This white Wyandotte cockerel is all dressed up in kilt and tam o' shanter for the World's Poultry Congress, just held in Edinburgh. Inspecting the handsome bird is Dr. Paul D. Woodward, a Congress speaker and Ashland, O., geneticist who originated the wide use of the aluminum draps in cockerel heads. His research with aluminum (AL) in cockerels is boosting world food production and has added millions of pounds of chicken to the annual U. S. broiler crop.

Top Hotel Award Goes to Pierre

The day was September 20th, 1964. New York opened the most luxurious hotel in the great metropolis. Its service promised to exceed everything previously known. Fit for a king? Few kings in the world, then or now, had such magnificent facilities. It was a hotel in the grand tradition.

23 years later, the Pierre, its luxury undiminished, was selected by the Government Society for an honorational award in recognition of its cuisine and table setting standards.

Bulbs Easy to Flower in Winter Window Gardens

A winter window garden makes spring come faster, and teaches many lessons.

Bulbs which blossom in the early spring do not demand sunlight of maximum intensity. Therefore they thrive and bloom indoors in light transmitted through glass panes.

Varieties which flower earliest in the garden are easiest to flower indoors as a rule. Crocus, grape hyacinths, narcissus and cyclamens are less difficult to flower. Light can be used to supplement daylight which is available.

By using a photographic light meter, which many amateur photographers now possess, you can check the light from your window to see whether the daylight is adequate for the plants you wish to grow.

Keep the level in dim light where the temperature stays below 60 degrees, watering the five regularly. If it dries out the lower buds may be destroyed. Root growth will begin. As soon as top growth is well started, take the bowl to a window where it will have all the light possible, and a temperature between 60 and 70 degrees. A picture window facing north is not shaded from reflected light of the northern sky. In a protected location for most flowering bulbs, use a detached flower box, which will shade the plants.

The light which such a window admits is adequate and it has an advantage of an even and cool temperature. In a room which varies between 70 and 80 degrees in daylight hours, the temperature close to a north window will often be 10 to 20 degrees lower.

A picture window facing south, on the other hand, which gets the full impact of the winter sun will usually be subject to extreme variations of temperature.

East and west picture windows are likely to be more favorable to plants than one facing south. Artificial light can be used to supplement daylight which is available.

Dutchmen Drive To 13-0 Victory Despite Downpour

Gy Doug Brown

The Manchester Flying Dutchmen rolled over South Lyon last Fri' night, beating them 13 to 0. Even though a torrential downpour drenched the field, it failed to quench the spirit of the fired-up Dutchmen.

The game progressed rather rapidly as there was only one time-out called and one pass thrown. The slippery pitcher afforded little chance for tricky maneuvering with the ball. Although both teams fumbled excessively, the Dutchmen managed to sustain a scoring drive.

In the third quarter, Ray Ledy recovered a South Lyon fumble on the Lions' 30-yard line. Brokaw, Dreese, and Smith raked up the yardage, the latter knitting over from the 4-1 yard line for the score, kicking 30.

A few plays later, Harold Dreese took a lateral from Tom Lennon and sprinted 15 yards untouched for the TD. Gary Brokaw 'live' over for the score.

Dreese, Smith, and Brokaw rushed for a total of 175 yards of net yardage, Brokaw picking up 77, 54, and 47 yards respectively. The defense moved forward as well as South Lyon, netting 24 yards more than they gained, falling to pick-up even a single first down. Dick Faber was the acting captain for Manchester. Finckley will invade Manchester next Friday, October 22 as the Dutchmen strive to remain in contention for the League of the Lakes Championship.

Teaching Staff Has Unusual Background

Manchester school faculty has had an unusually diversified academic background. It has been noted that they represent twelve different colleges or universities which includes the University of Michigan, Michigan State Normal, Michigan State, E. Lansing, Western Michigan College, Central Michigan College, Albion, Sherwood School of Music, University of Oklahoma, Ohio State University, the University of Maine, Rockwood College and Lawrence College at Appleton, Wisconsin.

The local staff of teachers and administrators now numbers 30. Of these four hold master's degrees, 15 hold bachelor's degrees and the rest are working toward their degrees.

More than a third of the staff spent their summer taking college courses, and many are now attending evening classes.

Country Dancers Entertain P. T. A.

The P.T.A. have had fun square dancing in recent years but never quite like the fun at Monday night's meeting when Central Michigan College Country Dancers entertained. The eight boys in dark suits and eight girls in colorful formal dresses both folk dances and square dances then brought P.T.A. members down onto the floor to dance with them. At one time there were six sets following through the steps called by the college students. Mr. Charles Mills, who is P.T.A. vice-president, danced with this group which he attended Central Michigan.

Dinner was served at the school to the college dancers by the P.T.A. Hospitality committee and refreshments were served after the meeting to all present.

FOUR MEMBERS of the county board of supervisors relax as they wait for lunch on their annual tour of the county roads. The tour is plotted by the road commission to acquaint the supervisors with improvements and new construction throughout the county's road system during the last year. An extra attraction this year was a visit to Chrysler's new proving grounds at Chelsea, where a spokesman for the company explained the physical layout and methods for testing the Chrysler Corporation products. Guests at the Saline Rotary Club for lunch, the board seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. From left to right are Mayor and Supervisor Henry Leutbauer, Saline; Supervisor Leigh Bosch, Lakes Township; Supervisor Thurston Sanford, York Township; and Supervisor James Hendley, Manchester, who is also Chairman of the Washtenaw County Road Committee.

Juvenile Authorities Hope To Build This Home

By prior action of the County Board of Supervisors, the Juvenile Home, if proposed number one, will be constructed on a 12-acre County-owned property on Platt Road South of Washtenaw Road. Judge Payne explained the purpose of the building, which is to be a single level, thus avoiding additional supervisory staff and a way that the services will be provided for the children. The tentative plans call for masonry construction of a home-like building for the temporary care of youngsters. The building will be fire resistant. Judge Payne, in explaining the design of the building, said that the "home-like" structure would be built for the temporary care of fourteen children.

Community Chest Thermometer Rises

In spite of a week's delay in starting, the Manchester Area Community Chest Drive is well over the $2500.00 mark by October 20. One more week should push the thermometer very close to the top. Double A is the only single unit in the Drive that has finished in the allotted time. Their cash management and employee gift to the city agencies included in the fund is $350.00. All of the rural and village teams as well as the Business Men's teams are still soliciting in their areas.
