

Ships Suffering
"HAD ENOUGH"
This slogan, used so effectively by the Republicans in the 1946 congressional campaign, may be thrown back at them by the Democrats in the 1948 presidential campaign. There is considerable talk that the Democratic national committee may adopt the slogan.

Whether the GOP party leadership is to blame for the setbacks of the 1946 congressional campaign, or not is beside the point. The fact remains that the almost prohibitive cost of living will be a vital issue in the campaign unless the party can do something about it.

It is highly probable that the next session of congress will see a reversal of the battle for some time of governmental control of the price situation. It is even possible that the President's course of economic advisers, composed of the nation's top economists, may advise a return to some price control of key commodities even though on a temporary basis in an effort to stop runaway inflation.

It will be remembered that the 80th congress also tried to control the cost of living. It failed. The result was a price increase of 100 percent in the cost of living. The result was a price increase of 100 percent in the cost of living.

War Profiteering
Spreading of profits a house subcommittee investigating settlement of war contracts has been told some $16,000,000 contracts have been settled at a cost of more than eight times the dollar to the government and that an audit of only 15 per cent of those contracts disclosed fraud and overpayment of more than $2 million.

Their taxpayers' money, and if it is true, it would seem that the NAM would be justly entitled to the title of "costliest" in the history of the nation. Congressman George E. Brown (Rep., Ohio) says the charge of fraud is getting overblown.

A Draft Eisenhower for President
The House has opened national headquarters in Washington, "one partisan, one party, one man" slogan. The party will be both Democrats and Republicans.

Exports Slump
It is possible that the mad scramble for more and more profits American business is pricing itself out of the export market. Exports dropped 10 per cent in July and even more in August.

One reason Britain pulled out of the American market is that between the time she extended the $1,750,000 loan and they made arrangements to spend it in our export market, rapidly spiraling prices of goods and other commodities wiped out almost 50 per cent of the grant of dollar value.

There seems to be, despite the assertion of Sen. Robert Taft (Rep., Ohio), to the contrary, a real demand for a November session of congress. There is a rapidly growing sentiment among members of both houses and senate to get away from the dross of "who done it" probes and to spend time in working out vital legislation.

Annual Observance Seeks Curb On Skyrocketing Fire Damage

Careless Habits Blamed as Toll Hits High Peak

W.N. Features.
With the dual objective of ridding homes and communities of the hazards which account for the majority of fires and of focusing attention on the careless habits which take an increasingly alarming toll of life and property, Fire Prevention Week will be observed on a nationwide scale during the week of October 5-11.

Takes 10,000 lives...
Destroys or damages 350,000 homes...
Destroys or damages 2,500 schools, 9,500 hotels and boarding houses, 10,500 restaurants, 1,000 hospitals, 2,100 amusement places...

Path of Destruction
Toll of Farm Fires Estimated At 90 Million Dollars Yearly
Death and destruction follow in the wake of farm fires, the catastrophic blazes taking the lives of 10 farmers every day and causing property damage estimated at 90 million dollars a year. The 1947 dollar loss from farm fires would permit construction of 50,000 barns costing $2,000 each; it is estimated by National Fire Protection association.

2. Don't use flammable wood shingles on the roof of any farm building. In new construction, repair and remodeling work, use only fire-resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles or some other fire-resistant material. Sparks from the chimney or from a fire falling on flammable wood shingle roofs are a major cause of farm fires.

3. Check the wiring system to make sure it is adequate and properly installed. The electrical load needed to service the modern farm and that now being installed systems meet the requirements of the national electrical code.

4. Foundations. Set them on the ground, not on stilts, and make of fire-resistant materials.
Clean the chimney at least once a year.

5. Install and properly maintain lightning rods on all main buildings.
If these fire-breakers were eliminated, NFPA estimates, the number of farm fires would be cut in half. Among the bad habits which account for the most of preventable farm fires, NFPA lists:

1. Smoking in bed and in the barn. Discard lighted cigarettes and matches; fold in to keep matches out of reach of small children.

2. The thoughtless farm wife who sticks papers, rags, old clothing, broken furniture and toys in the attic, closets, barn or other outbuildings, debris which is a tinder for any spark and often the source of spontaneous ignition.

3. Dangerous storage of gasoline and kerosene, and use of flammable cleaning fluids. Store flammable liquids in metal containers away from main buildings; never use kerosene to clean a fire, and be sure cleaning fluids are non-explosive.

Marine Club Serves Living While Honoring War Dead

W.N. Features.
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.—Many a foxhole dream comes true as marines and former marines gather in the comfortable and swank atmosphere of the Marine Memorial club, which was established here a year ago as the only living memorial to the gallantry of all marines.

The lush surroundings of the Memorial club, located in a former swank hotel at Sutter and Mason streets in the heart of downtown San Francisco, are a far cry from the filth and deprivations of foxhole living, which was the lot of so many marines.

But it was the unappetizing PX rations, the warm beer and the generally stale candy bars munched in foxholes which are responsible for the Marine Memorial club. Profits from these sales went to the post exchange fund, but in reality, it usually such money is used to buy recreational equipment that the "G.I." doesn't furnish. This time, however, marine headquarters in Washington felt that the money should be used in a way that would honor marines who died in combat by serving those who fought and survived.

The solution is the Marine Memorial club, where members meet on an equal footing. Borneo names, rank and social number paid no weight; where the famous "esprit de corps" of the service exists here in civilian living.

San Francisco was selected as the location for the club because many marines passed through the Golden Gate on their way to the Pacific, felt at home here and wanted to return.

The man behind this club is the man who was behind the first regiment of the 3rd division in the battle for Iwo Jima, Brig. Gen. Evan Orsmond Ames, retired. The club is his baby. A typical man himself, he has helped to make many a foxhole dream a reality by creating a club where marines can take it easy, have the shave and steam bath they once longed for, in an exclusive town club atmosphere.

For the men and women of the corps who did return, the club is unique in its exclusiveness, for only marines and civilian marines may belong. Their families, wives, parents (including Gold Star parents) and children over 21 are eligible for guest membership. Old friends from the military service come and go as they please. The club is a home away from home and a place where the old comrades meet and mingle.

Despite the weather, the club is a place where the old comrades meet and mingle. The club is a place where the old comrades meet and mingle. The club is a place where the old comrades meet and mingle.

Street Names Confuse Tourists
NEW ORLEANS—It's no wonder tourists are confused, although fascinated, by street names in New Orleans. The city has about 1,100 miles of streets and 1,100 street names.

Grains Missing
What has happened to President Truman's old Missouri "cornbelt" is still a top policy-making issue this year. Mr. Truman named only 2 from Missouri while he picked 12 from New York. In 1946 he named 10 men from Missouri to executive positions. The 8th congressional district was scattered among 21 states, with a ratio of 3 members to 1 Republican. In the last year, Mr. Truman named about 10 Democrats to 1 Republican to key jobs.
