, the clerk noticed that his name was none other than George Washington. "Oh," he said, looking up, "seems to me I've heard of you before." "Is dat so, sir?" said the other much surprised. "I see you're afraid you're heard. They give me a bad reputation at the bureau, sir."

FATHER DILLON IS GIVEN LIFE

PRIEST SLAYER PLEADS GUILTY—TELLS JUDGE HE IS SANE—READY FOR PRISON

FUNERAL OF VICTIM IS HELD

Bishop Gallagher Celebrates the Pontifical Requiem High Mass For Fr. O'Neill.

Kalamazoo—Rev. Charles Dillon, a week ago the quiet, assistant pastor of St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church here, now convicted slayer of his church superior, was on his way to Marquette prison last Monday night to begin a life sentence at hard labor for his crime.

Sentence was pronounced after the prisoner, against the vain pleadings of his counsel, entered the plea of guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. As a last resort the lawyer begged the court to question the prisoner, declaring the defendant refused to take advantage of the defense of temporary insanity.

At the end of an hour's conference with the prisoner, Judge Weimer announced in a courtroom crowded to the doors:

"The court explained to the respondent with much care the matter of legal insanity. I analyzed carefully insanity as a defense for crime. The respondent is highly intelligent and capable of understanding all that has been said to him. He insists that he was not driven by any uncontrollable impulse, that he understands the difference between right and wrong, that he had no legal or moral right to kill Henry O'Neill. He says the act was deliberate and premeditated, and the result of deliberately thought out preparation, that he had been harboring grievances against his victim for a long time, at least since last summer, and that he purchased the gun nine days before the shooting for the purpose of killing Henry O'Neill in the occasion arose. He insists that the act was done sanely with a conscious mind."

Clad in the priestly garb he was wearing at the time of his arrest, Dillon stood before the bar of the court, his hands loosely folded in front of him, and calmly heard imposition of sentence.

At the same time that Father Dillon was in court, the pontifical requiem high mass was chanted by the Right Rev. Bishop Michael Gallagher over the body of the victim.

The funeral of Father O'Neill was one of the largest ever held in Kalamazoo. It is estimated more than 2,500 people gathered inside the church proper, while the vestibule and ante rooms were also crowded to capacity.

Announcement was made that Rev. P. C. Depew, of Detroit, at one time assistant at St. Augustine's, will remain here until permanent appointment of a successor to Rev. Henry O'Neill. He began studying for the priesthood when Right Rev. Mgr. F. A. O'Brien was dean of the local parish.

As the services were brought to a close the coffin was removed solemnly down the aisle of the church followed by the bishop, deacon master of ceremonies, acolytes and priests.

It was then placed in a hearse to be taken to Hubbardston, Mich., for interment.

A delicious drink for any occasion is one-half of a glass of orange juice filled with ginger ale; add cracked ice and serve at once.

Those lives are, indeed, narrow and which are not blessed with children. Every branch the tree puts out lays it open more to the storms and tempests of life. The sun, the light and the sunshine, and to the singing and the mating birds. A childless life is a tree without branches, a house without windows.—John Burroughs.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

A nice breakfast dish which is wholesome and easy to prepare is:

Baked Mackerel.

Soak the salt mackerel in cold water, flesh side down, over night. Drain and place in a baking pan, add a few spoonfuls of water and when boiling hot pour over a cupful of cream.

Bake twenty to thirty minutes, depending upon the weight of the fish. Serve hot with potatoes.

This makes a fine luncheon dish served with mashed or creamed potatoes.

Coconut Crisps.—Beat one egg until light, add one-half cupful of sugar, beat again, add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla or almond, one-third tea-spoonful of salt, one cupful of coconut, two-thirds of a cupful of oatmeal which has been lightly browned and ground through the meat-grinder and one-half tablespoonful of butter. Drop on the bottom of an inverted baking pan or bake on baking sheets dropping from a teaspoon, spread with a wet knife and bake until light brown. Lift from the pan while still hot.

A Simple Meat Loaf.—Take one pound of the round of steak and one pound of fresh pork with some fat, put both through the meat grinder and add a half cupful of rolled oats, a small onion chopped, two level tea-spoonfuls of salt, a half teaspoonful of pepper, one cupful of strained cooked tomatoes, a beaten egg; roll in to a loaf and place in a well-greased baking pan; baste with a little water until the juices of the meat form the moisture. Baste often during the hour's baking.

Fruit Salad.—Remove the skin from a banana, scrape and cut in quarters lengthwise, then cut in thirds crosswise and roll in chopped peanuts. Peel oranges, stamp out the centers and insert a piece of banana through each slice. Arrange on a bed of lettuce and serve with French dressing.

Maple Custards.—Beat five eggs until light, add three-fourths of a cupful of crushed maple sugar, salt-spoonful of salt, and three cupfuls of scalded and cooled milk. Strain into small custard cups, set into pan of hot water, and bake until firm in the center. Serve with spice cakes. This makes an excellent dessert.

Good talk is like good scenery—continuous, yet constantly varying, and full of the charm of novelty and surprise.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

At this season of the year the appetite flags and needs attractive food to appeal to the taste.

Boiled Fish.

Wrap a good sized fish in cheese cloth and drop it into boiling salted water. Cook until the fish drops easily from the bones; remove, drain and serve with

Hollandaise Sauce.

Wash one-half cupful of butter, divide into three pieces and put one piece with the yolks of two eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice in a saucepan. Work together until smooth, set the saucepan over hot water, stirring constantly until the mixture is well-blended and the butter is melted, then add another piece of the butter and as it thickens the third piece of butter, taking the saucepan from the water occasionally to keep the mixture from curdling. Season with salt, cayenne and serve at once.

Young People's and Adult Topic.

—The Character of Moses.

The Birth, Preservation and Education of Moses.

1. His Birth (vv. 1-2). His parents were of the tribe of Levi.

2. His Preservation (vv. 3-8). The faith of his parents caused them to ignore the command of the king, and they hid him for three months (Hebrews 11:23). His mother discerned in him a proper child, or a child fair to God (Acts 7:20), and believed him to be the deliverer of his people. Perhaps led by the story of Noah's ark, she made an ark of bulrushes and placed Moses in it and left it at the place where Pharaoh's daughter would be attracted when she came down to bathe. Miriam, his sister, was placed where she could watch the affair, and at the opportune moment she came with a suggestion of a nurse for the baby; securing her consent, Miriam brought the child's mother.

3. His Education (vv. 9-10). He was educated first at his mother's knee, the place where his character was formed. He was also educated at the Egyptian court, where he became acquainted with the wisdom of Egypt (Acts 7:22).

The Call of Moses (Exodus 3).

1. The Lord Speaks From the Bush (vv. 1-6). In the desert the Lord appeared in the vision of the burning bush. When Moses stepped aside to behold this strange thing, God taught him the lesson of proper approach unto himself.

2. The Lord Commissions Moses (vv. 7-10). God assured him of his active interest in his people, having seen their affliction, heard their cry, and known their sorrows, and that he had come down to deliver them from the hand of the Egyptian through Moses as His agent.

Moses' Contest With Pharaoh (Exodus 5:12).

The ten plagues reveal the contest carried on between Moses and Pharaoh before the people were set free. The tenth stroke from the strong hand of the Almighty made Pharaoh willing to let Israel go.

IV. Israel Crossing the Red Sea (Exodus 14:10, 13-22).

1. Israel's Straitened Circumstances (v. 10). At the Lord's direction they changed from their first course and were apparently in great difficulty. The Red sea was before them; the mountains on either side. Pharaoh with his chariots of war was closing in upon them. In their distress they cried to the Lord.

2. Israel's Miraculous Escape (vv. 13-22).

(1) Moses works to the people (vv. 13-14). (a) "Fear not." Since God was leading them by day and by night with the pillar of cloud and fire they had no need of fear, even if they were in straitened circumstances. (b) "Stand still." Standing still in such a trial is faith taking hold of God's promise. (c) "See the salvation of the Lord." "The Lord shall fight for you."

(2) God's words to Moses (vv. 15-18).

(a) "Go forward." No use to pray longer when God says "Move forward."

(b) "Lift up thy rod." This served as something tangible upon which their faith could rest. They were to go through the sea on dry ground. But the symbol of God's presence now passed to the rear to hold the enemy, at bay. (3) The divided sea (vv. 21-22). As they went forward the very thing which they feared became a wall of protection on either side.

3. Overthrow of the Egyptians (vv. 22-27). Having seen the Israelites go across dry shore the Egyptians immediately pursued them, insanely thinking that they could follow in the wake of God's children. That which was a protection to God's children became an instrument of destruction to the Egyptians.

4. Israel's Song of Triumph (15:1-21). They attributed their deliverance and the overwhelming defeat of their enemies to God. They could well sing their song of triumph, for they were on the other shore.

V. The Law Given (Exodus 20:1-17).

God gave through Moses to the world a complete code of laws setting forth duties to God and man.

A Prayer.

O God, our Heavenly Father, we come before Thee to worship, to praise

Thee, and to thank Thee for Thy great mercy and Thy many blessings.

We confess our sins, but we come with boldness to Thy throne of grace, for our trust is in Him Who is our Advocate and our Mediator. Our Father, we ask that Thy Holy Spirit may be our comforter, our guide and our helper this day. May we let your light so shine that others may be drawn to Thee. Who is the Light of the World. Help us to watch and be faithful, that when He comes He may find us with lamps trimmed and burning. And all we ask is in Jesus Christ's Name.

AMEN.

The Empty Churches.

A purely subjective religion of the past 300 years, coupled with a wrong philosophy of life, has succeeded in handing down to the present generation nothing better than a highly refined pantheism, masquerading under the guise of the Christian religion, and is responsible for the many empty churches on the Lord's day.—Henry

Lowndes, Drew.
