"A Simple Silver Star"

by Reverend Thomas E. Hart Minister of Manchester United Methodist

I was part of a month long study program at St. George's College in Jerusalem in May of 1979. As a part of our education experience, we traveled all over the Holy Land. We would visit historical sites, review its historical significance, look at the biblical references and have a service of worship. Our travels took us to famous historical places and sites not typically seen by visitors.
Of course, Bethlehem is a village everyone to the Holy Land travels to see. The town is located on a hill. The hill has many caves. There are caves beneath the Church of the Nativity and the Roman Catholic Church located beside the Church of the Nativity. These caves were stables in the time of Jesus' birth. The shepherd would herd his flock of sheep into a cave at night. He could lie across the opening of the cave to guard against wild animals or thieves.

The Church of the Nativity has a very small main entrance. The door is so small that you have to bend over to enter. This was done to protect people in the church from soldiers on horseback or other intruders. The focal point of the Church is a small cyrpt which is a cave-like area below the main altar. A simple silver star marks this place as the site of Jesus'

The cave, doorway and simple star are a parable for us today at Christmas. All of these signs point to the simple and humble fact of our Lord's birth. They raise some important questions for us today. What about our celebrations of Christ's coming into the world? Do we see Christ in the poor of the world today? Do we come to the Christ Event on bended knee? Do we look for a single star to light our path? If you are to celebrate the real meaning of Christmas you must look inside the cave, be willing to bend down to enter in, and be able to see God's light coming from a simple star.

Middle School Converts To Gas Heat

As part of the ongoing program of obtaining energy efficiency the Manchester Board of Education approved the Superintendent's recommendation to convert the middle school boiler from an oil to a gas burner.

Projections by Consumers Power based on the current prices of oil and natural gas indicate that costs will be recovered at better than 50% over the price of conversion in the first heating season. The school district expects to save Six-Seven housand dollars during the current school year on heating energy.

The job of converting the boiler from oil to gas was awarded to Controlled Temperature, Inc. of Livonia, Michigan based apon their price bid and timelines for completing the task. The cost of the conversion is $4,700.00. Work on the project was begun on December 9, with final completion expected early in the following week.

According to Superintendent Thompson the Board of Education has invested almost $25,000.00 in the Middle School heating system within the last six months. Whenever we are able to return one dollar fifty cents for each dollar we invest in a project I feel it is taxpayer money well spent, said Thompson. The more we are able to trim from our non-instructional services the more money we have available for classroom use. Our business is education. With the Board I feel we are moving in the right direction of improved funding for our basic purpose"

Sometimes our emotions confuse us. For example, the sadness people feel when they admit a loved one to a nursing home is caused not by the nursing home, but by the patient. We are sad that someone we love has lost his or her independence, and must be cared for away from home by people outside the family. Yet, the nursing home can solve a problem as nothing else can, whether a person becomes a permanent resident or is there temporarily, convalescing or waiting for the family to make other arrangements. Your sadness may ease a little, if you select the nursing home wisely, and ease. If you choose the nursing home with choose the one that promises the best care. Make appointments to visit several nursing homes in your area, and if the patient is not incapacitated, take him or her with you. After all, the patient is the one who will live there, so his or her feelings must be considered.

As you enter the nursing home, sniff the air. It should not carry the odor of urine. Observe the space between the beds in a double room, note the lights and emergency cords near the beds, and see if both patients have access to the window. Where is the bathroom? Is it clean? Are the patients clean, and their hair washed and combed?

How many nurses aides are on the staff? How often does the nursing home physician visit the facility? Is the nursing home certified for Medicare and Medicaid? Is the nursing home close to your house so you can make frequent visits? The visits will be a tonic for you and the patient, so try to choose a nursing home not too far from your house.

Once you've made the selection, and the loved one moves in, your sadness may care, you did the best that you could.

News From Jack Mowat

State Senator Jack Mowat (R-Adrian) reminds farmers who have been certified to use restricted use pesticides for more than two years that they will have to renew their certification credentials next

The Michigan Department of Agriculture certificates expire at three year intervals on the person's birthday, according to the Department of Agriculture.

*The department mails a renewal notice and information manual directly to a grower approximately 90 to 120 days prior to expiration of the present certificate, Senator Mowat said.

"Recertification involves passing a written examination and paying a $10 fee," said Mowat. Fifty-one chemicals in various formulations are mandated as restricted use pesticides under Regulation No. 683 of the Michigan Pesticide Control Act effective April 10, 1978," Mowat stated.

A restricted product may be sold only by licensed dealers and only to persons who hve qualified through the certification process for using this type of pesticide product, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Commercial pesticide applicator firms are licensed annually, but must also get recertified every three years under the restricted use pesticide regulation. According to the Department, many applicator firm certificates will expire in 1981.

"This regulation is one way state government can help prevent chemical en vironmental disasters in the future." said

Firemen Watch Wood Stove Dangers

Improper use and installation of wood stoves has caused a sharp increase in the number of related fires and fire deaths. according to the Michigan State Firemen's

Association. "The Michigan State Fire Marshal's office in Lansing notes that 18 deaths were attributable to the improper use of installation of wood stoves last year," said MSFA spokesman Jim Frantz. "That's up sharply from the seven deaths reported in 1978 from these causes, and no deaths from this cause, in 1977."

The popularity of wood stoves is directly attributable to our "energy-conscious" society. Unfortunately, wood stoves do require extra care and extra fire safety precautions which our modern generation may have forgotten.

"Take the time to check for proper installation and maintenance procedures, Frantz noted. "Wood stoves can be safe 212 only as long as people realize they are playing with fire."

The MSFA suggests the following wood

* Purchase only tested, approved, designs of wood stoves. Look for any nationally recognized label on the stove itself. These include Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. (UL); Building Officials and Administrators International (BOCA), and the Southern Building Code Congress International, Inc.

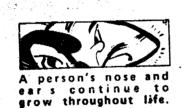

Make sure there is at least a six-inch air space beneath, and 36 or more inches of air space around it. Check with a licensed heating contractor for installation or advice. Don't settle for amateur help.

* Tend such stoves properly. Never let it overheat and never overfuel it or leave

 Make sure a wood stove is properly vented and has an adequate supply of air or combustion.

Keep the stove free of ash and soot buildup, and clear flues and chimneys

Be awars that radiant heat from a wood stove can penetrate modern drywall materials and ignite wood studs. Similarly, furniture, carpet, drapes and curtains too near can also be ignited.

Biological Farming Conference

The Natures Way Farm, Ltd. trust is pleased to announce the Second Annual Great Lakes Biological Farming Conference to be held at Central Michigan University on January 6th & 7th, 1981. The featured speaker will be Dr. Philip. Callahan, U.S.D.A. researcher and professor of Entomology at the University of Florida. His work on insect antenna has opened the door to ending the pesticide era which has brought us such memorable experiences as the DDT fiasco, Love Canal, and worldwide health and contamination problems. Dr. Callahan has identified insect antenna as being infra-red frequency receivers of energy from plant tissue and other earth surfaces. The frequency of plant energy emissions can be altered by fertilization practices as presented at the conference. This enables insect attack to be reduced and allows control of harmful insects with non-toxic techniques. Electromagnetic emissions by machines could also be used to draw harmful insects away from crops.

Last year over 150 farmers attended and there is an expected attendance of 300 this year. Natures Way Farm, Ltd. trust is presenting these conferences because of the lack of current information available to modern farmers from the standard sources concerning soil fertility and its relationship to plant, animal and human health. For further information, contact: Natures Way Farm, Ltd., 8401 Bollinger Rd. N.E., Vestaburg, Michigan 48891. Phone: 517-268-5541 or toll free 1-800-292-

Powerful special interests are losing their grip on the public employee unions and they seem to be losing their grip on the state's Democratic leaders who have been presented with a mandate by the budget slashing minded voters. This was proven when the voter initiated proposition 21/2 was swept into being by a 3-2 ratio. It limits real estate taxes to 2.5 percent of the market value of all assessed property. Proposition 13 in California set up a 1 percent limit.

California, however, was in a far differ ent situation than Massachusetts. It had nearly $6 billion in a state surplus to make up for some of the less in property taxes, but the Bay State's treasury was empty.

Proposition 21/2 does not take effect until next July but budget slashing is already well underway. Like the famous tea party rebels, mayors and the selectmen in the Boston area have refused to dish out any more taxes with which to keep busses, subways and trains running during this month. And so a "funding crisis" seems to be well underway between the unions and the Democratic state government

Among the members of the local governments and the state legislature three avenues of challenge to proposition 21/2 seem to be emerging: One is to go along with the budget and service cuts and hope for a voter backlash and a return to social liberalism; or to minimize the social impact from special interests who are made about the reduced spending in areas such as schools, patronage, environmental protection, union jobs, patronage and environmental services, and third, to circumvent the revolt by increasing taxes in other areas in order to keep spending at

It is estimated that the state's residents will save $490.3 million in real estate taxes and motor vehicle excise taxes during the first year for example.

you hear about the chap who met a friend on the street the other day and paused to speak to him and to ask how he was, that he didn't look so very pert. Whereupon the friend replied that he was okay, that he had just come from attending the funeral of a good friend, whereupon the friend said that he would miss the deceased a great deal. Sympathetically the first chap said that the recently deceased had been seriously ill for quite some time, and he was getting up in years and so perhaps he was better off now than before.

The chap agreed to all this but remarked that that was not why he looked sad. "As I stood there in the funeral home looking down at him" he continued, "I wondered. You know that he has for many years been a confirmed atheist, and no one could convert him. So as I saw him lying there in the coffin I just couldn't help but feel so sorry for him. There he lay, all dressed up and no place to go."

Referm Package The Governor and legislative leaders reached a compromise on reform of the state's outmoded workers and unemployment compensation system last week following intensive negotiations. The two bills, rushed through the House and Senate, substantially increase benefits for injured and unemployed workers while cracking down on abuses. Interest Rates - The State House last week approved fluctuating interest rates for home improvement loans that could go as high as 16.5 percent. But the increasing interest rates would be tied to the rates sold on U.S. Treasury bonds and would fall back to the current 14.5 percent over three years if the interest on the notes falls below eight percent.

Welfare Referm - In a move that will save the state about $8 million in 1981. the Legislature last week approved a Republican-sponsored bill that will cut property tax credits paid to welfare recipients. The legislation is an important step towards welfare reform and property tax reform at the same time, and is a responsible move to save the state money during these very difficult times.

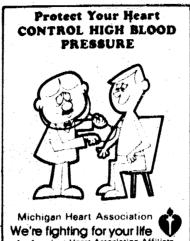

Obscoulty Bill - The House has approved a far-reaching bill to give local munities the authority to define obscenity. Proponents of the bill say it establishes criteria approved by the U.S. Supreme Court, but opponents say it can't work and stifles creativity.

Salary Freeze - The State Officer's Compensation Commission (SOCC) has recommended a salary freeze for all top elected officials in 1981. However, their two-year recommendation also includes increases for 1962, ranging from 7.4 percent for Supreme Court Justices to 14.8 percent for lawmakers. Higher Education - A series of Senate bills establishing uniform eligibility renuirements for state tuition grants and scholarships and eliminating ceilings are on their way to the Governor's desk.

Energy Projects - Two alternative fuel projects in the state are among 82 receiving federal grants from the U.S. Energy Department. A Lenawee County company will receive $7 million for the construction of an ethanol plant, and a Southfield firm has been awarded nearly $1 million to study the feasibility of building an ethanol plant in the Detroit

As the temperature drops, so does the cranking power of a car's battery. Automobile Club of Michigan estimates that three of 10 motorists will experience a "can't start" this winter. In most instances it's because of an improperly maintained battery or one weakened by a futile attempt to start a balky engine. Auto Club urges motorists to check their batteries' fluid level, keep them free of acid corrision build-up and make sure cable connections and hold-down clamps are tight and clean. A battery in top shape will only produce dependable starts when other engine components are in adjustment.

Save-A-Life

Holiday time is traditionally a time of family gatherings and friends sharing the festive season. For others, it is vacation time. But for the American Red Cross Blood Services of Southeastern Michigan, it is a time of decreased blood donations and the possibility of a critical blood shortage.

The American Red Cross Blood Services of Southeastern Michigan will again sponsor Save-A-Life Days on Saturday, December 27 and Sunday, December 28, in an effort to prevent a critical blood shortage. The Save-A-Life Day program was initiated in 1974 as a one-day program and expanded last year to two days. All nine blood centers, including centers in Ann Arbor and Port Huron, will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on both days.

According to A.W. Shafer, MD, director of the regional Blood Services, blood donations decrease during the holiday season because many businesses and in dustries which supply much of the blood collected for patient needs are closed during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day. Dr. Shafer said there is generally a dramatic increase in elective surgery after the holiday season. This, combined with the reduction in donations, could create a major shortage in the supply of blood.

"We are urging everyone who is in good general health and is between the ages of 17 and 65 to visit their local blood center. Ann Arbor, on one of the Save-A-Life Days, to donate blood," said Dr. Shafer. Seventeen year olds must have written parental permission to donate blood.

The response last year from donors was excellent, according to Shafer. "We feel sure that we will reach our goal of 1,000 pints of blood each day again this year. The people of southeastern Michigan have never failed to respond to the appeal for blood to help supply the sick and injured of their communities," the Blood Services director explained.

in Detroit is 838-4440. "Giving the gift of a lifetime, a blood donation, is the most caring way to start the new year," concluded Dr. Shafer.

"A Simple Silver Star"

by Reverend Thomas E. Hart Minister of Manchester United Methodist

I was part of a month long study program at St. George's College in Jerusalem in May of 1979. As a part of our education experience, we traveled all over the Holy Land. We would visit historical sites, review its historical significance, look at the biblical references and have a service of worship. Our travels took us to famous historical places and sites not typically seen by visitors.
Of course, Bethlehem is a village everyone to the Holy Land travels to see. The town is located on a hill. The hill has many caves. There are caves beneath the Church of the Nativity and the Roman Catholic Church located beside the Church of the Nativity. These caves were stables in the time of Jesus' birth. The shepherd would herd his flock of sheep into a cave at night. He could lie across the opening of the cave to guard against wild animals or thieves.

The Church of the Nativity has a very small main entrance. The door is so small that you have to bend over to enter. This was done to protect people in the church from soldiers on horseback or other intruders. The focal point of the Church is a small cyrpt which is a cave-like area below the main altar. A simple silver star marks this place as the site of Jesus'

The cave, doorway and simple star are a parable for us today at Christmas. All of these signs point to the simple and humble fact of our Lord's birth. They raise some important questions for us today. What about our celebrations of Christ's coming into the world? Do we see Christ in the poor of the world today? Do we come to the Christ Event on bended knee? Do we look for a single star to light our path? If you are to celebrate the real meaning of Christmas you must look inside the cave, be willing to bend down to enter in, and be able to see God's light coming from a simple star.
