Alibi Hall At Legion

Saturday 26 Tales of lost bucks, miracle shots and inside straights will be traded, discounted and topped next Saturday night at the Hunter's Alibi Ball, put on by the Manchester Legion at Legion Hall.

Dance music by the Wendeli Davis orchestra from Jackson will begin at 9:30 and continue until 1:30 Sunday morning, or until the hunter run out of energy and tall tales. The fee for this musicial post-mortin from the deer camps is a one dollar donation per person one dollar for the liar and one dollar for the liar and one dollar for the feminine companion or doe. ion, or doe.

The public is invited and will be accommodated up to the limit of the hall which is about one hundred twenty. Hunters just back from the woods are requested to take baths and put on light underwear before coming to the ball. Shot-guns and poker chips must be checked at the door.

Christmas Clubs Popular at Banks Continued popularity of Christmas Club savings is indicated by the annoucement of the Union Savings Bank and the Peoples Bank of Manchester, that 1955 Club checks were mailed this week to 425 members and represented $43,000 insavings in the two banks.

sented $43,000 insavings in the two banks.

This average of over $100 per member exceeded the National average both in amount per club and in fully paid clubs.

The 1956 Christmas Club opens for membership November 28, in both banks and cashier Dan Bootell of the Union Savings and Fred Lehman of the Peoples Bank extend a cordial velcome to all of the present members and to any the present members and to any new members who might wish to take advantage of this easy and popular way to "make Christmas huich merrie by having it paid for."

Cautious Farmers Can Make Loans

Can Make Loans

Refore borrowing money every farmer should consider the principles of credit as they affect him.

He should secure the type of credit that will fit his needs. The purpose of the lean will determine its repayment schedule. Credit ouying should be limited to many making investments. The good farm operator puts borrowed money into the farm to build up the size of business and increase efficiency per month. No one type of credit can be expected to fit the needs of all farmers.

Faul Schey, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration says, "All deserving farmers can secure all the credit they need from one of the various lending sources. In this area we have the local banks, Production Credit Association. National Farm Loan private lenders, Life Insurance Company, and the Farmers Home Administration.

Turkey talk this holiday season will center around the ease of preparing this magnificent bird. In even greater supply this year will be the beautiful meaty quality turkeys which are "tucked" to give a plump, butterball appearance which make this bird even easier to prepare.

The tucked turkey has a slit low on the breast through which the legs are held when purchased. After purchasing, allow to thaw according to the directions on the clear wrapper, pull the legs out of the tucked band and stuff with 3/4 cup of stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook turkey. After stuffing, slip the legs back into the slit and the turkey is ready for the oven without the difficult and time-consuming trussing operation.

"It's Christmas In Manchester"

Local Vets

The following article was taken from the fall edition of the Michi-gan State University Veterinarian

Dr. Joyce Cathey (Bock), a recent addition to the staff of Surgery and Medicine, has presented us with a rather unique situation. She is what is commonly known as the better half of a new huband and wife veterinary team. Dr. Cathey like her husband, graduated from MSU in 1954. She too practiced for a year in Manchester Michigan, but in competition with her husband.

Dr. Cathey will be doing the college mastitis control work and in addition will be doing drug research with regard to mastitis.

We would like to take this opportunity to officially welcome Dr. Cathey to our staff.

When you stop, don't jam on the brakes. "Pump" your brakes to avoid skids.

Following other cars at a safe distance. Give yourself room to stop, if the other fellow does. Chief Schebor emphasized that too much dependence cannot be placed on winterized tres, somitimes relied on, instead of tire chains.

There has been much confusion as to the effectiveness of snow dires under various winter conditions," he said. "Also, there have been exuberant and misleading claims made which have added to the confusion of both drivers and traffic officials. The National Safety Council completed more tests last January and has reported as follows:

The better snow tires give advantage in loose snow and siush. The latest tread designs are such as to be satisfactory for regular winter use. But don't let this lead you to feel there is a similar advantage on ice or very hard packed snow, because snow tires are not much more effective than regular tires for these conditions.

"The tread treatments of some types, known as winterizing," give a small amount of tractive advantage on lee on very hard packed snow, however, such treatments give no advantage.

About Tire Chains

Committee tests have shown that reinforced chains cut braking distances in half on both snow and ice. With these chains, traction to start is increased up to 7 times over that possible with regular tires on ice. On packed snow these chains out-pull regular tires no tire. On packed snow these chains out-pull regular tires nearly 4 times.
