Sportsman Club Growing Steadily

The Manchester Sportsman Club is located on Grossman Rd. on twenty acres of beautiful rolling hills of maple, oak and pine trees. The club house is 32' by 72' with parking facilities with expansion planned for the near future. The club house is used regularly for wedding receptions and private parties in addition to the club-planned activities.

The Sportsman Club is active in community affairs and sponsors a trap shoot in the fall, fox hunts, fishing trips to area lakes and a Boy Scout Troop. Twice monthly they sponsor a dance, open to the public and featuring the Lorenz Wackenhut Band. Newly elected president, Spec Kappler declares these dances to be "especially fun for everyone with square dancing, round dancing and everything in between. Come join the fun."

Other officers are Claren Knauss, Sr., Vice-president; Francis Heckaman, Secretary; Recording Secretary, Walt Kies; and A. E. Patterson, Treasurer. These men are the 15th elected officers of the Sportsman Club since its first official election in 1953. Although a relatively new club, it now has over 100 members.

It all began with ten men who had a common interest - hunting. These men gathered often at Pat Patterson's sporting goods store and decided to find a place to target practice. Hank Sokolowski gave them permission to use his gravel pit which became their target area for almost four years. By then, interest had grown; other sportsmen heard of their activities and eventually twenty acres were purchased from Frank Carlson on Grossman Road.

It took a great deal of hard, dedicated work to build a club house but it was completely built by Sportsman Club members. Work began in May, 1963 and the official dedication took place in 1966. One of these charter members who worked so diligently was Lorenz Burkhardt who was then given the honor of first president in the new club house with 27 charter members then. The first officers of the Manchester Sportsman Club were A. E. Patterson, President; Gaylord Knauss, Vice-President; Lawrence DeVerna, Secretary; Harold Dresch, Treasurer; and Stanton Roesch, Legal Advisor.

This is a club the members are justly proud of and feel still more can be accomplished by active participation of its present members and the new members who will join in the future. President Spec Kappler adds, "Some members have worked exceptionally hard with donated hours to get where we are today."

Membership includes men from Chelsea, Brooklyn, Bridgewater, Novi, Clinton, Tecumseh and the surrounding community. "New active members are most welcome and members of the club have information for sportsmen interested in joining," President Spec Kappler adds.

CATHOLIC SOCIAL SERVICES TO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

The Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County announces its Ninth Annual Dinner Meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 13 in the Michigan Union Ballroom. The Honorable Francis L. O'Brien, Judge of Washtenaw County Probate Court will speak on the topic, "Our Community and Our Youth."

Know Your Candidates

This week's questions are:
No. 1 - What do you foresee as being one of our biggest problems in the future? No. 2 - Do you feel anything can be done to promote more public interest and participation in council activities? Don't forget that all these candidates are running as Republicans. This means that your next mayor and council will be decided at the primary election on Monday Feb. 19.

For mayor are two candidates; you will choose one. For council, there are nine (9) running; you will choose three (3). The regular election held in March will be only a formality, as everyone is running on one ticket. If you want to help elect our next officials, you must do so in the Primary.

Wendell Reinhart - Council

No. 1
One of the problems in the future will be housing. As we improve on water, sewer and street programs and make plans for more industrial development, we will need more homes. We will need middle-priced and more expensive homes.

No. 2
I think one of the ways to create interest is through public relations. We must keep our people informed. Our paper has already started to do this.

Our people should feel free to visit our council meetings at any time.

Some people would rather just talk to their councilman than to attend the meetings and they should feel free to do this also.

John Althouse - Mayor

No. 1
Proper planning for our village future is or should be of prime concern to every village official and citizen.

The lack of sound physical and financial planning today will be our biggest problem of the future.

No. 2
Attempts in the form of questionnaires have indicated little interest in Village activities. Methods of stimulation of concern in public affairs are no doubt many and could include such methods as citizens committees and more active press coverage of village affairs.

James Scully - Council

Without being directly involved in the Village activities, it is quite difficult for me to look into the future and point out particular problems. I do feel though that our need for storm sewers will probably become one of our bigger problems.

No. 2
A lot of things could be done to promote more public interest, but I don't think it should be done this way. I feel that the people themselves have to be interested enough in the Village to attend the council activities without a personal invitation.

E. Guy Little - Council

I foresee streets as our biggest problem. My reasoning for this is as follows: (1) It is the most expensive problem confronting the village. (2) Our present streets give non-residents such a poor image of Manchester, it turns away many potential investors for our village, whether they live in home or business.

No. 2
Yes, we must try to promote the active interest of citizens and not continue as we do now with a reaction-type interest only. I would propose that Council keep the public informed on all their meetings as they do now, but also include a statement on the agenda for these meetings. I feel that

Spec Kappler To Retire Feb. 9

On February 9, Spec Kappler will retire from Double A Products Company Maintenance Department after fourteen years of employment. Prior to that he was a carpenter and bricklayer in the Manchester area. He's lived in Manchester all his life and says, "I love this community and it's wonderful to have lots of friends. I speak to everyone, young people as well because I dearly love youngsters."

Spec Kappler is the newly elected president of the Manchester Sportsman Club. His favorite hobbies are fishing, playing euchre where he is currently involved in the American Legion Euchre Tournament, and although he doesn't bowl anymore, he is an enthusiastic roofer for his one-time Manchester team.

He lives on Duncan Street with his wife, Ada, formerly of Jackson. Spec has three sisters and five brothers.

Friday, February 9 is also special in another way for Spec. It is his 65th birthday. With his enthusiasm, hobbies and many friends, Laurence "Spec" Kappler will probably enjoy his retirement to the fullest.

the publication of these agendas might be the spark that could kindle the fire of interest.

Joseph Fitzgerald - Council

No. 1
The problem that I believe will be one of our biggest concerns in the future is present today only on a smaller scale. The need for improvement within the town on a limited budget. By improvements, I mean sanitary as well as a storm sewer program. Also a sound street program, where-in once you have improved a street or section of that street you are done with it.

No. 2
No I personally don't believe a set program could be initiated to stir interest in the Council for the majority of the people of Manchester. The people of Manchester in the past as present will be on hand to be counted when an issue is forced.

Donald Ross - Mayor

At this time it would be hard to say what would be the biggest problem in the future when we have so many right now.

There is the water situation, the bad roads, no recreational facilities for the young people and inadequate housing. Many people now working in Manchester have had to find housing elsewhere because they just can't find houses in the village.

No. 2
Yes, like a new building and everything on the ground floor. More of the public and especially our senior citizens would attend these meetings if they knew they would not have to climb 20 or 30 steps to the second floor. Also, more publicity as to the day and time of these meetings.

Albert Gaige - Council

No. 1
Personally I believe that the biggest problem in the future will

LOW-COST (?) HOUSING

While listening to the radio last Friday, we kept hearing that Ann Arbor was going to build 135 units of low-cost housing for $2.6 million dollars. The builder in this case stated that this cost would only be for the building shell and would not include any plumbing, heating, utilities, etc. It didn't occur to us to figure out what the cost per unit would be until that evening. A little work with a pencil put that figure at just under $19,000 each. Add to this the costs of finishing these units into livable quarters it could easily push that total to $25,000 each. In other words, the plan called for housing 135 needy families to the possible time of $25,000 each.

In reading the Ann Arbor News we discovered hidden inside a short notice that a public meeting would be held Sunday evening at Zion Lutheran Church at which there would be a discussion held concerning low-cost housing.

We attended that meeting at which Mayor Hatcher and four councilmen presented their views on the subject as well as explaining what had been done so far. We were relieved to learn that the plan mentioned above has not been accepted and that it is merely one of several recommendations being worked on by the Ann Arbor Housing Commission. Mayor Hatcher asked that if anyone had ideas on this, he would appreciate hearing them. While we're not directly connected with Ann Arbor, we would like to offer our thoughts.

Of first concern are these large figures continually tossed around: 2.6 million, 3.5 million, etc. We wonder if perhaps with the use of these figures, people don't take the time to consider the actual amount involved; that 2.6 million or $19,000 per family is to give one family a roof over their head. They would pay approximately 25% of the monthly rent with the Federal government picking up the rest. These would be maintained by the city. It's not hard to imagine that in five years the cost of these units could reach $30,000 each. This fact should alarm people, but aside from a few undecipherable mutterings, we hear nothing. Could it be that the average citizen has become numb to these large figures and, therefore, doesn't concern himself with them? We wonder.

Second on our list is need for low-rent housing. We can't argue against that. We know that there are families who wouldn't maintain a decent house if they were given one. On the other hand, most of these people are merely not able to afford the high rent which is required for a nice place today. We don't feel qualified to sit in judgment on the needs of these 135 families. In years past, towns like Ann Arbor could seal off these type of people and keep them in one section. Even with new housing, they are bunched together and hidden. Today we don't think anyone can hide 135 families when it could cost the taxpayers $25,000 for each and everyone. At least we hope not. We also hope that this is going to get people interested enough to be involved in this problem and help solve it. Our own personal thought is don't give anything to anyone for nothing, because it does more harm than good; but we're willing to help in any way we can if a plan is offered that will help people help themselves.

As we see it, the Ann Arbor City Council has a choice. It can add to the already huge national debt and the degrading of these people by snatching up the money offered and building the needed apartments, or it can take on the added responsibility of adopting a plan that will make self-supporters and future taxpayers out of these 135 families.

GUEST EDITORIAL

"Easy Money" and "Monopoly" used to be popular family games. Today, it seems they've also become popular federal games. Despite a conservative 90th Congress, our country will continue to support a massive federal budget in the coming year. One of the largest federal expenditures will continue to be for higher education.

Few quarrel with the legitimate needs of higher education - although many are increasingly bewildered by Uncle Sam's definition of both. Under a myriad of definitions, federal aid has unfortunately become an essential and indispensable part of "survival" to most colleges and universities. Several predictions have been made that higher education will be almost totally "monopolized" by government support in a few years.

It's gratifying that one small college still believes public taxes are not the answer to "survival." Michigan's Hillsdale College believes the opposite - that genuine survival does, and will, come only from total independence from federal aid.

A determined group of trustees, alumni, parents and friends have clearly stated that Hillsdale is one college that will stay clear of federal aid, federal funds, federal support, federal grants, federal allocations, federal appropriations, and federal assistance. By any name, they believe, acceptance of federal money inevitably winds up in a bureaucratic web of controlled education.

Why be so hard-nosed, when a federal handout would surely provide new assets for students, faculty and college? The reasons are many, with old-fashioned principle being among the foremost.

Hillsdale believes, and teaches through a series of required courses, that this country was founded and gained its stature through personal freedoms, initiative and free enterprise. Hillsdale's backers join millions of other concerned citizens in fear that the goose which laid the golden egg has become brot in the federal stew.

Hillsdale's independence from federal aid means the college will remain free to select its students and faculty as it has throughout its 124 years - on the basis of scholastic potential or academic ability, regardless of race, religion or sex.

Hillsdale will remain free to offer a well-balanced liberal arts program to an established maximum of 1,100 students. It will not become susceptible to federal emphasis in any particular area of education. It will not be coerced into accepting more students or unqualified students. Hillsdale will remain free to choose the curriculum and the books to preserve independent and open thought - the backbone of education and, indeed, life itself.

Hillsdale's professors will remain free to teach rather than being advised of their research and writing responsibilities, as frequently called for in federally-supported contracts.

Hillsdale will have no embarrassment from not being able to accommodate its accepted students because a half-finished dormitory or class building has been halted due to slashes in federal funds. Similarly, faculty salaries, tenure and sabbaticals; tuition fees, scholarships, operating costs and countless other factors may be planned intelligently, free of the fluctuations and narcotic need of federal money.

Hillsdale's stand on independent education causes difficulties in competition with the vast

SUPERVISOR'S REPORTS

(Editor's Note: The following reports are from the Public Relations Committee of the Board of Supervisors. They cover the actions of the various committees.)

JOINT MEETING - CIRCUIT COURT AND LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES - January 22, 1968

Meeting called to order at 10 a.m. in the committee room. Present: Sups. Barnett, Eisenbeiser, Hoffman, Hughes, Lunde, Papineau, Cress, Absent: Sups. Stuart, Johnson, DeVee. Also present: Judges Breakey, Ager and Conlin; Mr. Ross Childs and the County Administrator.

The committee discussed the latest House bill (presented in December) relative to districting Washtenaw County for the proposed lower court system.

Judge Breakey spoke for the Judges and states that the Judges should not take a stand on a matter of this kind. He said the Judges should stay out of the discussion on this subject because the decision is strictly the prerogative and responsibility of the Legislature. They may be called on to pass on the question of constitutionality at some later date.

Sup. Lunde pointed out that the question of deciding the location of a district court on the western side of the county will present a problem. The question of location appears to be of greater importance than how the Judges are elected.

The committee decided to make no decision on this question until more information is available. The type of information needed could be obtained from the Planning department relative to population distribution, from the cities relative to costs in the municipal courts, from county records on Justice Courts, etc.

The committee agreed to meet again on Monday, Jan. 29 at 10 a.m. and to invite Mr. James C. Hendley, attorney from Manchester, as well as our legislators. Meeting adjourned at 11:45 a.m.

BPW CELEBRATES 50 YRS.

The BPW turned the Dollars for Scholars project over to the Manchester Village, there was over $7,000 in loan to students.

The Business and Professional Women's Club District VIII, which includes Manchester also sponsors a $500 scholarship which is not repayable, to any high school girl interested in science and related areas. It is available to any freshman girl entering the University of Michigan, payable $250 each semester but is not renewable after the one year. This year there are two such scholarships and any high school girl interested in applying may contact the high school principal or science teacher.

The current project of the Manchester BPW is the organization and preparation for any disaster, natural causes or man-made. This will be similar to the Civil Defense program.

Women interested in joining the BPW Club who wish information for qualifications may contact the current officers; Mrs. Clyde Hazen, president; Mrs. Herbert Jacob, vice-president; Mrs. Irvin Gill, secretary, or Mrs. Fred Fielder, treasurer. There are membership benefits including a cancer fund and an insurance policy.

The objectives of this club are nation-wide: To elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote the interests of business and professional women; to bring about a spirit of cooperation among the business and professional women of the United States; and to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

Past accomplishments in line with their objectives have promoted better working conditions for professional working women, social security and many equal and responsible job opportunities for business women, nurses, secretaries and the thousands of professions women are involved in today.

Congratulations to the Michigan Business and Professional Women's Clubs on their 50th anniversary and the programs they sponsor.

FROM THE DESK OF
SUPERINTENDENT

The Manchester Board of Education at a special meeting Wednesday evening, Jan. 31 approved the formulation of a Citizens' School Committee to act in an advisory capacity relative to the future plans and projects of the local school system. The Board of Education is hopeful that such a committee will serve a two-fold purpose. First, it will open up channels of communication with all organizations and people in the local district relative to school matters. Secondly, it will provide the means for community thinking to be brought in an orderly manner to the attention of the board. Inasmuch as the board is making up of representation from the entire district, it will also serve as a coordinating agency for all district projects and activities that would involve or affect the local school district.

The Board of Education is inviting all existing groups in the school district to elect one representative and one alternate to serve on this committee. This will include in addition to the local service clubs (Optimist, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Chamber of Commerce, B. P. W.) all Farm Bureau Groups, the professional and related civic and fraternal organizations. In addition to the aforementioned possibilities, several representatives at large will be invited to serve on this committee. Letters to all organizations will be sent out at an early date.

Mr. Luther C. Klager, Board President, in a statement relative to the need for such a committee says, "Organizations like individuals are subjected to all kinds of problems, opportunities and challenges. Organizations, again, like individuals are find that the problems of today are just a little more sophisticated and complex than they were in the past. If it is a truth that 'No Man is an Island', then it follows that no organization in today's modern world is an island that can operate independently from all others that exist in close proximity to it. All organizations and agencies in a given community must be aware of what each is doing for the common good. Close coordination, effective cooperation and open communication is essential if the community is to enjoy productive and beneficial progress. Specifically, in the Manchester area the winds of change are blowing with increasing velocity. All governmental bodies are planning for the future growth and change that is bound to come. The Township Zoning Board, the Village Planning Commission and the Village Council are all confronted with the problems and the challenges that the future holds. Every organization in the area, whether it be farm, fraternal, social, church or civic shares with the duly-elected governmental bodies the responsibility of planning and implementing future changes. This kind of active interest and support at the local level. If we don't we will stand to lose something which is most sacred to us all." Hopefully the Board of Education expects to be in a position to hold the first meeting of this committee on Monday, March 4 at 8:00 p.m. at the High School Library.

USE OF SCHOOL FACILITIES
The Manchester Board of Education is happy to have organizations and organized groups within the school district use the school facilities when the regular school schedule permits. However, they ask all groups desiring to use these facilities to please request advance permission to do so from the school administration. This allows the administration to schedule such use and to make adequate provisions prior to date of the activity. Each group or organization requesting such use must have someone responsible for the building while their group is using the facility.

Adult groups using the facilities for recreational purposes during the week will not allow students attending the Manchester System to participate in the activity. This rule does not apply to church organizations if the students are active members of their congregation.

Organizations using the facilities for money-making purposes will be charged a fixed rental fee, and will be charged an additional amount for custodial work when necessary.

Private or family groups using the facilities are expected to make a donation commensurate with the amount of space needed and the time involved.

In order that the administration can equally and fairly schedule the facilities, we ask that you observe these simple rules.

FARM NEWS

DAIRY FARMERS CHALLENGED TO DEVELOP NEW PRODUCTS

Michigan dairy farmers have been challenged to develop new consumer products, improve their knowledge of marketing potentials, and increase their efficiency, in order to prosper in today's economy.

The challenge was made by Elton R. Smith, president of Michigan Farm Bureau, at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Association of Michigan held in conjunction with Farmer's Week at Michigan State University. Smith operates "Med-O-Bloom" dairy farm near Caledonia in Kent County, a registered Guernsey operation.

Acknowledging the decline in sale of dairy products with the advent of various artificial substitutes, Smith cautioned his audience against panic. He cited ready availability of markets, locally-grown feed supplies, and the continuing need for milk products as advantages enjoyed by Michigan's dairy farmers. "I have confidence in the ability of Michigan dairymen to meet the challenges of change and to meet and beat the competition as it comes along," Smith declared.

Cooperation between milk producers is essential, Smith said, and can best be achieved through a well-managed, well-financed bargaining group.

However, he continued, no bargaining association, no matter how effective, can force the consumer to pay more and more for a given product without eventually reaching a point where the consumer will switch to a substitute.

One major factor influencing milk marketing, the speaker said, is the current "cheap food" policy of the federal government. Government manipulation to keep food prices low results in a limited profit margin. Legislative restrictions regarding packaging, labeling, and sanitation regulations must be uniform if there is to be free and open competition.

Emphasizing the need for increased research in the field of product development, Mr. Smith said, "Probably there are some products we are spending money to advertise and promote today that really aren't worth what we are putting into them. They have no appeal, they haven't been improved in 30 years, and it would take a tremendous amount of promotion to materially increase their use -- What I'm saying is that we need to spend some money on new product research and come up with something new to advertise."

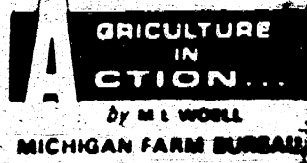

Smith concluded by listing four specific jobs facing the industry: Identification of consumer wants and needs; development of new and improved products using ingredients produced by the dairy industry as much as possible; convincing manufacturers of potential profit possibilities of new and improved products developed through research; and advertising to persuade consumers to purchase the new products.

GEORGE WACKER INDUCTED INTO "100 BARREL CLUB"

Mr. George E. Wacker of Manchester, Michigan, Standard Oil agent here for seven years, was inducted into the company's "100 Barrel Club" at a meeting in Ann Arbor on January 30, 1968. He was one of seven Standard agents so honored at a recognition dinner.

Membership in the "100 Barrel Club" is limited to those Standard agents who sell 100 barrels or more of motor oil during the first ten months of the year.

Plans for 1968 sales programs also were outlined at a short business meeting held after the recognition dinner. Other "100 Barrel Club" agents and their wives from throughout the company's Kalamazoo District attended along with district and regional sales executives.

ARE MICHIGAN FARMERS PSYCHIC?

More than a month before the tragic collapse of the Ohio River Bridge at Point Pleasant, West Virginia, delegates to the Michigan Farm Bureau annual meeting expressed concern over this very problem. The farmer delegates said that because of fund shortages, bridge maintenance in many rural communities is not keeping up with normal wear and tear. Their concern is very real because hundreds of Michigan school buses operate in rural areas over back-road bridges of ancient vintage in many cases.

What causes a stout, well-built bridge to weaken? The constant expansion and contraction normal to Michigan weather is a major factor, even when compensated for by the builders. Newer factors include the enormous tonnage of road salt often spread about by snow removal crews, and the occasional structural damage done by massive snowplows or other heavy machinery striking bridge beams, abutments or sides.

Not to be ignored is the ever-increasing traffic as city sportsmen range further from home to seek the elusive deer or the charging Coho salmon, and in the process use more of our older and less sound bridges on the secondary roads of Michigan.

Right now, there are about 6,800 such bridges in our country road system, which include 87,038 miles -- or 77 per cent of our total road system. Of this amount, 25,133 miles of county roads are classified as primary roads, with 38 per cent of this total considered inadequate and in substantial need of repair. Of the 62,596 miles classified as strictly local roads, 47 per cent are considered inadequate.

Of the nearly 7,000 bridges on these roads, 5,031 have been reported as inadequate -- not implying that they are now unsafe, rather, that they are rapidly becoming so in view of today's traffic demands. However, it is a fact that many are unsafe under certain conditions involving heavier vehicles such as trucks and school buses, and have been posted as such.

Michigan is nationally known for its wonderful primary highway system. But farmers feel it is high time that our secondary roads -- and their bridges -- be brought up to date, before Michigan makes the headlines as in the Ohio-West Virginia tragedy.

Larry Kouba of K & W Farm Supply, Manchester, is shown as he accepted the 1967 top Case Baler Award. Mr. Stanley Lamb, Case Lansing Branch Manager, presented the award at the Case Annual Meeting held Dec. 15 at the Lansing Elks Lodge.

LOCAL HOLSTEINS RECEIVE LACTATION CREDITS

A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in area herds has been received from Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The actual food production output, under official testing rules, by these local Registered Holsteins is:

Erievale Fond Iris 5618743, an eight-year-old owned by George Macomber & Sons, Manchester, produced 16,430 lbs. of milk and 667 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.

Alfalfadale Burke Petunia 4619448, an eight-year-old owned by Lowell Spike, Manchester, produced 18,150 lbs. of milk and 616 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 8,513 lbs. of milk and 315 lbs. of butterfat by the average U.S. dairy cow, notes the national Holstein Association.

Michigan State University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the Holstein organization's herd and breed improvement program.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS JAN. 31

Meeting was called to order at 8:30 p.m.; present were D.E. Limpert, C. Parr and M. Leach. Item No. 1 Application #9 Harold & Mary Van Etten, 20201 Bowers Rd., Manchester, Mich. Application filed Oct. 23, 1967. After general discussion it was moved by Parr, seconded by Leach to grant a temporary permit for one year on hardship basis and granted subject to the following conditions: (1) Hardship basis is the care of the mother of Mrs. Van Etten who requires care because of her age and health; (2) They will post a $200 cash bond with the Township Clerk to be returned upon the removal of the trailer; (3) Permit to be carefully reviewed in one year. It is hoped that Mr. Van Etten will decide to build during this time; (4) permit will be issued at time of posting of $200 cash bond. Vote: Parr and Leach yes, Limpert no.

Item #2 - Application #11 - Ralph E. Snyder, 15698 Ely Rd., Manchester. Application filed Nov. 14, 1967. After general discussion it was moved by Leach, seconded by Parr to grant a one year temporary permit of hardship basis subject to the following conditions: (1) No one other than Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Snyder would occupy the trailer; (2) the trailer would be removed within 30 days if no longer occupied by Mr. & Mrs. Snyder; (3) post a $200 cash bond with the Township Clerk to be returned upon the removal of the trailer. (4) permit will be issued at time of posting $200 cash bond; and (5) the application will be reviewed in one year. Vote: Parr, Leach and Limpert yes.

Item #3 - Correspondence. Read letter sent to Township Supervisor January 17, 1968. "Re: Zoning Violations - At the request of Stanton Roesch, the township attorney, I appeared before Judge Bronson in Saline and have signed the complaints against Frank Kuhn and Elmer Paul. The complaint for Theola Evans should be changed to Arthur Gaus as he is the owner of the property where the violation is occurring. If this complaint is rewritten I would sign it immediately."

"The balance of the complaints that have been prepared I would be ready to sign after a registered letter with a signed receipt was sent to these people specifying a specific time in which to comply with the zoning ordinance."

"At the end of the expired time it would be proper to then file a complaint which I believe is in keeping with the resolution passed by the township board on January 8, 1968." Signed by D. E. Limpert, Chairman Board of Appeals.

General Discussion: Inquiry made by Mr. Clarence Almerod concerning method of removing trailer from his property.

There being no further business to come before the board it was moved by Leach seconded by Parr to adjourn.

TAXPAYERS GET ADDITIONAL TIME

Michael Wolfe, Manchester Township treasurer, with the approval of the Manchester Township Board, is waiving the three per cent additional penalty on lagging tax returns. The deadline for township tax payments was set for Feb. 14 and the deadline now has been extended to Feb. 29.

Wolfe says that current economic conditions are blamed for slow tax returns. Total township taxes for the township amounts to $246,000 and at this time $138,000 has been collected.

This, Wolfe said, is far below the usual returns at this time of year. Taxes will carry a 4 per cent penalty after Feb. 29 when taxpayers will be traveling to Ann Arbor to make payment.

ELTON SMITH TO SERVE AS CONSULTANT TO FARM ORGANIZATION BOARD

Kent County dairyman, Elton R. Smith, Caledonia, has been named to serve with a panel of consultants on dairy matters to the board of directors of the nation's largest farm organization the American Farm Bureau Federation.

In naming Smith for a one-year term, Charles Shuman, president of the Federation made note of the importance of dairying in Michigan, and the midwest. Also named from the midwest to the 20-member, nation-wide committee were Percy Hardiman, Wisconsin, and Harold Hartley, Illinois. All three are operating dairymen.

Smith and his wife, Linde, operate a 380 dairy farm at Caledonia, near Grand Rapids, where their "Med-O-Bloom" farm and registered Guernsey cattle are well known. Smith has been the recipient of several top agricultural awards including "Dairymen of the Year" and the Distinguished Service to Agriculture award of Michigan State University.

He serves as President of the Michigan Farm Bureau, and of Farm Bureau Services, Inc., a marketing and supply affiliate of the organization. In December, he was re-elected to a two-year term on the American Farm Bureau board of directors.

The national dairy advisory committee will work with the board on matters of dairy policy interpretation and execution throughout the calendar year.

WATERSHED ACCOMPLISHMENTS THROUGH ACP

Everyone in the community benefits from a watershed protection program. Upstream watershed protection keeps dirt out of lakes and reservoirs and helps assure cleaner and better water for homes and industry. This is a benefit to all taxpayers.

Flooding that damages land, crops, livestock, buildings, roads or bridges results in small tax revenue and increases the necessary public expenditures for repair and rehabilitation or replacement. Floods endanger health and safety by disrupting public utility services or making city drinking water unsafe.

Frank Light, Chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee, says carrying out needed soil, water and woodland conservation practices on individual farms is the backbone of any watershed program. Structures to store water or prevent flooding are only partially effective unless basic conservation practices are applied to farm lands above them.

NEW "DAIRY DIP" HELPS PREVENT COW MASTITIS

NEW YORK (NAPS)—A ready-to-use teat dip that helps reduce new mastitis infections up to 64% in dairy cattle has been developed by Lazarus Laboratories, Inc., a division of West Chemical Products, Inc.

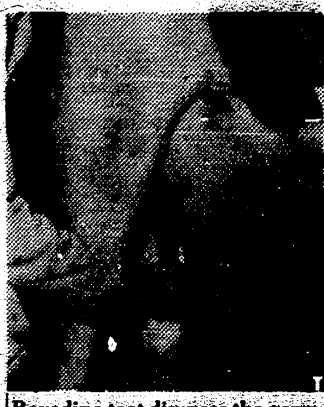

Called "Bovadine", it is the most important step in a new udder hygiene program now being recommended to reduce this crippling disease which can permanently reduce a cow's milk-producing capacity.

Since Mastitis is an infectious disease, it can spread quickly through the herd, and cost the typical dairyman a yearly average of more than $140 per cow!

According to researchers at Lazarus Laboratories, one of the best ways to curb the disease is by sanitizing everything that comes into contact with the cow's teats during milking. This is done with a simple three-step operation that can easily be worked into the milking procedure:

(1) Wash the udder with warm Iosan solution, using a separate paper towel for each cow; (2) Rinse teat cup clusters in warm water, then rinse in a solution of Iosan; and (3) Immediately after milking, dip teats in Bovadine, which like Iosan contains non-irritating "Tamed Iodine".

The first two steps are also

ready routine for many dairy farmers. However, teat dipping is, according to Lazarus researchers, the most important, since it can destroy all bacteria on the teat skin and prevent germs from entering the udder. Bovadine has been tested on more than 29,000 cows in the British Isles and Canada.

Bovadine is packed in one-gallon plastic jugs that are available to dairy farmers directly from Lazarus field representatives or through suppliers of farm chemicals. On the average, one gallon of Bovadine should take care of one cow for an entire year!

For more information write to: Lazarus Laboratories Inc., 42-16 West Street, Long Island City, New York 11101.

servations practices are applied to farm lands above them.

Mr. Light stated that the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) is designed specifically to help farmers carry out these land treatment measures.

Under the 1967 ACP program Michigan farmers are approved. Michigan farmers under Public Law 566, received ACP cost-sharing in excess of $226,000.

Practices used by farmers to protect watersheds included forestry plantings, grass and legume cover, terracing, sod waterways, farm ponds, contouring and field strip-cropping.

DUTCH BEAT NOVI 51-41

Coach Gary Schick had his Dutchmen flying Friday night at Novi. They went out and played their best game of the year. Coach Schick said if he had let his starters stay in the ball game they could have hit the century mark.

High man for the Dutchmen was Rick Lowery with 18 points. Homer Walter had 16 points. Irv Roberts had 15 points and Bill Funches had 12 points.

Hats off to coach Gary Schick and the Flying Dutchmen. Nice work boys!

Whitmore Lake here Friday.

J. V. S BEAT NOVI 67-58

Coach Brian Schick is smiling more and more after each game. His boys went to Novi last Friday night and played another one of their fine games.

High man for the J. V.'s was Jeff Stevens with 18 points. Richard Schaeble had 16 points. Lynn Niehaus had 14 and Mike Stockwell had 10.

The J. V.'s next game is here on Friday night with Whitmore Lake.

See you all there!

FRESHMEN WIN TWO

The Freshmen went to Grass Lake last Wednesday night and beat them pretty good, 72 to 45. Then, on Monday night they beat Brooklyn in overtime 55-52.

In the Grass Lake game the high men were Dave Tapping and John Weidmayer with 19 points each. Ed Braun had 15 points and Phil Nickerson had 12.

Dave Tapping and John Weidmayer also had 10 rebounds each. Now for the Brooklyn game which was a honey. Ed Braun was high man with 13 points. Phil Nickerson and John Weidmayer each had 12 points and Dave Tapping had 11 points.

Coach Phil Mains said the Grass Lake game was their best of the year and had lots of hustle.

JR. HIGH WIN TWO

The seventh and eighth graders played some fine basketball last Wednesday night in hosting Clinton.

The eighth grade high man was Leonard Minor with 21 points. Jim be adequate housing and further expansion of Manchester as a whole. We certainly need to grow but where do we get enough revenue to meet our present needs without taxation?

No. 2

Perhaps some of the biggest complaints are that council doesn't do anything. Maybe if people would take an active interest in what goes on in town they might know how we do as much as is done with what there is to do with. For instance, without the help of three or four people we would not have been able to sell the bonds on the water program. I believe more interest and participation by people such as those who worked on the water program would be a big help to any council now or in the future.

Herb Mahony - Council

With money we can have good streets, sidewalks, curb and gutter added parking facilities, a clean river, facilities to entice industry, storm sewers and sanitary sewers for all. The new water rates only reflect how much it does cost to make a modest improvement. Financing our wants is the most important problem for future months. Although our tax revenue increases each year with new industrial and residential building, the cost increases for materials, purchased services, labor, fringe benefits, and construction exceed this added revenue. This means that each year we do a little less than the year before.

People tell us we need to move faster and do more, but please don't increase taxes.

Some good news, we have been advised that the increased gasoline tax will add about three thousand dollars or more to the funds returned the Village. The revenue from the new income tax has surprised state officials and we might see some increase in funds here.

The property tax has been pushed to the limit; so far in fact, that the Legislature has had to add new exemptions each year to prevent financial chaos with some taxpayers.

I believe that careful study might reveal methods of finance that will provide some of our wants without an increase in local tax rates.

Every year there seems to be fewer hours available for people to devote to community affairs. Earning a living frequently requires overtime and holding a part-time job, do-it-yourself home projects, club, and church activities are some examples of where the hours disappear. Unless there is a personal problem or something extraordinary or controversial is on the agenda most people do not attend council meetings.

As most council meetings are quite routine, and there is usually a newspaper account as well as the published minutes it is easy to see why meetings are poorly attended. Some may even think they might not be welcome.

Actually, the public is wanted at council meetings. The Council wants comment and recommendations from the public.

The Council would like residents to hear the discussions that result in the decisions reported in the minutes. We need volunteers to work on long-range planning and recommendation policy.

One can't help but think that most residents aren't much interested when only 66 of some 400 questionnaires distributed this past October were returned to our Planning Consultants. Only a 17% response with a 30% response typical for most communities. Only 66 would take the few minutes necessary to express their likes, dislikes and recommendations for future direction.

I hope the above might stimulate those who want to be active in stepping forward. Your community, friends and neighbors need you!

The problem of cooperation with the surrounding townships concerning the growth of Manchester. In all too many cases the township and city are competing instead of cooperating. Without that cooperation any growth just outside the village limits becomes a contest for who gets the new taxes. All consideration for proper planning gets lost in the fight. The Village of Manchester has hired consultants to plan our village on a three-year program. To get the most for our money will require the cooperation of the townships.

FIRST SAVINGS ASSOCIATION OPENS NEW SALINE OFFICE

First Savings Association opened its new Saline office at 179 E. Michigan Avenue today, Thursday, Feb. 8.

Participating in the opening ceremonies with Mr. A. R. McAndrew, Jr., president were Mayor George Johnson, Mr. Hal Palmer, Mr. Donald Wall and Mr. Byron D. Bennett.

The new office is a one-story Colonial building 52 1/2 by 33 1/2 feet with 1,600 square feet interior. It has a Colonial face brick and white wood trim exterior finish, with an asphalt pitched roof. A drive-in window facility and parking lot with space for 25 cars is at the rear of the building which faces East Michigan Avenue.

A one-way traffic pattern enables customers to enter the premises from an easterly drive, making it possible to go to the canopies drive-in window without crossing traffic.

There is a 600 square foot lobby, four teller windows, an office for the manager and a conference room in the interior.

The interior is paneled and the building is completely air conditioned. The lobby is carpeted. All utilities and a kitchenette facility for office employees is in the basement.

The Colonial building is separated from adjacent residential lots by an ornamental block screen as required by the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Saline.

The exterior East Michigan Avenue frontage is landscaped. Wood frame Colonial windows and pillars at the front entrance add to the Colonial appearance of the structure.

But Hillsdale has always met its objectives while increasing the quality of its student, faculty and facilities. The academic improvements in the past ten years parallel the ten new buildings which have arisen in that time. ## MAN ON THE MOVE

The Consumers Power division manager has a big area to serve. But some of the ways in which he serves it may surprise you. Yes, he manages office operations. Supervises the people who perform their various jobs. Keeps a tight rein on expenses. Troubleshoots in emergencies.

It's an eight-hour day, plus. Plus Crippled Children's Society and Tuberculosis Association; plus service club and Chamber of Commerce and industrial development projects... plus urban problems and rural problems. Study committees, civic projects, advisory groups—all have a claim on this man's time.

The division manager is on the move, participating in community affairs, representing Consumers Power as a good citizen and neighbor. His example is followed by many other Consumers Power people, too. Besides working at their jobs, they work in their communities to help make them better places in which to live.

It's all part of the high standards of service that Consumers Power sets for its people. Plus the recognition of an old truth: what's good for the community is good for the businesses in it.

WASHINGTON REPORT - Marvin L. Esch, Congressman

Optimism over the passage of a federal income tax increase this year is on the rise in Washington. Administration pressure has become stronger and Congress appears to be closer to raising taxes than it was last year.

At the same time, as the rush to take a bigger cut of your paycheck picks up momentum, there are still many of us who are insisting on meaningful cuts in non-essential federal spending as a necessary first step alternative to the serious consideration of a tax increase. I, for one, believe that this can be done without jeopardizing needed domestic programs. If and when a tax increase is considered, it will also be necessary that we have strong assurances that increased revenues will not be used for new spending.

The basic reason behind the tax and spending controversy is inflation - something that has been allowed to run rampant to the point that our total economy is seriously threatened. The rising cost of living is now wiping out pay increases. As Labor Secretary Wirtz recently said, "We are very close to the point where a price increase or a wage increase isn't going to be worth anything."

What this means to the average wage earner was vividly pointed out in a recent article in the U.S. News and World Report which said that in 1967 the average weekly earnings of all wage earners was about $6.50 more than in 1965.

But the magazine also indicated that an adjustment is made for the higher cost of living and higher federal taxes, the average wage earner received 53¢ a week less in 1967 than in 1965. This and other alarming fiscal facts, give the President's claims of "abundance" a rather hollow ring.

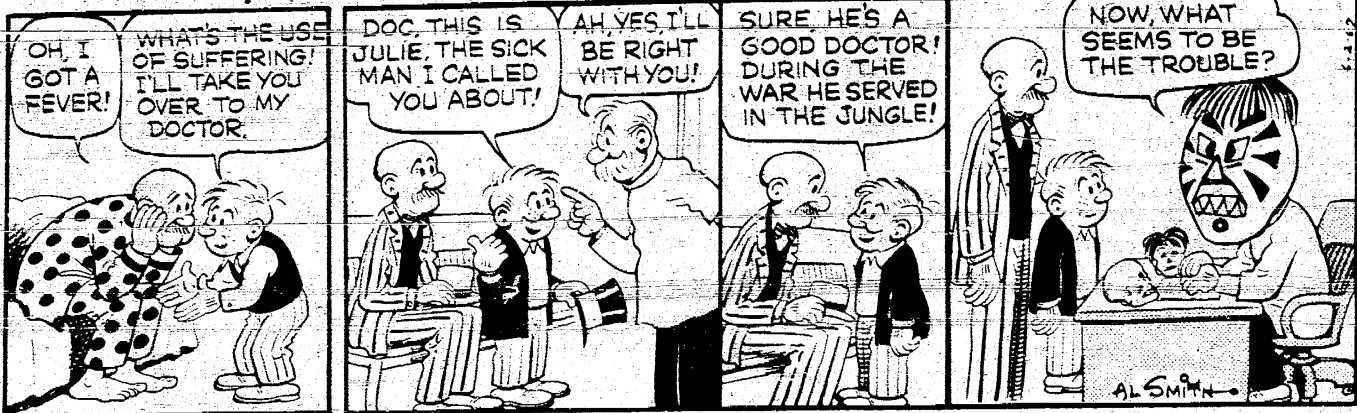

With inflation nibbling away at paychecks at an ever-increasing pace, it hardly seems equitable to take out another hunk in the form of higher taxes especially when other alternatives have not been fully explored and attempted. Yet the Administration still contends that a tax increase is essential for a return to economic well-being.

Most disturbing is the lack of any commitment as to how new revenues would be used. Certainly an assurance that the proposed 10% tax increase would be applied against our mounting deficit would rally more support to the proposal. But the impression created thus far by the Administration is entire-

LOOKING AROUND

An army of white ants descended on the village of Batn Aharit in Egypt and destroyed all of the homes. The government has come to the rescue and is rebuilding the houses, now that the ants have gone.

A court in Munich, Germany, has denied the application of a 126-pound man to carry a pistol. He needs it, he says, to protect himself against the 185-pound woman who lives next door and who wants to marry him.

The court in Folkestone, England, saw no reason why Beulah Benton, who stands four feet, 10 inches, should not marry Tony Fagg, six feet, two inches. Beulah's mother had objected because she said the pair would look ridiculous together.

WASHINGTON REPORT contd. from page twelve

ly the opposite. The State of the Union asks for $10 billion increase in federal spending and a new expansion of spending at home while fighting a costly war abroad. All of which indicates that higher tax revenues would be used for inflationary problems.

There are no simple, pat answers to our nation's economic problems. Perhaps the solution can only be found in a massive attack on all fronts. In any event, the leadership has skirted and scapegoated this issue too long. Congress must act now before we find this country in worse trouble.

KNOW YOUR CANDIDATES

Without their approval of our plans we're confined to just the space within the village limits. I think a representative from each township should be asked to sit in on all planning meetings and offer their ideas. This is going to become a problem as soon as we start to grow. I think we should anticipate that problem now and if elected this will be one of the first projects I will undertake. No. 2

This is always a discouraging subject. Even when public hearings are held, hardly anyone shows up. Usually the only time a citizen comes to the council meetings is when something has happened that involves them personally. I don't think there is any great need for more people to take an active part. If they read the council minutes and vote in every election, they are fairly well informed. About all the council can do is see that all public matters are just that, public. I think our present council rates very high on this matter. I have been attending council meetings regularly for over a year and especially since I purchased the Enterprise. During this time, all matters were decided right at council meetings which are open to the public. We would like to see more community participation, but we feel this is more a newspaper's responsibility than council's.

Final Payment Is Made On New School Property

The main topic of Monday night's school board meeting was a review of the budget this year.

Supt. Swartz reported that at the end of seven months of operation most categories in the budget were well within allotted funds. Some smaller items were likely to run over the budget but these areas would not affect the overall budget.

A general discussion was held after President Luther Klager reported on a meeting attended by him and other board members. At this meeting, Mr. Klager reported, a talk was given in which it was pointed out that approximately 200 school districts are operating on a deficit budget. The case of the Inkster schools was mentioned and Mr. Swartz pointed out that the Inkster Schools adopted a budget last November without being sure that they would receive the needed funds. It was also pointed out that it is illegal for a school board to borrow money when they know they are going to have a deficit budget.

Mr. Swartz presented some figures showing two plans which will come before the state legislature concerning state aid to schools. He pointed out that no matter which was adopted, the problem facing the schools was not knowing how much money would be received before the school board had to negotiate teacher salaries for the next year. He also said that the legislature plans on giving this information earlier this year but that it would probably still be too late for teacher-school board negotiations.

The school board also reported final payment had been made on the property purchased from Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Rybak. This property is to be used as a site for a new elementary building. At this time the school attorney is drawing up the final papers for the sale of seven acres to the Manchester Methodist Church for the sum of $10,000.

The site purchased contained 60 acres, with the school buying seven. This will leave the school 53 acres. Architects will be ready to bid for the elementary school April 1 with completion scheduled for November 1.

In other business, a discussion was held concerning what should be printed in the Enterprise concerning school board matters. Mr. Klager asked publisher Harry Macomber if he thought he should be paid for publishing minutes, agendas, etc. Mr. Macomber stated that he wasn't concerned with being paid for minutes or agendas but that he wanted as much information as possible to be available for readers. He also said that he didn't think it was necessary to print each and every bill that is paid each month as most of these are routine expenses such as heat, electricity, etc. Mr. Macomber requested a list of items paid so he could pick out any large items which could be of interest. Dan Boutell pointed out that the complete financial statement is published and paid for each year. This appears in the paper he added, and anyone wanting more specific information on any bill or other school matter is free to ask the school board at any time. Mr. Klager reported that at the next meeting, a drawing would be available showing just how the school budget is broken down.

A report on how the new metal shop is progressing was given by the teacher, John Pemberton. He said that he was fairly well equipped for teaching but he did have some difficulty in obtaining materials. Three basic subjects are taught in the new shop. Welding, metal fabrication and lathe. There are currently 26 students enrolled in the new class.

PRIMARY ELECTION NEXT MONDAY

Know Your Candidates

This week's questions are No. 1. Do you have any specific problem area which you intend to pursue if elected? No. 2. What prompted you to run for council?

These are the last two questions to be answered as next Monday is the Primary Election. On page 2 you will find a sample ballot.

There has been some misunderstanding since all the candidates are running on the same party. You will vote for one president, one clerk, one treasurer, one assessor and three councilmen. The offices of clerk, treasurer and assessor are unopposed. For mayor we have two candidates and for council there are nine men running.

We hope you will heed the advice of the presidents of the various clubs and vote Monday, February 19.

John Althouse - Mayor

No. 1. The areas of concentrated effort for the coming year should be in orderly management of our new water improvement program to insure minimum completion time and the planned objectives. Efforts of previous administrations in drafting a five-year street improvement program must be carried through along with extension of the program to continue long-range improvements.

In the past year, our Planning Commission, under the guidance of Vilcan, Leman Associates, is well into a sound comprehensive program which must receive intensified effort and support. Sound financial controlling is in the process of being improved and should be perpetuated in an attempt to obtain a maximum tax dollars worth of service in the area of utilities and law enforcement.

No. 2. Having been a member of the Village Council for the past three years and intimately concerned and involved with the programs in progress my interest in continuing as President is to aid in continuity of these programs vital to the progress of Manchester.

Donald Ross - Mayor

No. 1. Yes, recreation facilities for the teenagers of this village. The boys and girls of Manchester have never had any facilities provided for them and I think it is about time something is done about it.

No. 2. They need a place where they can go in the evenings in their spare time or on the weekend instead of congregating on Main Street or just driving around in cars.

No. 2. Being a Democrat, it is a challenge for me to run for mayor in a Republican village.

James Scully - Council

No. 1. I do not have any particular problem area in mind at the present time. My intentions are, if elected to do what I feel is best for the Village in any problem that I become involved with.

No. 2. I am running for Council because I am interested in seeing the Village of Manchester grow. I would like to help make Manchester ter a better place in which to live and bring our children up. I am willing to give as much of my time as is necessary to help make Manchester a better place for everyone.

Joseph Fitzgerald - Council

No. 1. At this time I would have to say no. There will be problems and suggestions that are brought before the council daily, which I believe should be acted upon then and there. We all know the problems that we are faced with in Manchester, which you and I all know will not be solved by this council or the next; but this does not mean we will not work toward a solution for them.

No. 2. There were a number of things that prompted me to seek the office of Councilman. The first was that I felt I could sincerely represent the majority of the people of Manchester. After having been in the Jaycees for twelve years and working on many community projects, I believe I am ready to accept the challenge that this office might present.

Albert Gaige - Council

No. 1. I would like to see additional sewers installed in some of the critical areas. We have had several requests for building sites but are confronted with both sewer and water problems. Many good building sites are available around town but for lack of adequate sewers it is not feasible to build on them.

No. 2. I believe in a sound and honest government which, of course, has to be run on the available revenue received along with a substantial budget. I believe we could achieve many of our goals with these conditions. This has been for me probably the biggest reason I have run for council, to be able to achieve the goals set forth by previous councils and councils to come. For instance, more and better water, better roads and adequate sewers.

William Schaffer - Council

No. 1. Yes, I do. I would like to help the young people of our community.

No. 2. In some small way I am able to help Manchester progress and to help with the problems that arise in a village of this size.

E. Guy Little - Council

No. 1. I think a good councilman has to keep as well informed as he possibly can on all the problem areas concerning our Village. I feel that the "street program" is the problem area I would pursue if elected.

No. 2. Frankly, it is hard to say. I think that I've reached a point in my life where being just an interested citizen isn't good enough. Elected or not I am going to help in any way I can.

It is a self-government, the great principle of popular representation and administration, the system that lets in all men participate in its councils, that we owe our welfare and what we hope to achieve.

FROM THE JAYCEES

All of the members of the Manchester Jaycees, the Board of Directors and all officers will urge all Manchester citizens to take the time to vote.

We feel this is a very important election for the Village of Manchester because it is a very important election for the Village of Manchester. We feel this is a very important election for the Village of Manchester.

FROM THE OPTIMIST

Monday, February 19 is going to be a very important primary election. By the publicity in the Enterprise, on each candidate, we find we have men who are both qualified and interested in our village. We have not always had this interest in our community, and I consider it a mark of strength. As President of the Optimist Club, I urge all eligible citizens to vote on Monday, Feb. 19.

FROM THE CHAMBER

From the desk of the President of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce comes this reminder: "February 19 is primary election day. We the members of the Chamber of Commerce would like to take this opportunity to urge all eligible voters to make a special effort to cast their vote. What could be worse patriots call than to have the privilege to vote and not use it."

Chambers L. Fielder
President

Named To Dean's List

David Lowery has been named to the Dean's Honor List for the term ending December 19, 1967. David is a sophomore at the University of Michigan College of Engineering.

The Dean's Honor List consists of those students who completed 12 hours credit or more and who earned a grade point average of 3.50 or better for the term. David's average for the term ending December 19, 1967 was 3.75. He has maintained a scholastic average of 3.58.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lowery of Manchester.
