Charley Wurster with his son, a young man, found a pile of old clothes in the front yard. It is said to be turned up almost everything but money, as it has been the dumping grounds of the village for many years. Part of the ground resembled earth works of a fort and one man suggested that it might have been built in Pontiac's time.

Every jersey dress needs extra strength at the waistline to prevent stretching. Stitch seam binding or pre-shrunk cotton twill tape under the waistline seam. Collars, cuffs and front edges may need a lightweight piece of cotton between the layers of jersey to make it more firm.

per mile per year (approximately $1.00 per week) and this is from gasoline tax collections. All of this amount could be spent on mowing and brush cutting which would have no effect on the value of the property, but it would save the owner the expense of other operations. Many farmers and other land owners have for years kept their own road-side clean which enhances the value and appearance of their property and the road commission argues, others to eliminate their neighbor in this personal and public service. The limited finances and equipment of the road commission makes it possible for only one trip over each road and then often times this is not until late summer.

One In Four Anglers Are From Outside the State

One out of every four fishermen buying a fishing license in Michigan last year was a nonresident and in eight counties — Branch, Cass, Emmet, Lake, Mackinac, Schoolcraft and St. Joseph — the visiting license holders outnumbered the local boys.

The margin was widest in Branch county, the conservation department reports. There the 12,979 non-residents outnumbered residents by 5,386. A grand total of 264,903 visitors from other states paid for the privilege of fishing in Michigan waters last season.

Fishing is not all done in the county in which the license is bought, but the county-by-county tabulation furnishes a fair indication of the importance of sport fishing to local recreational and tourist business.

In Washtenaw county, 15,281 licenses were issued to residents against 11,098 to non-residents. Neighboring Lenawee county sold 9,525 resident licenses, 6,083 non-resident.

Two Honored At Shower Here

Mrs. Emmett Noggle assisted by her mother, Mrs. Alvin Brasse, entertained at a shower in honor of Miss Marjorie Frey of Ann Arbor and Miss Patricia Atkins of Center Line. There were twenty guests present from Ann Arbor, Somerset, Brookline, Teaneck, Center Line and Manchester. For entertainment the group were given dish towels on which they were to autograph their names and embroidered them. They also had a fruit hunt for which prizes were given.

The house was decorated with bouquets of flowers. The hostess served a three course luncheon. Both Miss Frey and Miss Atkins received many lovely gifts. The shower was held Friday afternoon.

Camp Open for Crippled Kids

The Jackson County Camp for crippled children is again sharing its camp facilities at Wolf Lake with school age children from Washtenaw County. A trained staff including a physical therapist will be provided. Special care will be given children in wheel chairs. The dates for the camping period are July 27 to August 10.

There is a camp for about $15.00 a week. The Washtenaw County Chapter of the National Society for Crippled Children has made funds available to aid those in need of financial assistance.

For further information and application blanks, get in touch with either the Washtenaw County Health Department or the Jackson County Camp in Ypsilanti.

Vaccination for Fowl Pox Urged

The time for fowl pox vaccination is near, says Dr. C. E. Harding, extension poultry pathologist at Michigan State College.

If fowl pox has not appeared in your area, it is definitely not available to vaccinate. It is possible that the vaccination will introduce the disease if it is not already present. In areas where the disease is discovered, vaccination of some birds from the six to twelve weeks of age, is advised.

There are two kinds of pox vaccine. For outbreaks of pox in flocks of adult birds, milder vaccine should be used. This is called pycnon pox vaccine.

For vaccination of young birds and turkeys, the regular fowl pox vaccine should be used.

Young turkeys should be vaccinated at the same age as chickens. Turkey will not hold the immunity for more than five to six months after the first vaccination.

Both types of vaccine are made of live virus and extreme caution must be used in handling them. Outbreaks of the disease are possible if the vaccine is improperly handled. Instructions for use should be obtained from a veterinarian or other person qualified to do this kind of work.

State Ready for Tourist Season

Stimulated by a $200,000 state advertising drive, Michigan's tourist industry is all set for a banner season in 1947.

People have money in their pockets, and they are going places. Robert McLaughlin, secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, reports that 40,000 inquiries have been received from prospective out-of-state travelers. The council's offices in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Lansing have been busier than last year supplying information about cottages and hotels.

Michigan has more accommodations to offer travelers this summer than last year, said McLaughlin. "Easily 100 new cabins have been constructed throughout the state despite the shortage of materials and labor."

There will be no travel on the Great Lakes. Steamship companies are extending their schedules.

Air Lines and Bus Companies are doing the same. The New York Central has a brand new tourist train called the "Twin Cities" which will operate between Detroit and Mackinac City. The train has a car with interior of known comfort.

"Although the legislature did not act on a bill sponsored by Senator Don Van Doren to move up Labor Day two weeks to mid-September, there is a definite trend toward that date in the tourist season in Michigan. For example, the legislature adopted a bill to permit shortening of the regular hunting season. This is limited to 15 counties in Northern Michigan."

"Winter sports have been growing in popularity each year, and Michigan is doing a better job of it in the year by the farmer feeding their dairy cows with high priced hay, grain and protein feeds, in anticipation of early passage later on. Our seasonal spring weather coupled with excessive rain, has prohibited nursing cows out to pasture until too late for the annual visit period to develop to the anticipated extent," stated Mr. Simmons.

"The anticipated accumulation of large stocks of manufactured dairy products for next winter's use will not develop if the present trend in production continues," he said. "Michigan farmers for the past year have been unable to plant crops because of the wet soil, which cannot help but bring about a bumper crop."

Marked Increases Reported

In Admissions to Hospitals

During 1946 one patient was admitted to a hospital in the continental United States every two seconds, and a live baby was born in a hospital approximately every 15 seconds, according to the 1946 annual report of the council on medical education and hospitals of American Medical Association.

The figures reveal that in comparison with 1945 the number of hospital beds has decreased from 1,728,944 to 1,687,714, the number of admissions from 16,757,492 to 15,153,423 and the number of patients discharged from 15,153,423 to 14,200,718.

However, a total of 2,185,773 births was reported for 1946 as compared with 1,949,867 in 1945. This is the first year that hospital births in the United States have reached the two million mark.

According to the present survey governmental hospitals have 1,062,724, or 72.7 per cent of all beds, or non-governmental group 385,989, or 23.3 per cent. In 1945 the corresponding percentages were 78 and 22.

Although many seedlings were available in the first years of the war, a shortage of labor in the west, ship and plant them prevented heavy plantings. Demand started increasing last year, but the supply of seedlings was limited. This was due to labor shortages which had prevented seedling during the war years.

Forsters, soil conservationists and extension service personnel at MSC cite four reasons for increasing demand for seedlings.

More seedlings were available this spring than for several years.

More people are learning the real soil conservation value of such plantings.

More groups and individuals have started reaping the harvest from earlier plantings in Christmas tree sales and have an added incentive to continue reforestation.

Take your swimming, boating and sun in small doses at intervals during the holiday. Children don't know when they have had enough of swimming and they don't always feel tired when they seriously need rest.

Demand High for Evergreens

Demand for evergreen seedlings has been heavier this spring than at any time since 1940. Many millions of seedlings are being planted in Michigan this year and only the limited number of seedlings available prevented larger acreage.

P. W. Robbins, MSC forestry professor in charge of the nursery, says the college alone distributed nearly three million seedlings. The Michigan Conservation Commission will distribute approximately two million trees.

R. G. Hill, secretary of the state soil conservation committee, says cooperators in Michigan's 36 soil conservation districts have planted nearly five million seedlings this spring.

Although many seedlings were available in the first years of the war, a shortage of labor in the west, ship and plant them prevented heavy plantings. Demand started increasing last year, but the supply of seedlings was limited. This was due to labor shortages which had prevented seedling during the war years.

Forsters, soil conservationists and extension service personnel at MSC cite four reasons for increasing demand for seedlings.

More seedlings were available this spring than for several years.

More people are learning the real soil conservation value of such plantings.

More groups and individuals have started reaping the harvest from earlier plantings in Christmas tree sales and have an added incentive to continue reforestation.
