7th Annual Street Fair

Once again historic Manchester will close downtown Main Street for its 7th Annual Street Fair. Saturday, August 11 is the date set for the event, co-sponsored by the Manchester Art Guild and the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

The fair will include exhibits of original handcrafted works, juried by members of the Art Guild, who will also present awards to the best in the show. Many area artists, such as the local, award winning watercolor artist, Nancy Feldkamp, are chosen to participate in the juried section of the fair. In addition, an "Open Market" will include more items of interest to the handicrafter. This year, artists participating include jewelers, woodworkers, potters, basket weavers, fiber artists, and even an artist specializing in miniatures, as well as other talented individuals.

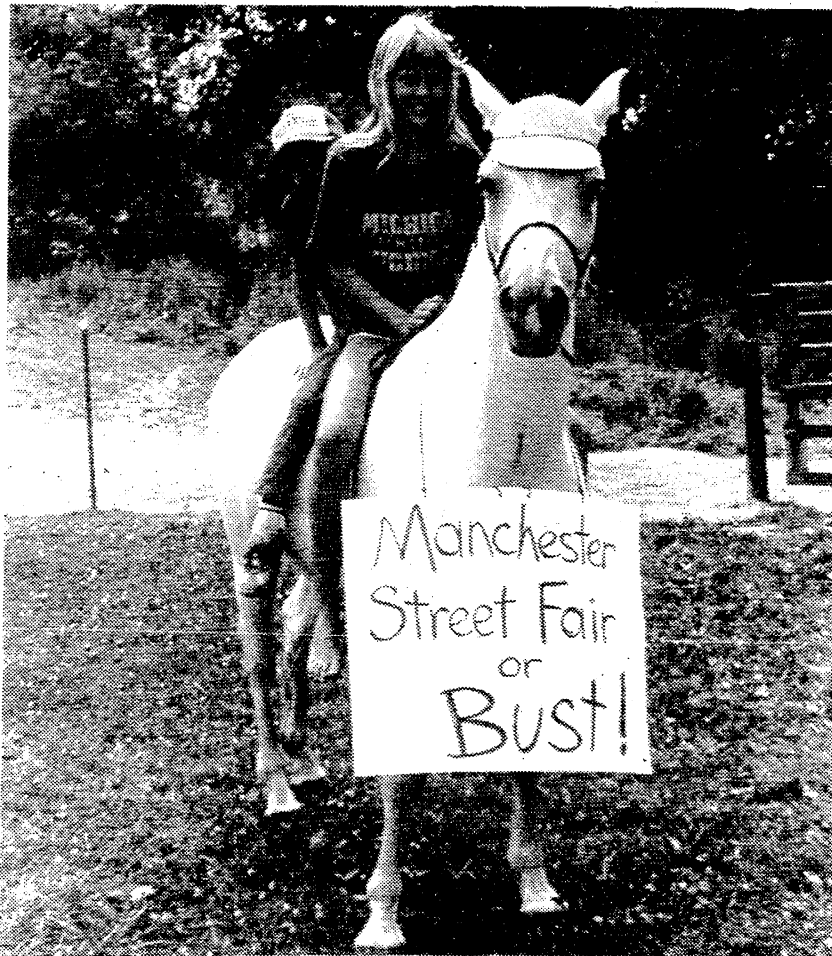

The downtown shops will open their doors, filling sidewalk displays with bargains and surprises. Antique hunters will enjoy the large variety of dealers in the Antique Mall and in the Old Mill. The gourmet will be enticed by the specialties of the local eateries.

Live entertainment promises something for everyone. Free Hot Air Balloon rides will be given by the First of America Bank's balloon. The Sweet Adelines will stroll through the fair and the Factor Five Band will perform on the street stage.

Officially, hours for the fair are 9:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. However, a bustle of activity begins earlier with a "Mill Run" at 8:00 a.m. A registration of $2 for the 10k or 2 mile run/walk through the Village of Manchester is required. Trophies for 1st place in each division, as well as ribbons and medals, will be presented after the race. The weekly Farmers Market will begin business as usual this Saturday morning. The Historical Society will be holding its annual "Collectables Sale" at its meeting place, the renovated Blacksmith's Shop. In the afternoon, the beer tent, sponsored by the Men's Club, will open and in the evening they will hold a Street Dance with the Uptown Country Band.

Amidst all the activity, downtown Manchester, with its location on the winding Raisin River will retain its quaint, small town atmosphere, promising a friendly and delightful day for the entire family.

You don't have to worry about finding a parking place when you come to the Manchester Street Fair by "real" horse power as these kids did one year.

FROM SHEEP TO SHAWL

A Sheep to Shawl demonstration will be a new addition to the entertainment bill at the Manchester Community Fair this year.

The demonstration, which will be presented by the Fireside Heritage Crafters, includes four steps. Those who are privileged to view the entire demonstration will observe the carding of the wool, spinning, weaving and removing the final product - a shawl which measures 18" by 72" - from the loom.

Is this something new? I'd never heard of it before. But Bob Armentrout, who will be the weaver in the demonstration, said, "Oh, heavens, no! It's been going on since day one."

He explained that Sheep to Shawl is a contest in which the participants must shear the sheep, card the wool, spin it and weave a specific finished product within four hours. For this demonstration, however, a baled fleece will be used instead of a live sheep. Usually, he said, the shawl is auctioned off and the proceeds are kept by the club.

The demonstration at this year's fair is scheduled to begin at 1:00 and end by 5:00.

"We had a trial run at Carr Park last month and it took four hours and fifteen minutes," said Armentrout, "Not too bad, for the first time."

The Fireside Heritage Crafters

have also been invited to participate in Sheep to Shawl contest in Eaton Rapids, Canada and at the Michigan State Fair. They will use spinners Marilyn O'Leary from Grass Lake, Jan van den Hout and Vicky Alber from Manchester, and Bob Armentrout will be the weaver.

Attention Merchants!!!

Although the official deadline has passed, there are still some spaces available in the Merchant's Tent at this year's Manchester Community Fair. The Fair will be held August 14-18. Any merchants wishing to exhibit in the tent should contact Kathy Richardson at 428-8474 as soon as possible to reserve space. Less than three weeks to the Fair!

How This Town Has Grown

Manchester Enterprise
March 21, 1889

A few evenings since we met our old friend George Amsden of Ypsilanti, on the street and after chatting a little, he broke out with the following remark:

"Gosh, how this town has grown since I first came here."

Then we sat down on a hitching railing and counted up.

In 1865, at the close of the war, the north side of Exchange Place boasted of the following: The Manchester Hotel, a wooden structure, which stood where the Goodyear house now stands. Next came a store then occupied by J.J. Clarkson, which burned down a few years ago, next was Wm. Baxter's wooden building where the People's Bank now stands; next was a small wooden building used at one time as a post office, and stood where the Enterprise office now stands, next was the Gleason, now Chubbuck block which was at that time quite a pretentious brick block.

On the east side of the river Dr. Conklin had a little office on the corner.

On the opposite side of the street stood the building now occupied by Fausel, and next to it a brick building occupied by C. Lehn. On the site of Kimble's fine brick block stood an old tumble-down wooden building, and the little old "Farmer's Mill" at the end of the bridge closed the count at the east side of the river.

The south side of Exchange Place was a knobby looking section and one who traversed it was continually going up or down. The mill, and "union hall" block of course stood where they do now, the boy said they have always been there. A little wooden office building stood where Steinkohl's is, and one of larger proportions occupied the site of Lynch's. Farther up the street were two wooden structures and next to them the Stowell and Bessac stores, both brick, then came the Gwinner block, the first building erected on the street, and as it

There is a book available which nobody who pretends to be well informed should be without. It is "Chase's Annual Events," a 192-page paperback that has "Holidays, Holy Days, National and Ethnic Days, Seasons, Astronomical Phenomena, Festivals and Fairs, Anniversaries and Fairs, Birthdays, Special Events and Traditional Events, Observances of all kinds the world over.

It contains such stirring facts such as the fact that Betsy Ross and Paul Revere were both born on January 1st and that the first day of the year also marks the beginning of National Soup Month.

January 16 is National Nothing Day which was created to provide the Americans with one national day when they can just sit without celebrating anything or observing or honoring anything. However, on that same date there are seven other observances including National Clean-Off-Your-Desk Day.

Then too I'll bet you didn't know that the World Cow Chip Throwing Championship was held on April 21, in Beaver, Oklahoma, but you have probably heard that the International Cherry Spitting contest was held on that date in Eau Claire, Michigan.

You would have known all these things if you had had your copy of Chase's Annual Events.

However there are many significant dates left out of this volume, perhaps for a lack of space or perhaps because the editorial judgement of the authors differs from other sources. Here are several important days unmarked by Chase:

Manchester Mill Run August 11th

On Saturday, August 11, 1984, the fourth annual Manchester Mill Run will be held. The race and fun run/walk is being held in conjunction with the Manchester Street Fair, and the K of C Pancake Breakfast; all proceeds and donations will go towards the Manchester Senior Citizens, Manchester Athletic Boosters, and Manchester Band Boosters. It is being sponsored by Baker's Dozen, Charamar Farms, Comerica Bank, First of America Bank, Drs. Johnson and Okey, Great Lakes Federal Savings, Krauss Pharmacy, and American Dental Health Services.

The race will start and end at the historic Manchester Mill located on Main Street. Check in time is 0800, and the race will begin at 0830. There will be a 6.2 mile race, a 2 mile race, and a 2 mile fun run/walk. Trophies will be awarded for first place in each age division for the 6.2 and 2 mile races. Medals will be awarded for second and third place in each division of the two races. Ribbons will be awarded to all finishers. Specific information and applications are available at the above sponsors' place of business, as well as Monty Okey (313) 428-9667; Charlotte Major (313) 428-8451; or Harry Krauss (313) 428-8393.

completes the list of business blocks on Exchange Place, we will call it the Alpha and Omega.

Today the entire north side of the street is one solid row of elegant brick blocks, mostly three stories in height, and the south side of the street is not far behind.

The east side of the river has been built up and improved, the south side of Jefferson street is almost solid brick and the Conklin block on the north side is a fine looking building.

A fine large iron bridge has taken the place of the old rickety one and the street has been graded and filled up some six feet.

Ann Arbor street, where now stand elegant brick and frame dwellings, was then a hazel thicket, the haunt of rabbits and gophers.

The union school building costing $25,000 was not built and even the neat little ward school building had a shamed-face look. Jackson street which is now

Retirement Planning Should Start Now

People in the local area who plan to retire at the end of the year should take some time soon to think about Social Security retirement benefits, a Social Security representative said recently.

A person should apply for Social Security benefits 2 or 3 months before they plan to retire. This way, benefits can begin shortly after income from work stops.

Before applying, a person should get the necessary evidence together. This will save time at application time. The first item a person needs is his or her Social Security card or a record of the number.

Next, proof of age is required. Preferred proof is an official record of birth or baptism recorded before age

5. If this does not exist, other proofs can be submitted. The people at the local Social Security office can tell you what kinds of evidence can be used.

Records that might be used include school, church, State or Federal census, insurance policies, marriage, passports, employment, military service, children's birth certificates, union, immigration or naturalization. This is not an exclusive list and other records may be acceptable.

Forms W-2 or self-employment tax returns for the past 2 years should be provided. These are needed because recent earnings reports may not yet be in Social Security records.

A husband or wife who also plans to apply should have about the same documents. A marriage certificate may be required, but is not needed in all cases. Information about any previous marriages is also needed.

Birth certificates of any young, unmarried children should be obtained as well. Additional documentation may be required depending on the particulars of certain cases. The people at any Social Security office will be glad to answer questions about retirement applications.

The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

With A Grain Of Salt

While often maligned, salt is useful in the diet because it contains 40 percent sodium plus chloride and iodine. Sodium helps to maintain blood volume, regulate water balance, transmit nerve impulses and perform other vital functions. On the average, Americans consume between 6 and 18 grams daily. However, the Food and Nutritional Board of the National Academy of Sciences believes an adequate daily level of sodium should not exceed 3.3 grams.

Although the younger generation seems to pay a good deal of attention to what constitutes a sensible amount of salt in the diet, the older adult generation retains many of the eating habits that were established in their childhood—consuming foods high in sodium and adding even more salt at the table.

Salt intake is of special significance to older people because overuse of sodium is one factor associated with high blood pressure which can lead to heart disease, stroke and kidney failure. Sodium is found in varying amounts in most foods. Enough sodium can be obtained from consuming a variety of foods. Some new lines of canned vegetables and vegetable juices have no salt added. Other convenience items are also now being offered which contain substantially less sodium. Using herbs and spices to enhance the flavor of foods, in lieu of salt, is also an alternative.

For more information write the High Blood Pressure Information Center, 120/80, National Institutes of Health, Box AP, Bethesda, MD 20205 for their free brochure entitled "Questions about Weight, Salt, and High Blood Pressure" or the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, CO 81004 for their free brochure "Sodium: Think About It."

Local Pro-Life Group Organizing

A pro-life group is being organized in the Manchester area as a result of those who responded positively to the suggestion at the May showing of the film A Matter of Choice at the Manchester High School. The first meeting is scheduled for the evening of August 9th at the Iron Creek Community Church at 7:00 p.m.

At that time the purposes for establishing the group will be discussed and future objectives will be considered. Nominations will be accepted for an upcoming meeting when an election of officers will take place. A representative of the Crisis Pregnancy Center of Adrian will address the group concerning how to best help young women who have been offered abortion as the only alternative.

The Iron Creek Community Church is located at the corner of Sharon Hollow and English Roads, just southwest of Manchester. You may call 428-9343 for information.

Michigan Will Participate In IRP

Michigan will begin participating in the International Registration Plan (IRP) for trucks late this fall, Secretary of State Richard Austin announced today.

Under the plan, when truckers register in Michigan they automatically qualify to operate in 27 other states and the province of Alberta, now participating in the plan. Trucks so registered will be issued one plate with a number and the word "Apportioned" on the plate.

Registration fees paid by all trucks registered under the plan will be apportioned to the states in which they travel.

Austin said that the IRP saves truckers and transporters from registering in every state in which they operate and makes for a more equitable division of truck registration fees to states in which trucks travel.

The IRP, initiated nationally in 1973, is endorsed by the Federal Government, the National Governors Association and the trucking industry as a means of achieving nationwide uniformity in registration of trucks.

All Michigan based motor carriers are now being notified with instructions for participation, Austin said.

Hints For Homemakers

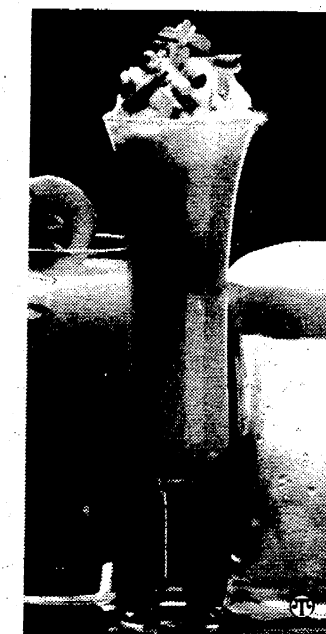

Hosts and hostesses can find creative ways to extend the use of basic serving pieces for more interesting place settings yet avoid the expense of buying additional items. Stemware sets the mood. Here are some mood-making ideas for using what you have more innovatively.

With a little imagination, basic stemware ordinarily used to serve cocktails and wine can have multiple uses — from serving colorful appetizers to elegant desserts.

A stemmed margarita glass can be used to serve shrimp or crab cocktail, according to Judi Ford Johnson, consumer representative for Libbey Glass. The glass is shaped perfectly to hold crushed ice in the bottom of the bowl and shrimp along the rim of the glass.

She used the firm's Mood Maker line not only for appetizers but for serving desserts including chocolate mousse and peach parfait.

Other delicious ideas: Layering lime sherbet and creme de menthe (garnished with a sprig of mint) in a tall, stemmed champagne flute; filling a daiquiri glass with vanilla custard drizzled with raspberry sauce; and serving mango pudding topped with kiwi slices in oversized martini glasses.

DOUBLING IN GLASS: Beverage glasses can also serve as elegant dessertware.

Wine glasses can also be used for more than wine. A large wine glass has a large bowl which is well suited for serving fruit salad or a gelatin dessert. You can also dress up an empty red wine glass with a flower floating in the bowl at each place setting.

Making Your World EASIER

Ranges of one type or another have been a part of the kitchen scene for many years. Because this appliance is so familiar, many users occasionally forget about some important safeguards to take when using them. For your own and your family's safety here is some important advice from home economists at the Whirlpool Corporation:

• Have your range properly installed, electrically grounded and connected to the supply of electricity by a qualified person.

• Avoid wearing loose-fitting or hanging garments while using the range.

• Use dry potholders... damp potholders on hot surfaces may result in burns from steam.

• Never leave surface units unattended at high heat settings... a boilover causes smoking, and greasy spillovers may ignite.

• Do not use water on grease fires. Smother the fire or flame, or use a dry chemical or foam-type extinguisher.

• Do not store items of interest to children in cabinets above the range or on the backguard. Children could be seriously injured while climbing on a range to reach these items.

The art of weaving by tying knots was probably begun in the 1200s by Arabians but it wasn't called macramé until about the 1400s. That's an Arabic or Turkish word meaning fringe.

A Country Corn Bread... For Breakfast

The ingredients in this Breakfast Corn Bread are fresh from the farm: egg, milk, bacon, butter and Cheddar cheese. And it's made the old-fashioned, country way, from scratch with enriched corn meal.

The crumbled cooked bacon and shredded cheese add wholesome, unexpected flavors to the family favorite corn bread. It's almost like a complete breakfast in itself.

Unlike other scratch breads, Breakfast Corn Bread is not a chore to make. True to its name, it's a quick bread. Just follow a few simple quick bread hints for best results: Be sure to use the size of baking pan specified. Grease the pan before baking, and mix only until the dry ingredients are lightly moistened.

Breakfast Corn Bread

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup enriched corn meal | 1 cup milk |
| 1 cup all-purpose flour | 1 egg |
| 4 teaspoon baking powder | 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt (optional) | 8 crisply-cooked bacon slices, crumbled |
| 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese | |

Heat oven to 400°F. Grease 8-inch square baking pan. In large bowl, combine corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Add remaining ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 8-inch square pan of corn bread (about 9 servings).

What do florists and popcorn vendors, restaurant cooks and table waiters, truckers and grocers, food processors and packagers, underwear factory workers and shoemakers, clothing sales people and equipment dealers, all have in common?

Their jobs and their income are provided as a result of what farmers do. Cotton farmers, grain farmers, livestock farmers, dairy farmers, fruit and vegetable farmers, bedding plant farmers... all producing food and fiber.

Put all those farmers together and they only make up about 3% of the U.S. population, but because of their efficiency and their tremendous productivity, they provide jobs for around 22% of the nation's labor force—about 20 million people.

These workers are engaged in processing, manufacturing, transporting, exporting, retailing, preparing and serving farm-based products.

In Michigan, farmers employ about 100,000 full-time workers. Food businesses employ another 350,000 and forest product firms employ about 60,000 full-time workers. Our Michigan farmers' purchases of farm machinery creates about 14,600 jobs for factory workers.

These statistics point out the importance of a healthy agriculture—not only for the abundant supply of quality food we enjoy—but also for the paychecks of those 20 million American workers and their families.

A healthy agriculture is a necessity for a healthy economy.

GREAT MOMENTS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

The Washington Monument which celebrates its 100th anniversary went through many construction phases during our nation's history.

It was a great moment in American history in 1833 when a group of Washington, D.C. citizens formed the Washington National Monument Society. Its purpose: to build a monument in memory of the Father of Our Country who died in 1799. The group began fundraising efforts for the project and response was instantaneous. With a dollar per person contribution limit, $70,000 was raised by 1847.

The Society held an open contest to design the monument in 1836, and the plan eventually chosen was by Robert Mills, an American architect. Mills' original plan called for a 600-foot shaft, surrounded at the base by a pantheon with statues of Washington and other Revolutionary heroes.

Work on the Monument's foundation began in April of 1848. The original foundation was 80 feet square at its base, and was 23 feet, four inches thick.

Architect Mills died before construction was completed on the Monument, and there were several attempts to alter his original plans. This was due to the instability of the original foundation, although many congressmen simply did not like Mills' plan. The majority sentiment was to adopt a pure obelisk, as recommended by George Marsh, U.S. Ambassador to Italy.

The first cornerstone was laid during a Fourth of July ceremony in 1848, before an unprecedented D.C. crowd of nearly 20,000. The monument was completed in 1884 when the nine inch aluminum capstone was set in place.

Now the monument celebrates its 100th birthday. This also marks the 50th anniversary of the National Society of Professional Engineers (NSPE) with headquarters in Washington, D.C. and representing 80,000 engineers. NSPE will present a special gift to the American people—two new walkways for the Monument grounds. It will be the first alteration of the terrain surrounding the Monument since the turn of the century.

Park Service Capital Region Director, Manus J. Fish says, "We are deeply grateful to the Society on behalf of 1.2 million visitors annually to the Monument who will begin to experience the results of the years of planning to redesign the Monument grounds along formal lines established early in the Federal City's history."

Sunlight: For Acne?
Is sunlight beneficial for acne? Some medical experts think it is, but there is disagreement.

On the "plus" side, some researchers suggest that sun may kill surface bacteria related to acne. The sun also may help in the short-term by drying up the excess oil on skin and possibly unplugging pores.

Studies have found that most cases of acne improve in the summer.

For most people, a suntan can help camouflage acne, but the wisest course of action for acne sufferers is to get out of the sun and into a dermatologist's office. These doctors who specialize in treating the skin have a wide variety of treatments, including antibiotics applied directly to the skin such as Cleocin T topical solution, which are very effective for controlling acne.

While studies have found that most cases of acne improve in the summer, some experts believe that this may be due to the reduced stress and greater relaxation one experiences when sunbathing.

On the other hand, as many as 20 percent of those with acne report aggravation of the condition during the hot months. This may be caused by perspiration or the use of oily suntan lotions. Enthusiasts of the "sun treatment" should keep in mind that too much exposure to the sun can cause serious problems in later life, including wrinkles and skin cancer.

NEWS OF FOOD

What are Americans eating more of these days?

According to requests from McCall's readers, there is a desire for nutritious recipes that use more fresh fish, fruits, and vegetables, yogurt, pastas and whole grains. Plus a plentiful supply of ethnic and regional specialties; reduced-calorie recipes; dishes that make imaginative use of convenience foods or are prepared with the microwave or food processor.

The cookbook has over 1,000 recipes that fit the way people eat today.

Here is one typical recipe from the book, highlighting yogurt and fruit for an easy to prepare soup.

RASPBERRY-YOGURT SOUP

2 pkg (10-oz size) frozen red raspberries
2 containers (8-oz size) red raspberry yogurt
Fresh mint

In blender or food processor, combine raspberries and yogurt. Blend until smooth. Chill well. Garnish with mint. Makes about 8 servings.

How This Town Has Grown

adorned with numerous costly residences, was then a boggy waste as was the "flats" from the presbyterian church to the railroad. There were no residences on south Macomb street, and none of the many fine residences on the west side of the river were then to be seen.

We had but one railroad then and the business of the village was transacted between games of eucher, old sledge and draw poker. In the latter game the biggest hand generally swept the board.

Two churches have been built since the strife, the catholic and lutheran, the latter being a fine brick edifice worthy a place in any city.

We might mention the scores of dwellings on the east side of the river, which have sprung into existence since the cruel war was over, and our friend first swept a paint brush over the warped and weather-beaten sides of our old habitations, but let this suffice for the present.

Some people say that Manchester has not grown but is the same old town it was. Why friends, all have changed 'cept the "everlasting hills," and the river. And even the hills have been brought low, but the historic river sweeps joyfully on singing. "Man may come and man may go, But I flow on forever."

Summer ushers in all the fun and excitement of Michigan fairs. The state kicks off the 1984 fair season June 12, with 88 county, 4-H and agricultural fairs as well as two state fairs.

Michigan's fairs offer a wide variety of attractions for the whole family including agricultural, commercial and education exhibits, live animals, entertainment, contests and midway rides.

"In addition to the entertainment aspects of fairs, they allow agricultural producers to showcase the 50 major food and fiber crops produced in this state," said Dr. Paul E. Kindinger, Michigan Department of Agriculture director.

Michigan's two state fairs are at Escanaba August 14-19 and at Detroit August 24-September 3.

Other fair dates and locations, as compiled by MDA's Fairs and Racing division, are:

Barbecue And Diet Too

Delicious dieting can include minted barbecued fish steaks.

You don't have to let your diet take a back seat to backyard barbecues.

You can make fish your barbecue dish for a delicious, healthful, low calorie treat.

Inspired by the classic Cinzano Extra Dry White Vermouth, Minted Barbecue Fish Steaks can be a flavorful way of upstream eating while the pounds go down.

It's a versatile recipe using any thick fish including halibut, haddock or even shark.

MINTED BARBECUED FISH STEAKS

- 1 clove garlic, pressed
- 2 scallions, minced
- 1 tablespoon oil
- 1/2 cup Extra Dry Cinzano Vermouth
- 1 tablespoon lime or lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
- 1/2 teaspoon chopped parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 sprig fresh mint, finely chopped

4-6 slices bacon
4 1/2 inch thick fish steaks, halibut, haddock or shark (about 1/2 pound each)

In a small bowl combine marinade ingredients. Wrap bacon slices around outside edge of fish steaks and tooth pick or skewer to hold in place. Place wrapped fish steaks in a baking dish. Pour marinade over fish. Cover and marinate for at least 3 hours or overnight in the refrigerator. Prepare charcoal or outdoor gas grill. Place steaks on grill and cook for 5 to 7 minutes per side or until bacon is brown and fish steaks flake easily with a fork. Spoon remaining marinade over fish and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Scholarships Awarded

Washtenaw Community College has awarded Community Merit Scholarships to fourteen area students, and High School Honor Scholarships to thirteen local students. A student from each of the county high schools will receive tuition plus $100 book money per semester for the 1984-85 academic year.

Community Merit Scholarship applicants submitted high school and college transcripts as well as personal recommendations. Successful candidates demonstrated significant contributions to the community, high grades, and clear vocational goals, and furnished recommendation from community organizations. The scholarships award a different group of people than usually gets aid. The College has awarded Community Merit Scholarships annually since 1979. This year's winner from Manchester is Lynda Marie Knsiak.

High School Administrators and Counselors nominated students for the High School Honor Scholarships. College Administrators then selected winners on the basis of academic standings and vocational goals. Though the scholarships provide tuition for one year, recipients are still eligible for other forms of financial aid if they run out. The College has awarded High School Honor Scholarships annually since 1979. This year's winner from Manchester High School is Brenda M. Sodi.

It stumbled and fell, scrambled desperately to its feet, instantly regaining its speed, and disappeared with a blur into the thicket. I sighed in relief and relaxed. Then I snickered—then I chuckled—then I laughed—tears ran down my face—I nearly slipped from my tree! Actually, I guess it was an honest mistake—but a rather insulting one indeed!

Here's Help For Asthmatic Adults

So much depends on asthma patients themselves. They have to learn to administer their prescribed medicines correctly. They must avoid factors that trigger asthma episodes.

Now the American Lung Association has prepared and published a 28-page booklet to tell adults with asthma what they need to know to manage the disease. It contains answers to questions such as, "what triggers asthma episodes?" It is intended to be a valuable partner to be used along with the care of a physician. "The Asthma Handbook" made its debut at the Annual Meeting of the American Lung Association in Miami Beach in May.

Filled with facts and information about asthma, the handbook is available now from the American Lung Association of Michigan. Get one copy free and multiple copies at cost by calling toll free at 1-800-292-5979 or write to ALAM at 403 Seymour Avenue, Lansing, Michigan 48914.

southeast, crossed one of the main trails and followed the river north, toward the village. I climbed a big tree where the river flowed close to a main trail. From here I could view the caged area where I had watched the little people and I had a good view of my territorial borders, to see if there was a pattern to mans activities.

The white machines, with the writing on the sides, roamed the area like clockwork. There was a plain machine parked not far away with a white dog on top of it. I knew the dog was aware of my presence as he would stiffen and growl from time to time, but seemed somehow restrained to the machine. Small town cats wandered by, but did not seem the least bit concerned with me, so I relaxed, as time went by.

Suddenly the white machines came rushing from all directions! I rose slowly on my limb and watched anxiously, ready to flee. Their bright lights flashed swiftly across the open area near the Man is invading my territory with regularity. I cannot relax here and I must move south to avoid his intrusiveness. He has placed food all around my fortress area, but I am just too stuffed to partake of the goodies and I really prefer the thrill of the chase. However, I am beginning to feel like the hunted instead of the hunter.

Somewhat annoyed and feeling a bit reckless, I decided to wander onto the dirt trail near my fortress to test this great white hunter. Immediately lights appeared at the east end of the trail and a man jumped quickly from his machine and pointed a large stick at me. I could hear excited voices and knew immediately that this was no time to let my confidence in man overrule my instinct of fear. I controlled the urge to run and moved away with dignified calmness. The scent of man quickly surrounding me, I ducked into the thicket and moved silently away. I circled to the

Cooking Corner

You can serve tasty, balanced meals — and still balance your budget. A new edition of one of the most widely used cookbooks in American homes can show you how.

Instructions are clear and cover everything from ethnic and regional specialties to reduced calorie recipes. There are dishes that make imaginative use of convenience foods or are prepared with the microwave oven or food processor. The cookbook, "The New, Revised & Updated McCall's Cookbook," features over 1,000 recipes with drawings throughout plus 32 pages of full color. It's available for $17.95 at book and department stores.

Here is one of the easy and economical recipes from the book:

LEMON CHICKEN

- 2 chicken breasts (1 1/2 lb), boned and skinned
- 1/4 tablespoons plus 1/4 cup oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 6 medium-size dried Chinese mushrooms
- 1 large red pepper
- 2 whole lemons
- 6 green onions
- 1/2 teaspoon grated fresh ginger
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 1/4 cup dry sherry
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 6 lemon slices

- Slice chicken into 1/4-inch wide strips. In small bowl, combine 1/4 tablespoons oil, the salt, and pepper. Add chicken; mix well. Set aside for 30 minutes.
- In small bowl, soak mushrooms in 1 1/2 cups warm water for 30 minutes.
- Wash pepper; cut in half and remove ribs and seeds. Cut into thin julienne strips.
- With sharp paring knife, remove peel from whole lemon in strips; cut into pieces 1/2-inch wide. Squeeze lemon to make 3 tablespoons juice; set aside.
- Wash green onions; cut into 1/2-inch diagonal slices. Drain mushrooms; remove and discard stems. Slice caps into 1/2-inch wide strips.
- In large heavy skillet or wok, heat 1/4 cup salad oil. Add chicken, and stir-fry 2 minutes. Remove from skillet; keep warm.
- Add ginger, mushrooms, and red pepper. Stir-fry 1 minute. Add lemon peel and green onions. Stir-fry 1 minute longer.
- In small bowl, combine cornstarch, sugar, chicken broth, sherry, soy sauce, and reserved lemon juice; mix until smooth. Add to vegetables, and cook, stirring, until thickened.
- Return chicken to skillet; stir 1 minute, or until vegetables and chicken are well coated. Turn out into warm serving dish. Garnish with lemon slices. Serve with rice and more soy sauce, if desired.
- Makes 6 servings.

Both veterans and employers have responded enthusiastically to a new job training program which is expected to create some 40,000 to 50,000 new jobs for currently unemployed veterans.

The program, known as the Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act (EVJTA), reimburses employers 50 percent of the starting wage, up to $10,000 for hiring and training eligible Korean War and Vietnam-era veterans in a growth or technology-based industry, or industry where the demand exceeds the supply.

"By defraying the costs of hiring and training veterans for available jobs, the act encourages employers to select from a large group of applicants whose experiences are frequently overlooked," says William C. Plowden, Jr., Assistant Secretary for Veterans' Service and Training. "Time spent in military service has given all veterans a chance to gain skills, experience and good work habits; military training is often transferable to civilian jobs, and many employers of veterans have praised their discipline, reliability and maturity."

To find out if you are eligible, either as a veteran or an employer, contact the Veterans' Employment and Training Service at (202) 523-9105.

THEN NOW!

Northern Ireland has a record of industrial enterprise and innovation that stretches back a century and a half.

THEN: In the 1850's, this beautiful land was one of the world's largest shipbuilding centers producing more ships than the United States and Germany combined. Its linens were famous far and wide. The world's first pneumatic tire was produced here in 1880 by John Dunlop and in the 1930's Ulsterman John Ferguson developed the first practical low cost tractor.

NOW: Today, electronics and aerospace are leading industries in Northern Ireland. The first mobile cardiac unit and the vertical cake off jet were developed here. As a result of these innovations, American businessmen are exploring the many advantages of investing here. They're finding skilled and efficient workforce, tariff-free access to Europe's Common Market, a range of financial and tax incentives judged among the best in Europe and a country where companies can obtain a fast pay-back of invested funds.

NEWS OF HEALTH

High Blood Pressure: A Threat To You?

As many as 50 million Americans have high blood pressure, a condition that can lead to heart attack, stroke or kidney disease if you don't treat it.

One big problem in bringing down high blood pressure is getting people to recognize and take control of their condition. Thanks to better educational programs and some new drugs, Americans are beginning to take charge.

Back in the 1960's the Veteran's Administration first showed that drugs given to people with high blood pressure—hypertension, as doctors call it. At the VA Medical Center in Miami, researchers are making significant progress with advanced drugs called beta blockers and converting enzyme inhibitors.

VA research chief Dr. Barry Materson says, "We have attempted to make it easier for patients with hypertension to take their medication—for example, only once a day, if possible, or with much lower doses of medication to try to get optimal results with minimal side effects."

With one-dose-a-day medication, such as Corgard, a beta blocker, compliance becomes easier.

High blood pressure is a life-threatening symptom. Treatment can mitigate the development of more serious conditions. Dr. Materson explains, "The heart can become enlarged and fail when people develop fluid back in their lungs causing pulmonary edema or congestive heart failure."

"Another target organ is the kidney. About a third of the patients on kidney dialysis machines sustained damage to their kidneys from high blood pressure.

"The study which we did with captopril, a special new drug known as a converting enzyme inhibitor, proved that we could treat hypertension with very low doses of captopril with very little medication—for example, only once a day, if possible, or with much lower doses of medication to try to get optimal results with minimal side effects."

Do as your doctor says and don't miss your medication. Don't cheat on salt intake, such as Corgard, a beta blocker, compliance becomes easier.

"Take care of yourself and you may live a longer life."

Reunion Ends In Tragedy

Leonas Daugvila, age 65 years, from West Germany, drowned Sunday apparently after suffering a heart attack while swimming in a small private lake in Manchester Township. He was pronounced dead after being removed from the lake at Camp Dianava, 15100 Austin Road, near the Jackson County line.

According to marine safety officers from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Daugvila was found in the water at 5:30 p.m. and hauled to the shore. Bystanders reportedly tried resuscitation, but they were unable to revive him.

The camp is privately owned by persons of Lithuanian descent, and Daugvila's family was holding a reunion at the camp over the weekend. Relatives noticed Daugvila, who is a naturalized U.S. citizen staying in Dearborn Heights but with a permanent address in Ottobrun, West Germany, was missing about 20 minutes before his body was found in the lake, near the swimming area. Officials are calling the death accidental drowning until they get results of an autopsy, deputies said. Daugvila had a history of heart trouble, and had complained of pain several times in the days prior to his death, officials said.

Macaroni Day, March 21. The famous Aroni family of Italy, makers of pasta for seven centuries celebrates this for in 1501 a Scotchman married an Aroni and it was the thrifty Macaroni who discovered and after years of experimentation developed the hollow spaghetti tube that caught on instantly among the aristocracy. It was first served, according to the Aroni family, at Lucretia Borgi's second wedding in 1505.

Lamb and Roast Pig Week, first week in April. According to an account by Charles Lamb, the Chinese discovered the exquisite taste of roast pig when a hapless pig was incarcerated along with a peasant's hut. Huts containing pigs were burned for years until one Choo Foo Wang discovered in 89 B.C. that pigs cooked on spits were equally good and a great deal less expensive.

Another one says Yoakum is Chicago Clean Election Day, November 5. This election marks the day-the astonishing election of November 5, 1878 when due to a conjunction of illness, accidents and misunderstandings, not one vote was tampered with, bought or extracted from a list of graveyard names.

Greek Cuisine Week, November 14th. Marked by the Greeks the world over and apparently no one else. This week was set aside to honor the Greeks contribution to the art of cooking. Sponsored by the Hellenic Olive Oil Company.

Pay For Your Soup Month, December. Launched by the friends of Edwin Meese III who said that people ate in soup kitchens because it's free and that is easier than paying for it. The month is dedicated to weeding out deadbeats in soup lines before Christmas.

Cree and Massa Tribal Reunion, June 25th. This reunion of the Indian tribes celebrates the "massacre" (Fr. Massa Cree) of a large settlement of whites in 1876. Two ancient enemies united says Mr. Yoakum, to annihilate settlers who established The First National Redman's Bank and promised a free bow and arrow to Massas and Cree who opened accounts and deposited furs. Sale of the furs earned vast profits for the bank. Interest was paid in wampum which the Indian chiefs bitterly denounced as worthless trinkets—the same kind that the Manhattaners stupidly accepted for their island 50 years ago.

First Free Election In The USSR, May 25th. Created by a small band of Soviet dissidents on the anniversary of the birth of Andri Sakarov, the celebration of this event will be held sometime in the future if there are any dissidents left.

It's difficult to find any fallacy in the reasoning of people who agree with you.

The Space Age Comes To Historic Manchester

by D. DuRussel

The Black Sheep Tavern has finished installing their satellite dish. The dish is 3.2 meters or approximately 11 feet in diameter and is able to pick up over 100 channels from seventeen satellites that are orbiting the Earth. The Tavern mainly features live sports, concerts and movies which are shown on a 10 foot T.V. screen located downstairs in the Dowr Under, but they also have a VHS video recorder available if you have any of your own favorites you'd like to see. We used it to watch my sister's wedding video and were quite impressed with the picture. The Tavern will have the dish operating Monday thru Thursday, 3 p.m. to 1 a.m.; Friday, 3 p.m. to 2 a.m.; Saturday 1 p.m. to 2 a.m.; and Sunday 1 p.m. to Midnite. I suggest you stop in to see this Space Age Wonder.

Manchester Farm Featured On Farm Tour

The Porter dairy farm, located three miles east of Manchester on Austin Road will begin the "Down on the Farm" tour at 10:00 a.m. on August 11th. The Washtenaw County Extension Service and the Land, Food and Justice Committee of the Interfaith Council for Peace/CALC have organized the tour to give the non-farm majority a better understanding of the current crisis in agriculture from the farmer's perspective. The Porters are new to farming and milk a herd of 30 cows.

Lunch will be served at St. Andrews Church in Dexter at 12:15. During the lunch, Mr. Morse Brown, district conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, will talk with participants.

At 2:00 p.m. the tour continues at the Ruhlig vegetable farm located three miles west of Dexter. Their 250-acre farm has been in the family three generations. Mr. Bill Ames, Washtenaw County agricultural extension agent, will be the on-farm moderator at both farms.

It is hoped the tour will stimulate ideas for changing individual consumer attitudes and habits to help family farms survive. Children are welcome and will be given their own special farm tour and lunchtime program. To register, contact the Interfaith Council for Peace office at 604 East Huron in Ann Arbor, phone 663-1870 or 663-4968.

NEWS

From the office of THE GOVERNOR

Governor James J. Blanchard made the following statement regarding the Michigan State Legislature action on the budget for Fiscal Year 1984-85 and the tax rollback: "I am pleased that the Legislature has adopted a budget which is very close to the historic "zero increase" budget I recommended early this year. In doing so, legislators have sent a clear message to Michigan citizens that it is possible to break the spending patterns of the past and still provide solid service. We have made a strong commitment to education in Michigan for the second consecutive year after years of disinvestment. The passage of the zero budget and the success of our fiscal recovery program have made it possible for us to speed up the next scheduled tax cut which will provide more than $180 million in tax relief for our citizens beginning September 1."

Governor Blanchard announced that Japan's largest independent manufacturer of stamping dies, one of the companies recruited by the Governor during his recent trade mission to the Far East, has purchased 110 acres in Howell as the location for its first United States facility. Oghara Iron Works, a supplier to the U.S. and Japanese auto industries, is expected to announce detailed plans for its new facilities this fall, the Governor said. Commerce Department officials and I met with Oghara Managing Director Tokio Oghara and Planning and Development Director Yoshiaki Yamahira during our visit to Tokyo," the Governor said. "During that meeting we stressed the advantages of a Michigan location for auto suppliers because Michigan location gives an auto supplier ideal access to the vast majority of U.S. auto production facilities, and we also stressed the advantages of Michigan's business climate and the lack of a unitary tax - a state tax on a company's worldwide profits." There are no immediate estimates of the number of jobs that will be created by the Oghara project. The facility will be located adjacent to the McPherson Industrial Park, immediately north of the I-96 freeway.

Governor James J. Blanchard, following Consumers Power Company's decision to abandon plans to complete the Midland nuclear power plant, said he will urge the Legislature to adopt new laws providing a strong state role in approval of all future major utility construction projects in Michigan. "I will ask that the legislature enact a new law requiring advance review and approval of all major public utility construction projects by the Public Service Commission," the Governor said. "In order to be fully responsible to the public, the Commission must have a role in determining future needs and reasonable cost levels before - not after - the investment of hundreds of millions of dollars." Governor Blanchard also called upon Consumers Power and the intervenors to return to the bargaining table quickly to negotiate a financial stability plan that will ensure that Consumers Power can continue to provide reliable energy to Michigan homes and businesses.

More Michigan highways, roads, streets, and bridges will be repaired and hundreds of jobs provided for our workers during the second year of the state's unique transportation bond-loan program, Governor James J. Blanchard announced. Sixty-two municipalities and county road commissions so far have applied for nearly $25 million from a special $50 million bond fund. The $50 million program will create over 1300 jobs. "The unique bond-loan concept worked so well last year that many communities asked to have it continued in 1984," the Governor said. "A total of 104 cities and villages and 32 county road commissions borrowed from the fund last year, creating an estimated 5,000 jobs on work sites and in supplier industries."

LOANS AND GRANTS

of 65 buildings in downtown Marquette including a survey of building facades with regard to preservation and repair. $6,500 grant to Saginaw for study of the Heritage Square historic district. $500,000 job training grant which will enable community colleges to assist the small businesses which make up Michigan's auto supply industry. The training project is a joint effort of the Michigan Community College Association and Jackson Community College.

Operation Hemp

An energetic campaign against marijuana planting in the state is being coordinated by the Michigan State Police. Operation HEMP - Help Eliminate Marijuana Planting - represents a concentrated effort to deal with this highly profitable illegal activity.

Results of a survey conducted to determine the extent of marijuana cultivation in the state show that Michigan has become increasingly popular for the growing harvesting of this crop. With high grade marijuana selling for as much as $1000 per pound, profits can range into millions of dollars.

Research indicates that marijuana is more than a harmless drug. It can have serious effects on perception and skilled performance and can interfere with many aspects of mental and physical health functions.

The best and cheapest way to prevent marijuana from reaching the streets is to stop it at the source. Law enforcement agencies are keenly aware of the difficulty in identifying and apprehending individuals involved in this illegal activity. The Michigan State Police, in cooperation with all law enforcement agencies, is vitally interested in eliminating marijuana cultivation in the state.

Operation HEMP is designed to encourage state and local eradication of domestically cultivated marijuana. Supported by funding from the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, the program provides training, equipment, investigative and aircraft resources to support such efforts.

The program has a threefold purpose—to offset a growing criminal enterprise in the state, remove the profit from such activity thereby discouraging others from becoming involved, and to alert an apathetic public to the dangers of marijuana use.

Michigan State Police believe that through a cooperative effort with law enforcement agencies and the public, a significant impact can be made to eliminate this problem. Contact your nearest state police post for further information.

Open Meet Rescheduled

The Open Meet rainout is rescheduled for Thursday, August 2nd.

Card of Thanks

Many thanks to everyone who sent flowers, cards and food during the loss of my husband and our father. Thanks also to Rev. Carruth. Your thoughtfulness was greatly appreciated.

The Family of George VanSickle

Thank you everyone while I was in the hospital and my recovery at home. Your cards, phone calls and prayers were appreciated. Special thanks to George and Marti Vassoff.

Mary Spiegelberg

Thanks for your wonderful help! Mary, Dick and Fran, Rusty and Barb and Jack. Thank goodness for friends.

Love, Jeanette

Thanks for all of the cards, visits and other remembrances while I was in the hospital. Special thanks to good neighbors and friends who took over my house and yard after calling the ambulance and getting me taken care of after my fall. It's heartwarming to know there are so many caring people.

Jo Simmons

We would like to thank the Manchester Rescue Team, the Manchester Police Department, our families, many friends, Rev. Carruth, and the entire community of Manchester for your help and support during these past few weeks. The love and concern that has been shown to our family has helped us get through this difficult time. We would like to thank everyone that prayed for us, as the Doctor's are amazed at the minimal damage that Al suffered from his heart attack. We certainly believe that our prayer's have been answered.

The people of Manchester are very fortunate to have a Rescue Team and a Police Department such as ours. They are an extremely fine group of people and their dedication is overwhelming.

There are really no words for how grateful we feel. We are very blessed to live in this fine community of Manchester.

Thank you all once again and God Bless You
Al, Delores, Julie & Brian Gebhardt

We'd like to sincerely thank Earl Oltersdorf, the Manchester Police Department and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department for their very prompt response to our emergency call early Monday morning. We really do appreciate their fast and efficient manner in handling our problem. Thanks again guys, it's good to know you're around!
