Tornado Weather Said Building Up

(By Wadsworth Likely)
(Science Service Staff Writer)

The nation can expect another outbreak of tornadoes.

"We cannot predict tornadoes," Jerome Namias, chief of the Weather Bureau's extended forecast section, told Science Service, "but the same conditions which produced the destructive tornadoes in Ohio, Michigan and Massachusetts seem to be building up again."

He pointed out that those tornadoes occurred when warm, moist air in the Midwest, imprisoned there by cold air in the Northeast, was hit by a cold wave from the Pacific and Canada, and finally broke eastward. Now another huge batch of warm, moist air has arrived over the Midwest. More cool air is in the northeast, preventing the warm moist air from moving eastward. Meantime, it is getting hotter and hotter.

If that mass in the Midwest is smacked by another cold front moving down from northwest Canada or the Pacific we will once more have tornado-producing conditions, Namias said.

One week? Two weeks? Three weeks? Namias could not say when. However, there seems to be a sort of a time cycle in the build up and then the explosion of this general weather condition, he said. When weathermen know more about that periodicity, they may be able to make long-range predictions of tornado-producing weather conditions, he thought.

If another series of tornadoes does come, it may not be as destructive as the last one. That was remarkable because so many of the tornadoes hit heavily populated centers. Because there is so much more open country, generally tornadoes hit the countryside, where the damage and loss of life is much less.

Windstorm Company Meets State Tragedy

Confronted by the worst tornado in the State's history, the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Company, of Hastings, Michigan, second largest company of its kind in the world, took steps at once to give relief to its policyholders who were affected by the devastating windstorms of June 8th.

Harrison Dodds, president of the company, said the Windstorm company anticipated 3,000 claims from the covered property in the twisters' path. Many of the claims are for "total losses."

President Dodds said the company has ample funds, and also re-insurance with Lloyds of London, to cover all possible claims.

In 1951 the company paid about 6,000 claims and last year the company paid 8,358. Already this year the company has paid about 7,000 claims and anticipates 5,000 from last week's tornado.

In 1950 when much damage was done by high winds, the company had 21,920 claims but that did not surpass the 1940 Armistice Day storm.

Heard About the Electric Weather Predictor?

Squint Smith built up quite a reputation last month by predicting the weather. What he said usually came true.

It got so that folks would sit around his little Antique Shop just to get his opinion.

Last Monday, though, he said he didn't know what the weather was going to be like next day. That surprised us and when we asked what happened, Squint said, "Slipped up on my electric bill and was turned off. I'll get to my radio, again tomorrow though." Squint had been getting the weather over the radio just like anyone else!

From where I sit, that's the way it goes with some "experts." They often don't have any more inside information than you can get for yourself. Like those who "know" cider is the only thirst-quencher after a day's work. Far as I'm concerned, I'll take a temperate glass of beer. But—I won't try to "predict" your choice for you.

4-H Judging TeamTo Go To Europe

Michigan's dairy breed organization, several other groups and individuals have raised $6,000 to send the Wolverine State's national champion 4-H Club dairy judging team to Europe this month.

The team, coached by Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H Club leader at Michigan State College, will compete for international honors at the Royal Livestock Show at London, England, July 8. Contributions toward the trip were reported at a dinner at M. S. C. Kellogg Center Monday night. The dinner was given by The Michigan Farmer as a non-voyage party and a pat on the back for the team's accomplishments. Earl Weaver, head of M. S. C.'s dairy department, was toastmaster.

The team is composed of Miss Marilyn Tyge, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tyge of Traverse City; Robert Meyer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer of Ypsilanti; Donald Proctor, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Proctor of Chelsea; and David Vandenberg, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vandenberg of Hart.

Pearson was presented a movie camera to record the trip as well as a check for the group's expenses. The presentation was made by R. K. Stout of Marshall, president of the Michigan Purebred Dairy Cattle Association.

The money and gifts were raised through a campaign co-chaired by A. P. Cole, East Lansing, secretary of the Michigan Guernsey Breeders Association, and G. E. Parsons, extension dairyman at M. S. C., and secretary-treasurer of the MPDCA.

The team will leave Lansing June 30 for London. Besides a trip through England, the youths will visit Scotland, the Jersey and Guernsey Islands, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium following the livestock show at Blackpool, England. They are scheduled to return home July 27.

Red Cross News

Effective June 1, the American Red Cross has been authorized by the Departments of the Army and Air Force, to relay through their rapid communications, death messages involving immediate families of overseas servicemen of these two branches, Cecil O. Creal, Home Service Chairman, Washtenaw County Chapter, announced today.

Formerly, the Red Cross could send death messages to servicemen via these rapid facilities only if leave for the serviceman, which the family had requested, was denied.

Provision has also been made that all of these death notifications contain complete information as to the time and cause of death, welfare of the Red Cross family, whether the

is being requested, and any other relevant facts. Whenever possible, the message is given in person to the serviceman by the Red Cross field director at his base, to help him meet the shock of distressing news.

Since November, 1950, the Army and Air Force have allowed the transmittal of birth messages by rapid transit, but these messages do not have priority. The Navy makes its rapid communications system directly available to Navy, Marine and Coast Guard families for sending emergency communications, as well as birth messages for its overseas personnel.

Reporting and communications service is a charter responsibility of the American Red Cross, Cecil Creal says. The Red Cross provides the link between servicemen and their families when regular communication facilities fail, helping to reestablish direct contact, and to provide counsel whenever it is needed. Red Cross furnishes specific information when requested by the military.

To carry out this responsibility Red Cross Home Service maintains 24-hour coverage, thus insuring prompt assistance with reports and requests for reports in urgent situations involving servicemen and their families.

Mr. Creal pointed out that one of the most misunderstood phases of Red Cross is its inability to grant emergency leaves to Servicemen. This prerogative rests solely with the military. When requested by a soldier's commanding officer to verify certain facts, the Red Cross can use vast network of chapters and field directors to obtain necessary information, but the decision whether or not leave is to be granted must be made by the commanding officer.

Recent Army and Air Force rulings now allow emergency leave to a serviceman whose wife or minor child has died if the family requests leave. For deaths of other members of his family, however, it must be established that additional problems exist in the home which only his presence can alleviate.

As part of its home service program, the Red Cross can also help establish the facts when there is serious illness in a serviceman's family and an emergency exists requiring his presence at home. This reporting service also covers emergency family situations requiring the serviceman to be home for more than the normal 30-day leave period, when he is requesting reassignment and deferment from overseas service, or discharge for dependency or hardship. In those latter situations, however, the serviceman himself normally must first apply.

In all of these instances, however, actual disposition of the serviceman's request rests with the military authorities. The Red Cross confines its activities to gathering, verifying, and transmitting the necessary information.

Schools Are Aided Under GOP Program

Public school officials who pad their membership rolls in order to obtain an unfair share of State aid are in for severe punishment under a new law passed by the 1953 Republican-controlled Legislature.

The law provides that anyone found guilty of such practices shall be liable to a $2,500 fine, two years in prison and five-year suspension of his teacher's certificate. The severe penalties were provided because such cheating on school aid effects every other school district in the State by lowering the amount of money available to them.

That new bill was one of several important to the State's educational system passed by the Legislature in its recent session. In keeping with the policy of maintaining local control over all school matters, the Legislature left the choice to local boards of education whether to serve butter or oleomargarine in school lunch programs.

Other legislation important to the public schools included: County boards of education may supervise an individual school's program, upon request. School districts may invest in building and loan associations. Schools may pledge their full credit to borrow in anticipation of delayed state-aid payments if such situations arise.

School boards may provide voting machine facilities. The Ferris Institute at Big Rapids was authorized to borrow money for housing and social centers and may charge fees for student activities.

School districts were empowered to refund old bonds to provide for expansion programs. Political subdivisions may provide for library facilities.

The Detroit Board of Education must submit referendum questions 60 days before an election.

Detroit school system must have an annual audit and may issue its own warrants.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

OWEN J. CLEARY
Secretary of State

The study of election laws by the Joint Interim Committee of the House and Senate is getting under way promptly. This committee is composed of a very active group of members of both houses with Senator Clyde H. Geerlings as Chairman.

During the past several weeks, the Elections Division has been working on compilations of suggested changes in the election laws in order that the committee may have an orderly compilation from which to work. These suggestions include all those received by the Elections Division from the many clerks throughout the State and from the various interested individuals. The division has refrained from editing these and is including all that appear to be workable.

The compilation of suggestions is made up in a form to include in each case the reasons given for the suggested change as well as the sections of the law involved, so that it may be more readily and rapidly compared with the existing statutes.

It is the hope of the division, that this compilation of suggestions will be of great assistance to the committee in their efforts to improve Michigan election laws. The division is prepared to devote practically its entire time during the Summer to assisting the committee in completing their consideration of changes and the codification of results. We are confident that if the work of the committee is adopted by the Legislature, it will result in a greatly improved and more workable election law for the State of Michigan.

AS OTHERS SEE IT!

It seems funny that so many public officials find it easier to write books than to balance them.

Most people can't think with their mouth open, and most of them find this no secret thing.

Some of our chronic sick people would get well if nobody listened to their complaints.

SEE HOW GOOD

baled hay can be

Let us show you how good baled hay can be... when it's packaged in rolled bales. You'll find more leaves in a rolled bale, because they are handled gently by smooth, roll-up compression. Rolled bales are sealed against leaf loss or weather damage. They shed the showers like a thatched roof. And here is a better handling bale. It won't buckle, break, or fall apart, even if dropped by a hay fork or slings. Remember, rolled bales are made only by the ROTO-BALER, built by Allis-Chalmers. Let us show you the difference. Stop in when you can. ROTO-BALER is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

features in the Great Lakes tour when John Cameron Swayze and his family tour these areas in the television series, "Vacationland America."

A total of 49 TV stations across the nation and in Canada will televise the vacation tour of the Swayzes, actually filmed in parts of Michigan several months ago promoting vacation travel to this state.

Televising the show in the state are stations WKZO-TV in Kalamazoo and WWJ-TV in Detroit.

An additional lift for Michigan's tourist business will be given by the Fram Corporation, sponsors of "Vacationland America" who have prepared a travel book outlining a complete day-to-day tour through this area.

More than 1,000,000 of these free travel books will be distributed by 120,000 Fram dealers in the U.S. and Canada, giving further impetus to Michigan's tourist and vacation business, which brings millions of dollars into the state each year.

A formal presentation of a special plaque to Governor G. Mennen Williams has been made by Fram, saluting Michigan as "Vacationland America State of the Week," during next week.

The choice of John Cameron Swayze to star in the nationwide travel program about Michigan adds to the entertainment value of the program. As NBC's top TV newscaster, Mr. Swayze is seen on television each week by more people than any other person in the world.

"Vacationland America" also marks the TV debut of the Swayze family—Tuffie, his wife, John Jr., 19, and Suzanne, 16. Television spokesmen note that the show is unique in one respect—it's the first family TV show devoted entirely to travel.

Helping to co-sponsor the travel show are hundreds of service stations, garages and automobile dealers in this area. Designated as official "Vacationland America" Headquarters, the co-sponsors are supplied with the travel booklets which will be given away free to motorists.

The books contain photos and descriptions of historical, scenic and well-known places of interest in the Great Lakes vacation region, tips on travel and maps outlining the tour and indicating some of the attractions that have become vacation favorites.

The Fram Corporation world's largest manufacturer of automotive filters, has designed the show to promote travel throughout America in the family automobile.

Quebec, North Shore and Labrador Ore Cars to Roll on Timken Bearings

ABOVE—A worker demonstrating the ease with which a Timken-Roller-Bearing-equipped ore car can be moved.
LEFT—Some of the rough eastern Canadian terrain over which the Quebec, North Shore & Labrador Railroad is being built.

The Quebec, North Shore and Labrador Railway has placed an order for 32,000 roller bearings with The Timken Roller Bearing Company. Every ore car on its line, or a total of 2,000, 97-ton ore cars, will each be equipped with sixteen Timken bearings. The first road to equip one hundred per cent of its freight cars with roller bearings, The Quebec, North Shore and Labrador Railway is scheduled for completion in 1954.

Prior to receipt of the order for bearings, the Timken Company conducted an exhaustive economic study which compared the costs of friction bearings with roller bearings. The study showed conclusively that roller bearings assured substantially longer service with much lower maintenance costs than did the friction-type bearing. The results of this study assisted The Quebec, North Shore and Labrador Railway in its decision to select Timken tapered roller bearings for its iron ore cars.

The railroad will extend 357 miles north from the St. Lawrence River at Seven Islands, Quebec, to within only 850 miles of the Arctic Circle, through some of the roughest terrain on the continent of North America. The line will connect Labrador iron ore deposits, being developed by The Iron Ore Company of Canada, with the St.

Lawrence River. Hollinger, Hanna Limited is the operating agent of The Iron Ore Company of Canada, a company comprised of the Hanna Coal & Ore Corporation, Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., National Steel Corporation, Wheeling Steel Corporation, The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Corporation, Armco Steel Corporation and The Republic Steel Corporation.

Ore shipments from the Labrador field are expected to begin in 1954. By 1955 a production of 5 million tons is anticipated, and this production will be increased to ten million tons in 1956 or 1957. Long range plans provide expansion to an output of 20 million tons per year, if conditions warrant.

Summer Library Program Outlined

Miss Jane P. Her, librarian at the Manchester township library, has announced that the library will work out a summer reading program for the youngsters on Wednesday afternoons while the summer recreation program is in session.

Primary emphasis will be placed on reading and Miss Palmer noted that many books have been added to the library recently. Other diversions will be using the "magic lantern," doing some nature study, drawing and enjoying the record player at the library.

Among the children who have enrolled to date are: Mary Ann and Bobby Paul, Karl and Neil Horning, Ann, Lucille, and Janice Buss, Sally Scully, Bruce Earle, Linda and Kay Winkler and Earl Knickerbocker.

As more definite plans are formulated they will appear in the Enterprise.

Altar Society Plans Social

Three sick committees were appointed as follows: for June, Mrs. Maynard Kidd and Mrs. Peter Cash; July, Mrs. Ted Roberts and Mrs. John Dunne, Jr.; and for August, Mrs. L. C. Kent and Mrs. Jules Van de Ginste. The Bible was read by Mrs. Elmer Detting and in September when the regular meetings resume, Mrs. Robert Kirk will read the Bible. The officers will have charge of the September meeting.

Detroit Man Breaks Hip In Fall

Friends here will be sorry to learn that Rudy Neimi of Detroit fell off the roof of the home of a neighbor while helping the neighbor repair the roof following a high wind on Saturday, May 23, and broke his hip. Uses University In Time Of Need

We of Manchester are living within an hour's drive of one of the world's greatest universities and supporting it with our taxes. Last week a Manchester housewife found how easy it was to use our cultural center.

Mrs. Alfred Strang planted a rose garden around the bird bath at her home a year ago. The roses started to grow and then suddenly one dropped and died. One after another faded away before her incredulous eyes. She could find no explanation but felt it must have been her fault. So this spring she re-made the flower bed, conditioned the ground with peat and plant food to please the most fastidious rose and made new planting—with high hope.

The new plants started to grow, when to her consternation, one of the plants wilted as the others had done. The gardener, now at her wits' end, called the Botanic Garden at the University at Ann Arbor, and in reply to the voice at the other end of the line, cried, "I want to ask what is the matter with my roses?"

"Go right ahead," said the invisible voice. They held a fifteen minute conversation, the lady found out what caused her trouble and how she came to get it in her garden. The voice of experience advised her to make a new rose bed and to grow petunias around the bird bath. He also offered to make a soil analysis for her.

So, our university, setting serenely within the academic walls, is ours to use and ready to come half way to meet our needs.

Johanna Waters of Grass Lake was guest of honor at a party given by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Roller, on Friday evening. Guests were present from Jackson, Grass Lake and Medina, N.Y. Johanna graduated last Thursday from Grass Lake High School.

Color Offers Many Functional Uses, Says Wayne U. Fine Arts Professor

JoAnne and Lynn Hutchins of Grand Rapids examine a carpet design entry in the Fleischman International Carpet Design Competition at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Lynn is a senior in the Wayne University Law School.

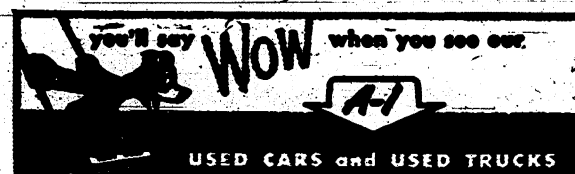

"People who do their own decorating should be thoroughly familiar with the functional possibilities of color. A good color scheme is much more than a combination of 'pretty' colors," states William A. Allen, associate professor in the fine arts department at Wayne University.

Color, if used effectively in decorating, can produce harmonious relationships or interesting contrasts between all important objects in a room. Usually, these important objects—furniture, pictures, etc.—should possess a dominant color in relation to their immediate background.

The following step-by-step procedure is suggested for the first draft of a room color scheme:

- Write a notation of the effects desired.
- Make a rough color sketch.
- Choose rugs, draperies, upholstery, wallpaper (in this order) and relate to rough color scheme.
- Choose paint for walls.

Information about color as well as experience with it is extremely important. Individual taste in the use and appreciation of color may vary. However, there is much factual information which can be obtained to advise and direct the successful use of color in the home.

Congressman George Meader, Republican of Michigan's Second District, is shown on the rostrum in the chamber of the House of Representatives, where he presided recently. Speaker of the House Joseph W. How to Plan Your Family Vacation

Planning on a wonderful vacation this year? This needn't be a matter of sheer guess. A little planning will find the right spot where the whole family can have fun.

First decide which way you want to head. Then write to the state recreational sections to find which region is best for you. Supposing you decide on Wisconsin. Send a postal to the Recreation Section, Wisconsin Conservation Department, State Office Building, Madison, Wisconsin. They will supply you with free literature, giving highway maps, lists of regional vacation organizations from which you can get further information, and a fishing regulation pamphlet. These regional organizations, in turn, will help you find the type of accommodations you desire. Specify whether you want American resort plan (rate includes meals), housekeeping cottage, motel, hotel, trailer or camping facilities, and ask what facilities are covered by the rate. Other states have similar sources for information.

They will direct you to places where fishing, riding, golf or tennis are included, if this is what you desire. They will tell you whether Mother, too, can enjoy a vacation because the children are safely supervised at play.

Make a reservation well in advance, and be sure to state the number in your group, your time of arrival and the inclusive dates of your stay. Prepare for your trip. Make a check list of the things you will need, and you won't go away without the essentials. Knowing where you are going and what to expect when you get there will mean a truly wonderful vacation... in the right spot where all can have fun!

Oil In Washtenaw County

Oil or gas in Washtenaw County? Apparently there are some who think there may be. As evidence, records at the register of deeds' office show that oil and gas rights to some 8,800 acres of Washtenaw land in six townships have been leased by two oil companies.

The Merrill Drilling Co., of Mt. Pleasant, which has assigned its holdings to the Sun Oil Co., leased 4,923 acres from landowners in Freedom, Bridgewater, Lodi, Saline and Lima townships.

A. J. Gilmore of Kalamazoo, representing the Northern Plains Petroleum Co., also of Mt. Pleasant, leased 3,937 acres in Sylvan and Lima townships.

In all, 57 parcels of land are involved in the leases, all of which were recorded last week.

400 Attend Children's Day At Emanuel

Over four hundred parents and children attended the Children's Day service at the Emanuel church here which was combined with the regular morning service at eleven o'clock with Mrs. Alfred Kuhl in charge of this year's program, "Hidden Treasure." Some of the varied Sunday school work of the year was brought out at this service.

The Junior choir led the procession followed by the primary department and the kindergarten.

The Nursery class of two and three year olds marched in, each child carrying a pink peony which they placed at the altar in a large vase. The children sang two numbers and then left the church under the direction of Mrs. Nelson Short and Miss Clara Kulenkamp, who had charge of the small children during the remainder of the program.

Mrs. Floyd Jacob led the kindergarten group in a picture study which brought out some "Hidden Treasures" the children had discovered in their lessons. Miss Mary Lannom is the kindergarten teacher and she is assisted by Mrs. Karl Rest. Class 2 is taught by Mrs. Floyd Jacob.

Miss Amanda Lehman, leader of the primary group, spoke on some of the work done. Twelve boys and girls of the department presented "A Festival of the Followers of the Way." This story pictured how good news has traveled down through the ages from the time of Peter, John, Paul, Stephen, Lydie, David, Livingstone and many others to the present time.

This was followed by a song by the group. Primary teachers include Miss Doris Blumenauer, Mrs. Eugene Bentschneider, and Miss Amanda Lehman.

The junior choir, directed by Mrs. Karl Rest, rendered two anthems and several of the junior members pointed out more hidden treasures in their department. Junior teachers are Mrs. Donna Moehn and Mrs. Deloris Richardson. Mrs. Willard Mann spoke to the parents suggesting ways they could find many hidden treasures with their children at home; she presented several books to illustrate and also suggested that parents keep a close contact with their Sunday School.

Four children were baptised during the services. They were Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kemmer; Markieta, Marlene and Rosalyn Sharri, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wolfe; and Jack Calvin Land, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Land.

Assisting the teachers for the services were Mrs. Clarence Schaefer, Mrs. Wilbert Buss, Mrs. Ronald Merz, Mrs. Eleanor Winchell, Mrs. Earl Alber, Mrs. John Below, Mrs. LeRoy Dresselhouse, Mrs. Russell Smith and Mrs. Harold Alexander.

Children's Day At Methodist Church

Five children, Gary Knickerbocker, Barbara Leddy, Patricia Miller, Ronald Brown and Mary Kequom from the beginner class took part in a short skit. A song "That Sweet Story of Old" by Richard, Billy and Bobby Bunney. This was followed by a prayer led by primary department superintendent, Mrs. Earl Knickerbocker.

A piano solo was given by Melva Strang, a special part of the program entitled, "Jesus and Children's Day" was enacted by Bruce Oates, Louise Pippenger, Connie Knickerbocker, Ruth Eames, Karen Gilbert, Janet Walter, Kenneth Allen, Berni, Rebecca Schaefer, Leila Weir, Susan Walker, Sandra Leddy and Nina Strang. Mrs. Harold Altenbernt closed that part of the program.

Now Is The Time To Take Care of Garden

June is the time to weed, water and wage war on bugs—in your garden, says Washtenaw County Agricultural Agent Donald R. Johnson.

A gardener can't relax after most of his plot is planted or much of his spring labor may be wasted, he cautions. Johnson passes along these suggestions from H. L. R. Chapman, Michigan State College gardening specialist.

Where water is available gardens should get a thorough soaking once a week. One good soaking is better than frequent light sprinklings.

Weed and thin at the same time. Most weeding can be done with a hoe. But don't chop. Sharpen the hoe and slide it along about one-half inch under the soil, slicing off the weeds. Carrots, beets, and onions may need hand weeding. While you're weeding, you can thin the crops to stand one or two inches apart in the row. Swiss chard, to make the best plants, should be thinned to leave plants eight to ten inches apart.

DDT will knock out the pesky, shiny black flea beetles that leave buckshot holes in cabbage, radish and beet leaves. Don't use the insecticide on edible parts of the plants, however. Cabbage worms can be controlled with rotenone. Thorough and frequent dusting with rotenone is the answer to controlling squash bugs as well as Mexican bean beetles.

Use of a hormone spray may help your tomato plants produce ripe fruit two to three weeks earlier, reports Donald R. Johnson, Washtenaw County Agricultural Agent.

He says hormone sprays have been working well in counteracting the effect of low night temperatures. Fruit set, he explains, depends on the presence of a hormone or growth controlling chemical. There isn't enough of the chemical in the tomato flower at temperatures below 60 degrees. S. H. Wittwer, Michigan State College horticulturist, advises applying the spray to the tomato plant flowers while they are open. Ordinary household sprayers can be used on small plantings. On commercial plantings special one-quart sprayers are used in applying the hormone. The chemical is available at many seed stores.

Wittwer suggests going through the plantings once every three to five days and spraying all blossoms showing color. Keep the spray off the foliage as much as possible.

He says fruit set will be increased only as long as night temperatures stay below 60 degrees. But fruit size may be increased any time during the season, by spraying. The size of tomatoes has been boosted as much as 30 per cent in some cases.

Junior Playground

Mrs. Peters
Junior playground got under way Monday morning with a large attendance of sixty-five children reporting as well as eight junior and mother helpers. The children were classified in two groups according to age for roll call purposes and coming events for the season were previewed. Following the opening exercises, all the children scurried about the playground in search of cards on which were written prizes that they would receive for the treasure hunt. About twenty cards were found and the unlucky ones were rewarded with balloons.

The program for next week will include crafts on Monday. The children will make paper mache bowls and for this project will need to bring newspapers. These can be brought at any time this week. On Wednesday, July 24, a flower show will be held. All the children are encouraged to participate and the categories are planned so that all the children—even those who do not have flowers in their own yards—can take part. Each child is allowed to make one entry. The flowers and foliage can be entered in any of the following classes:

1. Biggest flower.
2. Smallest flower.
3. Best arrangement of wild flowers.
4. Best miniature arrangement.
5. Roses:
 1. Best red rose.
 2. Best pink rose.
 3. Best yellow rose.

Public Health News

"CC"—common sense—not "GG" gamma globulin—will be every family's safeguard against polio this summer, the state health department says in urging parents to be on the alert as usual to guard their youngsters against the disease.

The polio "season" usually gets underway in Michigan about the middle of June and reaches its peak late in August. A few common-sense precautions will help to protect your youngsters during the coming weeks:

1. Don't get panicky. Remember that even though the number of cases of polio may be high, the number of persons paralyzed is usually low. Half of those who are diagnosed as having polio recover completely—most recover without being seriously handicapped.

2. Don't isolate your youngsters—let them play with the usual playmates, but don't let them mix with new groups.

3. Try to get the youngsters to rest or at least play quiet, sitting-down games part of the day. Don't let them swim to the point of becoming chilled, or to become chilled in any way. If they should have the polio virus in their bodies, being overexerted or chilled may result in more serious infection.

4. Keep the youngsters clean—be sure they wash their hands thoroughly before eating. Cleanliness is of utmost importance because polio may be transmitted through contaminated food and other contaminated substances, as well as through close personal contact with a carrier.

5. Consult your doctor at the first sign of illness, particularly if these symptoms appear: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, stiff neck or back. Globulin is a new and effective weapon in fighting paralysis from polio, but there isn't enough of it to go around, according to the state health department which is responsible for the distribution of supplies allocated to Michigan by the Office of Defense Mobilization.

The basic allotment to Michigan is enough to treat approximately 13,000 persons, only a fraction of the two million youngsters in the state in the most susceptible age group—those 15 years of age and younger.

The Department also points out that globulin will not prevent polio, but can, if administered under favorable circumstances, prevent the development of paralysis in those who get the disease.

In order to use the limited supply in the most effective way, the Department has set up priorities. The bulk of the available globulin will be distributed to those who run the greatest risk of being infected—the members of a household where a case of polio is diagnosed. Inoculations will be limited to household members who are 30 years of age and under and to pregnant women of any age.

If enough globulin is available, persons outside the household who have been in close contact with the polio case will receive injections, and special allotments of globulin may be obtained from the national supply for mass inoculation in areas with an unusually high number of cases.

Brown Swiss Cattle In United States

Brown Swiss cattle came to the United States from their native home in Switzerland during the eighteenth century.

These cattle are large and have made a name for themselves as persistent milk producers. Brown Swiss cattle are well known to Michigan dairy farmers because Michigan State College was one of the first in the state to have a Swiss herd.

This breed of cows gives a large volume of milk with a very favorable test ranging at 4%. In average output of milk per animal it rates next highest to the Holstein breed.

Brown Swiss cattle are scattered throughout lower Michigan and have a number of breeders stationed in many different counties.

The service of Michigan Artificial Breeders in introducing Brown Swiss cattle is to assist the average dairyman, either with registered or graded cattle, to improve consistently from one generation to another the output of milk and thereby improve the efficiency of milk production in his particular herd. This policy by the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative in arranging for proved sires with high inheritance carrying great volume of milk and good test has been recognized as outstanding for production improvement and increasing of the net profit by farmers.

The Brown Swiss unit in use by the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative at East Lansing, on one of the farms, Michigan State College, includes three outstanding proved sires, one recognized as an excellent sire and a son of Colonel Harry of JB. This particular bull is being called "Squire" and a second is a half brother to Squire, which is being called "August" which is also a son of Colonel Harry. Both of these bulls have outstanding proofs and come from long-lived cows. A third bull is one that was used earlier by Michigan State College which has a proof of 12,190 pounds of milk and 450 of fat. While a fourth bull is called "Diamond" and comes from Mr. Heister's farm at Albion. In addition another Brown Swiss bull has been added which is proved coming from the Erwin Krauss farm at Sebawaing, which was also used by Max Ebert of Ingelmans.

Dairy farmers wishing to introduce this type of breeding into their herd should get in touch with their Michigan Artificial Breeders' local organization or the Secretary of the Michigan Agricultural Agent about further information.

Scouts Stage Pre-Jam Camp

Last Friday night, Saturday and Sunday 36 Scouts from Wolverine and Portage Trails Council staged a "Pre-Jam" camp at Saline Valley Farms Recreation area. Fourteen of the boys were from Wolverine Council, Monroe and Lenawee Counties and 18 boys from Portage Trails Council, Washtenaw and Livingston Counties. Jim Lowe of Dundee is Scoutmaster for the Jamboree Troop, Vernon Adams of Ann Arbor is Asst. in charge of Physical arrangements, Dr. D. C. Craig of Ann Arbor Asst. in charge of activities and Charles Kispau of Adrian is treasurer for the group.

The "Pre-Jam" camp is a pre-jamboree camp where all Scouts who will attend the National Scout Jamboree get a chance to establish discipline, get used to each other, check equipment and attend to the multitude of details that are necessary for a trip of this kind.

The National Jamboree will be held at Irvine's Ranch located 24 miles South-East of Los Angeles, Calif. The Scouts will camp by sections during the jamboree and one of the big features of the jamboree will be sectional displays. There will be 24 troops to a section and 38 boys to a troop. That means that there are openings for about 4 more boys for the troop from Wolverine and Portage Trails Councils. About 50,000 Scouts from all over the world will attend the jamboree.

The troop will leave from Jackson by train and will be gone about 20 days, 10 days for travel and 10 days for Jamboree. David Perkins of Milan and James Carver of Dundee will be among the Scouts attending.

A tentative look at the jamboree program shows the Scouts will have quite a time. The first night there will be grand opening campfire and President Eisenhower plans to be there for this occasion. A western rodeo with trick riding acts, a band display at night will be swimming in the Pacific and a day of sports will make a very interesting 10 days.

Included in the itinerary for the trip will be Glacier National Park, Long Beach, Hollywood, the Naval Base, Knott's Berry Farm and Salt Lake City on the way home.
