A clown distributed balloons and gifts to the children present.

The grand opening celebration continues through this week at the bank's Manchester office. Area residents are invited to stop by the office for coffee, cookies and to register for the grand prize drawing to be held on October 31.

It Was Another Success

A near record of 211 pints of blood (218, March 1980) were donated at the American Red Cross Bloodmobile last Friday, hosted by Manchester United Methodist Church. Only 19 were deferred while 63 who were registered never arrived at the clinic which was planned and staffed for 280. (This was a "no show" number never before experienced by a Manchester Clinic, especially since all who are registered receive cards indicating their appointment time and location.)

Double A Products employees alone donated 83 pints with only 9 deferred and 10 who were unable to come. This was a record for the Company which has always been a substantial supporter of Manchester Bloodmobiles. St. Mary's Church members topped the church division with 34 donors while only 2 were deferred and in spite of the fact that 20 more didn't arrive. Their record is always impressive.

A dozen 1-gallon pins were given to persons who donated their 8th pint at this time: Robert Burkhardt, James DuBois, Mary Frances Fielder, Ronald Fielder, Shirley Haussler, Don Hieber, Roger Hughes, Mark Rutherford, Elaine Schaffer, Diane Schroen, Wm. James Walkow and Jeannie Uphouse.

Two 2-gallon pins went to Jay Jackson and Oren Wellhoff, both from Double A.

A 3-gallon pin was given Ronald Punched as he donated his 24th pint since November 1967.

Besides the professional staff of 18 from Southeastern Michigan Regional Blood Center there were 24 local volunteers, 5 drivers, and 5 nursery attendants. Mrs. Lynn Carpenter, Chairman-of-the-Day and Mrs. Franklin Reck, co-chairman were

FFA Nominates William S. Wheeler For Honorary Degree

William S. Wheeler, Vocational Agriculture Instructor and FFA Advisor at Webberville Community School has been nominated to receive the FFA's Honorary American Farmer Degree.

William S. Wheeler was nominated for the Degree by the Michigan FFA Association and the nomination was approved by the National FFA Board of Directors which recently met in Alexandria, Virginia. The Honorary American Farmer Degree is the highest honorary degree presented by the FFA. This year 75 teachers of vocational agriculture were nominated to receive the degree during the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, November 12-14.

Wheeler has been a vocational agriculture teacher at Webberville Community School for 15 years.

Each year at least 50 of the 12,000 teachers of vocational agriculture in the nation are awarded the Honorary American Farmer Degree. The Degree is awarded on the basis of points scored by a teacher for his accomplishments as a Voc Ag Instructor, FFA Advisor, and as a participant in professional vo ag teacher's organizations.

Teachers are awarded points for each student they supervised in earning state and national FFA Awards. Teachers also receive points for serving as officers and committee members of the National Voc Ag Teachers Association, and for their participation in national meetings of the FFA and other professional associations.

William Wheeler is one of 2 vocational agriculture teachers from Michigan to be nominated for the Honorary American Farmer Degree this year. He plans to attend the National Convention in Kansas City, Mo. on November 12-14 where he will be presented the degree pending final approval of the nomination by the student FFA delegates who must vote on all honorary presentations of the National FFA Organization. The degree is presented during the Thursday afternoon session of the convention.

Mr. Wheeler has had 2 students who earned the American Farmer Degree, 32 students who received the State Farmer Degree, and 2 students who earned state proficiency. Mr. Wheeler has been President of the Agriculture Teachers Association of the State of Michigan.

William Wheeler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Wheeler of Logan Rd., Manchester, Michigan and graduated from Manchester High School the year of 1957. Bill and his wife Janice and 2 sons Alan and David live in Webberville.

Dick Fielder took over this season as head of the Junior Varsity squad which remained unbeaten through 2 contests before stumbling but did finish with a respectable 4-4 record. He saw his players show very well at times and not so well other times as they prepared for varsity. You're last game of the year you want to do well-and this we did by crushing Clinton. Offensively Carl Weidmayer led our ground attack with 102 yards but it was the 2 touchdowns and 83 yards by Kraig Sauter along with Steve Hoover's 2 touchdowns and 51 yards putting the points on the board. Defensively Dave Malcolm, Scott Drouare and Bill Scully were standouts.

The Dutch tallied in each quarter and the Redskins tried to duplicate but failed to score in the fourth. The first quarter closed with us atop 8-6 on a 6 yard scamper by Steve with Kraig collecting the extra points as Clinton tallied. Half-time came with our enlarging the lead to 16-12 as Steve again zoomed from the 5-Kraig again added the extra points this time catching a Dave Detling pass.

Kraig turned into the touchdown man as he went 10 yards in the third and 45 yards in the final stanza with Carl adding the extra points in the latter touchdown. Clinton scored in the 3rd but fell in the fourth. Final was 30-18.

----- NOTICE ----- FREEDOM TOWNSHIP ELECTORS

An important question will be decided on the November ballot regarding the amendment of our zoning Ordinance. The present Ordinance requires a ten (10) acre minimum lot size to build a residence in the agriculture district, which was adopted to preserve valuable farmland. Only one (1) acre is required in the residential district.

Those that would like to change the Ordinance to one (1) acre minimum throughout the Township offer several reasons.

One reason is their belief that more homes will provide a bigger tax base and therefore less taxes.-NOT TRUE, more homes means more taxes for us all, as not one residential property pay enough taxes to support even one pupil, not when it cost $2300 to $2800 per pupil per year. Therefore the rest of us will have to make up the difference.

Another reason offered is that those that do buy 10 acres just allow 9 acres to grow up to weeds. Possibly so, but I feel better 9 acres of weeds than 9 more houses. The weeds can always be returned to cultivation, but not with 9 houses there!

More houses means more traffic and congestion on our inadequate roads, more people mean more crime, pollution and all the attendant problems that our neighbors to the East of us have. It will also weaken the clout of the farmer at the polls.

In the past 10 years Freedom Township has limited growth to 85 people, largely due to our zoning Ordinance restrictions.

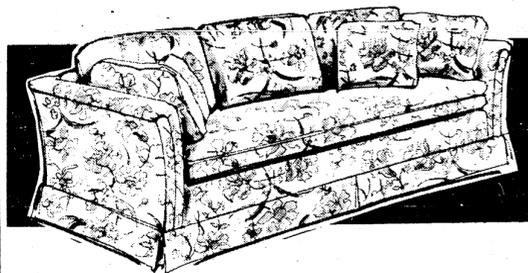

If you want to keep our Township a peaceful and quiet place to live, with the controlled growth the 10 acre minimum allows, then I urge you to vote NO on the advisory question and keep the developers out.

THE COMMON COLD

In our society there is a common experience that unites us all. Whether rich or poor, young or old, rural or urban, we all know the great equalizer: The Common Cold.

Whether star of the show or kid in the back row, we all are vulnerable, when near someone with a cold. A sneeze, a cough, a sip from a shared glass can transfer that cold virus to the unsuspecting person.

We can't fight the common cold, and there's no cure for it. It seems that the immunity period is too short. Cold virus is not like measles virus, whereby once you get measles the body's antibodies build up defenses to prevent your getting measles again. With the common cold the immune defenses break down quite soon, and you can get another cold.

Knowing that, try to avoid catching cold by avoiding sneezers, coughers, and sharers. It won't always work, of course, because you can't always know when someone is coming down with a cold. The incubation period is one to three days before the symptoms appear.

When you do get a cold, try to isolate yourself as much as possible to avoid spreading the germ further. Stay in bed for a day or two, if possible, and let the cold run its course. But don't overdose with non-prescription drugs, especially nasal sprays and nose drops. Those sometimes can do more harm than good.

What you must watch for are secondary infections, such as pneumonia, sinusitis, bronchitis, and laryngitis. You can suspect a secondary infection if the cold or fever lasts more than a few days, or if you have an earache, or persistent cough, sore throat, and headache. In those instances, see your doctor. Fortunately, there are treatments for secondary infections that should be applied in the early stages for quick recovery.

When you say, "I have a cold," people usually respond, "Stay away from me." Unsympathetic as it sounds, it's good advice. Don't spread your cold. Stay away from people. It's the only way we can keep the great equalizer under control.

C.P.R. Classes To Start

For the fourth consecutive year, the regular quarterly Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation class will be held on Thursday, November 13, Tuesday, November 18 and Thursday, November 20, in the Saline High School Cafeteria from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Statistics show that a large number of deaths (650,000 per year from heart attacks in the United States) could be prevented if these persons would have received Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation assistance. Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation is the emergency first-aid procedure that consists of providing artificial breathing and circulation until the victim (adult or infant) has been provided professional medical attention. The Saline classes also include instruction in "What To Do" to save a choking victim.

The ultimate goal of this course is to train everyone in our community over the age of thirteen to be prepared to help those in need until professional medical care can be obtained. The Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation classes are co-sponsored by Saline Area Schools, Community Education; Saline Community Hospital Auxiliary; Michigan Heart Association; American Red Cross and Saline Community Hospital. To register call Saline Community Hospital, 429-5435. These classes are free.

Afterschool Class In Beginning German

A Beginning German class for elementary and middle school students will start on Monday, November 10th at Klager School. Classes will run from 3:30 to 4:00 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in the Klager Library. Susan Davis, Manchester High School German teacher, will be the instructor.

The class is sponsored by the Manchester Association for Talented Students. All students interested in foreign languages are welcome to register. The twelve lesson course runs from November 10th until December 17. The fee will be $15.00 and enrollment will be limited to a maximum of 12 students. Fees are due at the first class.

Parents may register their children by calling Phil Mains at the Community Education Office at 428-7804 or Pat Sahakian at 428-7029.

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE YES ON PROPOSAL 'A'

BETTER SCHOOLS WITH HALF THE PROPERTY TAX.

PROPOSAL 'A' CUTS PROPERTY TAX 50% OR MORE BY ELIMINATING SCHOOL OPERATING MILLAGE

This means a property tax cut of 50% or more for residence and family farm owners. Proposal 'A' virtually eliminates all property taxes for senior citizens!

PROPOSAL 'A' REPLACES SCHOOL MILLAGE WITH A FAIR TAX BASED ON ABILITY TO PAY

Property taxes will be replaced with state-wide taxes on business property, and an increase in the state flat-rate income tax—based on ability to pay.

PROPOSAL 'A' PROVIDES FOR EQUAL PER-PUPIL REVENUES FOR ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS

...with no loss of per-pupil revenues for any district, and an increase in funds for a majority of districts...and a constitutional guarantee of local control of schools.

DON'T BE FOOLED

by another tax proposal that could cripple state police, ruin aid to elderly and handicapped, destroy universities and health services...and hurt schools. It will increase your Federal Income Tax...or another tax proposal which promises token property tax relief, replaces it with more sales tax, a burden on those least able to pay...and it also hurts schools.

PROPOSAL 'A' IS THE ONLY FAIR ONE

Community Forum On Unemployment

Washtenaw United Way, in cooperation with Child and Family Services of Washtenaw County and the Community Mental Health Center of Washtenaw County, will host a Community Forum on Unemployment, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, October 31, at Washtenaw Community College, Artists' Gallery Dining Room.

The forum will bring together representatives of business, government and social service agencies to discuss the current unemployment situation in Washtenaw County and the effects of unemployment on the county's human services system.

Louis A. Ferman, research director of the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations at the University of Michigan and U-M professor of social work, will keynote the event. Dr. Ferman is the author of several books, including "Job Development for the Hard-to-Employ," "Poverty in America" and "Mental Health and the Economy."

The forum will also feature "Not Working," 28 minutes of videotaped interviews with jobless Washtenaw County residents. The videotape will be used to spark small-group discussions on (1) the scope of unemployment in the county, (2) specific economic and personal problems aggravated by job loss, (3) the availability of community resources to deal with the problems of joblessness and (4) gaps in service needs. Following small group discussions, participants will re-convene for reports on the discussion. They will explore ideas for improved programs and the feasibility of a permanent mechanism to deal with issues related to unemployment.

"The forum is designed to look at ways that the existing human service system can deal with human problems related to unemployment more effectively," said Robert E. Bonfield, WUW president.

"The problems of unemployment are far too large for any one agency or segment of society to handle. United Way can serve as a catalyst for discussion and cooperation among public and private agencies," said Bonfield. "We hope to find ways that we can work together more effectively to meet the growing needs of the jobless workers in the county."

Demand for emergency services (emergency food, clothing and shelter) is up 75 percent over 1979 levels at the county's private direct service agencies: Catholic Social Services, S.O.S. Community Crisis Center, and the Salvation Army in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. Agency officials expect the increased demand will continue throughout 1980, coupled with cutbacks in government social service programs.

Yes Vote For Proposal D Recommended

Tuf recommends YES vote on Proposal D (Tisch tax cut). Proposal D is the ONLY tax cut on the Nov. 4 ballot. Based on U.S. Government Bureau of Census, Government Finances. Per capita state and local taxes paid in Michigan WILL REMAIN HIGHER than either of our neighbors, Ohio or Indiana, even AFTER THE TISCH TAX CUT (Proposal D) IS PASSED. Proposal D (Tisch tax cut) will:

1. Reduce your property tax to 1/2 of the amount you paid in 1978. (Look at your 1978 tax bill and see what that means to you!)
 2. Limit increases to 2% a year on residential and agricultural property.
 3. NO New Taxes unless approved by a 60% majority of people voting.
 4. Require the state to match $ for $ local property tax collections.
 5. Eliminate property tax for school operating millage for all property owners over 62 years.
 6. Totally exempt anyone earning less than $5000 from any property tax.
 7. Reduces property tax an additional 50% for people with incomes between $5000 and $10,500.
 8. Prohibits state from reducing state aid to schools unless 4/5 of legislature agrees to reduction.
- DID YOU KNOW -
* Michigan's total state budget is over 10 billion dollars in 1980!

* That in California in first 2 years after Prop 13 public employees increased by 55,000 (reported in New York Times)?
* That the State of Michigan will save 4.5 hundred million on refunds under Tisch Tax Cut?

* That elimination of exempt property under Tisch Tax Cut could produce millions of dollars to local government with the state required to match these funds?

* That approximately 1 1/2 billion dollars will be left to private sector to buy new cars or save, giving Michigan's economy a much needed shot in the arm?

* That Michigan's present property tax burden is one of the highest in the whole United States?

Michigan - Total Budget - In Billions Of Dollars - 1970 3.1 billion, 1975 5.5 billion, 1980 10.4 billion.

If you deduct 1.5 billion Tisch Tax Cut the state will still have 8 times as much money as it spent 10 short years ago.

Allan C. Schmid, President TUF

INDIAN FISHING

Negotiations between the state, U.S. Department of Interior and two Michigan Indian tribes appear to be going well, and we may soon see a resolution of the 10-year-old dispute over the use of Great Lakes waters. Commercial fishermen argue that the Indians are depleting the supply of lake trout by "indiscriminate" practices; the Indians say they have treaty rights to fish, and contend that it's too costly to change their present fishing methods.

Sen. Carl Levin (D-Mich.), right, discusses the excellent condition of United States agricultural exports with Don Chartier, the President of FAR-MAR-CO and Chairman of the Blue Ribbon Committee. Levin joined with a bi-partisan delegation of members of the U.S. House and Senate to form the "Congressional Farm Export Project," which will attempt to develop a unified national plan to build a stronger U.S. economy through increased farm exports in the 1980's. Levin pointed out that farm exports are one of the country's greatest national assets, with the projected $40 billion for fiscal 1980. By identifying specific ways that maximize expansion for farm exports, the project members hope to double our farm exports by 1985, and triple them by 1990.

ATTORNEYS endorse Judge Bronson

The quality of justice in any court of law depends on the legal ability of the judge—and his sense of humanity in dealing with defendants, victims, witnesses and law officers, plus citizens who serve as jurors.

By far the most intensive observers of judges are the attorneys of the community. They are law professionals and recognize outstanding legal ability in a district judge. How do they feel about Judge Bronson?

- In a poll conducted this October by the Washtenaw County Bar Association, Judge Kenneth Bronson was rated more qualified than any other candidate for election.
- Judge Bronson is the only judge from Washtenaw County to seek and receive endorsement of the Michigan

Trial Lawyers Association.

- Kenneth Bronson was one of only two Washtenaw County judges to be recognized in the first edition of Who's Who in American Law.
- Among the ten presidents of the Washtenaw County Bar Association from 1971 through 1980, all ten are endorsing Judge Bronson for re-election. These attorneys are:

John W. Conlin, Jr.	1972

Dutch Get Clinton In Overtime

by Jon Hardenbergh

The rain soaked everything and everyone as we traveled to meet our arch-rivals. The water made players slip, slide and fall throughout as all written statistics also got drenched. In this downpour the score remained 0-0 in regulation time, so overtime. Clinton fans roared as they booted a field goal to go up 3-0 but we immediately silenced them by having Nick Krzyzaniak toss to Doug Van Deven who made it inside the 1 yard line. Nick then took the snap from center and bullied across the goal line for the winning 6 points.

Coaches mentioned Scott Lawson as a standout both offensively and defensively. We close our season against Stockbridge in Stockbridge Saturday, November 1, 2 P.M.

J.V. Girls Basketball

by Jon Hardenbergh

We faced Blissfield on Tuesday and took control thru the first period topping them 11-3. The Royals got it going in the second 13-2 and they never looked back as they won 38-31. Chris Weirich was high with 8 points as Tammie Honer hit for 6 with Jenny Stein adding 5. Rebounds were lead by Julie Gebhardt with 9.

Thursday we welcomed Morenci and after 8 minutes sat tied 2-2 but in the second they added 10 to our 3. We closed in by out-scoring them in the 3rd, 8-4 and kept hustling to win 28-20. Sherri Rowe and Tammie scrapped to pop for 14 points, 7 each as Dawn England grabbed 8 carrots.

The J.V.'s record is currently 6-6.

"LIGHT UP A LIFE" to "Bring 'em Back Alive" is the Halloween safety message this scary skeleton is spreading with a flashlight, grinning Jack-o-Lantern and highly visible face makeup. Automobile Club of Michigan urges parents to equip young trick-or-treaters with flashlights to light their way and make them more visible to motorists Halloween night. The stark white makeup and gloves on Auto Club employee Angela Palmeri represent the correct way to dress for trick-or-treating. Without these safety features, her black costume would make her nearly impossible to see in darkness. Other safety tips: stay away from masks and use makeup; keep costumes short enough so they won't trip tiny feet; make costumes of bright colors and apply luminescent paint or tape to make them even more visible, and caution children to cross only at intersections and to look both ways before stepping off the curb.

Teacher Education Conference

"Sexuality with Responsibility: Developing a School Program," a teacher education conference, will be held during November.

The Washtenaw County Health Department is sponsoring this five-session series to help teachers implement Public Act 226-77. This legislation states that reproductive health/contraceptive education may be included in the school curriculum upon approval of a locally established Advisory Board and provided that teachers are qualified.

The conference, which begins on November 5th, will develop in detail the basic principles of family life and reproductive health. Teachers will be able to incorporate these principles into their classroom curricula. A limited number of parents and school board members will also be enrolled. Participation of parents at this conference will help teachers to understand parental concerns about sex education in the schools and will provide parents with information about the physical and emotional components of sexuality of children.

Speakers include Dr. Marshall Shearer, University of Michigan - Department of Psychiatry, Dr. Marguerite Shearer, President of the Washtenaw County Medical Society, Dr. Sylvia Hacker, University of Michigan - School of Nursing and Wanda Jubb, Michigan Department of Education.

Parents and teachers who are interested in enrolling may call 973-1488.

Sharon Valley 4-H Club News

"Expanding Horizons" was the theme of the recent 4-H Recognition night, which also included the 4-H Council Convention and election. The event was held at the Wylie School in Dexter, Michigan.

One of the 1980 4-H Tel-Award winners for the district was Judi Poet of Manchester. Judi was recognized for her efforts in crafts (leathercraft). Fourteen to eighteen year old 4-H members compete in Tel-Awards.

Other members of the Sharon Valley 4-H Club to be recognized were Anna Heath and Rick Poet, both of Manchester. Anna was awarded county project medals in Photography and Wood Science. Rick received his medals in Achievement and the Horse and Pony project. County medals are awarded to 4-H members between the ages of twelve to fourteen years.

Judi, Rick and Scott Poet, along with Anna Heath, received medals for their participation on the Washtenaw County 4-H Horse Bowl teams.

Voting delegates to the 4-H Council Convention were Anna Heath, Rick and Rob Poet. From the Saline-Manchester area, the teen representative elected to the 4-H Council was Judi Poet. Judi was also recently elected as one of the teen members to the Washtenaw County 4-H Horse Board of Directors. The adult representative elected to the 4-H Council was Bob Feldkamp of Manchester. Bob is one of the project leaders in the Sharon Valley 4-H Club and will represent the Saline-Manchester area also.

An added feature of the evening was the awarding of certificates to the handicapped students in the 4-H riding program. One local exceptional equestrian, who received his well earned certificate, was Jon Hardenbergh of Manchester. Jon was also awarded a pin for 100% attendance of all the riding sessions.

Over 44 volunteers help make this fine program work. Many 4-H members, their families and friends of the Sharon Valley 4-H Club participate in this activity. These include the entire Tom Heath family of Manchester. They trailered animals, donated the use of their pony, "good old Gypsy", were side walkers and leaders. Three great musketeers, Judi, Rob and Rick Poet of Manchester, who were side walkers, leaders, helped to move the ramp and did whatever else needed doing; Mike Fisk, who drove Jon to each and every session, side walked, helped to mount some students, etc.; Karen Hansen, who donated the use of her pony, Tammie; Pat Kidd, side walker and leader; Bob Feldkamp, side walker and moving the mounting ramp; Arlene Fisk, who donated the use of two horses, side walked, led horses, etc.; Jill Cradler of Ann Arbor, side walker and leader; Jim Carey of Ann Arbor, side walker; Carol Kidd of Manchester, photographer; and of course, the instructor, Clinton Fisk, who really enjoys working with all these people and especially the students.

Everyone enjoyed the coffee, punch and the dessert table following the program.

Poll Conducted By County Bar Assoc.

In a poll conducted among members of the Washtenaw County Bar Association to rate candidates for the 14th District Court in the November 4 election, incumbent Judge Kenneth Bronson outscored incumbent Judge Robert V. Fink and attorney John W. Stanowski. Bronson received a total of 3,201 points compared to 3,122 for Fink and 1,193 for Stanowski.

The Bar Association has conducted a poll of its membership since 1974 to evaluate the qualifications of candidates in contested judicial elections. In the forthcoming election three candidates are competing for two seats on the bench.

Each member of the Bar Association was provided with a statement prepared by the candidate along with the ballot and asked to rate each candidate in four categories on a scale of one to ten with ten being the best rating. The final rating was the average of the scores in each category.

- The categories were:
- Judicial temperament
 - Knowledge of the law
 - Preparedness and efficiency
 - Trial practice skills and ability.

In announcing the results, a Bar Association spokesperson made the point that the results of the poll represent the individual judgement of each member casting a ballot, and should not be taken as the official position of the association. A total of 327 ballots was mailed and 98 valid ballots were returned.

"HIT OR MISS" by farley

Gossip is a commodity of which there seems to be no shortage under any circumstance but along about election time there seems to be a great surplus in the circles where the qualifications of the various candidates were discussed.

Now that election madness is over for a time at least maybe we can look at some of the choice items circulated during the campaign by all of the participants and, in fact, by most everyone, regarding their favorites and also those on the other side of the fence. Many of the things said or inferred by the candidates during the heat of their speechmaking were told at that time with a straight face by the candidates and their supporters with a straight face and a pounding of the lectern but now they seem rather humorous.

We casually made a collection of some of them but refrained from using them during the campaigns but we filed away some of those that gave us the biggest chuckle and so may we repeat a few of them?

There is the fellow who wanted to know how we could vote for Congressman Doodles. Him? All you have to do is look at his artificial smile. I would just as soon vote for the Ayatollah Khomeini. It's so easy to tell he's not sincere. And the other half of the discussion hastily replied, your candidate never even smiles. He's probably plotting against us all of the time. He looks like an anemic teenager with braces on his teeth. You can't trust a man who doesn't smile. And the reply was that his smile must have been glued on some years ago.

And then as the conversation heated up a bit one chap suggested that compared to Congressman Doodles the opposing candidate was nearly illiterate. If he ever got to Congress they'd have to furnish an interpreter.

And then, having exhausted the Congressman's faults, they moved on to his family. The critic of Congressman Doodles said, very confidentially, that the Congressman had an assistant that spent most of his time assisting his wife home following the official parties. They were known as the "Gasohol Kids, he with his hot air and she with her drinking, according to Bob Yokum" column. And then they went on to the whole Doodles family.

Their eldest girl, it was reported, observed her twenty-first birthday, her second pregnancy and her third divorce and her fourth engagement at the same party. His other daughter belongs to a group of Moonies who Bob says worship a spotted cow called the Great Moo and his son was again kicked out of the eighth grade charged with habitual obscenity.

Along about this time a third gentleman joined the pair and joined in the chorus reporting that the Congressman had slugged a photographer who took his picture in a topless bar where he was merely doing research for the Commerce Committee. And that was when I snuck away—I'd had about all I could stand because I am so old and bald and plump that I still belong to the old school who were taught early in life that a Congressman or a Senator or, in fact, most politicians were possessed of a certain amount of brains and dignity and were to be looked up to by us common clods. The ideal office holder was supposed to dress better than the average person and smoke expensive cigars and have a vocabulary that was exceptional. He always answered all letters of complaint written him—he didn't sometimes do much about our problems but he answered our letters and each spring, if you can remember that far back, sent us, upon request, a "large packet of garden seeds free. That's where we learned about salsify and okra and brussel sprouts and chives, etc. Before that we had been content with peas and beans, potatoes and squash, etc.

And so, now that the country has been saved for at least another two years, let us turn to the more frivolous things of life.

Youth Appreciation Week November 9-15

Optimist Youth Appreciation Week will be observed the week of November 9-15th.

We all know how much it means to have our achievements recognized and appreciated. A compliment from the boss; a word of praise from a friend or a thank you from a child can brighten an entire day. And we all try harder when we know someone cares. This very human trait is shared by all, whether we be six or sixty five, but we often forget that our youth especially deserve appreciation. That's what Youth Appreciation Week is all about.

Your Manchester Optimist Club asks that you make a special effort to recognize the worthwhile activities of our town's teenagers.

It has been said that "Talk Is Cheap", but a few well chosen words, sincerely spoken, can reap valuable dividends when they let young persons know that their contributions are appreciated. For this reason Optimist International developed the annual recognition program known as Youth Appreciation Week.

In your neighborhood there is a teenager who needs encouragement. It could be your own son or daughter whose accomplishments may have escaped your notice. Now is the time to tell them that you care, that you are glad to have them around, and that you honestly appreciate their efforts. Your rewards will be many including a grateful smile.

 When you face an opponent that performs better and wins—that's one thing but when the opposition uses below par zebras to seemingly line the path to victory—is that fair? Anyway Stockbridge ran for one touchdown and their defense tallied twice to end our season 10-12.

Soon after the opening kick the problems arose—when we punted and apparently downed the punt, members on both squads were on the field switching defense to offense and vice-versa when an alert Panther grabbed the motionless pigskin. He proceeded to weave down the sideline thru our on-coming defense enroute to our end zone. Upon his arrival there the ref signaled touchdown—his explanation was the whistle never sounded. Following a successful P.A.T., Stockbridge sat up 7-0. A rattled Dutch team shortly thereafter received the punt only to fumble it with a Panther recovering it.

The public is cordially invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

A good friend of mine who has developed what might be called a phobia about taxes, recently wrote a rather cute dissertation about them and it came out this way:

One day recently after lying in bed for some time cogitating about man's inhumanity to man in the area of taxes he dashed off the following:

I rose and found no shaving cream and so I dashed out and bought some and the state taxed me. This is the beard tax.

Then I got a haircut and the city taxed me. Then I went to lunch and they taxed my meal. By then they had taxed my head and my jaw and my stomach. So then I bought two pair of socks which were also taxed-the day wasn't half over but I had been taxed from head to toe.

So then to be a good fellow I bought some tooth paste and let 'em tax my teeth and after lunch I did some work for the boss and the Federal Government and the state and the city, all of whom taxed my pay. My car was in the shop so I called them to see if it was done and they taxed my phone, so I went home and found that they had taxed my house.

Soon afterwards I went to the garage to pick up my car and pay for the work and found they had taxed it although it had not been done correctly so that gave me a headache and I went to the drug store and found my aspirin was taxed. This was a separate tax not connected with the hair tax and the dandruff tax collected at the barber shop that sells the dandruff shampoo that doesn't remove the dandruff.

So now I had had my jaw, hair, stomach, feet, teeth, salary, voice, headache, house, and incompetent car repair taxed, drove to a filling station and carelessly said "Fill 'er up" and they soaked me for my gasoline and its tax. So I parked my car in the garage and they taxed me for that.

When I arrived home the new chair we had ordered had arrived and I innocently asked "Was that taxed?" I was told yes sir, four per cent so I sat down and they had taxed my seat. I picked up a book and

The Temperatures Is Rising

With the 1980 United Way Campaign now in full swing, the wick on the chick is steadily rising! General Chairman, James W. England, has announced that as of Saturday's report 25% of the $25,412 projected goal has been reached.

All divisions are busy soliciting. Outside Business has reached 65% of its goal, while Organizations and Schools are at 59% and 58% respectively. And this week is just the beginning of the annual UNITED WAY bake sale at Klager Elementary. Will they surpass last year's record of 2,439 cupcakes and push the School Division over the top?

Keep your eye on the chick (in Gamble's window), and watch the temperature steadily rise! If this community follows its tradition of the last 20 years, the temperature WILL rise to the top and make this the 21st year of 100% success!

By SHARING through this 'one for all' drive, we will bring HOPE to those less fortunate than we.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DOOM AND GLOOM

November 4, 1980

I have heard many predictions in my lifetime that the world was coming to an end. Now we have the DOOM AND GLOOM crowd to disrupt us. The Governor has solicited the aid of a Senator from Washington to join forces with him and spend our money to expand his economic and political control. This is a part of big government - control by a few. The Governor is joining forces with anyone available to promote proposal C. It was called COALITION proposal to begin with, and is now better known as the GOVERNOR'S PROPOSAL. It is an excellent job of protecting state government at the expense of local government subdivisions. Members of the committee to draft the proposal who disagreed in any way were denied the privilege of input. I have known other instances where this happened.

The Governor's proposal contains binding language to go into our constitution, modifying Section 30 of the Headlee Amendment approved in 1978. This new language would remove the right to challenge that implementation in the Courts, if so desired; all of which is to the advantage of the state government, which goes right on disregarding the lower levels of government. This is all a slap at local governmental units, and in particular 1245 townships, and other local units. The Governor has no interest in their needs and continued existence. There are many other things I could say about it, but I will let it rest there, except one item cannot be overlooked.

All of the legislation necessary to implement the Governor's Proposal C has been passed and signed into law in Public Acts 252 through 260 of 1980. This is very disturbing to have this passed unnoticed while everyone was debating the merits of the proposal. The implementation received no attention or publicity whatever. It is disturbing to have a Governor who will go to such lengths to prevent the usual process of enacting legislation before Proposal C is adopted, avoiding publicity and debate which would take place after adoption. Since these acts are now law, what and how may he use them if C is not adopted? The acts goes FAR BEYOND the wording of Proposal C. They protect and enlarge state government at the expense of our local units. This is a prime example where ECONOMIC POWER BREEDS POLITICAL POWER and local units of government better take notice. It is later than you think, and the game is now CATCH UP for officials of local units of government. Is this what you want? If not, express yourselves by your vote and do what you can to put the brakes on our bloated and over-inflated government.

My point in these articles has been to direct your attention to BIG GOVERNMENT, FAT GOVERNMENT, OVER-INFLATED AND GROWN BEYOND INFLATION BY 4 1/2 BILLION DOLLARS IN TEN YEARS. How do we stop these GLOOMERS AND DOOMERS who preach wreck and ruin for state government if D is approved. You have your chance now. When will you have it again? Tisch went to defeat two years ago and we had promises of relief. What did you get - two proposals, A and C hurriedly thrown together this summer to defeat a petition drive by over 400,000 signers.

The legislators can put an amendment on the ballot by their own act. No petition by the voters is required. I want that over-inflated state budget of 4 1/2 billion cut out and put back with local units. Don't expect this to come easy. The wrecking has to precede the reconstruction. A "No" vote on all three proposals will not get a fat, over-inflated government as suggested in the School News and other sources.

Now I have expressed my views. You express yours on November 4, 1980, and hereafter. This country has for two hundred and four years gone through wars, money panics, the rise and fall of financial institutions, depressions and recessions, but it always arose to the occasion like they did on December 7, 1941, when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor. They soon found what we could do.

Thank you for your time if you have come this far. Many thanks to the Manchester Enterprise for publishing these letters.

Procassini Seek Re-Election To WCC Board

Procassini, a WCC board member for the past 14 years and the board's chairperson since 1975, issued this statement of candidacy.

"Much has changed since 1961-64 when I worked on the Chamber of Commerce committee which preceded the 1965 decision of the voters to establish the College. I have been privileged to have been able to serve the community since 1966 as a member of the College's board. Since 1973, I have had the added duty and honor of serving as the Chairperson of the Board and have presided over a period of further growth for the College.

"Although much has changed in the nearly 20 years since I first dedicated myself to the goals of our College, one thing has not: my conviction that our College is a community venture in every sense of the word.

"I continue to present myself to my community as a person with experience in community projects, industry, education and community college management. I hope that my work on behalf of the College for 19 years - 14 of those as trustee - will prove useful as I pledge my best efforts to represent the needs of all segments of our community in a fiscally responsible manner.

"The Community College has filled a great gap in our educational systems and will continue to have a great impact on our community. The college has been successful because of the support of the entire county and the work of faculty, administrative staff, deans, president and board of trustees. We have been fortunate in having outstanding people serve on the board, which has enabled the college to have proper direction in order to meet its needs to the community."

A resident of Ann Arbor since 1939, Procassini has served as chairperson of City Council's Economic Development and Manpower Commission, as a member of the local Manpower Development and Training Advisory Committee for the Michigan Employment Security Commission, as a member of the American Red Cross executive committee, as chairperson of the Industrial Blood Bank from 1962 to 1966, on the Boy Scouts finance committee, as a member of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and with the United Fund industrial division. He was employed for 24 years with the Bendix Corporation in various executive positions. His last position was Corporate Director - Personnel Operations. Presently he is President of his own company which specializes in consulting services in the personnel, human resources, labor relations and management relations areas.

He and his wife Dawn live at 1820 Burgundy Drive. They have ten children, three of whom are attending local colleges.

Hit Or Miss

I asked the cook if the meat was taxed but she said "no" they didn't tax that unless you went to a restaurant to eat it and that I thought was decent of them. So I turned on the lamp and they taxed my vision as it was by then getting quite dark. Was glad to know that I was shunning out tax money just by sitting there with my eyes on the book.

So now the government was taxing my eyes, mind, seat, heat, headache, house and car. I felt so good about it I went and mixed a drink and they taxed my gin. And all the time human biology was working to insure that my usefulness would assume on the morrow.

My whiskers were silently growing to assure payment of a beard tax, my hair was growing to guarantee another barber tax payment, my socks were slowly eroding to insure foot-taxed payments. The thoughts of all this made me take three more Gins quickly and the politicians smiled from coast to coast, knowing that in the morning they would rake in a surplus from coast to coast.

Carl Levin's

WASHINGTON

Americans are very familiar with the problem that we are presently facing with foreign oil. Not as many, though, are familiar with a similar, domestic problem with coal.

The western states of Montana and Wyoming have levied severance taxes on the coal that is being extracted from those states. Severance taxes are imposed on natural resources, such as coal, which are removed (or severed) from the land.

Usually the tax is a percentage of the total value of the resource. They are legal and just when exercised fairly. In comparison to other states' severance taxes, however, the 30% tax levied by Montana and the 17% tax by Wyoming are outrageous. For example, Michigan charges a 6.6% tax on its oil, Texas a 5% tax on oil, and Alaska a 12.25% tax on its oil.

In most instances, severance taxes are used to lessen the boomtown tendency associated with resource development. In Montana this trend could be treated and reversed by a tax of two cents per ton. Instead, the state collects a revenue of over 75 times more than the expense -- a tax of approximately $1.50 on every ton of coal.

This is an appalling reality. If no action is taken on this issue, Montana and Wyoming could become domestic OPEC-like coal producers.

In 1979, the Carter Administration introduced an energy plan to ease our dependence on foreign oil. The plan called for the prohibition of the use of oil and gas to fire utility and large industrial boilers. This makes the conversion to coal inevitable, making it one of our primary sources of energy. Thus, the demand for coal is estimated to double by 1990. If coal prices increase to phenomenal rates, we will be little better off than we have been with OPEC.

Michigan is one of eight states from which Montana is receiving taxes. Besides collecting taxes from these states, the coal producing states -- including Montana and Wyoming -- receive federal money to offset some costs of coal development. Instead of the coal states using these funds to ease the burden of the consumers, they are rebating some of these tax proceeds to their residents and placing the remainder in a trust for future generations. This carries with it added burdens on the consumer.

While Montana banks the taxes, the consumer states suffer. Detroit Edison has been hit hard with this severance tax. Before the Energy and Power Subcommittee of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, Walter J. McCarthy, President of Detroit Edison testified that the Montana tax has been increased by 2,400 percent since his company signed a contract in 1973. "By the end of the 26 years of the contract, if the present tax remains in effect, we shall pay over $1.3 billion in coal severance tax to Montana." The added expense falls directly on the customers. The 1.5 million Edison customers in Southeastern Michigan are paying seven to eight additional dollars each in 1980 for this tax. And as the price of coal increases, which is a possibility, this tax will also increase -- and so will our monthly utility bills.

At present, there is no limit on the amount of tax that any state may levy on coal. But the federal government does have the right to limit the power of a state to tax anything that is related to interstate commerce. This is just such a case. So what's being done?

A bill was introduced in May by Senator Dale Bumpers (D-Arkansas) to place a 12.5% limit on severance taxes. I was an original co-sponsor of this bill along with Senator Don Riegle and seven other senators. Two bills were also introduced in the House that call for the 12.5% ceiling. These bills were co-sponsored by nine Michigan representatives.

One of the House bills was reported favorably to the floor without amendment by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on September 16. The bill boasts 75 co-sponsors in the full House.

Financial experts estimate that if this legislation fails and present tax rates remain in effect, it will mean a cost of $360 million a year to the customers in the coal consuming states. My primary concern is with the skyrocketing cost due to the monopolistic factors that exist. The rising cost of coal is inevitable, but the outlandish taxes are unnecessary.

I believe that this great injustice must be brought to an end and Congress has the power to see that it does. Energy independence is possible, if we all work at it.

News Of Good Things Growing

BERGLAND'S POKER GAME

Many of us are guilty of taking pot shots at the government in general and the Department of Agriculture in particular about the proliferation of unnecessary regulations that farmers and other businessmen are subjected to.

Well, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland is acting like he's holding a pat hand and farmers had better put up or shut up. Farmers don't know if he's bluffing, or not but he's asked them to send him a list of federal regulations that they think are unwarranted, stupid or absurd. The secretary knows, of course, that the stakes are not all that high and he has already defended his position by saying he feels most agriculture regulations are not burdensome.

He has called farmers' hands and if they don't come up with some lists, they are going to be eating a steady diet of crow for some time. If the lists are forthcoming, then Secretary Bergland will either have to justify the regulations or scrap them to save face.

It's time to fish or cut bait, but it seems that the way regulations are interpreted and administered may be the bigger problem than the regulations themselves. For example, one case involved the requirement to get a permit to drain wetlands. Most of the land was not wet and the part that was wet had been dry until the highway department put in a culvert that was too small to carry rain water off. The water backed up on the farmer's land and the Corps of Engineers refused to give the farmer the permit.

There must be thousands of incidents that could be cited and hopefully, farmers will call Bergland's hand.

If you're looking for some different family recreation this fall, visit one of Michigan's many apple orchards to watch apple cider being made. The apple aroma, together with fresh baked donuts, caramel and candied apples, and sips of tangy apple cider are all a part of fall in Michigan.

Good things are growing in Michigan and our state's apple growers are harvesting the second largest crop of this century, reported to be more than 900 million pounds, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The state ranks third among apple-producing states.

Cider, labeled "sweet cider", is the natural pure juice of apples with no sugar added. Flavor depends on the blend of different apple varieties and varies in different areas of the country depending on preference for sweet or tart cider.

Apple juice is pasteurized cider and doesn't ferment. "Hard" cider is that which has fermented.

Cider needs constant refrigeration because of perishability. It will stay sweet and unfermented for one to two weeks, or longer if preservatives have been added.

Serve apple cider or juice cold, or hot with cinnamon and cloves. For a special treat around the fireplace, make a frosty apple shake. Combine one quart apple cider with one pint softened vanilla ice cream and one-half teaspoon cinnamon or sprinkle with nutmeg. Blend until frothy and serve.

For a free listing of roadside markets offering cider and apples, write the Michigan Department of Agriculture for "Michigan Country Carousal 1980", P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, 48909.

Private Lives

Private Lives, Noel Coward's high style, humorous look at marriage and divorce, will be presented November 6 and 8, 8:00 and November 9, 4:00 p.m. at the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre in Manchester.

Private Lives was written originally by Coward in 1930 to feature himself and Gertrude Lawrence in the leading roles. To prove the timelessness of Coward's "delightfully daring" comedy this particular production moves the setting from 1930 to the present.

Elyot, played by Charles Stallman, and Amanda, played by Meg Gilbert, have been divorced for five years. They meet again by chance while each is honeymooning with a new spouse - Sibyl (Tracy Paul) and Victor, (Douglas Finton). The action moves from balconies overlooking the Mediterranean to South of France - where a French maid named Louise, (Patricia Rector) steps into the comedy.

Meg Gilbert was trained at Wayne State University and has worked extensively with Ann Arbor Civic Theatre and Ann Arbor dinner theatres. Charles Stallman has worked with Ann Arbor Civic Theatre for many years, as well as performing locally with a number of other groups - most recently with the School of Music Summer Opera.

This play is a co-production of Ann Arbor Civic Theatre and the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre. Ticket information: Advance tickets are available in Ann Arbor at the Michigan Theatre Box Office and Hudsons in Briarwood Mall. Phone reservations can be made by calling 428-8277 before Nov. 3rd and 428-9280 after Nov. 3rd.

CLASSES AND WORKSHOPS

Put Saturday, November 8 on your calendar, for Pat Roth's Candle workshop. Students will learn the traditional method of hand-dipped candles. Two types of waxes will be available for dipping: bayberry and beeswax. Four pairs of candles will be made by each student: making ideal Christmas presents or decorations. Meet at Manchester Methodist Church from 10:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m. The cost to members is $10.00, to non-members it is $13.00.

One last class, taught by Sherry Lawton, a Christmas Workshop, will be Saturday, November 22 from 1:00-3:00 p.m. Join her in Chelsea and make needlework decorations using various techniques as gifts or for your tree. All materials are supplied for a $15.00 fee.

Phone Becky at 428-7193 or Jan between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. at 428-9215 for registration or information.

Elected To American Angus Assoc.

Neal and Ardella Swanberg of Manchester, Michigan, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association, reports Dr. C.K. Allen, executive vice-president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Association, with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association.

Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Opening Of Flint's I-475 Delayed

Excessive rainfall this year will likely postpone completion of the final 6.3-mile section of Interstate 475 Freeway in Flint until next year, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) reports.

"The chance of opening any portion of the new freeway this year is very remote," said William Travis, MDOT district construction engineer. "I expect we will open the entire section next summer."

Parts of the highway may look finished where paving has been done on the roadway, Travis said, but there is much work yet to do, such as constructing shoulders, median barriers and lighting systems.

Travis said the unusual amount of rain, coupled with poor soil conditions, was the main cause of construction delays. Engineers have encountered larger-than-usual amounts of "frost heave" soil that had to be removed and replaced. Heavy rainfall greatly delays this process. Paving also stops on rainy days.

Construction of the 6.38 miles began in early 1978 with construction of service roads and bridges.

The north and south segments of the freeway are open to traffic. The north segment stretches from I-75 near Grand Blanc north to I-69 in Flint.

More Farmland Open To Michigan Hunters

Hunters will find more farmland open to them this fall, especially in the 10-county metropolitan area around Detroit, the Department of Natural Resources says.

That's due to changes in the state's Public Access Program, which is funded by hunters who buy a $1 stamp to hunt in southern lower Michigan. The program was begun in 1977 to provide more hunting opportunities in areas where there was not enough public land available.

The changes, authorized by the Legislature this year, allow the DNR to pay more for prime hunting land, especially in southeastern Michigan.

Previously, the DNR was limited to a maximum of $2.50 per acre. That's now been increased to $4, or $6 in the 10-county area made up of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, St. Clair, Lapeer, Livingston, Washtenaw, Lenawee and Monroe counties. Huntable land in those counties is even more scarce than in the rest of southern Michigan as urban expansion takes over the countryside.

The increased lease rates resulted in 130 more farmers joining the program, in addition to the 559 landowners already enrolled, bringing the total acreage leased to 155,644 acres, an increase of 34,644 acres over last year. And as was hoped, the majority of that increase, 21,370 acres, occurred in the 10-county area around Detroit.

Biggest increases came in Genesee County with 5,310 acres leased compared to none last year, Lapeer County with 5,896 acres compared to 949 last year, and Monroe County, up from 365 to 4,455 acres this year.

John Urban, DNR wildlife planning executive, says the program has been successful in improving relations between farmers and hunters. "There are reduced problems involving property damage, injured livestock, trespass, littering, and personal injuries," he says.

Although the legislation authorizing the program expires in December, 1982, Urbain intends to work with the Legislature before then to continue the program, and perhaps make at least one major change.

"Since working on the Public Access Program, I've become acutely aware of the problems hunters face with public access, not only in southern Michigan, but statewide," he says. "I know that there are many areas in northern lower Michigan and in the Upper Peninsula that are prime habitat for wildlife, but are not generally available to public hunting. If this program could be extended statewide, hunters would benefit and farmers would be remunerated for the habitat they now already provide."

Descriptions and locations of lands now leased under the Public Access Program will be available in mid-September at DNR district and regional offices, the DNR's Detroit and Lansing Information Services Centers, southern Michigan state parks and recreation areas, and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Farm Bureau, and Michigan State University Extension offices.

The Hunting Code Of Ethics

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission, and so conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.
3. I will obey all game laws and regulations, and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.
5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of America.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor sportsman.

School Board Urges "No" Vote On Tax Proposals

In action taken at the regular meeting of the Manchester Board of Education on Monday, October 20, the Board took a stance of urging the community to reject all three tax proposals.

Following discussion during which various members of the Board expressed opinions regarding each of the three issues, the feeling of the Board was that none of the issues would benefit the community of Manchester or the Manchester Community Schools.

Proposals A and C were seen as likely tax increases which would in fact remove the control of the schools from the local voters. Proposal A calls for an increase in the State Income Tax to offset reductions in property tax. Proposal C seeks to shift some of the emphasis on property tax to an increase in the State Sales Tax. Proposal D is viewed as destructive to public education in Michigan. Currently some 200,000 students are enrolled in the Michigan University system. Under proposal D only the three major institutions would remain at 50% funding. Further, it should be noted that the University of Michigan has developed a contingency plan to become a private institution if the proposal becomes a reality.

At the local level it was noted that the state legislature has yet to pass a school aid bill. Never before has the development of this bill been so late in arriving. It was pointed out that the legislature is in fact waiting until after the election in order to be able to divert local school funds to other state programs if proposal D is approved. It has been estimated that in addition to the loss of local control the Manchester Community Schools would have a shortfall of more than a million dollars under proposal D.

At the personal level it was noted that each individual taxpayer would be required to pay additional Federal Income Tax since the property tax deduction would no longer be available. It has been estimated that an additional $500,000,000 in Federal Income Tax would go to Washington from the State of Michigan if proposal D is approved.

Men In Service

Private Bill M. Hagerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hagerman of English Road, in Manchester, has recently been assigned as a Recruiter Aide to the United States Army Recruiting Station at 2500 Packard Road, Suite 211 in Ann Arbor.

Private Hagerman, a 1980 graduate of Manchester High School, joined the Army in July. "I joined the Army for two reasons," he explained. "I wanted the opportunity to travel and also to take advantage of the in-service educational opportunities the Army offers. I plan to pursue a degree in history."

Private Hagerman took his basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, and trained as a Tank Driver at the same installation.

During his thirty day assignment, Private Hagerman will be talking to local residents about Army opportunities. Then he will leave for his permanent duty station at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Children are even as a branch that is fresh and green; they will grow up in whatever way ye train them. Take the utmost care to give them high ideals and goals, so that once they come of age, they will cast their beams like brilliant candles on the world, and will not be defiled by lusts and passions in the way of animals, heedless and unaware, but instead will set their hearts on achieving everlasting honour and acquiring all the excellences of humankind."

A clown distributed balloons and gifts to the children present.

The grand opening celebration continues through this week at the bank's Manchester office. Area residents are invited to stop by the office for coffee, cookies and to register for the grand prize drawing to be held on October 31.

It Was Another Success

A near record of 211 pints of blood (218, March 1980) were donated at the American Red Cross Bloodmobile last Friday, hosted by Manchester United Methodist Church. Only 19 were deferred while 63 who were registered never arrived at the clinic which was planned and staffed for 280. (This was a "no show" number never before experienced by a Manchester Clinic, especially since all who are registered receive cards indicating their appointment time and location.)

Double A Products employees alone donated 83 pints with only 9 deferred and 10 who were unable to come. This was a record for the Company which has always been a substantial supporter of Manchester Bloodmobiles. St. Mary's Church members topped the church division with 34 donors while only 2 were deferred and in spite of the fact that 20 more didn't arrive. Their record is always impressive.

A dozen 1-gallon pins were given to persons who donated their 8th pint at this time: Robert Burkhardt, James DuBois, Mary Frances Fielder, Ronald Fielder, Shirley Haussler, Don Hieber, Roger Hughes, Mark Rutherford, Elaine Schaffer, Diane Schroen, Wm. James Walkow and Jeannie Uphouse.

Two 2-gallon pins went to Jay Jackson and Oren Wellhoff, both from Double A.

A 3-gallon pin was given Ronald Punched as he donated his 24th pint since November 1967.

Besides the professional staff of 18 from Southeastern Michigan Regional Blood Center there were 24 local volunteers, 5 drivers, and 5 nursery attendants. Mrs. Lynn Carpenter, Chairman-of-the-Day and Mrs. Franklin Reck, co-chairman were

FFA Nominates William S. Wheeler For Honorary Degree

William S. Wheeler, Vocational Agriculture Instructor and FFA Advisor at Webberville Community School has been nominated to receive the FFA's Honorary American Farmer Degree.

William S. Wheeler was nominated for the Degree by the Michigan FFA Association and the nomination was approved by the National FFA Board of Directors which recently met in Alexandria, Virginia. The Honorary American Farmer Degree is the highest honorary degree presented by the FFA. This year 75 teachers of vocational agriculture were nominated to receive the degree during the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, November 12-14.

Wheeler has been a vocational agriculture teacher at Webberville Community School for 15 years.

Each year at least 50 of the 12,000 teachers of vocational agriculture in the nation are awarded the Honorary American Farmer Degree. The Degree is awarded on the basis of points scored by a teacher for his accomplishments as a Voc Ag Instructor, FFA Advisor, and as a participant in professional vo ag teacher's organizations.

Teachers are awarded points for each student they supervised in earning state and national FFA Awards. Teachers also receive points for serving as officers and committee members of the National Voc Ag Teachers Association, and for their participation in national meetings of the FFA and other professional associations.

William Wheeler is one of 2 vocational agriculture teachers from Michigan to be nominated for the Honorary American Farmer Degree this year. He plans to attend the National Convention in Kansas City, Mo. on November 12-14 where he will be presented the degree pending final approval of the nomination by the student FFA delegates who must vote on all honorary presentations of the National FFA Organization. The degree is presented during the Thursday afternoon session of the convention.

Mr. Wheeler has had 2 students who earned the American Farmer Degree, 32 students who received the State Farmer Degree, and 2 students who earned state proficiency. Mr. Wheeler has been President of the Agriculture Teachers Association of the State of Michigan.

William Wheeler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Wheeler of Logan Rd., Manchester, Michigan and graduated from Manchester High School the year of 1957. Bill and his wife Janice and 2 sons Alan and David live in Webberville.
