Two Sides to Sigler-Keyes Feud, Writer Reports

There's two sides to about everything. That goes for the Sigler-Reyes feud at Lansing.

The governor's ire at reputed leaders in the House and Senate.

The governor's ire at reputed suffiling of the administration's legislative program by a banding of senators was publicly aired before Michigan Associated Press editors in annual descion at Higgins Lake.

Lambasting the senate which the termed the worst I've known in many years'. Governor Sugerno Sugernor Charged Lieut, Governor Eugene B. Keyes with playing politics, Keyes encouraged a small group of prima dosans to observe the superior of prima dosans to observe the superior of the superi

ALL RIGHT, maybe Bert the Barber doesn't know a kilowaii hom a cubic, but that doesn't stop him from being one of our bosses, just the same.

Surprised? Didn't you know your electric light and power company is owned by Bert, and a lot of people like him-and like you, too?

People from all walks of life-doctors and industrial workers, leachers and farmers, medianics and milk men-have put some of their savings into our company.

Those people are direct owners. But there are countless indirect owners, too-many (like Bert the Barber) who haven't an idea that they have a stake in the electric industry. Those are the people who have savings accounts or life insurance policies. Nowadays, that means practically everybody Here's how it works: When banks and insurance companies accept your money, they must invest it wisely—and soundly. And because business-managed electric companies have a long record of faithful service, much of this money is invested in their securities. So you, too-like Bert the Barber-are very likely to be one of our bosses. Howdy, Boss!

MISSISSIPPI ON THE MARCH... The old and the new blend in the Magnelia state, as these pictures attest: (1) The white high ferencial of this Mississippi home rises above sunlit columns to a height commanding the sak-lined streets about it. Home of an aristocratic family, it carries its century of age with digatity. Permanency, authority, classifical manners are reflected in its facade. (2) Mechanical flugers and the hum of muchinery gradually are replacing the singing "darky" in the cotton fields of mighty Mississippi plantations. Here in the Mississippi delta is raised the finest long staple cotton in the world. (3) White-faced Herefords, which can be raised at a profit in competition with the Plains and Corn Bett states, are opening new vistas of prosperity to farmers. Strange as it may seem, Mississippi has more satisful per acre than Ternas. (4) Trystoal of the state's encodient paved highway system is this stretch of the Mississippi acres of the Mississippi manner. The arch of trons overhanging this bit of highway is draped with Spanish mass, found in profusion along the rivor and on the guiff cone.
