Christmas

By Reverend Thomas Hart

For the Christian, the time before Christmas is called Advent. Advent is a time to clarify the promises of God that are ours and to respond to these promises. One of the promises is symbolized in the very name of the child born that first Christmas, Emmanuel, God-with-us. Our Christian faith began and continues with the reality of the presence of God in our lives. We celebrate the birth of the babe because this is the reality of Emmanuel. It was my privilege four years ago to spend a month in the Holy Land. As I visited the churches and shrines of this place of Christ, I came to understand why people have made pilgrimages. I found holy places - not where God was more real, but where people celebrated an event of 'God is with us'. Whether it was in the ruins of a church at the sea of Galilee or in the 1600 year old Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, both places reminded me of God's promise in Emmanuel. As we come closer to the actual day of celebrating the birth of this child from God, the Christ child, I hope each one of us will find a holy place in our own lives. In this holy place, we can accept anew the great promise of the first Christmas...Matthew 1:23: "Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and his name shall be called Emmanuel" - God-with-us. What love God has shared with us! What joy is ours!

HIT or MISS by farley

A considerable number have expressed interest with our recent columns of trivia for which we thank you but on the way to collect these items of trivia we came across several vignettes about various things that we thought interesting and so we laid them aside for later use and present several of them herewith: We are indebted to a magazine called Modern Metals explaining why the United States, alone among the nations of the world, spells "aluminum" with a single "i." In case you weren't aware, our uh-LOO-mih-num is a al-yoo-MIN-ee-um everywhere else. Shortly before the turn of the century, a tiny firm later to be called Aluminum Corporation of America (Alcoa) poured its first pound of aluminium in Pittsburg. The business was so small that it stored the metal it produced in a safe. And dollars were so scarce that when the printer goofed and left one "i" out of "aluminium" on the firm's letterhead, they couldn't afford to correct the mistake.

anything. Stumped by a tough midyear exam, he wrote this excuse across the cover: "Only God knows the answers. Merry Christmas!" He got his paper back, marked: "God gets an A. You get an F. Happy New Year!"

Sam Levenson told this story about his family on ABC's "AM-Chicago" TV program: When one of my sons was two or three years old, he accidentally swallowed an aspirin. Mrs. Levenson, distraught at the uncertainty of the aspirin's reaction upon such a young child, telephoned her mother immediately. Relating exactly what had happened, she shouted hysterically into the phone, "What should I do?" Grandma, conditioned by years of coping, shouted back like a trooper: "So give him a headache!"

The man who did the most for milk, it's now thought, was Louis Pasteur, but he wasn't thinking along those lines at the time. In fact, he once said, "Wine is the most healthful and most hygienic of all beverages."

Few Englanders wanted to go to America in 1605. So Capt. George Weymouth, who led a sailing expedition to Maine, figured a little enticement might be in order. On his return trip, besides a load of furs, he took five captive Indian girls, who spoke rudimentary English and dressed in white women's costumes. They were put on display in England. That did it. Numerous men decided America might indeed be a land of opportunity.

The bright young lad thought he could talk his way out of

Dawn England Receives Scholarship

Dawn England is a freshman at Eastern Michigan University currently receiving a Recognition of Excellence Scholarship. Dawn attended Sienna Heights College in Adrian for one year before coming to Eastern. While at Eastern, Dawn has been involved in marching band and intramural volleyball, and toured with Theater for the Young. She is majoring in special education and minoring in music education and drama for the young.

Dawn commented on her extracurricular activities. "I find marching band an especially rewarding activity. They're an especially close knit group that knows how to work together and how to have fun. Through activities I have met friends that could prove to be long term acquaintances. The Drama for the Young group is also very rewarding. The people are extremely friendly and supportive. Intramural volleyball has also been a great way to meet friends and get acquainted with other floormates. I do find it difficult to budget my time but if

School Calendar Altered

The Manchester Schools have advised parents that the original end of Christmas vacation date has been changed from January 2 until January 3, 1984. Originally students had been scheduled to return on Monday, January 2. At the time that the original calendar was drafted negotiators missed the fact that the Monday date is a Federal holiday. Since the first of January falls on a Sunday, the following day is the official holiday. School officials indicate that it will be necessary to reschedule the day later in the school year. Parents will be advised well in advance of the rescheduled date. Rescheduling discussions are currently taking place between the School Administration and the Manchester Education Association.

Winter And Pets— The Mix Can Be Deadly!!

Winter can be an especially hazardous season for our companion animals. The steps we take to make life more comfortable for ourselves can kill our pets. The Humane Society of Huron Valley offers the following advice:

- * The sweet taste of antifreeze attracts animals but the chemical can be deadly. Check your car hoses for leaks. Carefully use a funnel when adding antifreeze. and mop up spills. If an accident does occur be sure to get your pet to a veterinarian, or to our county Animal Emergency Clinic, immediately.

- * Chemicals that melt snow and ice can also harm pets. After your pet's walk, wipe off your pet's feet and underside with a damp towel.
- * Cold cats like to cuddle up near warm car engines. Be sure to bang on the hood before starting the car to alert sleeping felines.
- * Indoor warmth can dry out a pet's coat and skin. Vegetable oil, can be added to your pet's food - one teaspoon for every thirty pounds.

- * Holiday trimmings can also be harmful to pets. Keep ornaments, candles, ribbons, and tinsel beyond the reach of your animals. Winter is hard on animals, but there are simple, considerate things we can do to help them get through the winter happily and healthily!!

Letter To The Editor

Dear Santa,

In response to last week's article by A. Knauss, I have the following comments:

1. Was Santa there for Mother or Daughter? Was daughter disappointed?
2. I feel this was the best Santa we have had in years.
3. As far as the gifts, I understand they were donated. If the disappointed mother would like to donate the paper and tape, I will donate my time to wrap them.

My daughter had high expectations which were completely fulfilled by Santa this year. The inside or outside surroundings made no difference.

Another Bore

A reprint from the Manchester Enterprise, dated December 20, 1877

Sixty-five feet down into the Bowels of the Earth. There's where James Kelly intends to put the Auger unless He "Strikes Oil," or Something Else, before that.

A good many years ago, in 1855, or thereabouts, where the old plaster mill-now planing mill- was erected, while boring for water to supply the engine, the auger came in contact with some substance, which being brought to the surface, had the appearance of being a metallic kind. The discovery caused considerable excitement hereabouts, and we understand that some of the "stuff" was sent to Ann Arbor to be analyzed, but what the result was we know not. A few years later, however, money was raised to make another attempt to solve the mystery. At a depth of about 47 feet the auger got fast in something and could not be withdrawn, and as it was screwed on to the end of the rod, of course it could not be turned backward without detaching it. When the funds were exhausted and the work became laborious, the work was abandoned.

In 1868 a company was formed, comprising of a number of the substantial farmers of this vicinity, such as Samuel Cushman, Wm. Bowers, J.H. Fellows, H. Squiers, Fred Valentine, about ten in number, who went to work with a determination to find out what treasure lay hidden beneath our village. They sunk a shaft, but the water came in and gave them much trouble. They procured a large pump, but in failing to keep it in constant operation, the water gained upon them, and after expending over one hundred dollars each they abandoned the project.

Something over a year ago Harrison Hay made a vigorous effort to "strike oil," or mineral but after sinking a small shaft to a considerable length, some scaldaway dropped a piece of railroad iron into the hole, and Mr. Hay, having but limited means, also abandoned the undertaking.

A short time since, as was mentioned in the Enterprise, James Kelly made the following proposition:

I, James Kelly, of the village of Manchester, Michigan, do hereby agree to sink a pipe, two (2) inches in diameter, at or near the Planing Mill, in Manchester, to the depth of sixty-five feet, if necessary, for the purpose of ascertaining the kind of metal supposed to be in the earth at that locality, and to produce a sufficient quantity of the same, to determine of what kind it is, if found in that depth, for sum of one hundred dollars, the money to be raised and placed in the People's Bank, at Manchester, subject to my order, when the work is completed. The work to be commenced and completed within a reasonable time after the money shall have been raised. Dated Manchester, December 11th, 1877.

The proposition seemed so reasonable, that those to whom the matter was talked, concluded to undertake to raise the required amount. Accordingly a subscription paper was drawn up, as follows, and placed in the hands of Albert Spencer:

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to give the sum set opposite each of our names for the purposes of raising the sum of one

The Manchester High School Marching Band ended its fall season with a sparkling pre-game show in Hillsdale, on Saturday, November 5. In the play-off between Manchester and Homer, both the Dutchmen and the Band came through with flying colors. Under the new direction of Mr. Lance Vechinski, the band is looking forward to an exciting year. With football season behind us, we are already hard at work preparing for the first of many public concerts. We have already performed for National Education Week, and our Christmas program to be held on the evening of December 14th at 7:30 p.m. In addition, the Pep Band will perform at all the home varsity basketball games. Although small in the number of members, what this band lacks in size, it makes up for in spirit. This is a group that the whole

Manchester community can be proud of. If you have the opportunity, come and see how the many long hours of practice and hard work have paid off. You will be pleasantly surprised.

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADE ELECTIVE PROGRAM

This week's spotlight will focus on physical education and career education.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The seventh and eighth grade physical education program is split into four nine-week components to match the length of our marking periods. Each marking period is basically divided into three activities with both individual and team sports being offered at various times throughout the year. Theory and rules classes are also interjected into all activities. Sportsmanship, responsibility, and teamwork are stressed.

During September/October the students participate in soccer, flag football, and aerobics. November/January is reserved for floor hockey, volleyball, and basketball. Physical fitness programs are introduced during February/March. April/June bring softball, track, and several individual sports such as tennis, badminton, and croquet to the forefront.

Mr. Ron Jansen and Mrs. Gay Perry are in charge of our physical education program.

CAREER EDUCATION

This elective features many films, film strips, speakers, and some written work and note taking. Field trips to local businesses are also incorporated into this class. Our students are exposed to a great variety of occupations learning the requirements, salary, etc. of each one. By the end of this nine-week course students should be aware of what type of job fits their personality traits.

Goals of the class are as follows:

- To help the students discover that career education is concerned with a person's total life, not just with their vocational life.
 - To help the students discover more about themselves-interests, hobbies, personality traits, etc.
 - To help the students realize that all work is important, from the lowest paying job to the highest paying job.
 - To help the students realize that it is important to find an occupation that "fits" their personality.
 - To expose the students to as many jobs as possible through films, filmstrips, speakers, and field trips—thus helping them to learn the requirements, salary, etc. of many jobs.
- Mr. Philip Mains has been responsible for the development of this class.

An Old-Fashioned Marmalade Makes An Easy Christmas Gift

Homemade marmalades sealed in sturdy goblets and tied with colorful ribbon streamers are ideal holiday gifts for almost everyone.

There's an old-fashioned goodness about anything homemade that instantly says the giver cares. And while Minty Pear Marmalade imparts that message, it is quick and easy to prepare. The method is modern, even though the taste is true to yesteryear.

Minty Pear Marmalade is quickly made with V-8 vegetable juice.

MINTY PEAR MARMALADE

|---------------------------------------|--|
| 1 can (12 ounces) V-8 Vegetable Juice | 2 tablespoons lime rind, cut in very thin strips (1/2-inch long) |
| 1/4 cup lime juice | 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh mint |
| 3 3/4 cups sugar | 1 pouch (3 ounces) liquid fruit pectin |
| 1 cup chopped pears | |
1. In 4-quart saucepan, combine first 6 ingredients. Over high heat, heat to full boil, stirring constantly.
 2. Stir in pectin. Boil rapidly 1 minute, stirring constantly.
 3. Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Stir and skim to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit (about 10 minutes).
 4. Ladle into hot sterilized jars or glasses. Cover with 1/8-inch hot paraffin. Makes about 4 cups.

Saline Hospital Appeals To Community

Saline Community Hospital Development Council President, George Anderson, leads the Third Annual Appeal to the community to raise funds for needed capital equipment. This year over $75,000 is urgently needed for equipment such as an electro-cardiograph (EKG) machine, cardiac monitors, laboratory equipment and an oximeter to be used in respiratory therapy.

With medical equipment costs continuing to rise, community support is vital. The word "community" in the Hospital's name signifies not only the hospital's purpose as illustrated through the care provided for thousands of seriously ill and injured persons during the past year, but also the way in which area residents respond generously to the needs of the Hospital.

This year's annual appeal provides a new dimension in giving with the formation of donor clubs. The Board of Directors of the Hospital invites area residents to join a select organization of Saline Community Hospital Donors. Individuals giving from $100 to $499 will become charter members of the Samaritans Club. Patrons Club members will be those giving from $500 to $999, while a gift of $1,000 to $4,999 will provide membership in the Benefactors Club. The Presidents Club will be reserved for those making a gift of $5000 or more. All club members will receive printed recognition in the Hospital's Times magazine, an appropriate public recognition and an invitation to an exclusive Hospital function.

Donors are reminded that gifts to the Hospital are tax deductible and that this is an ideal time to give with the end of the year approaching soon. Gifts and questions may be directed to Saline Community Hospital's Office of Community Services and Development at 400 W. Russell Street. Telephone inquiries may be made by calling 429-5495, ext. 382.

During Oliver Wendell Holmes' last years on the Supreme Court, his hearing began to fail. He had to lean forward in his seat in order to distinguish the words spoken by the attorneys. The sound of their voices would gradually fade, as he leaned backward.

At first, he regarded his deafness as a handicap, but as time went by, he learned that it could also be used to advantage, as it made it possible for him to hear only what he wanted to hear.

When an eloquent lawyer had the floor, Holmes would push his chair close to the bench and lean across it in order to catch every word. But when a longwinded attorney began to ramble, he would inch this chair backward stealthily until he was out of earshot. The other justices would watch in envy as he maneuvered out of hearing range.

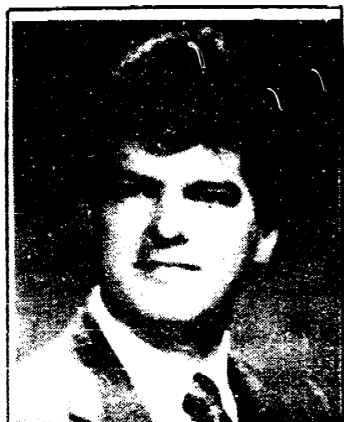

Friends of Edna Ferber could not understand why she had remained single over the years.

"Surely you must have met one man you would have married," a confidante suggested.

"I have," the novelist admitted, "and I have met one man who would marry me, but unfortunately, it wasn't the same man."

The 37 plays credited to Shakespeare contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words.

Is Chiropractic Really Accepted?

Critics of chiropractic maintain stoutly that there is no scientific basis for the healing practice. At long last this is being laid to rest. In a later column we will discuss the marvelous spinal research program now being conducted at the University of Colorado, but what is the current acceptance of chiropractic?

The records show that millions of people every year rely on chiropractic in dealing with their health problems. An interesting side light is that a large percentage of doctors of chiropractic entered the field because of a personal experience. Either they or a relative or close friend had responded positively to chiropractic care, often after long, expensive and unproductive treatment with other types of health care. Many of these chiropractors had previously been established in other professions, such as engineering, teaching and the sciences, before enrolling in a chiropractic college. Just in the last few years, however, official recognition has come to chiropractic. First, chiropractic care was included under Medicare and Medicaid. Then Congress allocated a two million dollar grant for chiropractic research.

These are major steps in gaining widespread recognition of the validity of chiropractic, certainly, and more are sure to follow. For the multitudes who have discovered a wonderful new measure of health through chiropractic, none of this comes as a surprise.

Local Firms Invited To Use Special Services

From Congressman Carl Pursell of Michigan's 2nd District

Congressman Carl Pursell is inviting Washtenaw County businesses to participate in a unique pilot program to help boost job and business opportunities in the area.

Pursell (R-2nd Dist.) believes the local economy can be diversified and strengthened by aggressively competing for contracts with the Defense Department and other government agencies.

The Congressman has initiated a regional, one-of-a-kind "Center for Defense Procurement" to offer businesses expert advice on available contracts and how to effectively seek them. Items which come up for bid cover a vast range: everything from agricultural commodities to clothing; metal parts to electronic components.

The Center is now fully operational and is expanding its services to Washtenaw County firms, following successful organizational efforts in Jackson, Hillsdale, and Lenawee counties. In addition to directly assisting individual companies in their procurement efforts, the Center will regularly hold in-depth seminars on specific aspects of government procurement.

Opportunities for small businesses to sub-contract with major government suppliers will be the focus of the Center's regional seminar on Monday, December 19. The meeting will be held at Jackson Community College, beginning at "9:01 a.m. sharp", according to Pursell.

Prime Contractors participating in the seminar include: A.M. General, Ex-cello Corp., and General Dynamics.

No reservation is necessary for the seminar. Washtenaw County businesses can put the Center for Defense Procurement to work for them by contacting the Congressman's Washtenaw office (313/761-7727).

Project Dakota

Project Dakota is the name given to the historical reenactment group who's major objective is to accurately recreate a horseback trek as it would have taken place in 1884. The project, which began in January of 1983 under the leadership of David Begg, will involve six to eight men and culminate in a two week, three hundred mile trek across South Dakota during September, 1984.

During the months preceding the horseback trek, project members will be involved in many activities to prepare for their adventure: chief among them, research. With authenticity a key factor, every aspect of life on the trail is being investigated. Costuming, food processing and preparation, saddlery, camping gear and gold panning are just some of the areas being researched. Other activities include horsemanship classes, firearm training and camping trips: all intended to develop the skills needed for a trek that will take them through the Grasslands, Badlands and into the Black Hills of South Dakota. But it is not only the physical aspects of the period the group seeks to recreate. The men are studying the lives of individuals who lived during the nineteenth century and creating their own personas. These personas, or characterizations, will give the members a sense of personal history and "reasons" for being in the Dakota Territory during the 1880's. The very mood of the Old West will be captured as they sing the songs, discuss the politics and in every way possible step back in time one hundred years.

There are still spaces available for men who are interested in becoming a part of Project Dakota, but those persons are encouraged to act soon. The spaces are limited and applications will not be accepted after January 1st, 1984. The group is also interested in hearing from anyone knowledgeable of the 1880's period or Western accountments and memorabilia.

Anyone wanting to learn more about Project Dakota is invited to attend their next meeting to be held Sunday, December 18th at 1:00 p.m. at 619 East Mansion Street, Marshall or write: Project Dakota P.O. Box 147, Marshall, Michigan 49068.

'83 And '84 Record Years For Road Construction

1983 and 1984 will be record years for road construction, road repairs, and generally developing better and safer roads for Washtenaw County's driving public.

Availability of funds for the improvements of roads and road safety is the reason for the County being able to carry forward a program promising to be the largest in the history of the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

The Charter Township of Ypsilanti initiated this spring a 1.7 million dollar local road bonding program, designed to pave all gravelled subdivision roads in the Township. That program is now completed (approximately 30 miles of roads were paved). The Washtenaw County Road Commission, supported by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners pledged the necessary credit for the bond issue and thus enabled Ypsilanti Township to get the most favorable interest rate for their important street improvement program.

Also, beginning in January, 1983, Michigan Transportation Fund receipts were given a sizeable boost when the State Legislature increased the fuel and license plate fees, a large portion designated to be shared by local government units, especially county road commissions.

allotted 3 million dollars and it now appears certain we will be able to double that amount. The 3 million already on hand will soon be used for county road construction and improvements.

Our construction program is also enjoying the benefits of a continued low inflation rate. At this writing, most of our bids for road construction and materials are coming in roughly 20-25% lower than two or three years ago, when petroleum and other road building materials were scarce and priced higher.

Another factor helping make our Road Commission more efficient is the State of Michigan's enabling legislation allowing road commissions to coordinate their fiscal years to match that of the State's - which is October 1 to September 30. Our 1983 budget year will be shortened to nine months. Most important, receipts of funds from the State to Washtenaw County will be expedited when our accounting system and that of the State's coincide.

The Road Commission and staff members are pleased to advise the public about the important changes taking place in our road building, road maintenance, and the public safety improvements resulting therefrom. We wish also to go on record to say we are aware the county's road system is improving at a faster rate than anticipated, but we are not forgetting the task of developing the entire county road system, as we would like to see it, is a goal we have in mind, but not easily achieved. We feel we have made important progress. Our aim is to continue improving roads, safety, and driving conditions for Washtenaw County citizens. 1984's construction season, when completed, should result in about 150 miles of like-new county roads - a truly welcome improvement.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Guild will hold its now "Second Annual" Christmas party this Monday, December 19 at 8:00 p.m. Members, spouses, guests, friends and anyone interested are invited to attend at the home of Jo Swanberg, 14108 E. Austin Road, one mile east of the Austin M52 intersection.

This Holiday Season has been filled with many fun experiences and learning projects for the students at Manchester Cooperative Preschool. Thanksgiving week the children made Indian costumes, played in a teepee and made their own butter and cornbread.

During the Holiday Season, Fred Heinrich traditionally visits preschool sharing his gift of music. This year was no exception as Eloise Kemner's and Karen Meyer's classes sing and grin with Mr. Heinrich's accordion. (A few observant children noted how great the accordion is because you don't have to plug it in or buy batteries for it!)

December 18 will be the Preschool's Family Christmas Party. During this busy season, we will all have an opportunity to relax and enjoy an evening with friends and family and this year's special attraction, a magician!

SPINAL CORD INJURIES

Before this day is over, another 30 Americans will be paralyzed by spinal cord injuries. By this time next year, spinal cord injuries—broken necks and backs—will have accounted for an additional 10,000 cases of paralysis. Most of these cases will occur, as they do every year, among young people between the ages of 15 and 24. Young men will be hardest hit. On the average, they'll be just 19 when they sustain their disabling injuries.

Automobile accidents on our highways account for almost half of all spinal cord injuries. Dives into shallow water, falls (particularly from heights) and assaults with guns and knives add to the toll. Spinal cord injuries have become a very serious problem among young people. Compounding the tragedy is the fact that in many cases a measure of caution and common sense could have prevented the injury.

Accidents will happen, yes, but a great many paralyzing injuries can be prevented. The grim reality of alcohol-related traffic accidents should be a primary concern of every parent, every citizen in the community. Seat belts and infant seats are available routinely. We should use them and insist that our children use them. A recognized driver's education program should be a must for teenagers.

We should insist, too, that family members who ride motorcycles and bicycles wear helmets, to protect against injuries to the head and neck. Diving accidents can be avoided by heeding the simple warning, "Know the depth before you dive."

If, despite all precautions, your teenager or someone else does suffer a possible spinal cord injury, make sure that he or she receives proper medical care immediately. For starters, don't move the victim—not even a little bit—until a spinal cord injury has been ruled out by a medical professional. What begins as a fracture can become a paralyzing injury if the person is moved or is permitted to move. Transport of a suspected spinal cord injury to the hospital must be made by experts, after proper immobilizing procedures have been taken. Lifting, or straightening legs, or even putting a pillow under someone's head could prove to be disastrous.

If the injury does cause paralysis—loss of sensation or muscle control, or both—there should be no delay in transporting the injured person to a regional trauma center or to a hospital with a trauma unit. Spinal cord injury is a demanding, often confusing and very complicated problem, one that, we now know, requires the combined skills of a multi-disciplinary team, headed by a physician who specializes in spinal cord injury. There are regional trauma centers, or spinal cord injury centers, across the country. Do you know the location of the center nearest you? If not, it's a good idea to find out where it is, in case you or someone you know does sustain a spinal cord injury. Extraordinary progress in the treatment of new spinal cord injuries offers promise, today, that the paralyzing process can be stopped or reversed. For existing paralysis, experiments using electrical stimulation of muscles, computer-controlled muscle activity, nerve transplants into the spinal cord and bridges over the injury all offer hope—lots of it.

The best way to deal with spinal cord injury, however, is to prevent it. Each of us has a responsibility, to ourselves and to others, to observe all safety measures, to avoid all hazards and to instruct our children to be every bit as cautious. Above all, we must make sure that young people grasp the fundamental truth that the cost of driving—or diving—carelessly can be very high. Spinal cord injury happens in a moment; paralysis may be forever. There simply is no substitute for preventing a spinal cord injury before it can occur.
