NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

GERALDINE KUHLMAN

Geraldine Kuhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kuhl of Manchester and Thomas P. Cushman of Manchester, were united in marriage at the Iron Creek church Friday evening February 14th. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Brasse, pastor of the church at 8:00 p. m.

The nuptial music was played by the groom's great aunt Mrs. Cora Watkins of Brooklyn and Mrs. Wilbur Maurer sang "Because" and "O Promise Me" before the ceremony.

The vows were spoken before an arch decorated with palms and burning tapers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin with high lace beaded neckline and fitted bodice designed with poplin and a long train. Her fingertip veil was of illusion. Her headpiece was of orange blossoms and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Stanley Kuhl of Adrian, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink gown of satin, with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and full skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Mrs. Samuel Cushman, Jr., of Manchester, and Mrs. Charles Knapp of Manchester, bridesmaids, wore white and blue gowns with full skirts and sweetheart necklines. They carried colonial bouquets of deep pink carnations. All attendants were matching headresses.

Samuel Cushman, Jr., of Manchester, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Stanley Kuhl of Manchester, brother of the bride and Chas. M. Knapp of Manchester, friend of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Kuhl, the bride's mother, wore a brown crepe dress trimmed with sequins for the wedding. Mrs. Cushman, the groom's mother, was attired in black.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with approximately 100 guests present.

The bride's table was decorated with luxury candles and centered with a four-tiered cake with a bride and groom in miniature.

Mrs. Cushman, the bride's mother, was in charge of the buffet supper.

Mrs. and Mrs. Cushman have left on a two week's trip to Miami, Florida. The bride wore a pale green dress and accessories as her going away costume. On their return, they will be at their home on the Watkins farm.

Both are graduates of Manchester High School. Mrs. Cushman was formerly employed at the Ford Motor Company in Manchester.

Mrs. Cushman served three and a half years in the Army Air Corps of which one year was spent overseas with the Eighth Air Force.

SERVICES HELD MONDAY FOR MARY M. GREENMILLER

Mrs. Mary M. Greenmiller, 72 years old, died Friday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Merrill at Ann Arbor. Mrs. Greenmiller was born on Feb. 5, 1869 in Wurtsburg, Germany and came to America in 1885 and settled in Freeport. She married Christian Greenmiller Nov. 30, 1887. They lived in Bridgewater township until Mr. Greenmiller's death in 1930. She had made her home with her niece in Ann Arbor for the past 17 years.

She is survived by an adopted daughter, now living in California, a sister, Mrs. Augusta Hayner of Ann Arbor, a grandson, Raymond Snow, of San Jose, Calif., and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Jenter funeral home here, with burial in Oak Grove cemetery with interment in the Greenmiller family plot.

The officiating was by Rev. George Dasher, pastor of the Bridgewater church.

The Manchester community area, which is now studying the prospect of a single school district for the 27 districts comprising the region, is taking part in a development that has been going on for many years.

Michigan has been somewhat slower in combining its rural districts than most states. In the country as a whole, one-room rural schools have dropped from 200,000 in 1915-16 to 113,600 in 1939-40. Good roads, the automobile, and the desire of rural parents to send their children to town schools have all contributed to this change.

The neighboring state of Ohio is highly consolidated, with 6,625 districts in operation taking children to central schools. Texas has the largest number of children riding to school, with North Carolina, Ohio, and Pennsylvania close behind.

Although Michigan has moved slowly toward enlarging its rural districts, progress in this state has been steady. In 1925-26, there were 49 rural agricultural districts. In 1939-40 there were 79 and in 1938-37, 110. Since that time many more enlarged districts have been formed.

This year, many districts in southern Michigan are undertaking studies of reorganization of those closest to Manchester being Clinton, Saline, Chelsea and Milan.

The primary reason for this development is the desire of farm parents to have a standard, adequate education guaranteed for their children. They have seen enrollments in rural districts fluctuate from 20 or more to five or six in only a few years' time.

They have also realized the need for higher salaries for teachers, and the employment of qualified teachers who can make the most of the school hours. Many districts cannot afford to pay the salaries necessary to attract the teachers with the desired training.

The desire of parents for higher standards is a natural one in modern Michigan. Not only more constant teaching, but better heating, ventilation, more adequate playgrounds, and better classroom equipment is the ambition of rural parents.

These aims, parents in the Manchester region believe, can be achieved at reasonable cost if the 27 districts of the region cooperate to attain them. The economies that result can immediately be put to use equalizing the standards of education in the area.

Chelsea Wins From DUTCHEM FEBRUARY 11

Chelsea beat Manchester here on February 11 by a score of 40-34. Ralph Wurster was the leading man for Manchester scoring 12 points. Next in line was Wayne Trolz who had 8 points. The leading men for Chelsea were R. Knickerbocker and D. Vogel who each had eight points. The Dutchmen got off to a flying start in the first quarter as they racked up eight points to Brighton's two and then outscored them 8-4 in the second quarter. Each team garnered seven points in the third quarter, and then Brighton really went to town in the final quarter. The loss was Manchester's second against five wins.

MANCHESTER APPROVED NONRESIDENT TUITION

The status of each school district seeking approval to receive tuition paid by the state for non-resident pupils enrolled in grades nine through twelve is considered annually.

The report of the Self-Survey of Educational Progress and other available data relating to your school have been reviewed.

On the basis of this information, and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 18, Part II of the School Code, as amended, your school is approved to receive tuition for non-resident pupils enrolled in grades 9 through 12 for the year ending June 30, 1948.

It is the responsibility of our office constantly to seek ways of making secondary education more generally available to the boys and girls of Michigan. The best way of doing this is not of course to multiply the number of small secondary schools with narrowly limited programs, but rather to enlarge the service areas and facilities of those community school systems in which an adequate secondary school program can be offered and supported.

In our judgment your school should serve a larger area than the one contained in our present school district boundaries.

School district organization in the last analysis, a matter for local determination, but we stand ready in this as in other matters to give assistance of a technical and consultative nature to you and your board of education.

Signed by Lee M. Thurston, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction.

PASROOTS WRIGHT & PATTERSON

MANY COSTS BESIDES LABOR INCLUDED IN SALES PRICE
LABOR is inclined to consider the difference between what the worker is paid and what the customer is charged as the profit made by a plant. A worker acquaintance said to me he had been shown a bill from the company he worked for to one of its customers. "The company pays me $1.50 an hour," he said, "but they charge their customer $3 an hour for my time. I am entitled to at least a part of that additional $1.50 the company takes as profit."

I attempted to show him that $3 charge covered many things other than his time, but did not make much impression. I told him he had to have a place in which to work, and the rent had to be paid by the customer. The tools and equipment with which he worked must be replaced as they were broken or worn out, and the customer provided the money to replace them. I explained to him, as best I could, all the many items of overhead; the salesman who solicited the order, the management who planned the operations, the clerical force, the foreman, the city, state and federal taxes, the insurance, light and power, and many other items, all of which are a part of the final cost. Some portion of all of them in addition to the $1.50 wage he was paid were a part of that $3 an hour charge to the customer. Then, too, those who had provided the funds for the original purchase of the tools and equipment with which he worked, an average of more than $3,000 for every employed worker in the United States, was entitled to some compensation for the use of his money. What he received, if anything, represented the very small margin of what was called profit in that charge of $3 an hour.

Management expects labor to accept its unsupported statements as to the profits a company is making, or at most it expects labor to understand the intricacies of a balance sheet. Undoubtedly labor receives a full and fair share of the benefits of industry, but labor does not know it will not accept the management's statement of management that it is true, and management does not, as it could, prove its case.

In a three way conversation in Chicago several years ago between an industrialist, a banker and myself, the banker said he would sell the industrialist's wealth, labor would not have a job. I said I knew some of the industrialist's employees, and their conception was that if it were not for their work, the industrialist would not have the wealth; that under the man of wealth found a way of satisfactorily demanding from his employees, something more than merely his word, that the employees were receiving a fair share of the returns from their work, the day would come when the one thousand workers to the one man of wealth would destroy the industrialist, and with his destruction they also would destroy themselves, and also that third party, the consumer, too.

Labor does get a fair share of what the workers produce, but labor must be paid in a definite way. When that problem is solved, much of our industrial strife will be over.

WITH each passing year our varied interests become more and more one great national machine. Technology has reached the gears of industry, of agriculture, of commerce, of education, of finance, of government. The one thing needed to perfect our production and distribution machine is a governor. That governor must be supplied by statehood. It is, in essence, capable of regulating the intricacies of that complicated machine that is America of today? We wish to be shown.

LEND-LEASE cost us $50,000,000. Of that we passed out to the nation $11,119,000 after the last shot was fired, and the last round had been started on the decks of the battleship "Missouri" at the time she started collecting a bit from here and there. Some of our debtors have at least promised to pay something, sometime.

FAMILIARITY breeds contempt. We do not have the same respect for "Barry" that we have for "Mr. President."

PCA is but a slight rearrangement of the letters PAC without other changes. Could Theodore Roosevelt, Senator Hiram Johnson, Dr. B. R. Beveridge, the elder La Follette and others of their day, but know who and what they were, and their cherished name of "Progressive," they would arise from their graves to protest and condemn.

THE PEOPLE now are asking, are we to have a new breed of bureaucrats, or merely a new breed? What is wanted is a far less number.

THE WASHINGTON SCENE Reorganization Puts Emphasis On Congressional Committees

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WFO Washington Correspondent

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles covering the new congressional committees and their chairman.)

WASHINGTON—With the congressional reorganization act now in effect and the Republican party assuming leadership in both branches after 15 years of Democratic ascendancy, special emphasis is placed on committees of the 80th congress.

Increasing importance is given the various committees because of the consolidation provided for in the reorganization act. Under terms of the act, adopted by the 79th congress, the 48 standing committees of the house are merged into 17 and the 33 senate standing committees are slashed to 14, excluding District of Columbia committees in both branches.

This series of articles will trace the new committee setup, delving into functions of the various committees and backgrounds of new Republican committee chairmen. The new committee combines the old senate committees on military and naval affairs.

New senate committees and their chairmen include:

Armed Services
CHAS. GURNEY (S. D.) becomes chairman of the senate armed services committee after serving as ranking Republican on the military affairs committee. The new committee combines the old senate committees on military and naval affairs.

Gurney consistently votes with the majority of Republican senators, but with which he worked, an average of more than $3,000 for every employed worker in the United States, was entitled to some compensation for the use of his money. What he received, if anything, represented the very small margin of what was called profit in that charge of $3 an hour.

Found Dead in Yard

The body of Leland Hatch, 61, who resided on Willow Road, in Manchester township, was found by Floyd O'Neil when he stopped there to milk on Wednesday morning. There was a bullet wound in his head, evidently self-inflicted.

Coroner Ganshorn was called and the body was taken to Ann Arbor for an autopsy.

Manchester High School Venture

Dr. George E. Carrothers from the Bureau of Cooperation with Educational Institutions visited the school Monday February 17. The report of his visit will be in a later issue of the Venture.

The PTA Banquet was served in the High school gym Monday night February 17, 1947 with 134 in attendance. It was a potluck Family Night. There was a program for the children consisting of a Mickey Mouse movie and games.

Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Weiner and Mrs. Pardee sang two songs. Dr. Carrothers gave the main address. The PTA voted to sponsor the Cub Scouts.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Benedict were Miss Helen Keizer of Chelsea, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Meyer and family. It was a surprise dinner in honor of Mr. Benedict's birthday.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Where Cissy Spent Her Honeymoon
Most of the young newlyweds in our town spend their honeymoon at Roundstone Lake or Jackson Falls; why the Martins even went as far as New York City.
But when Cissy Copper married the young Carter boy, they allowed as how they were going to spend their honeymoon right here.
"There's no place better than our town," Cissy says. "And I'd like to start married life at home, with things Bud and I are used to."
Makes sense, come to think of it. Folks naturally left them alone; and except for occasional visits to the Garden Tavern for a glass of beer, they stayed at home, getting used to married bliss.
My missus prefers traveling—and that's her right. But from where I sit, there's no place better for a honeymoon—or second honeymoon—than right at home—with your own possessions, good home cooking, and a friendly glass of beer or two—with the best company in 'the world."

Rural Telephones Coming Through!
Our big 5-year $13,500,000 rural expansion and improvement program is moving right along. Last year we added nearly 10,000 miles of wire and provided telephone service for 24,000 more customers in rural areas.
And while extending service to new rural users, we made improvements for many present customers. For example, we reduced the number of parties per line on nearly 3,000 lines.
In addition, in 1946 we liberalized our rural construction plan allowing an average of one-half mile of free line construction for each new rural customer.
At the present time some 11,000 rural applicants in Michigan Bell territory are still waiting for service. And we're keeping right at the job until every last one of them has a telephone, and rural service is better than ever.
