There are some changes that should be noted for the Spring session. The Jogging Club will meet at 5:30 to 6:30 on Mondays, not at 7:00. The After School Dance Activities Classes of Rhythm Dance, Beginning Ballet and Advanced Ballet will be held again on Wednesdays and NOT Mondays as originally listed.

Over 70 children attended our Easter Party on March 24 at Emanuel Church. It featured, Frank the Flash, a magician and cookies and punch for all.

Plans are underway for our Mothers Day Luncheon. It will be Saturday, May 12 at Win Schulers. This is when we treat our mothers to lunch.

Kathy Roberts and Karen Stautz, two of our new members, gave their program on How Stress affects the way we Function. After taking a stress test some of us found we had a 90% chance of a serious illness! Better lighten up ladies!

Our second program was given by Marsha Chartrand on the use of Leisure Time and one of her favorite past times reading. It was a very relaxing and non-stressful program.

The next meeting will be April 18th at Darlene Kuebler's. We will have the Ritual of Jewels for new members at this time.

IN RETROSPECT

In the dictionary the word retrospect is defined as a survey of the past and so I guess that I can use that title to discuss things in general as they were and are. During the past few weeks we have heard asked several times the question "What has happened to America? What kind of people have we become?"

Ten years ago, one observer notes, Neil Armstrong stepped on the moon and Teddy Kennedy and Mary Jo Kopechne slid off the Dike bridge. The event at Chappequidick was the most indictive of the decade ahead. It was so sloppy and so careless.

One observer says that we shrug off most everything nowadays. It's as if we are beyond caring. Third graders are selling dope and White House aides are buying it. Our appetite for violence is insatiable.

Exhausted from the sixties and our exertions at that time, all we ask for now is relief. Six hours of relief help to get us through the day-all life once removed seems close enough. The impetus to think has slid into a slough of indifference.

We certainly haven't put on any show of unity during recent years. We can't get together on saving gasoline and oil in the face of costly imports nor controlling inflation that threatens disaster.

Lacking the challenge that seems to be a basis of a strong civilization. Americans doctors, oilmen, farmers, and many others to receive-or promote- their share. The ripoff society.

With the urge to relax has come the conviction that the protection of national interests, by which the big powers survive, is not worth any personal sacrifice.

In the midst of plenty threats of economic disaster depress us. The dollar is only a a stab in the wallet. Americanism has been Nowadays you deal with companies and computers, not with individuals. You can't make friends with a computer. You obey it. Big government throttles us with senseless rules that we can't even understand. Thieves and embezzlers operate without being embarrassed by doing so to anyone they know or the fear that they will be arrested by a policeman acquaintance.

Respect for government has vanished because of endless exposures of illegal acts and it must be that the week minded have decided that they might as well get theirs too. Many of us have decided that they cannot better themselves by going to the polls so only about a third cast their ballot.

History and writing have been neglected in our schools. We have a generation without a means of communication. Respect for education is at an all-time low. Churches, long a rallying point for humane action have lost influence. Many lobbies representing business, unions, lawyers, who do not have much are looking about at seem to split us into factions and hamper the almost universal abundance, expecting any legislation for common good.

There's no single solution. Schools and colleges have restored, to some extent at least, requirements for the study of Readin', writing and 'rithmetic and in many cases, history and government. The revolutionary attitudes of the young people has abated, outwardly at least. Does a democracy find leadership, nobilcollector's item. Coffee at fifty cents a cup is ity of purpose and sacrifice at a time of crisis, at the brink of disaster? Do we flirt with the possibility of ending a form of government which has done more for more people than any other system that was ever invented. Are we doomed? We have endured social revolution before. We were born in it and it took us fifty years to simmer down.

We learned a lesson from the stupidity of the Civil War, but afterwards we were able to become unified as never before.

After World War I we had suffragettes, the roaring twenties, college students with flasks, flappers in knee length skirts who rode to perdition in rumble seats, and civilization was accused of having collapsed, but prohibition was repealed, women got the vote and the young people went to work. Out of all this we became quite

Then the depression of the thirties shook us all. Soom the specter of starvation was removed and then we cried "Socialism" and "Communism". But we found ways to save

And now we're undergoing another social revolution and I hope we have the intelligence and guts to preserve the best of the past and adopt the good of the new. However it will take some real leadership to define and inspire a common purpose and a desire by all of us to accomplish it.

Twentieth Century Club

Twenty members met at the home of Pat Post Tuesday evening, April 3rd. After the business meeting Luragay Olsen introduced Irene Kemner, who spoke on "Rug Hooking". She explained that the art of rug hooking is a craft originating out of necessity during colonial times. In most cases it was a need to cover a cold floor. Most of the designs or patterns were original.

The "Tin Peddler" in pioneer times was instrumental in creating patterns and cutting a stencil out of the tin sides of a wash boiler. Today there are Rug Hooking

Irene prefers to use old wool from wo garments to create rugs and wall hangings. She displayed her first rug as well as a number of her tapestries (a form of hooking) of fruits and flowers that she had framed. Another interesting work was a clipped dimensional mushroom.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her cohostess Hazel Kappler. The next meeting will be held at the home of June Jenter on April 17th.

Art Guild Reception and Exhibition

SUMMER JOBS

Employers must guarantee that waiters and waitresses earn at least the minimum wage of $2.90 an hour, State Labor Director Pat Babcock said.

Employers can only deduct a maximum of 25 percent from the minimum wage of waiters/waitresses earnings for tips and room and board. But workers must be advised wages will be reduced because of

An employer can not hire someone to wait tables for only tips but must guarantee skirts or slacks. the waiter or waitress at least the minumum wage. With the tip and room and board allowance the absolute minimum an employer can pay is $2.175 an hour.

The current minimum wage became effective January 1, 1979.

A proprietor can not require a worker to turn in tips. However tips may be polled among service personnel having direct contact with customers. Employees are required to declare all their tips as income. Buspersons, hosts or hostesses can be in on tip pools. But kitchen personnel can't receive any portion of the tips. A restaurant or hotel can deduct a fee for room and board but the maximum amount that can be charged is limited and regulated

Five cents per hour can be deducted if the employee is furnished a meal including eggs, meat, fish or poultry, two vegetables, salad, beverage and bread and butter. For a light meal consisting of a sandwich, beverage and dessert, three cents an hour can be deducted. Three cents an hour can also be deducted for breakfast.

As far as lodging goes, 8 cents an hour for single worker occupancy and 4 cents an hour for multiple worker occupancy of the same room can be decucted from the worker's wages.

Employers can't charge whatever they feel like for room and board. No matter how much food is provided or how plush the lodging is, the maximum total deduction for all items including a tip allowance can not exceed 25 percent of the minimum wage.

A waiter or waitress also is entitled to overtime for any work in excess of 40 hours a work week. If the employee is earning $2.90 an hour, overtime is based on that rate - not $2.175. There is no tip allowance

Free Examinations Offered

A special program is now being offered to tri-county residents - a program which seeks to prevent needless suffering and possible death from cancer of the mouth. This new program, sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation, offers free examinations for oral cancer. The exams are available at the Michigan Cancer Foundation's medical center headquarters, as well as its service centers in Dearborn, Detroit, Grosse Pointe Woods and Royal Oak.

"The mouth is an easy area to examine for cancerous changes, yet 9,000 Americans will die of oral cancer this year," said Linda Ross, manager of the Foundation's oral cancer detection program. "Death from this May 11, 1979. type of cancer is not only unnecessary, but often avoidable through early detection."

Since pain is not an early symptom of oral cancer, many people are unaware of its presence until the disease has advanced. A screening examination can often pick up early signs of the disease, such as red or white patches, sores, swellings or lumps. It is a simple and painless examination of the mouth by seeing and feeling and is performed by a specially trained dental nygienist in just'a few minutes.

While this type of examination is imporcharged for dish breakage or be required to tant for all men and women age 40 and over, it is especially crucial for those who smoke, chew tobacco, use snuff, drink alcoholic beverages, or do these in combination.

For futher information, or to schedule an appointment, call the Michigan Cancer Foundation, toll-free, 1-800-462-9191. The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive-United Way agency.

April marks the really first tangible signs of Spring, plus that infamous day, April Fifteenth.

With the Fifteenth falling on Sunday, at least this year a day of grace was given.

It is remarkable, according to an Internal Revenue Service man I was talking to the other day, how many taxpavers fail to take advantage of all the deductions due them.

There is probably a good reason for this, inadequate records.

The best way to keep track of possible tax savings is to pay these expenses by check. Then, at the time you begin figuring your taxes. you can leaf through your checkbook register and find the deductions.

Of course you'll need your cancelled check and the copy of the bill to completely substantiate your claim. Hanging on to receipts is a great deal easier when you pay your bills from your home and have a box or drawer to keep your receipts on file.

Dan't be a loser, stop in and open your checking account today.

What's Happening In Our Schools

On Wednesday, April 11, Mrs. Celeste Ingraham came to visit our school. It was National Library Week and she told us how to take care of books, that books have a backbone just like people and we must not break it's back by putting anything in it but a bookmark. She called books her friends and reminded us that we don't want to hurt feelings of our friends.

Then she told us 3 stories. We liked it when she made her voice go high and low in the "Three Billy Goats Gruff". She didn't read from a book and that made it verv exciting! We wrote Mrs. Ingraham a thank

CAUTION: OBSOLETE LEGISLATION MAY BE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR

Recent "testing" of a 1958 law, the Delaney Amendment, indicates that an overdose of food safety legislation may be hazardous to your health.

The law, quite simply, forbids the use of any additives or substances thought to be cancer-causing. That congressional prescription has called for the removal of hundreds of suspected carcinogens from the market, including saccharin and, more recently, sodium nitrites.

Threatened bans on these widely-used food additives alerted the public to the influence of this law in their daily lives. While the intent of the law is to reduce public exposure to possible carcinogenic substances, it is so narrowly written that the health benefits provided by the use of these additives is not considered. Saccharin, for example, has been beneficial in controlling the sugar intake of diabetics and allows them to lead more normal lives. The reasonableness of this argument and others did result in granting an 18-month moratorium on the ban of the low-calorie sweetener. That moratorium period has nearly elapsed. Without further action, provisions of the delaney Amendment will go into effect and the sweetener will be taken off the market.

A ban on sodium nitrites would have a more widespread impact. The chemical preservative is used in meat processing for bacon, sausage, luncheon meats, etc. Without the use of an effective preservative. rapid spoilage or improper cooking methods could result in botulism - a known killer. No process or product is currently available which would provide similar protection to the consumer if nitrites were banned. This means that the U.S. consumer would have to be re-educated to the storage and preparation of processed meats. The other alternative is that these food products would not be marketed until a substitute preservative can be found.

USDA Secretary Bergland and HEW Secretary Califano recognize the potential danger and have asked for a twelve-month moratorium on the ban of sodium nitrites.

In presenting the joint department proposal, Bergland said, "What we need now is time. Time to complete a careful evaluation of all the scientific data. Time to analyze the various alternatives and sharpen those that can be reasonably implemented, and time to begin re-educating consumers and food handlers."

And, we might add, time to look carefully at a food safety policy that is over-reactive and has questionable effectiveness in curbing the incidence of cancer.

An Ancient Easter Tradition

Bake A New Twist On . . .

This giant hot cross bun is made quickly and deliciously with hot roll mix and plenty of chewy, tangy raisins.

Hot cross buns have been a part of the Easter season for centuries. The tradition of baking hot cross buns on Good Friday dates from the Middle Ages. Even earlier, records show that sweet buns decorated with an icing cross were part of Greek and Roman religious celebrations. Greek and Roman bakers used dried fruits like raisins as one of the chief ingredients in these special breads.

Today, raisins are still an important ingredient in favorite breads and other baked goods. They have just the right amount of tangy sweetness to give any special bread, cake or dessert a truly unique flavor. And, the raisin industry reports there should be an adequate supply of raisins for the Easter season

This Easter, treat your family to the newest twist on this ancient tradition, the Giant Hot Cross Bun. Plenty of sweet raisins and a touch of lemon make this giant bun just as tender and moist as its

Food Stamp Outreach Program

As the cost of food rises you may be finding it difficult to stretch those food dollars. Here are some helpful hints from the Food Stamp Outreach Program to guide you economically through the grocery

1. Use your Food Stamps to buy seeds or plants to grow your own garden. 2. Pick your own fruits or vegetables at the U-Pick farms in your area. 3. Shop at food co-ops, farm stands and farmer's markets.

4. Can or freeze your harvest or the fresh vegetables and fruits you can buy on special when in season.-

5. Make a grocery list first before 6. Eat before you leave for the grocery

7. Clip and use the discount coupons offered; if the coupon is for a product you use normally and only if the discount price will be at or below the less expensive brand.

8. Use unit pricing; buy in quantity if you can save even pennies and especially if you can store or freeze for a later use.

9. Don't go shopping for less than 3 items. 10. Purchase fewer processed foods; you de pay for the processing and the packag-

11. Buy store brand products or plain label brands rather than the national brands.

12. Buy less meat; more vegetables, potatoes, rice, fruits or bread.

13. Eliminate buying junk food or treats. 14. Cook at home instead of eating out. 15. Save left-overs stored for lunches or quick meals when pressed for time.

17. Take food with you on drives to the movies or drive-in theaters, or on walks or

18. Drink more water and juices; less kool-aid, pop and beer.

IN RETROSPECT

We received a dissertation the other day about our column about what the matter with us as a country is. They expressed their thoughts in no uncertain terms but asked us to smooth out the tenses, etc. before we printed it. So here goes.

"I agree with you in everything you said about the condition of the country, but you should have made a point that you didn't. Our nation was developed to its present state by doing what seemed at first to be the impossible; by learning to use what we have and not depending on others. But nowadays we are not doing this. Our "get up and go has got up and went". We no longer seem to be inventive to the degree that we used to be. Instead of crying about the oil shortage, for instance, we should get busy and find a substitute-there are several available that only need development, coal, atomic power, colar power and

Are You Registered?

Are you registered for the March of Dimes Walkathon on April 28? There are 150 who are, with 23 of these being from Clinton. In grades 5 to 8, in our town, 30% of the youngsters are registered, with the 7th grade leading the way. In the high school only 3% are registered there. Is the high school going to allow the Battered Boot Trophy, to remain in the Middle School? This trophy goes to the group raising the most money. Are the high schoolers going to allow the "little kids" to out do them

And where are the families? "Kids" of ALL ages can walk. The elementary youngsters can walk, as long as their parents give written permission, (on the sponsor sheet), and a chaperon walks with them. Sometimes an adult will walk with several youngsters. It is really great for the whole family to march on birth deects together, but if that is not possible, and parents are agreeable, we will try to find a mature person for your child to walk with; a high schooler or another adult. If your youngster tires out before the end of the walk, you will be called from the last checkpoint reached, and asked to pick up your child at the Middle School, where a "Poop-Out" car will take him or her. Registration forms will be placed in Klager and Pleasant Lake Schools, for your

There will be constant supervision by the "Poop-Out" cars, all along the route. Safety is the most important factor of the event, and a follow up car follows the last walkers all through the route, as well as those cruising the route. The cars will be all
