Telephone Numbers To Be Changed

Next Saturday evening (Nov. 14), the Michigan Bell Telephone Company will change all local telephone numbers to include the new central office name of "Garden." Beginning at 11:59 p. m., telephone users will dial "GA" and five numerals to call each other.

N. J. Prakken, manager here for Michigan Bell, said that the new local telephone directories are being delivered and include the new two-letter, five-digit numbers and instructions on how to dial them.

At the same time, Ann Arbor and Chelsea numbers will change. Ann Arbor numbers will be changed to include "Normandy" as the central office name, followed by five numerals, and in Chelsea telephone numbers will begin with "Greenwood" followed by five numerals.

Prakken suggested that local subscribers refer to the new directories to make sure of the new numbers of the persons they call.

Manchester telephone customers who received their new telephone directories to make sure of the new numbers of the persons they call.

With the shipment of 1450 directories which arrived from Crawfordsville, Ind., where they were printed, came special editions of the Ann Arbor "white pages," Prakken said both the "white pages" and "yellow pages" of the 1953 Manchester directory contain more information. Four pages have been added to the total volume.

The directory also contains Chelsea listings which have been changed to include the central office prefix, "Greenwood."

Date Set For Detroit To Dial Manchester

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will inaugurate a regional dialing plan on December 13 which will make it possible for Detroit telephone users to dial direct to more than 80 communities in southeast Michigan, including Manchester, and to some adjacent Canadian points.

N. J. Prakken, manager here for the company, said the regional dialing plan for Detroit would include the area encompassed by Port Huron on the north, Ann Arbor on the west, and Flat Rock on the south.

Key to the plan is a standardized "metropolitan type" telephone numbering system inaugurated in Michigan several years ago. Under this system, all telephone numbers will eventually carry a central office name followed by five numerals. Thus, for example, Woodward 3-1234 is a typical number in Detroit, while YUKON 2-1234 and NORMANDY 3-1234 are typical numbers in Port Huron and Ann Arbor, respectively.

As additional exchanges in the southeastern section of the state begin dial operation under the metropolitan type numbering system they will be included in Detroit's regional dialing area. Among the larger exchanges to be added to the plan next spring are Flint and Monroe.

Another integral part of the regional dialing plan is an automatic billing machine which makes a complete record of each direct-dial toll call, including the length of conversation and other information from which monthly bills are prepared. If the called number is busy or does not answer, the automatic equipment will note that fact and no charge for that call will be made.

Only station calls can be dialed direct under the regional dialing plan. Person-to-person, collect, public telephone and other calls requiring special attention will continue to be handled by operators.

Banquet Held For Take-it-easy Champs

November Means Book Week

This year the dates for Book Week are November 15 through 21 as set up by the Children's Book Council. It has been said, "Books are the food of youth." Even before children are ready for school and long before they themselves can read, books are a necessary part of their lives. Being read to at an early age is nourishment as vital as the food they eat. And, like the food they eat, it must be offered invitingly and with respect for variations in individual taste.

Manchester Township Library will offer the new books for children and young people through a display of book jackets exhibited at the various grade levels of the local school. These jackets off of books which may be obtained at the library will be the "menu" for the new books which they may "feed upon." Of course there are all of the steady diet editions available too and new Christmas ones coming on soon.

At the library there will be a display of adult reference material—some new and some old. Books of special interest will include "India and the Awakening East" by A. E. Roosevelt; "Mr. Jones Meets the Master" by Peter Marshall; "Woodsmoke" by Ellsworth Jaeger; "Through Charley's Door" by Emily Kimbrough and many others.

Of special interest to Manchester people, the first bound volume of the Manchester Enterprise, loaned by Mrs. Rolland Grossman, will center the exhibit of bound volumes of the local paper for the past five years. This volume of Manchester Enterprises for the period of October 17, 1867 to September 30, 1896 was edited by Mr. Matt Blosser, Mrs. Grossman's grandfather. Mr. Blosser was editor of the paper for 60 years.

These exhibits will be open to the public during the regular library hours next week:

Monday 12 to 1 and 2 to 5
Wednesday 12 to 1 and 2 to 5
Friday 12 to 1 and 2 to 5
Saturday 10 to 12 and 1 to 5 and 7 to 10.

The open house will be preceded earlier in the day by a family dinner at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lois Dochstader, of 5055 Youngs Road, Jackson.

Mr. Conklin was born in Bridgewater township on September 7, 1882 and his wife, the former Bertha Holmes, was born in Manchester, July 27, 1883. The couple was married on November 11, 1903 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Holmes of Manchester by the Rev. Calvin of the Methodist church in Clinton.

They have two children, Mrs. Lois Dochstader of Jackson and Don H. Conklin of Greenbush, Michigan. There are three grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. They have always lived within a twenty-five mile radius of where they were born. Mr. Conklin has been in the real estate business for the past twenty-eight years except for a few years in the early 30's. Mrs. Conklin is a Past Chief of Utopian Temple, Pethian Sisters of Jackson and a member of the O. E. S. at Napoleon.

Two troops of girl scouts have taken a project of dressing twenty-five dolls for the Good Will Industries of Jackson for Christmas. The girls are being assisted by some of the mothers in this work and it is understood that the work is progressing satisfactorily.

Several women working with the Scouts and Brownies have enrolled in an art and crafts course at Saline High School as an adult education project. Taking the course are the Mesdames Duane Braun, Kenneth Kouba, Alfred Strang, Robert Kuhl and LeRoy Knickerbocker.

Mrs. John Althouse is assisted by Mrs. Harold Strayle leading another troop of Brownies.

Carl Schaible Surprised on Birthday

Mrs. Carl Schaible entertained at a surprise party on Sunday evening honoring the birthday of Mr. Schaible. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foster, Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Townsend, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Townsend and Mr. William Counter all of Jackson.

Eighty guests from four towns assembled in the Manchester Emanuel Church Hall Monday night to hail the champion take-it-easy high school drivers of the Raisin Valley Region.

The honored guests were the boys and girls who proved that they could squeeze the most miles out of a gallon of gasoline running a 97 mile course that included the competing towns. Champions and their sponsors were preselected from Clinton, Brooklyn and Tecumseh plus all the contestants from the host town, Manchester.

The two sweepstakes winners, Kenneth Kemner and Gary Dresselhouse, both of Manchester, received handsome Farm Journal trophies. Kemner in a 53 Cadillac was the overall winner with 61.12 ton-miles & 23.47 car-miles per gallon and Dresselhouse came next in a 1953 Plymouth with 54.28 ton-miles and 30.16 car-miles. Skillful driving, careful use of brake & clutch, and good judgement in making stoplights contributed to their records.

Champions from the other towns were introduced to the guests. From Tecumseh, David Dick, high school teacher, presented Bette Drifill, who made 44.16 ton-miles in a 1953 Buick and Peter Rhein, who made 50.33 ton-miles in a Ford six.

Wesley Coffey of Clinton presented Jack Hill, who did 50.27 ton-miles in a 1953 Cadillac and Gene Whiteman who did 46.06 in a 1953 Ford Six. Fred Ambler of Brooklyn presented one winner, Charles Demyer who made 46.64 in a 1953 Chevrolet.

The take-it-easy race which was first tried for high schools in Manchester in 1952, has aroused great interest throughout the country. Recently, the National Farm Bureau Federation made plans to recommend the race, as an antidote to hot-rodding, to all its older youth members. Fred Ambler, speaking for the Brooklyn sponsors, said that the town was well-pleased with the race and would be glad to sponsor a similar event next year. Both Clinton and Tecumseh felt that the run was constructive and aroused interest both among drivers and adults.

Stories of the run have been written for Michigan educational journals. A representative of the Michigan Motor News attended the event to give it full picture coverage for a future issue of that publication. Surprise visitors at the Monday banquet were members of the Cadillac Motor Car Company public relations department, who took pictures of Kemner and his trophy for use in national publicity.

The program was conducted by Larry Soldan, Manchester coach, and Franklin M. Reck, who supervised the round-robin economy run. Reck is youth editor of Farm Journal and plans to run a story on it in either the January or February issue. Thanks were expressed to all those who helped to run and judge the event.

Dutchmen Lose Final Game

Manchester High School's football team bowed to Clinton 26-7, Friday night in its season finale. The Dutch won only one game, lost six and tied one this season.

Halfback Ray Covell ran the game's opening kickoff back 90 yards for Clinton's first touchdown but Manchester moved ahead in the second quarter as Halfback Ray Mitchell hit Jerry Trolz with a short pass good for a touchdown. Mitchell also converted the extra point.

Clinton had the lead back before halftime as Covell scored from five yards out to end a good march.

The Redskins took over completely in the fourth period with two marches. Ken Koons ended one with a seven-yard run and halfback Larry Hartman slashed through tackle for 22 yards and another score after a Manchester fumble set up the chance.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Atkinson and family visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hartley at Fenton on Sunday afternoon.

Stock Show for Juniors Adds Swine

A record entry is expected this year for the 24th annual Detroit Junior Livestock Show, Dec. 8 through 10 at the State Fairgrounds, Detroit. In addition to the usual entries of steers and lambs, the show will be opened this year to hogs, points out Maurice Hill, assistant state 4-H Club leader.

Advance registrations showed 300 exhibitors with 385 steers, 60 with 180 lambs and 35 with hogs, announced Hill. These and the later entries will be brought in on Dec. 8 and judged on Dec. 9. Judges will be from the Michigan State College animal husbandry department—William J. VanArsdell for cattle, Harold A. Henneman for sheep and Jacob A. Hoefler for swine.

An educational session, for city boys and girls, will include pointers on good meat animals, meat cuts, and meat preparation.

An attractive list of scholarships, including a new one for swine, and ranging up to as high as $500, is being offered. Winners will be announced at a banquet the night of Dec. 9 at the Statler hotel. Animals will be auctioned off on Dec. 10 with Glen Casey, Jr., of Williamston pounding the gavel. The event, sponsored by Detroit Junior Livestock Society, Inc., and supervised by M. S. C. animal husbandry and 4-H Club leaders, was founded by the Detroit commission firms, stockyards and Michigan Department of Agriculture. Many other business concerns provide financial and other support.

Chicago Show Will Feature Farm Youth

Farm boys and girls from across the nation will again play a major role in the 54th annual International Live Stock Exposition, according to officials of this world-famed agricultural event.

Two important events are scheduled for Friday, Nov. 27, as special features. A National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest will be held in which state-champion teams of 4-H boys and girls will compete for the year's top titles in judging classes of beef cattle, horses, sheep, and swine.

Horse Show Friday

The management announces a Friday evening Horse Show for the first time in the Exposition's history. The show is planned to shorten the judging programs of the 13 Horse Shows that will follow during the 8-day run of the Exposition.

The International Junior Livestock Feeding Contest will occupy the arena all day Saturday, Nov. 28. In this event scores of 4-H and F. F. A. boys and girls from many states will exhibit steers, lambs, and hogs of their own raising—most of them champion winners at Fairs held earlier in the year.

Ten times during the past 25 years youngsters have shown the International grand champion steer, considered the star animal of the livestock show year.

College Students Judge

Judging contests in which more than 30 agricultural colleges will be represented by student contestants, is also an opening day feature. It will be the 54th renewal of this event in which many of the nation's leading stockmen obtained their early training and experience as participants in this contest.

Many more activities for boys and girls of the nation's farms will bring them into the limelight during International week. The 32nd annual National 4-H Congress will be held in conjunction with the Exposition. It will bring delegates from all the states, Canada, and several foreign countries. They will parade in an eye-filling arena-packed spectacle at the Wednesday night Horse Show, December 2.

The International's renowned competitions feature classes for 26 breeds of beef cattle, horses, sheep, and swine in addition to the nation's finest riding and harness horses and ponies which will perform at the 14 Horse Show performances.

Hushed Child Loses Chance to Be Caruso

Mothers interested in encouraging their child's interest in music should more often curb the urge to "shush" little pre-school Johnny when he is whistling or singing around the house.

Johnny needs some opportunity to experiment with his voice, explains Elizabeth Page, director of Michigan State College's Spartan nursery school staff. However, you're justified in limiting Johnny's louder vocal experiments to more appropriate times than during Dad's favorite evening radio program, for instance.

A small child should be given an opportunity to "investigate" musical instruments in order to encourage his musical attempts.

However, he will not be ready to enjoy playing musical instruments in a group until he is five or six years old, says Miss Page. She quotes Roma Gans of Columbia University—"We must let the child live this year of his life and not prepare him for the year ahead."

With all good intentions, some mothers and nursery school teachers make the error of pushing this activity before the child has enjoyed the chance to experiment individually.

Miss Page recommends providing the child with pleasant musical experience—attending concerts for short periods, hearing music in church—all such experiences that provide a rich background for enjoyment of music in later life. Have records he can help you play. And remember that for him part of the fun comes from being able to see the disk turn. Page also suggests including song books among his other books.

New Technique Boosts Oil Yield

Industrial research has developed methods which have increased four-fold the amount of oil which can be removed from a field, engineers report.

The increase is due to a technique known as "pressure maintenance," which is based on discovery that injection of water or gas, or both, into underground oil reservoirs helps to drive oil through porous rocks to the producing wells. The new technique, engineers say, makes it possible to take out 80 per cent of the oil in a given field as compared with only 20 per cent recovered by old methods.

An Eastern company has received final patents on a burr-arm steam-gate—using ultra-high sound waves to call guards. The gate cannot be heard by human ears.

He's "Average" and He's Free

The U. S. Census Bureau, after studying the statistics on all 160,000,000 of us, comes up with a composite of the "average American." He is a semi-skilled worker, married, two children. He has a home on which he is making regular payments; an electric refrigerator, radio, and telephone, among lots of other modern conveniences—and the privilege of living as a free man in a free country.

From where I sit... by Joe Marshall

Sheriff's "Push" Pulls a Vote

Was talking with our newly elected Sheriff Williams the other day. He told me about a fellow who stopped by his place late one night just before election.

"Heard a knock at the door," he said. "Fellow I never saw before. Told me his car went dead down the road and would I give him a shove. My boy, Flip, and I went out to his car with him. We're all set to push when he steps on the starter and the motor turns over."

"Well, Flip and I just stood there when the fellow leans out the window and says, 'Just wanted to make sure you're the right man to vote for.'"

From where I sit, the fellow who's quick to lend a hand makes any community a better one. But you don't have to run for office to prove you're a good neighbor. One way I know is just to have a little regard for the other fellow. Whether your neighbor likes beer or buttermilk, don't try to push him to your choice. Just give him your "vote of confidence."

Why more than a million owners this year have chosen the "Worth More" FORD!

They have discovered first hand what the surveys show... Ford, with all its fine-car features, is worth more when you buy it, and worth more when you sell it!

OVER A MILLION OWNERS can't be wrong! Ford is the one fine car in the low-price field. It gives you the "GO," the style, the comfort, and "build" of cars that sell for far more. And, it's only natural that Ford keeps its value better, in resale, than any other car on the American Road. Check the features below for some of the "Worth More" reasons for the swing to Ford.

Lowest-priced V-8 in America! And the only V-8 in the low-price field. Ford's high-compression V-8 power plant delivers its "Go" on regular gas!

Most Modern Six of all is Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker. With Overdrive, it was the winner in 1953 Mobilgas Economy Run.

Smoother Ride, with front and rear shock reduced up to 80%, is another Ford big-car feature... and you get it without gas-eating extra weight.

Fine-Car Build means using steel of the same quality and thickness as in costliest cars. Ford is the most completely insulated car in its field.

Fordomatic Drive is the only "automatic" in its field with the "Go" of an automatic intermediate gear plus the smoothness of a torque converter.

Finest Power Steering—that's Ford Master-Guide. Does up to 75% of the steering work yet retains normal steering "feel" on the straightaways.

There was no change in the League standings when the girls left the Alleys on Nov. 3rd. Lannon's Variety remained on top in spite of the loss of 3 points to 5th place Manchester Drug and Schaffer Lumber Company is still in the 2nd spot after splitting with 6th ranking Uphaus Drug. Widmayer's Hardware & Furniture took 3 big points from third place Carl M. Schaible, Inc., but they still couldn't break out of seventh place. Fourth ranking Manchester Bakery pushed Hamilton's Market further into the cellar by taking 3 points from them.

Four splits were reported picked up—Carl M. Schaible's Shirley Bower and Doris Sutton of Uphaus Drug each had a 8-6-10 while Joyce Schlicht of Manchester Drug and Mary Cannon of Uphaus Drug each got a 5-10.

No one has bettered Ann-Pniewski's high individual game score of 208 but six of the girls had games of 165 or better. Bakery's Lucille Trent and Ann Pniewski rolled 189 and 170 respectively. Manchester Drug's ean England had a 169 while Schaible's Edna Knauss and Schaffer's Ica each had a 166 and Widmayer's Doris Bersuder a 165.

Mary Ann Schill, Irene Lamb and Doris Bersuder each took home a "turkey."

There was a big explosion in the Businessmen's Bowling League this week as two traditional rivals—A. B. C. Service and Kappler's Contractors—met head-on in the big match of the evening. When the smoke cleared, both teams had 2 points apiece as A. B. C. Service took the first and second games and the Contractors came back to take the third game by enough margin to get the game and total pins. Dewey Hartbeck had a 573 series, which was high series for the night and Clarence Fielder had a 517 series for A. B. C. Service, while Speck Kappler (535 series), Bill Warner (520 series), and Homer Kappler (510 series) were the high bowlers for the Contractors.

Short's Electric Service overpowered Carl M. Schaible's Ford team by getting 3 out of 4 points. Herb Bersuder for Short's team, had a 562 series while Ralph Wurster on the same team had a 552 series. Earl Bersuder, Herb's brother, bowling on the Ford team, had a 501 series.

Mann's Millers took it on the chin again this time by Spike's Mobile Service, who got 3 out of the 4 points in this match. Don Rhea's bowling for Spike's team was the high bowler with a 532 series.

K. & W. Farm Supply took 3 points from Mary's Tavern thereby gaining a second place tie in the league standings. These two teams are 2 points out of first place which is held by A. B. C. Service. K. & W. Suppliers had two bowlers in the 500 series class—Ken Kouba (519) and Jerry Bower (513). Fritz Wurster (507 series) and Bob Popkey (510 series) were the big guns for Mary's Tavern. In Popkey's series he had a 249 game, which is second highest of the season.

Widmayer's Sales & Service team continued on its win streak by downing luckless Double A Products team by getting all 4 points. Lyle Widmayer (521 series), Larry Soldan (520 series) and Earl Koebbe (507 series) were the big guns in this match.

Klager's Hatcheries slipped by Jan & Jim's Grill and came home with 3 points. Dick Widmayer, bowling for Klager's, had a 524 series.

The following bowlers had a 200 game or better: Robert Popkey (249), Jack Weir (233), Herb Bersuder (217), Clarence Fielder (208), Don Rhea (203), Ken Kouba (203), Vearl Widmayer (202), Art Golas (201).

The leaders remained the same as last week: A. B. C. Service have the league lead; Homer Kappler has individual high game (255) and individual high series (632); Kappler's Contractors hold high team series (2727) and Mary's Tavern has a 1002 game for high tea mgame.

TB Christmas Seals Sale November 16

As a prologue to the 47th annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals, which opens on Nov. 16, the Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association today released a round-up of information on the present status of tuberculosis in Michigan.

In part, this is what the Christmas Seal agency said:

Tuberculosis kills more people than all other infectious diseases combined, but TB deaths in Michigan have been cut from 2,000 a half century ago to 770 last year.

Tuberculosis steals productive years from Michigan people, with 6,200 new cases of the disease reported last year alone. Numbers of new cases have not been cut. Washtenaw County discovered 94 new cases of tuberculosis in 1952.

Tuberculosis costs more than all other public health problems combined, eating up an estimated 80 per cent of the Michigan Department of Health budget. More than twenty million dollars will be lost to the disease this year alone.

Tuberculosis spreads and kills only when "people neglect health safeguards . . . fail to get checked for TB . . . refuse to enter sanatoriums . . . refuse to try to get well," said the TB Association. This is the reason the "number one job of Christmas Seal contributions remains informing people about tuberculosis and what to do about it," the TB Association declared.

The Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association fact sheet concludes with this heartening note: "Tuberculosis prevention is more than promise. It is being made possible every day around the year, through the Christmas Seal contributions of Michigan people."

Thanksgiving Day Is More Than Turkey

By John Mallon
NEXT THURSDAY America's factories, fields, and offices will be deserted. Tractors and typewriters will gather dust while America turns to Thanksgiving feasts.

But Thanksgiving Day is more than a visit to Grandmother and her turkey. It is a day for giving thanks. For we eat turkey only because God gives it, and we visit Grandmother because God gives her length of days.

THE PILGRIMS KNEW the harvest of 1621 was not just their own work. So they thanked God for His generosity. We know America's blessings are not simply our own work. So we thank God also.

This Thursday America goes to Grandmother, but it also goes to God. Americans will pour into their churches this Day to offer sacrifices to Him and commune with Him.

AMERICA ON ITS KNEES will touch the Heart of God and give Him reason to continue His blessings. By this national act we tell Him we remember not only the gift, but also the Giver.

America is enriched by having this day. It is an annual reminder of our dependence on God. By this American custom we say that God is the Creator of all we are and have.

TO FORGET THIS would hurt our Nation. For only the ungrateful take the gift and ignore the giver. When the benefactor is a man, ingratitude is rude; when the benefactor is God, ingratitude is immoral.

May Abraham Lincoln's charge no longer be true: "We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven. . . But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these things were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own."

THIS THANKSGIVING Day make sure that family prayer and church are part of the day's activities. Only by these will we fulfill our American tradition.

On this, the first Thanksgiving Day since the Korean Armistice, may we make our own the prayer of General Jonathan Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor: "Oh, God, our Father, today we give Thee thanks for the things we take for granted: for freedom, for security of life, for food and shelter and loved ones. . . Keep us sympathetic and generous. . . Lord of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget."

New TV Station

Interpretive reporting of daily news events will be stressed by WKAR-TV when the Michigan State College television station goes on the air in January on UHF Channel 60.

In addition to comprehensive news programs throughout the day, a weekend review of news in words and pictures will give WKAR-TV viewers' background material important to a fuller understanding of the week's events.

News editor for Michigan's first educational television station will be Rob Downey, news editor of WKAR radio. Downey, who will continue in his position at WKAR, has been active in Michigan radio since 1938.

Scheduled, Downey said, will be news programs of interest to all peoples in the WKAR-TV coverage area. According to advance estimates, reception of the East Lansing station will be possible within a 65-mile range of the college transmitter tower.

Drawing upon resources available at M. S. C., background material will be presented to heighten the understanding of world national, state and local events. Campus events of national or state importance will be covered by the station's camera reporting through the station's mobile television equipment.

M. S. C. authorities in political science, economics, history and other fields will bring WKAR-TV's audience vital background information about events in the day's news.

Undergraduate and graduate journalism students at M. S. C. will receive training on a practical basis in the handling of television news.

"Our twin purposes in television news coverage," Downey said, "will be to provide our audience with reports of current news events as well as to present background material necessary for a better understanding of the meaning and importance of these events."

It's WHERE you buy a used car that counts!

When you can trust the dealer who sold you a used car, you can trust the car.

The next question, then, is: Who can you trust most?

We Ford Dealers are established business men with large investments at stake. Our business reputation depends on every business transaction—whether it is a new car sale, a used car sale or a service operation.

We want your used car business, and some day we hope to sell you a new car or another used car. And we want your service business, too!

"But," you say, "granted that you Ford Dealers have reputations to uphold, granted that your mechanics and service facilities make it easier to put your used cars in good shape—how do you compare in price?"

Let us give you some facts and the answer will be obvious. Ford Dealers handle used cars and trucks as a service to customers who trade them for new cars. When we get overloaded with trade-ins, our capital is tied up. Like everyone else, we have to pay our bills. So we must always offer used cars at rock-bottom prices to keep things moving.

We don't have to make much of a profit on used cars, but we do have to keep moving them out to make room for more trade-ins on '53 Fords.

These are the plain facts . . . and when you see the wide selection of fine makes and models we are taking in trade, you're bound to agree that the best place to buy a used car and truck is at your Ford Dealer's.

Driver Education

Plans to expand the driver education movement intensively in the nation's rural areas, where it is weakest because many small school districts feel they cannot afford courses in safe driving in their high schools, are under way following the 11th annual driver education breakfast conference which featured the insurance industry's participation in the recent National Safety Congress at Chicago.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies and New York University's Center for Safety Education, which was founded and is largely supported by the Association, marked the twentieth anniversary of the driver education movement. It was highlighted by reports of two states which have begun to solve the cost problem in rural sections by introducing a cooperative "circulating course" in driver education in order to make it available to students in several adjoining counties or school districts.

Driver education administrators of 31 states who attended the breakfast forum were offered this cost-saving plan as one means of providing training in safe driving in thousands of "little red high schools" comprising most of the 57 per cent of the nation's 20,084 secondary schools which still do not offer such courses.

Future progress of the driver education movement depends largely upon consolidation of effort in rural areas by neighboring counties, school districts or high schools, the conference was told. Several speakers emphasized that the important factor of cost has held back the establishment of safe driving courses in the curriculum of most rural high schools. But when two or three schools, or as many as five, share the expense of starting a course that rotates among the cooperating schools, they said, training in safe driving can be afforded by any rural community, no matter how small.

The new trend of sharing costs of driver education courses in order to make it available to more students in country districts was reported by Pennsylvania and Iowa. Ivan Stehman, Pennsylvania's state supervisor of driver education, told more than 100 state educational and police and highway patrol officials participating in the forum on the problem that several counties in that state had begun to share costs of providing teachers, materials, training vehicles, and other items in order to place the program within the reach of students and community pocketbooks. In Iowa, according to Bert L. Woodcock, head of the department of driver education at Iowa State Teachers College, there are numerous instances where two or three schools or school districts have worked out the problem in this way.

Dr. Herbert J. Stack, director of NYU's Center for Safety Education, who was honored at the Safety Congress at a National Safety Council reception for the completion of 25 years in highway safety and driver education work, pointed up the urgent need for expansion in rural areas in describing the present state of the driver education movement. He said the present chances of high schools in some states adding driver education courses are about one in ten, unless drastic methods are used to expand the movement to reach the remaining 46 per cent of the eligible students who do not get training in safe driving.

Dr. Stack, who has been identified with driver education since its earliest beginnings in the 1930's, said "Skills of the Road" courses in 19 high schools in Bergen County, N. J., were among the very first in the nation to teach safe driving to students. After slow early growth through the late thirties and the World War II period, he said, the movement experienced rapid expansion under the National Driver Education Award Program sponsored by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. By 1953, total registration in driver education courses had grown to 788,981 students in 8,653 U. S. public high schools, Dr. Stack pointed out, but the movement faces a real challenge in reaching the 57 per cent of high schools which are not now offering the courses. Concentration on rural areas will help solve that problem, he declared.

Oklahoma Ranch Club Entertained

Friday evening the Oklahoma Ranch Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Eloise Meehan. About 35 members attended. Following a short business meeting, colored pictures of the club's past season activities were shown after which the hostess and ladies of the club served barbeques, chili sandwiches, pie and cake, coffee and cider. A very enjoyable evening was enjoyed.

F. H. A. Club Plans For Regional Meet

The Future Homemakers of America held their second meeting November 3rd, at school.

The old business was that of the "sock hop" which the F. H. A. sponsored and was held Saturday night October 24. The club gained $40. It was put in a motion that we use this money to pay old bills. The motion was carried. Then the treasurer asked for dues to be paid.

The new business was that of the Regional Convention in Ypsilanti. The counties which are included in this region are Jackson, Monroe, Washtenaw, and Lenawee. This will take place Nov. 14. The school bus will leave at 9:00 a. m. from the school and will return at approximately 4:00 p. m. Forty girls and six mothers will take box lunches and buy milk and ice cream there. We will see girls from all over the world.

You Can't Stop in 10 Feet at 10 Miles Per Hour

That pedestrian who pops out from between parked cars can put you on the spot. The parked car hides him until the last second. When you are far enough along to see him you may have only 10 feet in which to stop. That fatal triangle in the drawing tells the story. See how close the car is before the line of sight of the driver can reach the pedestrian. He only has to move 5 feet to be in front of you. At 10 miles per hour your reaction time of 1/4 of a second moves you 11 feet before your foot hits the brake. You will still skid 7.5 feet before you stop. In 18.5 feet you would have run over him.

Local Sportsmen Who Shoot Deer Asked to Report

Special to the Manchester Enterprise

LANSING, Nov. — Sportsmen who shoot buck deer near Manchester and in other south-central Michigan areas during the November 15-30 season are being asked to call the Rose Lake Wildlife experiment station near Lansing.

The Manchester area hunter can phone the conservation department station collect at Lansing, FE 9-8638. A game specialist will then go to the hunter's residence, weigh the deer, measure its antlers and determine its age.

If the deer has been cut up and cannot be weighed, biologists can still secure valuable information from the head alone.

"Last fall we examined 78 bucks shot within 50 miles of the station," Dr. C. T. Black, station head, says. "This fall we hope to examine at least 100, now that more persons know the job we are trying to do in these south-central counties."

Deer checks by station biologists have been made in this area since 1951 and have helped both hunter and conservation department gain a better picture of the southern Michigan deer herd.

In general, southern Michigan deer average 30 pounds heavier and have antler racks three to four points larger than deer of the same age from the northern, poor food areas.

Winter Rough on Weak Bee Colonies

Michigan bee keepers should winter only good, strong colonies in order to have a productive enterprise next spring.

That's the advice of Entomologist E. C. Martin of Michigan State College. By a good, strong colony, he means one that contains six to eight pounds of bees and about 60 pounds of honey.

He says weak colonies, poorly stocked with supplies, stand little chance of surviving the winter well. Martin suggests killing the weak colonies, and, he adds, don't give honey from weak colonies to other bees. Danger of spreading disease is the reason. The best way to develop new colonies, he emphasizes, is by dividing strong colonies next spring.

Fertilize Hay Before Beets for Two Gains

Putting fertilizer on hay and pasture the year before planting sugar beets gives a greater hay return, and more beets also, reports Milton H. Erdmann, Michigan State College farm crops specialist.

In 1951-52 experiments at Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, he used 800 pounds per acre of 2-14-8 fertilizer on alfalfa; the result was more than two tons of extra hay one year and five tons of extra beets the second.

Averages of various experiments with different forage species and mixtures showed a hay yield of an extra ton-and-a-half or more and an extra three-and-a-half or more tons of beets, Erdmann notes.

The yield of beets was three-fourths of a ton higher when the fertilizer was applied the year before than when put directly on beets, Erdmann advises, and besides there was the extra hay harvest.

When another 500 pounds of 2-14-8 fertilizer was put on beets following forage given the same treatment, still an additional three tons of beets grew per acre. Erdmann advises liberal use of fertilizer both on forages and beets for the highest yields.

Breeding Records Needed for Profit

Cows that freshen at 12-month intervals usually are the most profitable animals in the herd.

That's one reason, says Michigan State College dairymen, that every dairy farmer should keep accurate breeding records.

Farmers in artificial breeding associations get help from technicians in keeping records, but other dairymen should be sure to enter each service date on a barn breeding chart. The cow needs 6 weeks to 60 days rest between calving and breeding, advise the M. S. C. dairymen.

Milk Record, Sire Backing Rate Cows

Dairymen should set their standards high and use all means at their disposal to determine the individual performance of their cows, says a Michigan State College dairy researcher.

N. P. (Pat) Ralston points out that three successful lactation periods that have not been affected by disease or any radical changes in feeding and management will give a dairyman a good picture of how good a cow is.

But, suggests Ralston, a record in itself is not enough to tell "how good is a cow." The feeding and management conditions under which the record was made also must be interpreted. Comparing one cow with others in the herd helps, too.

Her ability to transmit a high level of milk and butterfat production and type to her offspring must be considered along with other things, according to Ralston. In order to figure the transmitting ability to sire good-type and high-producing daughters is the first need.

The sire should be out of an outstanding cow and sired by a bull equal in performance to himself. The odds for cows to transmit good type and production can be increased if their dams are also good producers and better than the average of their paternal half sisters with high production.

State-Grown Carrots Best, MSC Shows

Michigan housewives get better buys when they purchase Michigan's winter storage carrots than when they shop for fresh carrots that are shipped in from distant areas.

That's the conclusion of Drs. R. L. Cardus and D. H. Dewey of Michigan State College's horticulture department. Their research indicates that Michigan carrots are equally as sweet and often sweeter than those shipped into the state. Locally grown carrots also are higher in carotene, according to the investigators.

The research results are important, say the horticulturists, because increased amounts of carotene without tops are being marketed in transparent film bags. It shows that Michigan carrots can compete successfully with fresh carrots from winter growing areas.

The research shows that the carrot variety and the type of soil on which carrots are grown have a tremendous effect on the sugar and carotene content of the vegetable. Those grown on sandy loam mineral soil are sweeter and higher in carotene than carrots grown on muck soil. The variety, Imperator, is better than either Nantes or Supreme Half Long on mineral soil. On muck soil, Supreme Half Long is best.

Social Security Tax Rate Going Up

The social security tax rate for persons whose work counts toward old-age and survivors insurance is scheduled to increase on the first of January, 1954, Raymond C. Backus, Manager of the Jackson social security office, reminding employer, and self-employed people today.

This scheduled increase in tax contributions is in accordance with the 1950 amendments to the social security law, and was enacted by Congress in anticipation of future obligations of the program.

Employees in jobs covered by the law will have 2 per cent instead of the present 1½ per cent deducted from their pay beginning with the first of January up to earnings of $3600 a year; their employers will contribute an equal amount.

The new rates will apply to all taxable wages paid after December 31, 1953, regardless of when earned.

The social security tax for the self-employed is scheduled to increase from the present 2½ per cent to 3 per cent, for the period commencing January 1, 1954. Since the self-employed whose work is covered by the law pay their tax just once yearly at the time of filing their Federal income tax return, they will pay the present 2½ per cent social security tax on their 1953 income that counts toward social security. This will be due not later than March 15, 1954. Their first payments at the increased rate of 3 per cent will be due March 15, 1955, for the calendar year 1954.

In the meantime the Internal Revenue Service reports that employers will be furnished late this year with income tax withholding tables and Federal Insurance Contributions Act (social security taxes) tables reflecting rates applicable next year.

The next scheduled increase, 6 years from now, in 1960, will be 3½ per cent each for employer and employee, and to 3½ per cent for the self-employed.

Company Offers Scholarships

A new scholarship program for the benefit of employees' children has been announced by a Connecticut company.

Beginning next spring, the sons and daughters of the company's employees will have opportunity to compete for two four-year college scholarships each year. The awards will be full tuition and academic fees at the college of the winners' choice, plus allowances for living expenses. Only high school seniors will be eligible. They must be children of full-time school seniors will be eligible. Employees who served at least a year, earning not more than $8500 a year exclusive of profit-sharing.
