thrillers you won't see twice in a There was no other fight even close to this one. I can't recall any other fighter who ever showed more intestinal fortitude than zale showed that September night, when he came out of a foggy dreamland to knock out raziano. It so hap-

Tony Zale Jake LaMotta, Marcel Cerdan, Georgie Abrams, Charley Burley and one or two others—all tough Graziano, the toughest of the lot, has had his li-cense revoked in New York, but the National Boxing association has ruled that he can fight in any place under NBA's jurisdiction. This gives Rocky a lot of territory to swing his lethal fists in.

Zale had been away from ring action so long when he met Grazi-ano that his handlcap was known to be a heavy one. Various crowds had seen too many baseball and foot-ball players from the service show a startling lack of old-time form, in-cluding speed and timing. Zale had been away longer than most, close to four years.

So when Graziano knocked him down early in the fight and then had him cazed, bewildered and badly battered, his reign apparently was over. But Lale down the stretch proved several things. He proved that he was dead game and could take the hardest punch the hard hitting Graziano could throw. He also proved that he had a punch of his own. He proved that he knew now to fight-and what to do in a

Faces Tough Competition With more time in which to get ready, it stands to reason that Zale should be a better fighter in 1947 than he was in 1946. His win over Graziano gave him greater confidence, for one thing. He is also sure to be in better all-around physical shape. Yet in this present middle-weight outfit no one is safe. Tony is surrounded by a pretty rough crew, the best in any other weight division, and he will have to be better the and he will have to be better than good to keep his crown. LaMotta is a rough and ready customer who won't be any soft mark. LaMotta is a hardy man to hurt and he also can hurt on his own. Cerdan made a promising debut over here and he should be better on his next visit, when he has a longer time to become acclimated and to get in better physical condition. There is no Stanley Ketchel, Harry Greb or Mickey Walker hang-ing around the premises, but there is more class in this section than the ring has known for many years. Jus how the tangle will be unrayeled i another guess. LaMotia must be given a chance and so must Cerdan if he can repeat his opening perform-ance, or show improvement.

In addition to the leaders name Jersey Jones still insists that his man Burley can slash his way through the entire list. With the heavyweight bunch, outside of Joe Louis, in such a sad state, it begins to look as if the middleweights must take over a big part of the show. But as good as many of his challengers are, they will find

Two West Coast Stars The west coast is keeping an alert eye on the coming actions of its two favorite baseball sons. Their names are Joe DiMaggio of San Francisco and Ted Williams of San Diego, both reporting from the extensive domain of California. DiMaggio, bothered by physic ailments, had an off year. Regard-all time, a brilliant artist, fielding, hitting and throwing, Joe finished with the worst season he has known in big league baseball. He fell back with many other big league stars who had been in war service Williams, who looked as if he were on the verge of wrecking the entire American league without help up through mid-July, began to skid lat-TARIS (B) er and spent an unhappy fortnight during the 1946 World series. Ulcers Stopped Joe Anyway Joe and Ted were not what they had been in their former seasons. Only Dom DiMaggio came along to repair part of the damage, as far as California was concerned Bobby Doerr and Johnny Pesk were two west coast features from further north. Joe DiMaggio wasn't feeling any too well when he report-ed for spring training. A few stomach ulcers didn't help him. After an early start at high speed. Joe began to fall away

The cause of accidents, 22 of which involved fatalities, was set out in analyses of 35 crashes by ciril aeronautics board and civil aeronautics administration. Ten of the mishaps involved nonscheduled carriers. In 27 cases the planes were "washed out."

A summary of the investigation findings showed:

Twelve accidents occurred during approach or landing, eight were due to structural or power plant failure. Six involved collision with mountains, five resulted from fire in fight and four were listed as miscellaneous.

Plot error was given as the primary cause in 12 accidents, the secondary cause in four others and appeared as a possible factor in five more.

"Other personnel" were charged with major blane in one crash and incompleted in the background.
