

GREENSPAN PART OF CROPLAND ADJUSTMENT

GreenSpan is a name that has been applied to a new program which involves farmers but is of more interest and is designed for the benefit of non-farm people.

About a month ago, the Secretary of Agriculture announced plans to spend $200 million and officials of local state or government to inform them of a new Federal program which provides grants to local units of government to help purchase land and make this land available for agricultural production or public use of any type or nature which they may desire and approved by all people.

The amount of the grant will be determined by the number of acres of agricultural land to be purchased and the local government's share will not exceed 25 percent of the total cost of the land. These purchases will be determined by local government officials in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture.

GreenSpan is a part of the new Cropland Adjustment Program.

the idea of which is to take out of agriculture production cropland that can be converted to public recreation, wildlife habitat, natural beauty, or other uses to control air and water pollution.

People should all be encouraged with the program and the more open spaces the more of the nation living in centers of commerce and industry.

In addition to the grant, the program also provides funds to help state and local officials in the purchase of land and to help them in the development of public use of any type or nature which they may desire and approved by all people.

The amount of the grant will be determined by the number of acres of agricultural land to be purchased and the local government's share will not exceed 25 percent of the total cost of the land. These purchases will be determined by local government officials in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture.

YPSILANTI DRIVER IS DOUBLE WINNER

There was a nice crowd at Speedway's Friday night race. Ed Hage of Ypsilanti won the 25-lap feature race Friday night at the Manchester Speedway.

Ed Hage also won the 100-lap race while Stanen took the first heat. Adrian's Bob Conlin captured the second heat, Manchester's Ed Flutick the third, Adrian's Howard Pifer the fourth and Jackson's Bill Collins the fifth consolation—both super races.

Sam Pelouquin of Brookline took the 20-lap semi-elimination.

Every year, the individual land owner has in mind. For example, hunting, the payment would be determined by how available the land is to the people who need additional hunting range, how well it is developed to attract wildlife, that is, the amount of habitat and food available. Or, in the case of fishing, the type of fishing that is available and the number of fishermen it might support each day.

Applications for this additional payment for public access will be referred to the Game and Fish Division of the State Conservation Department. They will inspect the land and consult with the landowner and develop a plan that would provide the maximum public use. This plan would be valid within the limits of what the state would be expected to support and the landowner would have complete control up to these limits.

Recently there are 20 CAP agreements. Very interesting is that everyone of these is eligible for this extra adjustment payment. An official announcement of the program will be made in the near future.

JACKSON DRIVERS WIN TWO RACES

Ed Hage of Ypsilanti won the feature and points races at the Manchester Speedway Friday night and Sam Pelouquin of Brookline took the 20-lap semi-elimination.

John Starnes of Jackson captured the second and Dick Barstow of Jackson the super race.

Louis J. Starnes of Hillside captured the first heat, Bob Conlin of Adrian the second, Jim Martin of Manchester the third and Van Stahle of Coldwater the fourth.

John Whelan of Chelsea won the 100-lap race while Ed Flutick won the 100-lap race.

On Friday night of this race there will be a main event.

FATHERS' DAY BREAKFAST TO BENEFIT LAMB

While Melvin E. (Red) Lamb, of 20533 Logan Road, Manchester is in Cleveland awaiting a kidney transplant this community is making plans for a benefit breakfast from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Saturday, June 18. This event is planned by the alumni of '54 and '55 of Manchester High School of which Lamb's wife Jeanette are members. Then on Father's Day, June 19 local Legion Post and Auxiliary joining forces to hold a public breakfast at the pavilion at Carr Ham and eggs and all the fixings will be served by well known chefs in the area beginning at 11 a.m. to noon.

Mrs. Fritz Wurster, who is helping out on the details, says that proceeds will go to the Red Fund which has been established at the Union Savings Bank. A similar fund has been set up at the Chelsea State Bank.

Lamb worked at his uncle's barber shop in Chelsea when he was taken

His kidneys were removed at the Cleveland Clinic on May 27 after they both stopped functioning. At this time his life hinges on bi-weekly hook-ups with the hospital's artificial kidney machine.

He has been released from the Clinic and he and his wife have taken an apartment across the street from the clinic-while he waits for the kidney transplant.

This might mean waiting for a couple of days, weeks or months. He now joins the long list of patients at the clinic waiting for a kidney donor. Donated kidneys are checked for compatibility with a number of patients on the hospital roster and given to the person on the list who appears compatible.

The transplant will come probably from a deceased person with healthy kidneys. These must be removed no later than 30 minutes after the person expires, according to his sister Mrs. Victor Wurster. The transplant must be within four hours. Lamb must be in constant contact with the clinic and available in case the kidneys arrive.

Although five of Lamb's family have taken tests for the transplant they have been rejected because they failed to meet the requirements to match his kidney. Taking tests were his father, Leroy Lamb, his only sister, Mrs. Victor Wurster, two uncles and a cousin.

Since Lamb suffered his first attack last October he has lost 30 pounds. He must maintain a stable weight until the transplant surgery.

"Red is in good spirits and good health. These things are very important. He is on a strict and salt free diet. Two ounces of meat a day is all he is allowed. He can have no raw vegetables, fresh fruit, alcoholic beverages or milk. But he doesn't complain," his sister said.

Twenty pints of blood have been donated by the Manchester Blood Bank. The center is open the second Friday of each month from 2 to 9 p.m. for blood contributions.

Married nine years, the Lambs have two children, Jackie Ann five, and William John two. The children are being cared for by their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Guenther of Bethel Church Road, Manchester.

VOTERS ASKED TO SUPPORT 2 MILLS IN MONDAY'S SCHOOL ELECTION

This is the first time that Allen Alber has run for an office on the Manchester School Board.

Active in affairs in Sharon Township, Mr. Alber operates a 165 acre farm. He is also a live stock trucker in the area and has, for many years volunteered his services in hauling steers for the Manchester Steer Club, in connection with the Manchester Community fair.

For the past four years he has been a part time salesman for the local Ford dealer, Tom Marshall, Inc.

Mr. Alber is a member of the Farm Bureau and four years served on the Board of Directors of the Farm Council. He and his wife Jean are members of the Pleasant Lake PTA. They have three sons, Bill, who is married and lives in Manchester, Brian a 1966 graduate of Manchester High School and Keith and Linda at home. He is a member of Emanuel Church.

Paul Boehler is new seeking office on the school board. He attended public schools in Lansing and graduated in 1950 from Michigan State with a BS in education.

Mr. Boehler taught math and government in Waterliet for a year and then joined Auto Owners Insurance Co. as an underwriter in a training program. He is still employed by Auto Owners as a claim's adjuster in the Washtenaw County Area.

He is a member of the Manchester Optimists, Athletic Boosters and has been active in both Manchester and Pleasant Lake PTAs; serving the Pleasant Lake group as president for two years and as the father vice president for one term.

Mr. Boehler has worked with the 5th and 6th grade boys for several years. He is active in the Bethel United Church where he is a Sunday School teacher.

He is married and has three children; Carol 13, Kristen 10 and Karl 5 in the Manchester School system and has lived at Pleasant Lake for the past ten years.

Manchester voters will go to the polls Monday, June 13 in the annual school election. The Bd. of Education is requesting five mills for extra operational funds. This is 2 mills more than last year. School officials say the extra millage will be necessary because of a pay hike in the teachers' salaries. The balance will be used for salary increases for custodians, bus drivers, clerical workers and instructional supplies.

The total school millage is up only 2.6 mills over last year, covering both the new high school debt and the increased operational millage.

The total millage levied for 1966-67 is 16.22 compared to 14.22 for the year 1965-66 and 14.20 for 1964-65 school year. The school debt retirement amounts to 21.27 for 1966-67 compared to 18.67 for 1965-66.

Voters will also elect two members to the school board. Voting for the posts are: incumbent, Loren Trolz, also Clarence Fielder, Allen Alber and Paul Boehler.

School officials point out that although the Board is asking for a total of 5 mills extra operational mills above the allocated amount of 11.22 and the new building addition requires 3 mills, the total overall increase over last year is 2.6 mills. This is because the 1954 bond issue is being retired and it is necessary to levy only .35 mills for this purpose as opposed to 2.75 mills last year.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the High School Music Room and all registered voters may cast their ballot.

Dorff, Bentschneider Named To Commission

When the Planning Commission meets next Monday at 8 p.m. in the village hall there will be a couple of new faces.

Village president Gale Koebbe, with the approval of the council has appointed Donald Dorff and Eugene Bentschneider to the Commission.

They will fill the expired one year terms of Douglas Higgins and Millard Uphaus.

Last year when the Planning Commission was first formed the village president, Eugene Bentschneider and council appointed six men to the commission, two for one year, two for two years, and two for three years. This was done to stagger the expiration dates of their terms of office.

Dorff and Bentschneider are now appointed for three year terms as will other commission members in the future, Koebbe said.

Clarence Fielder, a life long resident of the Manchester area is a graduate of the Class of 1941 of Manchester High.

In June of that year he enrolled in a tool and die apprenticeship course at Ford Motor Co. This was interrupted by 27 months in service. He served in the states and Belgium with the 109th Marine Maintenance. After his discharge he went back to Ford Motor and received his journeyman's card in June 1948.

Mr. Fielder is co-owner of the Manchester Tool & Die Inc. and Manchester Stamping Corp. He is a member of the Community and has served as president. Served on the Board of Education from 1961 to 1964, Past Grand Knight of the K of C, Recreation Committee Trustee on Family Service Committee, Advisory Committee of High School Vocational Education, vice president of the Athletic Boosters, Optimist Club member and manager of Klager Chix softball team.

He is a member of St. Mary's and of the users club. He is married to the former Margaret Feldkamp and has three daughters and six sons.

Loren Trolz, incumbent on the school board for 11 years. He began first, by filling a one year vacancy on the Board of Education and has served continuously since that time.

A graduate of Manchester High School, he is a well known farmer in the area ever since that time.

While serving on the Board of Education he has worked on two building programs which included the Nellie Ackerson School, the High School and the addition to the Pleasant Lake School.

He served for three years on the Board of Directors of the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau, and has served on the Board of Review of Manchester Township. Presently he is a member of the Manchester Township Zoning Board. He served on the MHS Alumni reunion on its 75th anniversary.

He and his wife, the former Margaret Lowary, have three children, all of whom are graduates of Manchester High School. Currently he is treasurer of the Iron Creek Church of which he is a member.

DOUBLE A TO TRAIN DRAFTING DETAILERS

Specialization of work has often meant new positions and changed careers. Women are now being trained to classes and on-the-job training for some of the work men have been doing in the field of drafting. Their abilities really have long been known in main areas of drafting and an outstanding example, right at home, has been Mrs. Robert Weider, who was trained there was, for several years, a competent detailer.

Women in Europe have, for many years, been educated in all drafting and a two year course at Pittsburgh school has graduated a total of 50 women. School president believes there are about 2000 positions in city alone for which these graduates qualify.

Double A's program will consist of four weeks of "class-room" training followed by twelve weeks training in which actual drawings are redrawn, revised, or, in case of simple parts, new drawings are made.

Successful trainees would then qualify for positions as detailers with full pay rates currently paid in the industry.

Double A's program also recognizes a growing interest in part time work which doesn't interfere so significantly with other family interests. Detailing work requires the supervision of draftsmen and various design and project engineers but it is not necessary for detailers to be on the job at all the hours their supervisors are working. It is therefore possible for many detailers to work substantially the same hours as our public schools and day camps use in their schedules. The present need for people in drafting is great, but the program at Double A is not intended to be temporary. Future requirements for this work do not appear to be less, even with some automated drafting equipment in the field, than it has been in the past. But the past sources of people for this work are not expected to yield as many applicants and it is the belief of industry that part time women detailers will be important for a long time.

READING PROGRAM PROGRESS REPORT

Inasmuch as the federally financed Title I reading program being offered this summer by the Manchester School District is designed for students with particular degrees and types of reading difficulties, a great deal of care has been taken in establishing an eligible group.

This process has been completed and over ninety letters sent to families who have children eligible. To date over fifty replies have been received and all except two of these have indicated an interest in the program.

As replies are received by the school the parents will be contacted for their preference regarding scheduling. Since students will only attend class about three times a week for an hour or so each time, there will be an opportunity to be flexible and schedule students in such a way as to conflict as little as possible with other summer activities or jobs.

The staff of teachers who will be involved with this project are Mrs. Arlene Meigs, Mrs. Patricia McKean, Mrs. Marian Kime, Mrs. Jane Reas, Mrs. Marvel Toth, and Mrs. Mary Blossom. Ted Tapping, Title I Project Administrator, states that each class will be held to six or less, and many students will be individually tutored. As in other Title I reading projects in the country, teachers have been given a great deal of freedom in regard to the use of teaching methods and the purchase of instructional materials.

Districtwide of field trips for elementary and secondary students will be taken to various sites and activities during the program. For example, eight students from the Manchester School System are to be taken to the University of Michigan for a summer reading program. The program is to be held at the University of Michigan and is to be held during the summer months.

Area Schools Study Vocational Education Program

Three Washtenaw County school boards have sent letters to the trustees of the Washtenaw Community College expressing a sense of urgency about providing county-wide vocational education for high school students.

These schools include Manchester, Chelsea, and the Intermediate School District. They ask some type of cooperative program with the college and all secondary districts. In March the college board agreed to work with the school districts in developing vocational education but rejected the superintendents' proposal that the college take the responsibility for 11th and 12th grade vocational training.

Other possibilities would be a centrally located vocational high school, a large comprehensive high school in each district, a centralized program with students traveling to different schools for vocational classes, the community college as administrator of an area skill center for persons of all ages, and a countywide plan for an area vocational school.

The college trustees have said their responsibility is to get a respectable post-high school program going and that if the college "spreads itself too thin, it might not be effective."

Finances and control of all high school level programs should remain the responsibility of the secondary districts, the college board members believe and at this time have taken no action on the question of the three schools.

At this time plans call for opening the college on September 5. Eleven of the 14 persons named to the college faculty hold master's degrees and vocational instructors without degrees have many years experience in their specialties. Salaries range from $3,000 to $11,700 for teachers and instructors and are based on quality of experience, David H. Dunitz, college president told the board.

The first 117 students have been accepted with at least one coming from each high school in the college district. Plans call for 2,000 enrollment the first year.

David S. Pollock, dean of students personnel services, reported that each person who applied for enrollment was accepted after they were checked to be sure they would have a high school diploma or will be over 18 years by the opening day of school.

Local draft boards will now accept a letter from the college that a youth has been accepted and he will be draft exempt until the first review of grades, probably in the first half of the fall semester.

Ann Arbor high school is represented by the largest number of those accepted with a total of 23. Other schools are: Ypsilanti, 17; Manchester, Saline, Lincoln and University each 2; Chelsea 14; Dexter, 9; Willow Run, 6; Roseville, 4; Whitmore Lake, 5; Milan, 6 and St. Thomas 1. The

FLAG DAY JUNE 14

On Flag Day, June 14, Americans everywhere will have an opportunity to express pride in their flag, their nation, and the lofty principle which is its ideal.

As a part of its continuing campaign called "Operation Show Your Colors", The American Legion urges all citizens to display the American Flag on Flag Day as well as other appropriate occasions during the year.

For the 13th consecutive year, a special program—"New Glory for Old Glory" is being co-sponsored by the American Legion and the National Institute of Drycleaning which represents some 36,000 firms in the United States.

Under this program, members of NID are asked to encourage the display of flags of presentable appearance on Flag Day and other occasions, by offering to dry clean free of charge, United States Flags during the period of June 1 to 12. Check with your drycleaner and see if he subscribes to this program.

JUVENILE HOME AND COURT PROPOSED

The Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors will place a millage or bond issue on the November 8 general election ballot to build a combined juvenile court and detention home.

The committee will recommend to the supervisors that it seek one mill taxing power ($1 per $1,000 of equalized valuation) for each of two years. Other alternatives would be two mills for one year and bonding. Alternate resolutions for the ballot will be presented to the full board.

It is estimated that the cost of the combined facility is $1,600,000. It would supply offices for the judge and social work and clerical staff, a courtroom, and a detention home for 25 children.

Judge of Probate, John W. Conlin told the committee that the detention home, which holds 12 youths is inadequate, and this could be converted into a group foster home for teenage boys. The court has wanted such a facility for some time.

The court will begin an expanded school program in the present detention home this fall with two full-time teachers and diagnostic services to replace the half-time teacher now provided. For the past four years the county has had similar homes for teenage girls. Youths could be brought to the new court building to participate in the school program.

U of M Economist Harvey Sasser said the new facility is one of those needed capital projects in various regions in Region 14. He is pointed out that the existing court arrangements impede an orderly flow of court business.

Recent 14 mill and committee are preparing detailed recommendations for the new facility with Judge Conlin and his court staff.

Director of a new program, "Judgeship as an industry," will be made it possible for the first time for the juvenile court system to be moved from the county building and concentrated in one location. With two judges, one will be assigned solely to juvenile work and can be away from the county courthouse and probate court.

The committee points out that this would alleviate serious space demands in the court house.

In addition to preparing a suggested millage resolution to the call board at the June meeting, the committee authorized Judge Conlin to hire an architect to begin preliminary plans for the combined facility. This would be built on the "county farm" property south of Washtenaw Avenue between Manchester and Platt Roads. The present medical care facility and juvenile home are located there and a new library is to be built there with construction to begin this summer.

Roy Smith, Board Chairman and the Probate Court committee agreed on having a millage election as soon as possible. One committee member immediately questioned whether or not the county will have sufficient time to fully inform the voters before the fall election. The Board's Ways and Means will have much of the responsibility in "selling" the public on its need for financing its case.

Legal Aid Clinic Has Many Clients

Washtenaw County's Legal Aid Clinic has provided legal aid to more than 570 clients since it opened last September although there has been a shortage of funds controversy over its eventual future.

An average of eight or nine cases each week have been given second and third year law students in the University Law School to handle in the area involving domestic problems such as collection debts, family problems, care, child custody, backport and divorce.

The clinic is trying to establish a public office hours at the Milan Correctional Institution. The clinic can only accept clients whose monthly income is below specified level. Certain types cases, such as creditor's collection over $75, claims for money damages based on negligence or property matters, also cannot be handled unless the client can at least licensed attorneys used his case.

Usually about 10 per cent of the cases eventually wind up in court. The clinic is operating in a rented building at 210 N. Fourth Street, Ann Arbor with volunteer attorneys who are trained by a county legal secretary. Their fee equipment has been either donated by firms or borrowed from Law School.

The biggest need at the clinic for the services of a supervising attorney, according to a spokesman of the group, John Zulack. There was a huge communication problem as students would generally work two-hour shifts and supervising attorneys would be in and out of the office on a part-time basis.

A probable grant in the fall in the Office of Economic Opportunity should solve the problem and most other financial problems.

The Manchester Board of Education is respectfully requesting that all qualified voters in the school district SUPPORT the board's request for extra operational millage on June 13, 1966.

The Board's request for five mills of extra operational monies (TWO MILLS MORE THAN LAST YEAR) was necessary because of an increase in the teacher's salary schedule.

THE TOTAL SCHOOL MILLAGE IS UP ONLY 2.6 MILLS OVER LAST YEAR. This slight increase covers BOTH the new high school debt levy and the increased operational millage.

Table with 4 columns: Millage Levied, 1964-65, 1965-66, 1966-67. Rows include Allocated, Extra Voted, Total Operational, 1964 Debt, 1965 Debt, 1966-67, 1965-66, and ONLY 2.60 MORE THAN LAST YEAR.
