The village of Manchester will present checks of $15, $10 and $5 to the owners of homes which were selected for their outstanding outside Christmas decorations.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Alber.

Winners were Clifford Tracy of 521 Adrian Street, Arthur Cathey of 201 West Duncan Street and Charles Knorpp of 630 W. Main Street. The Tracy residence, which sets high on a hill, was trimmed with strings of red lights to form Christmas bells and trees that could be seen a long distance from the house. A large plastic Santa filled a picture window.

The second place winner, Art Cathey, showed outstanding ability in decorating the front porch of a small apartment with clever tree and wreath decorations. The Charles Knorpp residence had a blue and green lighted tree and a manger scene in the front yard. The judges said they had difficulty in screening nine unusual displays.

Handicapped Children's Program

A swimming and gym program for all handicapped children in Washtenaw County will begin Saturday, January 13. Further information can be obtained by calling Ed Eldridge, who is the director of the program. He is interested in learning how many patients want to enroll children. The schedule is designed for children regardless of the level at which they are handicapped and is a part of the county program for Retarded Children.

The "Swim and Gym" program also includes the mentally handicapped during the winter session with classes from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Saturday, beginning January 13. Mr. Eldridge suggests that parents plan to have another child accompany the handicapped youngster. This, he pointed out, will give the handicapped child a sense of security and confidence.

The lessons are given at the Tappan Junior High School. There is no charge and will include children five years and up. This is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Recreation Department and the Michigan Crippled Children's Association. For further information Mr. Eldridge can be reached by calling 665-8866. A child need not be mentally retarded to be included. A child with impaired vision or hearing—or one with a physical defect can be enrolled. There is plenty of volunteer supervision—enough so a child can have individual assistance if necessary.

According to Mrs. Ann Eliason, of the Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, two per cent of the school population (that's 1,000 youngsters) are being educated in special classes for the men tally handicapped. She said that a mentally handicapped person who is properly trained and employed can return 4 tax dollars for every one invested in his vocational preparation.

She emphasized that the cost of education and training a youngster in a Michigan institution for the mentally handicapped is about $4,000 per year, while $1,500 will educate and train the same child within the Washtenaw County Community.

The Washtenaw County Association for Retarded Children (WARC) is anxious to assist parents and suggests that those wanting further information can receive it by calling 482-0820.

Christmas Program Aids Orphanage

The Methodist Church School and choir presented their Christmas program on December 17. The Church School program was titled "Peace on Earth" and was directed by Mrs. Robert Downey and Mrs. Egbert Treat. The choirs were under the direction of Mrs. Celestia Ingraham, Mrs. O. W. Cooper and Mrs. Jack Rowe.

Mrs. Paul Kappeler was organist. The offering that evening amounted to $72.94. This is to be sent to the Arthur McMellon Memorial Orphanage in Vietnam. It is located near the village of Ben Cat which is about 35 miles northwest of Saigon. They first heard about the orphanage when Chaplain Archie Roberts was at the church to tell them about his tour of duty in Vietnam. He had some pictures of the orphanage and told them there was an article in the July issue of Reader's Digest about it. From this article they learned much about Sgt. Arthur McMellon.

He was mess sergeant for the 1st. Infantry Div. and was always doing something special for the men and children. It was while making a trip into Ben Cat to check on plans for a Christmas party for 500 children that his jeep was hit by a grenade. After his death the children continued to look for Sgt. Mac, as they called him. This inspired the men and they came up with the idea of the orphanage in Sgt. Mac's memory.

Money came from various sources. The Vietnamese government gave a 15 acre building site. The American soldiers gave $10,000 to insure the first years operating expenses. Even the Vietnamese soldiers gave from their meager wages.

We need parking...

At last month's Planning Commission meeting, consultants Vilcoan-Leman & Associates, Inc. presented the results of the questionnaire that was delivered to the homes by the Jaycees. In this and future issues of the Enterprise, we are going to comment on the various answers that people gave to these questions. First on the list is the question of parking space. Many people complained in their comments about there not being enough parking in town. These people are customers who want to shop but can't find a place to park. A shortage of parking is nothing new to towns, but we think it is when a town as small and uncrowded as ours can't find enough space. In the survey, the results went like this: Parking Facilities -- Very Good, 5%; Good, 18%; Fair, 35%; Poor, 35%; No Response, 8%. We think this shows the feeling in general. We also hear many merchants complaining about the poor use being made of available parking. We don't think this should be the problem in Manchester. You don't have to look far to find space that could be used very effectively for parking.

BEN FRANKLIN

We bring this problem up now because now is the time to be planning steps that can be taken this spring to eliminate the parking problem.

We think it is the duty of each merchant to personally study the available area and then get together a proposal for some action to be taken.

To give this a sense of urgency, we think the point that 50% of those answering the questionnaire stated that they do their clothing, furniture and appliance shopping out of town. This means something is wrong. Increased parking may not be the whole solution but its importance to today's shoppers is tremendous.

Thank you...

The holidays are over and we start a new year. We would like to take this opportunity to thank the merchants and advertisers who supported the paper during the four months we owned it in 1967.

We needed those four months to begin to get organized. This didn't leave much time for writing editorials, but we figured of most importance was to first get the paper out on time so we could attract more advertisers and put the paper on a paying basis. This we have done and we thank the advertisers for making it possible.

We appreciate the many comments from people who like receiving the paper on time and finding it worth reading.

As to the future, we can only say we have just begun. We hope that this year will produce one of the finest weeklies in the state. Of more importance that the "Enterprise" will be a real asset to Manchester.

INCOME TAX TIPS REPORTING ON SCHEDULE D

Schedule D, which is used to report the sale of capital assets from a farm business, is often the most difficult part of tax reporting on which many farmers slight themselves.

Some farmers still report dairy breeding and work stock held and used for at least one year on Schedule F rather than on D. Breeding animals reported on Schedule D are considered long term if held over 12 months and their gains are only half taxable.

Sales of machinery, a farm or shares of stock held for more than six months should also be reported on Schedule D. This must include the amount paid for the items and depreciated as allowed in previous years. Here, adequate depreciation and cost records on all assets are essential. Computerized records, such as offered through MSU's Telfarm program, can prove invaluable.

Many farmers hurt themselves by not being aware of the investment credit rule or not adequately understanding it. Instituted a few years ago, this common income tax law allows a taxpayer seven per cent credit on certain items of personal property which are subject to depreciation. This has a very important effect on tax liability since it results in a direct reduction in the tax owed and is not merely subtracted from the income. The purchase of single large items of machinery can wipe out a farmer's entire federal tax liability for a given year.

After several revisions the investment credit law now makes farmers eligible for investment credit as long as the amount does not exceed $20,000 during the period from October 9, 1966 to March 9, 1967.

A $50,000 limit was also placed on accelerated depreciation on building improvement made during this same time period. However, few farmers spend this amount on improvements in this short time period.

Another mistake some dairy farmers make is failure to report raised dairy cows on Schedule D. Raised breeding stock has no depreciation, but should be put on Schedule D with purchased stock. However, a reasonable salvage value must be subtracted before computing the depreciation for purchased breeding animals.

Changes in the past several years for computing gains on machinery and improvements, now make it impossible to receive an unusual tax advantage from rapid depreciation. Thus, reasonable lengths of life should be used for depreciating machinery and equipment.

WINTER SPORTS ACTIVITIES IN FULL SWING

Despite a start less favorable than last year, Michigan's winter resort owners need only cold weather to get things really booming.

For more than half of Michigan's 53 winter resorts now have modern snow-making machines and aren't dependent upon old-fashioned snow, according to an Automobile Club of Michigan survey.

Skiers and other resort visitors will find rates on the average only slightly higher than last year.

If the weather cooperates from here on, resort owners still hope to have a good year, perhaps attracting some 900,000 skiers by the time the winter season is over in March.

Skiers and other resort visitors will find rates on the average only slightly higher than last year.

Since last winter season, major improvements have been made at many centers, including new lodgings, slopes and multiple lifts and additional chair lifts, snow machines, tows and other facilities.

Skiers alone may spend some $30 million, an increase of about $2 million over the 1966-67 season when winter sports conditions were ideal.

Winter sports facilities range from modest to plush, with a price for every budget, Fisher pointed out.

About half of Michigan's sports centers have lighted slopes for night skiing. Seven have heated swimming pools, two have air-plane landing strips, 43 offer meals and 26 have cocktail lounges and bars.

Michigan's total of ski resorts is exceeded in the midwest and east only by New York, which has 113, Fisher said.

A great deal of winter sports action is in western Michigan, where 38 areas represent almost half the state's total.

Ski centers which made 1967 debuts are Schuss Mountain, west of Manacelona in northwest lower Michigan, and Black Forest Ski area, west of Port Huron in southeast Michigan.

POEMS

Here are two poems submitted by Mr. Raffaelli's Seventh grade English classes. More of the poems will appear next week.

MY CHRISTMAS TREE

Weepy the willow is my Christmas tree. He is as big as a man; He always has candy in his boughs, And is commonly known as Big Dan.

Big Dan was well known by everyone. He was 25 feet tall; He was the best tree around I knew; He would shake at my call.

Big Dan was like a pet to me; For I have no dog or cat. I like him as you can see, For he wore a star for his hat.

Big Dan felt so free, But he surely must die. And let the people come and see That he was a wonderful guy.

Brad Roberts English I

THE CROOKED CHRISTMAS TREE

There once was a crooked Christmas tree, Who no one wanted to buy. All the others said he would be free, But all he did was cry.

One day the snow started to fall, And he was left alone; All alone to sit and bawl; All alone to moan.

The next day some people came, Came and looked him over; But they were just the same, Same as all the others.

In the lot where two trees, One was being chopped down. The two trees had blown in the breeze, And now in the air there wasn't a sound.

But it couldn't be, It was the crooked Christmas tree. How plainly I could see, That the tree was me.

Zoning Enforcement Is Main Topic At Township Board Meeting

At the Township Board meeting Monday night, supervisor Clayton Parr called on the chairman of the Board of Appeals, Don Limpert, to give a report concerning the number of house trailers in the township.

Mr. Limpert reported that on May 1 of last year there were 55 trailers located in the township. At that time the township board decided that stricter enforcement was needed to curb the influx of trailers that were locating illegally. Also at that time, the Zoning Ordinance in regard to house trailers was clarified and trailer owners were notified that when they applied for a Special Use Permit they would be required to comply with the existing Zoning Ordinance.

At a special board meeting held on December 14, the township attorney was instructed to start action against those who were in violation, but hadn't take steps to have the trailers moved or made an attempt to comply with the ordinance. At Monday's meeting it was reported that the attorney had not taken any action until late Monday afternoon. Mr. Limpert said that he had received word that afternoon from the attorney saying that he had started action against 10 or 12 trailer owners. The attorney also asked that the chairman of the Board of Appeals sign these complaints. Mr. Limpert asked the township board if they wanted him to sign the complaints. He said that he felt that only those three who had actually been before the Board and turned down should be served with a show-cause complaint. He also said that he felt the other nine or ten should be notified by registered letter that they were in violation before any further action be taken. The Board made this a resolution and passed it unanimously.

In other action, Louis Shaw, who lives adjacent to the motorcycle club property on Wellwood Road was present to inquire how the township case against the club was progressing. He expressed concern that the case not be dropped. Supervisor Parr assured him that they were still proceeding in their attempt to keep the cyclists from using the property. This case had been scheduled to come up for hearing early in January according to Parr. The motorcycle club is opposing township action on the grounds that the township zoning ordinance was not in effect or properly adopted back when the club first started using the property for motorcycle meets.

Also discussed by the Board was a request by interested citizens on Schleweis Road to have something done with the road before next summer. Supervisor Parr stated that the township has nothing to say about what is done with the roads. For the past several years, they have been under the care of the Washtenaw County Road Commission. A meeting between the road commission and the residents along Schleweis Road is being arranged to see if something can be done.

Others present at the meeting included, Constable Moore, Russell Wolff, William Rhoades, George Macomber and Harry Macomber.

Regular Township Board meetings are held the second Monday of each quarter. These fall in January, April, July and October. The public is welcome at these meetings.

Bulletin COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS' MEETING

At Tuesday's meeting, the County Board of Supervisors rescinded a resolution that proposed Washtenaw County be made up of only one court district. This action followed a Monday night meeting of the supervisors in the western half of the county who were concerned that under only one district, this half of the county would not get its own court facilities.

The rescinded resolution had been passed last year in connection with the legislature's plan to redivide the entire state into court districts. This is made necessary since the new Constitution does away with the office of Justice of the Peace. At the end of 1968, if the law remains the same, there will be no Justices of the Peace.

Clayton Parr, Manchester Township Supervisor, stated that "Under that resolution, our hands were tied as to getting any court judge or court facilities in this part of the county."

"Due to the population being mostly in the eastern half of the county, we would have had to drive to Ann Arbor for even minor violations," Supervisor Parr added.

Maury Hoffman, supervisor for Sylvan Township, presented a new resolution which asked that a separate district be created in the western half of the county made up of perhaps eight townships. This district would then elect their own judge and have a court located in the area. This resolution was referred to committee for further study. This will give the supervisors time to prepare a new proposal creating the districts they want.

"The important thing was to have a clean slate when the legislature convenes so that we have a chance to bargain for what we want," said Supervisor Parr. "Rescinding that resolution was an important step in getting adequate local court facilities."

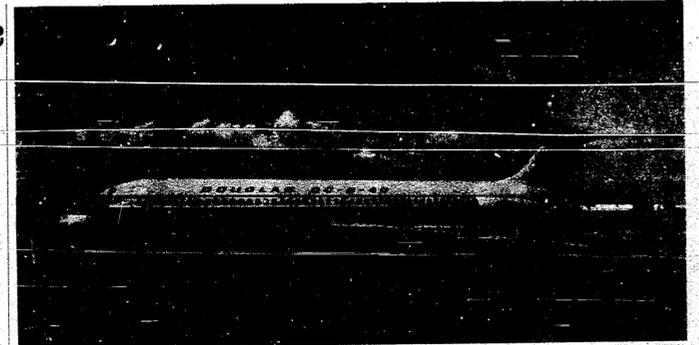

We hope to have more information on this next week.

Manchester Boy Who Loved Airplanes Became Chief Test Pilot For Douglas Aircraft

As the S. S. Queen Mary neared her final berth in Long Beach, California this past December, a beautiful silver-tipped twinjet welcomed her sister momarck. This gracious and famous gesture took place 500 miles off the coast of Baja, California and was a flight closely connected with Manchester, A. G. Heimerdinger, son of Mrs. Charles Heimerdinger, was at the controls of this new Douglas aircraft as the original welcome of the British-liner on June 1, 1936 on her maiden voyage to New York City was reenacted.

On that day, thirty-four and a half years ago, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker commanded a flight of these Eastern Air Lines Douglas DC-3 transports and dropped flowers on the ship outside New York Harbor. In salute of her final voyage in December, 1967, showers of flowers were again showered on the S. S. Queen Mary. This time a former Manchester resident was the

Gasoline Taxes Increased

Michigan motorists' state gasoline taxes increased 17 per cent January 1 when the state gas tax was raised from six to seven cents a gallon. Automobile Club of Michigan reports.

This brings total state gas and weight taxes paid by Michigan motorists each year to almost $325,000,000, adding $34 million. Price of 1969 auto license plates (called the weight tax) will increase 57 per cent also, adding another $28 million in revenue for highway building in 1969.

"Michigan motorists paid over $700 million in state and federal taxes for owning and operating their cars before these increases," Auto Club General Manager Fred N. Rehm said. "The $286,966,000 they paid in Michigan gas and weight taxes in 1966 equalled 19.4 per cent of the state's total tax revenue that year," he added. "Before the current increases, it already cost a Michigan motorist over $600 in state and federal taxes to buy and operate a low-price car for one year, assuming he drove 10,000 miles per year," Rehm said. The two new taxes will add from $16 to $20 to the average motorist's driving bill per year. Michigan ranks seventh in the command pilot of a new trim Douglas DC-9 aircraft. Still in flight test operations, this model aircraft was first piloted into the sky by Heimerdinger on November 28, 1967 from Long Beach, California, just days before the gala welcome of the S. S. Queen Mary. Designed to operate from short runways and short-to-medium-range routes, this new airjet presents a new look of many of the world air terminals. Heimerdinger termed the completed maiden flight of the DC-9 Series 40 as "perfect."

Douglas Aircraft Chief Pilot Heimerdinger is self assured, competent and an entrusted employee, according to a Douglas spokesman. "He accepts his responsibilities in a cool, confident manner, something extremely important in the delicate tasks he must perform in flight testing new aircraft."

This newest model he is testing is the largest of the DC-9 series. The fuselage is 125.6 feet long, 93.4 feet wing span with a wing area of 1,000.7 sq. ft., fuel capacity 3,679 gallons and a gross weight at take-off of 95,000 pounds. Pratt & Whitney Aircraft JT8D-9 engines with take-off thrust of 14,500 pounds each are capable of an average 555 m.p.h. level flight speed. Perhaps this new model may one day have a sister ship serving
