Dorrances Tell About S. American Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William Dorraunce have returned home after a three week cruise on the S. S. Excelsior and a week's stay in New York City.

Points of interest on the 4,200 mile boat trip included stops at Caracas, Dutch West Indies, La Guayra, Venezuela, Caracas, Charlotte, and Amalie in the Virgin Islands. They also visited at the Island of St. Thomas.

Mrs. Dorraunce said that they were impressed by the spectacular housing projects which are underway in this South American country that there is no national debt there and no sales tax.

Reported to be one of the richest lands in the world, industrial diamonds, iron, gold and tin are the main resources. When these resources are found on private property they immediately become government owned and the income from these enterprises is turned over to the government. Mrs. Dorraunce said that the lowest paid laborer is paid $250 a month and there are really no poor people.

Most of the schools and other buildings are made of stone and cement blocks. There is very little wood used. The roads far exceed ours here, she said and the automobiles are mostly General Motors from the states and some foreign cars. Everyone, she said, seems to have electrical appliances—which are mostly imported from the states.

The languages spoken most frequently seem to be Spanish, English, Dutch and French or frequently seem to be Spanish, Portuguese. Another language used to some extent is a combination of Portuguese, Dutch, English and Spanish.

There seems to be no racial discrimination and approximately 85 per cent of the natives are dark skinned. From her observations Mrs. Dorraunce noted that the natives apparently were not impressed with North Americans traveling through the country except for athletes and trained engineers. These are the only Americans, she said, who are really greatly impressed by the natives.

Education of the young is of prime importance and children are educated in their native land and are often sent to Europe for further education. Mrs. Dorraunce said that nuns and priests make up the greatest percentage of teachers in the country.

At Caracas, capital of Venezuela, Mrs. Dorraunce noted the peculiar cemeteries where, she said, thousands and thousands of dollars worth of statuary commemorated the dead. She said that there were kneeling benches and seats placed for the convenience of those who wished to spend time there and that it seemed quite the custom for everyone to spend at least some time each week at the cemetery, which was lit by electric candles which were covered with hurricane shades.

The country had one drawback—that of lack of drinking water. A ten inch rain fall a year doesn't do much to lessen the problems of distilling salt water. This project is carried on by the government and water, she said, cost around four dollars a month for a family of two.

Citrus fruits seem to thrive in the eighty degree temperature and she said there is always a northeast breeze. Goats and donkeys seem to be the most domesticated animals in the South American country which the Dorraunces visited.

Upon their return home the Dorraunces entertained at a holiday dinner their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, and daughter Cathy of Granville, Ohio. Donald Dorraunce of Detroit, Bobb Dorraunce of Caro and Mrs. Oliver Morton and Mrs. William Hazard of the Iron Creek Church of Detroit. The Dorraunces and their guests had dinner with Mrs. O. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Hazard at the City Club in Detroit.

Vote To Be January 15th

Over two hundred people of the Manchester Public School District voted their approval of Plan III calling for a new high school, at a public meeting held at the local high school Monday night.

Luther Klager, president of the Manchester School Board, welcomed the citizens and introduced members of a panel who answered questions concerning school expansion. Prior to the meeting, printed ballots and a report of the findings of the twenty-five man Citizens Committee had been mailed to every box holder—both in the village and in the rural area who are interested in the problems of Manchester school expansion.

Three plans were outlined in the report. Plan No. 1 called for using three of the country schools to house elementary grades, with about 20 pupils in each school. This would cut building needs down to 11 additional rooms, at a cost of approximately $600,000. This plan has had no architectural sanction and no school administration approval or recommendation.

Plan No. 2 calls for using the present high school building, adding 11 elementary rooms and separate form and industrial shop, multi-purpose room, kitchen and office facilities. This plan was submitted by Clark Ackley, architect, of Lansing and would necessitate purchasing land adjacent to the present school at a cost of $750,000.

The total approximate cost of Plan III would be $425,000. Plan III calls for using the present buildings for elementary school and building a new high school. The cost of this plan is approximately $425,000.

One hundred thirty-six voters returned in the balloting prior to the meeting, representing 364 people. Of these, 58 percent favored plan III, 16 percent representing 29 people voted for Plan I and 13 percent, representing 23 people voted for Plan II.

Supt. Fred Atkinson and Mr. Ackley said that a new high school would permit a more modern and flexible curriculum. Mr. Ackley noted that a more attractive school would tend to make students desire to spend more time in school. A school, he said, which holds an option on this property to purchase it for $10,000. Mr. Atkinson feels that this move is necessary regardless of whatever plan is adopted because he believes that present conditions endanger the safety of the young children playing on the school ground in wintery, slippery weather.

Ralph Wurster, formerly with Roy Wurster's Grocery in Bridgeport, is now working at the Associated Motor Service in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shea and family of Ypsilanti were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Lillian Washburn.

Mrs. Susie Talbot of St. Louis, Mo., has returned home after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Mike Wolfe, and at the homes of her brothers in Richmond and Britton, while in Michigan she also visited her daughter, Mrs. Edward Carter, at Mr. Pleasant.

Miss Eleanor Hebein of Kitchener, Ontario spent a week with her mother and Mrs. Fred Palmer were Mr. and Mrs. Frances Hotel and Bonnie of Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wedman.

Questions concerning paying over $900 per acre for the East Main street site were raised, partly because this same property was offered for sale in October 1952 by the previous owner for $16,000, plus seven acres and the house, James C. Hendley, village attorney, said that the average paid by nearby towns was around $1,000 an acre and Stanton Rosch attorney, stated that Saline has options to pay $1,100 for one site and $1,500 for another.

It was pointed out that the East Main street site is only about one block north of the present athletic field and would be no farther from town than the present school.

It was indicated that by January 15, the board hopes that a vote could be called on the bond issue. This will be necessary in order to call for contractor's bids early in March and to actually start construction late in the spring in the hope that the new school could be open for use in January 1955.

Supt. Atkinson expressed hope that the Basil Schuch property, located just west of the school, could be purchased and have the house removed to make a bus stop for loading and unloading school children. The school holds an option on this property to purchase it for $10,000. Mr. Atkinson feels that this move is necessary regardless of whatever plan is adopted because he believes that present conditions endanger the safety of the young children playing on the school ground in wintery, slippery weather.

Girl's Bowling

—D. Sutton

Maybe the gals heard that Santa Claus is coming to Town or maybe its just that everybody would like to wind up the half-year season with a bang, but whatever the reason, some very schizzly individual performances were turned in on the night of December 1st. None of the old records were tied or broken but some of the ladies were trying hard. Five had games of 165 or better. Joyce Schaffer had a 196, a 165 and a 515 series. Ica Schaffer and Pat Soldan each had a 176 and Margaret Dietle and Birdella Flood each had a 165. "Turkeys" were hatched by Joyce Schaffer who had 2, and Ica Schaffer and Milda Koebbe had one each. No less than 16 of the girls rolled doubles. Three of them: Pat Soldan, Margery Bentschneider and Dorothy Mann, had two each. The other 13 were Doris Bersuder, Frances Bersuder, Margaret Dietle, Jean England, Birdella Flood, Margaret Klager, Kay Long, Irene Lamb, Ann Pniowski, Joyce Schaffer, Bettie Schaible, Doris Sutton, and Amanda Widmayer.

Not too much change could be seen in the league standings after our last meeting. Lannon's Variety is still out in front after splitting with Carl M. Schaible, Inc., but the same encounter moved Schaible's up from 5th to 4th place.

Schaffer Lumber Co. stayed in second place by taking last place Hamilton's Market for 3 points.

Manchester Drug put out the fire in the Manchester Bakery's oven and moved from the 4th spot to 3rd when they took 4 points from a shocked Bakery five. The loss dropped Bakery from third place to fifth.

Widmayer's Hardware and Furniture finally caught up with Uphaus Drug and tied them for 6th place by taking 3½ points.

Men's Bowling

Mary's Tavern remained the team on the top rung of the ladder in the Manchester Bowling League as they gathered in 3 out of the 4 points in their match with Widmayer Sales and Service. Fritz Wurster led the way for Mary's team with a 525 series, while Earl Koebbe threw a 504 series for Widmayer's.

Short's Electric and Kappler's Contractors bowled to an interesting draw—2 points apiece. The Electric men won the first two games, but then the Contractors came to life and literally swamped their opposition with a 989 game, that took the game and total pins. This 989 game was only 13 pins short of the high team game (1002) held by Mary's Tavern. The big guns in this match were: Russ Middlemiss 572 series, Art Golas 545 series, Speck Kappler 524 series and Homer Kappler 520 series for the Contractors and Ralph Wurster 506 series for Short's.

Mann's battled ABC Service in another draw when the Service men took the first and third games and the Millers got the second game by enough margin to get total pins. Dewey Hartbeck of the Service bowlers, had a 591 series, which is second highest individual series of the season and of course the high individual series of the evening. Willard Mann tossed a 514 series to lead his team.

Klager's Hatcheries caught up with K & W Farm Supply and got 3 points from them. Yearl Widmayer had a 558 series for Klager's, while Jerry Bower tried hard to keep the Farm Supplies in the match with a 522 series. Spike's Mobil Service took 3 points from Carl Schaible's Ford team as Jim Sloat, 540 series, and Don Rhees, 522 series, combined to lead the Mobil team to the win. Duane Roller 543 series, Earl Bersuder 513 series, and Jim Baker 502 series of the Ford team tried to keep their team in the match, but it wasn't enough.

In the battle for the cellar position of the league Jan and Jim's Grill pushed the Double A Products team just a little deeper by grabbing all 4 points.

The following are bowlers who had a 200 game or better: Yearl Widmayer 234, Dewey Hartbeck 230, Russ Middlemiss 221, Art Golas 220, Jim Sloat 218, Ralph Wurster 210 and Jim Baker 204. The individual leader is still the same fellow, Homer Kappler, with a 632 series and a 252 game. Mary's Tavern holds onto the high team game, 1002, although Kappler's Contractors have high team series 2727.

Winter Driving Can Be Safe So Don't Spoil Yule.

Winter driving can be safe by being sensible about it. That's the statement made by Sgt. Claude Bartell, Commander of the Clinton Post of the Michigan State Police, in calling attention to the fact that December is one of the deadliest months of the year.

"Don't spoil your holidays with an avoidable accident," Sergeant Bartell said. "By following a half dozen winter driving suggestions you can greatly increase your safety. The trouble is, too many drivers don't do these things and that is a big reason for the startling record that during December of the last five years nearly 800 persons have been killed and another 20,000 injured on Michigan highways.

"If one driver follows these tips he will help to protect himself and others, but he will still be at the mercy of the driver who doesn't. So all drivers should think enough of each other and pedestrians to cooperate in the suggestions and cut down the winter driving traffic toll."

Here are the tips:
1.—Be prepared to meet any situation on the road.
2.—Get the "feel" of the road and try brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic. Find out just how slippery the road is and adjust speed to road and weather conditions.
3.—Keep the windshield clear of ice and snow, fog and frost. Be sure headlights, windshield wiper blades and defrosters are in top condition.
4.—Use tire chains on ice or snow. Chains will cut stopping distances about half and give 4 to 7 times more starting and climbing traction.
5.—Pump the car's brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming on the brakes will lock wheels and throw the car into a dangerous skid.
6.—Follow other cars at a safe distance. It takes 3 to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

Milk Surplus Could Be Wiped Out Easily

The dairy industry could easily eliminate the nation's 1953 overproduction of milk by getting the country's adult population to increase their milk consumption by one-fourth of a glass a day.

That's the opinion of J. A. Meiser of Michigan State College's dairy department. He points out that adults' consumption of milk is considerably below recommendations by nutritionists.

Latest statistics compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show the per capita consumption of fluid milk by farm people to be about one pint a day—or 9 per cent of the total U. S. production.

Per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream for the urban population was approximately nine-tenths of a pint per day—or 40 per cent of the total production.

Limestone Important
In Layers' Ration

Feeding oyster shells or ground limestone is important for your layers and the material should be placed where hens have easy access to it, says J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State College.

He suggests scattering oyster shells on top of the mash hopper as the best way to increase consumption of the material. He points out that a hen laying 200 eggs a year needs about 3 pounds of oyster shells or ground limestone during that period.

Research shows that hens don't store up a reserve supply of lime in their bodies. Hens manufacture egg-shell material from the limestone they ate yesterday. Lack of egg shell making material can be a source of trouble, the poultryman notes.

Better Seed for Farmers, Industry Aim

Seedmen interested in spreading crop and allied research benefits to Michigan farms through better seed use will meet Dec. 8 and 9 at Michigan State College for the Michigan Seed Producers and Dealers Conference.

The Michigan Crop Improvement association, the Michigan Foundation Seed association are co-sponsors with the college.

Dealer and grower cooperation will be outlined by Al Ambrosio, Michigan State Seed Company, of Grand Ledge, and H. Alfred Sturm of Pigeon, MCIA vice president, on the opening morning program. Dr. Lloyd M. Turk, director of Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, will outline need to all-around seed cooperation.

J. R. Huey, vice president of American Seed Trade association, Granville, Illinois, will speak the afternoon of Dec. 8 and there will be a joint banquet of the various groups in the evening.

Research material will be presented Dec. 9 by M. S. C. researchers and the groups will tour the farm crops laboratory, see a film on western seed production and hear a talk on crop allotments by Clarence Prentice, state Production and Marketing Administrator.

B. Dale Ball Named Director of Agriculture

Recently named deputy director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture was B. Dale Ball of Williamston, for the past three years co-ordinator of the Department's division of institutional farms.

Mr. Ball takes over the post of deputy director, a position left vacant by George S. McIntyre, who became director of the Department on Dec. 1. Mr. McIntyre has served as acting director since the retirement of Chas. Figg in the fall.

Mr. Ball although only 38, has had a lifetime of experience in agriculture. He was graduated from Michigan State College in 1939 and taught vocational agriculture at Yale and Lapeer. For several years he engaged in Soil Conservation Service work before coming to the department to take over management of the state's 15 institutional farms and herds. On these production farms production each year amounts to more than two million dollars worth of food which is consumed entirely in the state's institutions.

Mr. Ball owns a 123-acre farm north of Howell. He also has a herd of 45 purebred Holstein cattle.

Vitamins To Be Added to Milk

Buyers of the 2,460,000 quarts of milk consumed in Michigan each day can have vitamins added to their daily diet as a result of permissive legislation approved recently by the Michigan Agricultural Commission.

Amounts permitted to be added to a quart of milk or skim milk are equal to the average daily minimum requirements of Vitamins A, B, and D. Probably only a small part of the milk used each day in Michigan will be so fortified. Such milk will be plainly marked.

Use of fortified milk has been favored by certain milk dealers in the state who felt total milk sales would be greatly increased. Dairy interests report good sale of fortified milk to date.

Fruit Trees Need Shield Against Mice

Meadow mice are going to be more of a threat to your fruit trees this winter than usual, and they can cause enormous damage if you don't get up some protection against them.

That's the word from C. A. Langer, Michigan State College horticulturist. Langer says mice relish tree bark and they can kill a small tree and cause severe injury to a large one.

Do the protection job before snowfall if possible, he advises. Since field mice move about in runways beneath mulch or grass, you can bait the passages and poison the pests.

He recommends strychnine or zinc phosphide treated apple slices for the bait. A one-ounce can of zinc-phosphide powder will treat about 20 quarts of apple slices. He suggests cutting a two-inch apple into 12 slices to make the bait large enough. Sprinkle the powder on the slices until they have a gray color and place one slice in each fresh runway. You'll need about two quarts of the slices per acre. The bait material can be ordered from the Grand Rapids Growers' Association.

As an extra precaution, Langer recommends placing a six-inch pile of pea gravel around each tree trunk. Or you can use heavy gauge hardware cloth around the trunks with the base of the cloth set in the ground. And cut the grass and high weeds in a two-foot area around the trunk.

Shop Around During 1954, Experts Say

Prices won't be lowered enough during 1954 to warrant putting off purchases you need for your family, but you will find it worthwhile to shop for value and price advantages.

That's the way the situation looks to Michigan State College home economists. Although the Consumer's Price Index shows the cost of all items used in family living to be about 14 per cent higher than it was before the Korean war, there has been little change in this over-all cost during the past two years, the economists point out. Most of the increase came in the last half of 1950 and 1951.

The economists expect little change in 1954, though prices, they say, will drift down slightly. The different parts of the index will vary, however. Here is the way economists break down the items:

Service charges—costs of such items as medical care, public transportation, telephone and gas rates, laundry, dry cleaning and city rents—are on the upward trend. On the other hand, food and clothing costs are considerably below post-Korea peaks. Food prices aren't expected to change much in 1954, but clothing costs, as well as house furnishings and appliances, probably will average lower.

The economists believe that you almost always will be able to get some kind of a price concession in buying durable goods—automobiles, appliances, or furniture—during 1954. But, they say, it will pay you to shop around for discounts on list prices and trade-in allowances, and watch for sales.

An ornithologist of Woburn, England, reported that he had succeeded in breeding a homing parrot which flies free during the day, but returns to the cote at night for sustenance and slumber.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A Case of "Moostaken" Identity

Slim Smith never had a chance to use his moose call until a trip north this year. Visited him yesterday to see what he'd bagged.

"First day out," he told me, "I picked up a trail. I sounded the call and waited. Then I heard a moose call. Sure enough, something came crashing through the brush. But it was another guy with his moose call. Boy, did I get my finger off the trigger in a hurry!"

"My last day there I picked up another trail. This time I got me a real moose. But you can bet I took a good look before I did any shooting!"

From where I sit, we could all learn a little from Slim's experience. Most of us are guilty sometime or other of being too quick on the trigger. Like the fellow who would deny me the right to an occasional glass of beer with my dinner. I say that kind of "aim" is way off!

Cardinal Defends Probe Tactics

Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, said recently that he is unable to understand "why any American should refuse to declare himself free of Communist affiliation unless he has something to hide."

"No American uncontaminated
by Communism has lost his good name because of Congressional hearings on un-American activities," the Cardinal emphasized.
"However, there are individuals who have seriously compromised themselves by a flat refusal to state whether they are now or have been Communists."
