"Every Fourth of July we go to Mom's house.
Trouble is, every Fifth of July we leave."

Spending holidays with Mom can be tough. They can remind you of all the days you can't spend with her. That's why there's Lifeline. A very special service that calls for help when you can't be there. Activated by the push of a button, it puts your mother in touch with well-trained professionals who know everything about her: her age, her address, her medical conditions. Plus the phone numbers of neighbors and relatives who can assist when an ambulance isn't necessary. Lifeline is someone you can trust to watch over your loved one every hour of every day. Someone you can call a friend. Because a visit to Mom's house should make you feel good, not guilty.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

The following article is taken from Thursday, July 16, 1964 Enterprise, written by Marie Schneider.

Thursday, July 16, has arrived and with it the eleventh annual chicken broil. This day that men of this area set out to do their annual task of feeding charcoal broiled chicken to nearly four times the population of the town.

Slow-broiled chicken halves... 1,800 at a time... with 60 white hatted chefs supervising the cooking... Sound big?

Well, then consider the 6,500 expected dinner guests and the Paul Bunyan skillet which can scramble eggs for 500 people at once.

They will all be present this afternoon when 2,000 guests can be served at a single setting to chicken broiled to a turn without blistering the skin.

Nearly four tons of plump Michigan chicken halves, averaging 18 ounces will be served from 4:30 to 9:30 P.M., at the athletic field to a crowd which increases every year. It numbered over 6,000 last year and could go to 7,000 this year.

Tuesday morning Mr. Philip Mains and some of the high school boys started the first parent work on the athletic field. For months before heads of committees were carefully mapping out the plans for the big event. Tuesday the pits were built and since that time things have been humming.

It all began 11 years ago when Dr. Howard Zindel, head of the Michigan State University Poultry Science Department, believed that more chicken would be eaten and enjoyed by everyone if they knew how to prepare it.

He and his committee devised turning racks that would hold 20 halves of chicken, and cement block pits wide enough to hold the racks and high enough to save the chef's backs.

Zindel's experiment was put to a severe test when an Indiana Corporation heard about his technique and asked him to supervise the feeding of 10,000 guests at a gigantic corporation birthday party.

It was a success and Luther Klager of Manchester, a leading poultry man who was asked to help, brought the idea to Manchester with Dr. Zindel's aid.

They served 2,000 people the first year-nearly twice the size of Manchester at that time-and several hundred dollars was raised to improve the athletic field.

Men from the community and the surrounding areas make up the 22 committees at this time working on the broil. Proceeds support youth activities. Plans are under way this year for new bleachers at Carr Park and the athletic field.

Optimist Club and Junior Chamber are given a helping hand by members of 4-H, Future Farmers of America, Boy Scouts church groups and other organizations.

The hardest job belongs to the men working over the pits - 150 feet long.

Rolland Grossman who heads this group, broke his ankle a few years ago while fighting a fire the night before the broil (he's a member of the volunteer fire department). But he was still on hand, working on crutches.

The lightly frosted chickens are brought in refrigerated trucks and are basted with country fresh butter as they broil. Sub committees preheat a ton or more of charcoal and deliver it to the pits, deliver the chickens from truck to grid, test the chicken for finish, and take it to the serving lines.

During the dinner more than a ton of chilled cabbage will be sliced on German sauerkraut cutters and with vinegar, oil and sugar dressing accented with celery seed will be the much talked about cole slaw so well known as a part of the chicken broil. Then there's the buns, relishes, potato chips, coffee and milk on the menu.

Two Class A softball and speedball games will entertain guests before and after the dinner.

There are two ticket lines and a special line for take-outs. There is an audio committee announcing some of the guests and pertinent information concerning the dinner.

L. V. Kirk, last years president of the Optimist Club, was asked if there had ever been a serious threat of rain in the ten years of the broil. His answer was, "We have a special committee working on that too. Our ministers and priests are taking care of it."

But if there should be rain, guests can take their dinners to nearby shelters, school rooms, or into their cars.

Chuck "Sky" King

Chuck returned home Saturday June 27th after an accident with his airplane. As "Sky" told the story, "While taking off from the Napoleon airport my plane fell out of the air. We were taking off, the air speed and all other flight controls were OK. We started to bank the plane to the right and all of a sudden we were falling. There was no controlling the craft and we went down into a tree."

According to Sandy, Chuck's wife and our favorite at the Bakers Dozen, the plane was sheared off just behind Chuck's seat. There was nothing left that wasn't scratched, bent or broken except the Cardinal emblem on the vertical stabilizer.

The plane is under lock and key at Rossettie airport, pending insurance and FAA review. "Sky" said, "I don't know what happened". All of a sudden we were going down.

Apparently there are some broken ribs and Chuck's chest was delivered a severe blow when impacting the wheel. The Doctor said it will be some time before the blow to Chuck's heart will wear off.

"I am going to get another plane. A bigger and better airplane. This has not dampened my enthusiasm for flying. I can't wait to get up into the air again."

Sky has the reputation of being a careful flyer.

INDEPENDENCE DAY FIREWORKS

— R. Zang

The Manchester Men's Club is again sponsoring the annual picnic, fireworks and dance on Friday, July 3rd, at Carr Park.

As usual, the fireworks promise to be the best around. Carr Park for some reason has a special atmosphere that other parks in the area lack. It helps that good people run it, and good people attend.

Dan Fleck and Bill Scully will again shoot off the fireworks this year. They'll hold flares to fuses attached to the ball shells and cylinder shells that are dropped in the metal tubes which serve as launch holders. A crew of loaders will keep the tubes filled with fireworks. This strenuous task goes to Eric Beuerle, Joe Knasiak, Brad Roberts, Kris Kensler, and Mike Scully, local Manchesterites. All fireworks handlers have had special training by the Independence Professional Fireworks Company. It lets you know that this is serious business.

This Friday's entertainment begins around 10:00 P.M., or a little later, and should last about 25 minutes. The launchers pride themselves on their ability to keep things moving, planning out the program much like a choreographed routine.

Some of what you will see have names such as Tiger Tails, Willows, Tourbillons, Spiderwebs, Whistle shells, Strobes, Hummingbirds, Hornets Nests, and Golden Cracklers. Flower lovers will appreciate the big monsters which have names like "Triple Petaled Fancy Chrysanthemum", and "Peony".

The Manchester Men's Club sponsors this glorious event, and prides itself on bringing you fireworks year after year. Why? Because you help with the funding by generously donating at the gate, and attending the dance following the big splash in the sky.

Plan on getting to the park a little early, bring some munchies, and do respect our senior citizens. Courteously follow the rules of the road, and don't bring any of your own small fireworks. They are illegal and unsafe where crowds of people gather.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

"Technology is the key to agricultural prosperity." That's the message from an agricultural futurist speaking at a regional meeting last month. The futurist says farmers who are "on the curve," using new technology to constantly improve quality will enjoy a prosperous future.

Here are some statistics: "Ten percent of agricultural producers are responsible for 65 percent of all food production in the U.S., and of those 10 percent, 80 percent are within 10 seconds of information."

That's a futurist for you: Always telling you the things you know about are hopelessly out of date. I might listen to these guys if they didn't remind me so much of teenagers.

Futurists are big on information. Any information you can't get in 10 seconds isn't any good to them. I'm just the opposite. I figure anything you can learn in 10 seconds isn't worth knowing.

The futurist says robots will cut our hair exactly the way we want it in the 21st Century, and "nanorobots" one-twelfth the width of a human hair will be sprayed on agricultural crops to seek out and destroy undesirable pests.

took care of the little ones. If it was up to me, I'd have the nanorobots cutting our hair — and send the others out to spray the crops.

The futurist says microbes that transform wheat stubble or cattle manure into valuable products are also on the horizon. "It's going to be a new world, but the question is will we have the minds to grab it?" the futurist warns.

Those microbes will have to get a lot closer than the horizon before they are going to bother me any; and the last time I grabbed something with my mind it hurt so bad I don't think I'll ever try that again.

The futurist attributes the increased life expectancy during this century to sanitized living conditions and a nutritious, safe food supply — rather than medical advances. He predicts that tobacco might become the nations No. 1 cash crop because of its pharmaceutical value due to genetic engineering. (I certainly hope this country never gets so sick our No. 1 crop is grown for pharmaceuticals.)

"Quality is the base and time is the currency of the 1990's," the futurist says. "You've got to be part of the new information age to lead the new competitive

I'm reminded of the fellow who's son brought a letter home from the school superintendent. The letter described the new curriculum of age-graded, skill specific, culturally adjusted, natural learning programs being instituted during the next development phase for youngsters in "stage 3" of the accelerated learning curve for science discovery.

The father wrote: "I received your letter about the new curriculum. I'm not the smartest person in the world, but I have two college degrees and speak three foreign languages. During the past year I have attended little league, two county fairs, and a goat roping; but I don't have the slightest idea what you are talking about. Do you?"

4th of July Fireworks to Light the Skies Over Chelsea

Chelsea 1995 and the Chelsea Jaycees are organizing efforts to once again light up the local skies over Chelsea for a 4th of July celebration on Saturday, July 4, 1992.

Spectacular fireworks will begin at 10:00 p.m. over the Chelsea Fairgrounds with parking and viewing from the Chelsea Shopping Center parking lot. Several events have been coordinated which will add to the celebration.

Antique Show, Chelsea Fairgrounds — all day long
American Legion Chicken Barbecue, Post 31 at Cavanaugh Lake — 10:00am-4:00pm
Chelsea Rotary Ice Cream Social, Chelsea Shopping Center — 7:30 p.m.

Boyer & Fitzsimmons Magic Show, Chelsea Shopping Center — 8:30 p.m.

The Fireworks efforts are sponsored and supported by the community and funds are needed to keep this an annual event as fewer communities are scheduling this type of a celebration. Buckets will be circulated during the evening of the event to collect funds for the Chelsea Fireworks Fund which supports this event.

Bring the kids and plan to enjoy all of the festivities of the day, building up to the wonderful show of lights being planned at 10:00 p.m.

The Second Front Page: Moving the Enterprise

We have moved the newspaper operations to 109 E. Main Street, next to the post office. There are many thank you's to hand out for making this move possible. Let's start with the following.

Manchester's Boy Scout Troupe helped out with moving the addressograph plates, (that's what is used to address and mail the papers). They also carried the past issues out of the basement. Ron Schook, Scout Master, and David Minick had their charges, Pat Chapin, Seath Goodrich, Chris Kemmer, Brad Kemmer, Andrew Schook and Ted Roberts doing the chores. It sure was great help and a real nice experience to see scout uniforms on main street. A Special thanks to Wendell Young whose pickup truck and trailer provided the transportation.

The Mens Club members

Dave Kemmer with his truck and trailer and the able assistance of Jim and Karl Schook provided most of the brawn for moving the hard stuff.

The building had to be remodeled before we could move. We were fortunate to get Norm Walz to lend his assistance for carpentry work. Jeff Knauss and his helper provided the brawn and accomplished the carpentry work. Chris Lentz and Manchester Electric did the wiring, and corrected the out of code work that was exposed. Kyle Drywall, Mike Kyle and his crew put up the drywall and taped the joints. Chuck Benedict, C & B Painting is doing the painting. Marty's Plumbing & Heating installed the new bath vanity.

Carpeting was a real problem that Remnants Only from Adrian solved. They had in stock just what we needed and were able to put it on the floor when needed. Kleinschmidt's had a ton of those odd's and ends that are needed when you are building, such as nails, screws, paint supplies, keys, ready mix cement, and much more. Bridgewater Lumber provided part of the lumber and specialty needs. Two neat places in Napoleon that had items of special supplies were Napoleon Glass for our light tables and Penny Pinchers located at the airport where we were able to get counter top and bath vanity at very reasonable prices. Thanks to all who helped in our change over and for those who offered help and advice. A special thanks to Teresa, Lanettia, Kathy, Jerry Bice and David Benedict.

A Gentleman!

Manchester has been blessed over the years with very caring and good people. It is with great sadness when we lose one of those persons. Bob Ross is no longer with us and for that we will be without a friend and confidant who unselfishly gave of himself and his time.

Bob and his wife Aileen can only be characterized as an elegant lady and a distinguished gentleman. Bob was a tireless worker and spent many hours with the Optimist Club of Manchester. The Optimist's honored Bob with a commendation in October of 1980 when he turned the Presidency over to Loring Ebersole.

The 32 Annual Manchester Chicken Broil was dedicated to Bob, with the following comment, as published in the July 18th edition of the Enterprise.

"This One's for Bob! Every year, the Chicken Broil Committee invites an honored guest. The hospitality of Manchester is extended to the guest before the chicken broil begins at 4:00 P.M.. This task usually fell to Bob Ross, and he performed with enthusiasm. He drove the guest or guests around Manchester, pointing out the significant landmarks and extolling the virtues of the people of the village.

Then Bob and Aileen, his lovely wife, would host a reception at their home on Bethel Church Road to further honor the guests of the Chicken Broil.

Bob has done a lot for the Manchester Chicken Broil, and this year Bob and Aileen Ross are the honored guests. This one's for Bob!," read the article.

This editor had the honor and privilege of knowing Bob and Aileen over the years, although not as well as many of the other residents of the Village. They provided employment for many a village youngster by giving them chores to do on the farm. The concern and care given to those fortunate children will be long remembered.

The thing I cherished about him was his complete candor and ability to communicate with people without offending. If, as some of my articles are wont to do, I went off track or had an opinion that was incorrect, he would bring me back on track. His advice will be missed. His sincerity and concern for the community and the people that live here was always foremost in his mind.

Bob Ross, we loved you and will miss your ready smile and kind laugh.

Bike Bonanza Comes To Manchester

Manchester found itself invaded by hundreds of bicyclists last Thursday, and, to the surprise of many, included riders of all shapes and sizes on an assortment of bicycles to fill a hall of wonders.

This collection of purposeful pedalists belonged to a group called PALM, which stands for Pedal Across Lower Michigan. This 11th annual event allowed nearly 1,000 participants to travel from the shores of Lake Michigan to Lake Erie by bike, to camp in host communities, and to visit anything of interest in between. Manchester existed as the "in-between" this last week for half the aggregation.

Anyone interested in participating in this year's adventure registered, paid, and planned ahead for a six-day jaunt that began this last June 21st. Then bicyclists boarded buses that took them, in the case of this group of participants, to South Haven along Lake Michigan. A U-Haul truck carried bikes separately to the departure site.

From there, the riders traveled 30-40 miles per day, only needing to reach the predetermined destination by supper time. Volunteers in cars and vans followed the group to make sure everyone arrived safely. Tired or ill riders even had the option to get a car ride if they wanted. A team of bike mechanics also traveled with the group, doing repairs for free, charging only for parts. Some of the participants, specifically a group of four women, decided to go on this healthy adventure for fun, nature, and to get away from family responsibilities. They radiated joy, self-confidence, and a spirit of friendship.

Donna Frohm, a physical education teacher, introduced her friends while hanging out near the mill in downtown Manchester. She, the veteran of two consecutive bike events, introduced Sallie Rengert, a six-year veteran. Sallie and Donna were involved, "Just for the fun", and because, "You get to know people."

In the meantime, children and adults were teeming throughout the village, looking for places to eat, or to shop. Donna mentioned that the entire vacation cost her $140. This included transportation to South Haven, her camping equipment carried from point to point, and full breakfast and suppers provided each day.

At the end of each leg on the trip to Monroe, the final destination, the sponsoring community provided entertainment, or facilities where the group could entertain itself. Tecumseh was the same day destination for the riders who came through our community last Thursday. It was there that the entire PALM group would meet for a dance and party before heading on to Lake Erie on Friday.

It's not difficult to sign up to ride with this group. All you need is an application from the organizers in Ann Arbor.

You may have noticed the number of parents riding tandem with younger children, or families taking the hills along Sharon Hollow and Austin Road. In other cases senior citizens, fit for life, pedaled confidently along the route. Obviously more families see this as a good way to vacation.

125th ANNIVERSARY

A Sweet Part of the Celebration

On July 18, the Community Bake Sale will take place as part of the 125th Anniversary Celebration.

With your help, this event will raise the money needed to help offset the cost of publishing the official anniversary cookbook full of old family recipes we have received from several Manchester bakers!

If you are interested, please call 428-9333 and let us know what you plan to bring. Then drop off your goodies from 8:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on July 18 at the Cobblestone Rose in the Mill. The sale will run from 10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Some ideas of what to make to show off your delicious baking skills: a loaf of bread, dozen cookies or brownies, pies, cakes, jams or jellies.

With everyone's help this event will be a sweet success.

The Perils of Business on the Riverbank

In the 1920's, Railroad Street (now Adrian Street) in Manchester was the scene of many of the town's tradespeople. The Southern Washtenaw Mill, Dr. Ackerson the veterinarian, John Roller's furniture store and undertakers, and Joe Weiss, who did shoemaking and repair, a "cobbler."

Cobblers, who are an almost forgotten trade these days, were valued by the townspeople in years gone by. Custom made and fitted shoes were worn by most folks. Herb Widmayer, one of the village's older citizens, recalls his father speaking of a cobbler in the early days who would walk to Ann Arbor, returning, again on foot, with a side of leather for shoes and boots.

Joe Weiss' home was on the southeast corner of Beaufort and Duncan streets, in a frame house where John Hicks and family now reside. This house was moved to mid-block when L. Dean Trolz' brick home was built on the corner. He was a bachelor and his mother had lived there until her death. A large boot in front of his house reflected his profession.

Joe was a sociable man who enjoyed dancing and often squired the Lehr sisters to dances at the Arbeiter Hall. He was short and "broad, but not heavy." Herb Widmayer recalls Joe bringing a turtle caught from the river for a turtle soup dinner to share with Herb and his wife, Isabel. "Hung it out back of the hardware by the tail, on the outdoor toilet, and started cutting it up," Herb told me. "I suppose it was good, but all I could taste was river bottom."

A "personal" item in the mid-1920's from the Manchester Enterprise noted that Will Sloat, George Haarer and Joe Weiss had spent some time at the Sloat cabin on Wampler's Lake, and in particular that Joe was the cook at a rabbit dinner and subsequently when visitors called at the lake. His culinary skills must have been well-honed by his bachelor life.

Joe's business on Railroad Street was housed in a two-story building with a basement, built on log supports or stilts on the steep river bank. Prior to the cobbler's business being located there, there had been a butcher shop. According to Nathaniel Schmid, who wrote a previously published poetic village history in 1921, "Going south on Railroad Street is the Red Bird, where Joe Weiss is at work. Nicholas Stringham there sold all kinds of fresh meat and also salt pork." There were always people stopping in to visit with Joe as he worked; Anton Vogt of the Handle Factory, and Ora Logan being two of his frequent visitors.

The machinery that Weiss used had a line shaft for grinding off the leather to make well-crafted boots and shoes. The line shaft was powered by an electric motor which vibrated the old building at times.

One evening, Joe had evidently gone off for dinner at about 7 or 7:30 and as Mr. Leeman stood on the bridge at that moment, he saw the cobbler's building fall to the river bank. Moments later there was only a cloud of dust hanging in the air from the plaster inside the building. "He was out of business in a hurry," commented —by: Marsha Johnson Chartrand Herb Widmayer. No account of this calamity has been found in the old issues of The Enterprise. (Some issues from the late 1920's are missing on microfilm at the Manchester Township Library).

It was fortunate for Weiss and his many friends and visitors that the building was unoccupied at the time as they would surely have been severely injured or killed.

Joe Weiss never re-opened his cobbling business, but retired thereafter. In a 1928 "Local News Items" in the Enterprise, it is mentioned when the Frank Tirb garage was expanded that "Wm. G. Springer, veteran shoemaker of the village, informs the Enterprise that he will probably establish his shop at this residence, as he knows of no suitable place down-town." This was probably the beginning of the end for the "cobblers" in Manchester.

(The author would like to thank Mr. Herb Widmayer for his recollections of Joe Weiss and the downtown area in general. Without his help, this article could not have been written.)

Manchester's Junior Girl Scout Troop 706 had a very successful year!

For our program this year, we achieved the status of Challenge Honor Troop at the Area Association Spring Recognition Dinner. To earn this highly coveted status, a troop must follow a number of requirements for registration, leadership, adult training, sponsorship, service projects, field trips, summer activities, and badge work. Therefore, being recognized as a Challenge Honor Troop shows a great deal of planning and activity on the part of the girls and their leaders.

Our leader, Anita Tyler, earned the "Green Blood" award

Our leader, Anita Tyler, earned the "Green Blood" award on May 7 for her constant Girl Scout activities.

For our "Girl Scouts Care" 80th Anniversary Service Project Award, we held a pre-school reading hour at the Manchester Public Library. For this we were recognized at a ceremony and reception at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor on May 19. We received a certificate for $25 to be used at Border's Book Shop in Ann Arbor.

We are looking forward to another good year starting in the fall.

Delores and Russ Wolfe, 9494 Grossman Road, Manchester, are members of the Jackson Rose and Garden Society and at this time every year their rose gardens, as well as other members' in and around Jackson County, are open for viewing.

The rose circle pictured consists of hybrid teas and miniatures in lovely shades of lavender, scarlet, pearl, and more. The flowers surround an antique sundial.

Just in front of their gazebo is a lavish bed of old fashioned roses. These gorgeous blooms date back as far as the 1500's and include the ones for which Delores has won blue ribbons.

The south fence line is now beginning to bloom with climbing roses and is truly a spectacular sight. One climbing rose variety is called Jacob's Coat and has blossoms of various colors.

Can You Canoe?

If you're like me, you appreciate a good idea. One of the better ones comes in the form of a canoe livery just down the road and around the corner from Manchester.

Phil and Tina Maly started up Sharon Hollow Acres Canoe Livery a few months back in response to all of those people who said, "Wouldn't it be great if there was a place we could rent a canoe around here?"

The crew from the Enterprise at times heads "out and about" for a little adventure, and takes me along to keep matters in perspective and add my own gar-nish to the proceedings. Last week's choice took us to Phil and Tina's livery on Bethel Church just east of Sharon Hollow (near the winery).

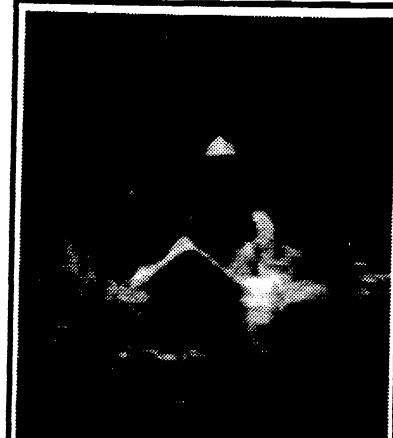

Knowing that a group from the Enterprise carries its own unique clientele, we decided to keep things on the up and up and bring along children (mine), to see how a trip along the River Raisin could satisfy customers over a broad age range.

When we got to the livery (marked by a red barn), I found we needed to travel back in on a stone drive to get to the river. There, Tina had her van with canoes (and kayaks) ready to unload. The canoes, new, red, lightweight, and long, were made from strong polyethylene and, as we discovered, displayed a capability for absorbing plunges into lowly flora.

The canoes were spacious without seeming unwieldy. We loaded coolers and cameras, bags and clothes into the canoe bottoms, and had still had room for cushions, paddles, and kids.

We waved good-bye to Tina, who told us she'd pick us up at the red arrow just before rounding the bend in the river leading up to Limpert's dam. The current grabbed the canoes and kayaks and sent us downstream at a moderate eddying pace.

Luckily for us, and for you too, do you choose to follow in our canoe steps, the water level of the River Raisin has remained pretty high. No place exists from start to finish that forces portaging, or even the need to scrape bottom. However, sand bars and traps in the form of submerged tree parts can give you all the places you desire for kinks, crashes, and craziness. And this does make for some fun.

Perhaps what surprised me the most, was the number of bends and turns during the two and a half hour trip. But not to complain. A discussion of river morphology could intrigue the paddlers of any group, as well as imagining what fish, fowl, reptiles, and fur critters lived along or near the banks. We saw fish large and small, squirrel and woodchuck, and birds galore. Deer track led up to the river in many places.

I wasn't in the mood for hard paddling, maybe because of the river's serenity, and the fascination that the terrain held for me. I could imagine doing the drift for the entire journey, and this actually exists as a possible way to travel. We ended up splitting time between paddling and cruising, and never really felt like work was being done. However, the one doing the rudder work will stay busy, for all the turns and obstacles.

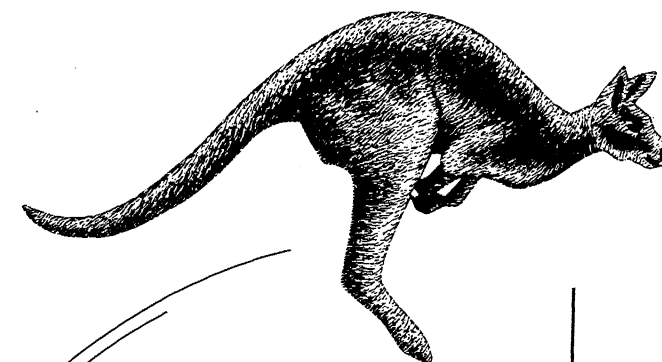

If you give a child a paddle, they'll make use of it. If not I doubt they'll get bored. My children found enough of interest and amazement over the constant change of scenery to never utter that dread phrase, "How soon before we're done?"

We had our moments of glory. Each canoe experienced its own special brand of embarrassment in the form of getting hung up on a log or sand bar, or crashing into branches along the river's edge. Yet plenty of room existed for us to drift downstream, three abreast, passing goodies and people from one craft to another. Tina warned us, however, that most of the property along the route was privately owned, so thinking about getting out on land for a picnic or for wandering around didn't fit the bill. Poison ivy could keep you honest anyhow.

We did discover a way to stop when we wanted, however, and spent time eating and discussing newspaper strategy without fear of being washed downstream. It was a matter of drifting sideways into a downed tree, or letting the current push us against the shore where the river took a sharp curve.

The trip had its share of insects, but not any more than what you'd normally find out in the country. You know that deer flies are doing their thing at this time of year, and some people have an uncanny knack for attracting them. I wasn't bothered by them however, and neither were the kids. Bring a hat if you want, and maybe insect repellent, if you really think it helps.

Plan on lots of shade. Parts of the river have arching trees and high banks, so that you float protected from the sun for long stretches of time. Not that anyone minds on sultry summer days. Maybe even a long-sleeve shirt or sweater would help.

You won't break the bank using the Maly's canoes, but plan on spending $17 for each

The Manchester Community Fair is approaching fast and with many new items of interest.

On Wednesday, returning after several years, will be a mule pull. The Talent Show has been moved to that night and anyone wanting to be a part of the show please call 428-0032.

Senior Citizens Day is Thursday and a special program has been planned for the afternoon. In the evening a Custom and Classic Car Show has been added with "Moose and Da Sharks" playing music from the 50's and 60's. Also, back this year is the North American Flyball Demonstration - about a dozen canine friends competing for the flyball.

Friday and Saturday, the Farmers' Antique Tractor & Engine Association will be bringing a display and making some old-fashion popcom. Then celebrate Manchester's 125th with the Fair on Saturday throughout the day starting with the Ladies' Day program at 10:00 a.m. There will be remembrances of the past.

Joining the Lamb and Steer Clubs this year is the Manchester Community Fair Swine Club with six charter members. The judging and auctioning of the swine will be the same evening as the other clubs.

All exhibits that are to be entered in the Exhibit Building must be brought to the Fair on Monday, July 6 between the hours of 2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. ONLY! They will be judged on Tuesday. A new division has been added for seniors 62 and older for Needle and Machine Crafts. These will include knitting, crocheting, embroidery, quilting, hooking articles and machine sewing, so bring those items for others to see and enjoy.

There is still space available in the Merchant's Tent. Please call Kathy Richardson at 428-8474 if interested in a booth. Also call Jim Mann at 428-8388 for information on the parade.

This is your Fair, come and enjoy.

Jack Raeburn Performing in Clinton July 1st

Jack Raeburn gets his turn in the spotlight on Wednesday, July 1.

That's when the director of the Tecumseh Civic Auditorium will perform a selection of famous speeches from Shakespeare's plays. The 8:00 p.m. presentation in the library's special events room is free to the public.

Giving a solo presentation of excerpts from Shakespeare's plays is something Raeburn enjoys doing, and he looks forward to appearing in the comparatively intimate setting of the Clinton Township Library, he said.

"We expect that many of Jack Raeburn's friends from throughout Lenawee and Washtenaw Counties will want to attend this unique performance," said library director Grace Strauss. "We are privileged to have him in Clinton."

The Clinton Township Library is located at 100 Brown St., one block north of the village's main downtown intersection. For information, call (517) 456-4141.

In early June, Linda Alber attended the Special Olympics on the campus of Central Michigan University.

She competed in the 400 and 800 runs and came away with gold medals in both.

I asked Linda what her winning times were but she didn't know right off hand. She did say that she "was really cruisin'" in the 800.

Congratulations, Linda, for job well done.

Society
BANK

Owning a home starts as a dream, but it takes hard work to turn that dream into reality. At Society, we'll provide the help you need through our HomeAssist™ Program.

We Help You Realize Your Dream.

*All you need is a 5% down payment. Society will contribute 2% of the purchase price for your down payment and pay the first-year private mortgage insurance premium up to a COMBINED TOTAL of $1,000 with NO repayment necessary.

HomeAssist's Easy Terms.

Society's HomeAssist Program offers a fixed rate mortgage with a maximum term of 30 years. Financing is available for purchase or purchase-for-rehabilitation of 1-4 family, owner-occupied dwellings.

HomeAssist Qualifications

- Properties must be located within the boundaries of Lenawee, Livingston or Washtenaw counties.
- A household income of $38,450 or less for a family of four in Washtenaw County (income levels vary by family size and county).

HomeAssist—All The Help You'll Need.

Even if you aren't ready to buy a home now, Society's HomeAssist planning sessions will give you suggestions to help you budget and save for your home ownership dream.

For more information about HomeAssist, stop by Society Bank today or call (313) 994-5555.

Example: Mortgages with Society's HomeAssist Program are available with various rates and terms to suit the borrower's individual circumstances. (Rates subject to change daily.) With HomeAssist, a $40,000 home purchase would require a 5% down payment ($2,000 total, of which $1,200 would be paid by the borrower and $800 paid by Society), leaving a mortgage amount of $38,000. In this example, your initial year of private mortgage insurance premium would be $342 ($200 paid by Society and $142 paid by the borrower). Also, using this example, amortized over 30 years at a rate of 8.75% with two loan origination fee points, the borrower would have a 9.6863 annual percentage rate of interest on the $38,000 mortgage, resulting in 360 monthly principal and interest payments of $298.95 each, plus renewal fees for private mortgage insurance coverage. (Borrower may choose from optional terms including a mortgage with no points.) CS-507

Will I go down the River Raisin again? Yep. Would I recommend this journey for a family with young children? You bet. Could you take a group of wild and crazy people and have funky fun? Oh yeah. Words and proper spelling is a challenge to all and particularly when "reared" as a printer's devil. Sometimes some keen typoes appear in newsprint. These somehow manage to get past the columnist, typist and even the proofreader. To wit: our vice-president's goof with the potato. Singular: potato, plural: ad the es is the old rule.

Community Volunteer of the Week— Mary Sue Moore

Community Volunteer of the week is Mary Sue Moore who was nominated by Bethel United Church of Christ.

Mary Sue is presently president of the Church Board. Mary serves many people in her volunteer work in the day to day activities of the church. Church membership includes people from an area that stretches from Ann Arbor to Clinton.

Mary has played an instrumental role in the formation of the Church Beautification Committee and the Evangelism Committee.

She loves to plant, water and weed flowers and she promotes good communication with new members as they are welcomed into the church family.

Mary has many years of commitment to active roles with the Women's Fellowship Group, Church Women United and many ecumenical activities such as the Lenten Breakfast which includes all churches in the Manchester area. The church's 150th Anniversary and yearly ice cream social benefit from Mary Sue's experience.

Mary Sue's very special gift is her love and knowledge of music. While she is compensated as organist, Senior Choir Director and as piano teacher, she is always willing to give extra of herself for special music programs.

Mary Sue is very supportive of those who follow in her footsteps, willing to share her knowledge and experience as she teaches other people to become volunteers in their church and community.

115th Manchester High School Alumni Reunion

Friendships were renewed and yesteryear happenings recalled as 180 alumni and spouses gathered together for the 115th Manchester High School Alumni Reunion.

Following a delicious dinner, the Four-ever Friends, a women's barbershop quartette, entertained the assembly. Joseph Roberts, President of the Alumni Association, led a brief business meeting. The Toastmaster, John Uhr of Pensacola, Florida, a member of the class celebrating its 50th year since graduation, delightfully led the program through incidents of Manchesterites when he was young.

Class responses were in a variety of forms. Telling what happened in their school years was Brenda Rose Dolan, representing the class of 1982. Paul Buss and Sue Randall Fielder led the entire group in a trivia game about alumni. Needless to say the class of 1967, their class, had the most right answers. Lauren Feldkamp came from Ridgewood, New Jersey, to present the response of the 50-year class.

The oldest living alumni, Mrs. Alta Grossman Parr, was present, celebrating her 75th year, graduating in 1917. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Duncel of Grand Ledge, who is a son of former Superintendent Orville Duncel were present, and also Mr. and Mrs. Donald Weed. Mr. Weed was a principal and science teacher at Manchester High School. A memorial tribute was presented for those who have died during the past year with the reading of their names by Mrs. Lucile Williams.

Manchester High School Alumni Association is one of the few active high school alumni associations remaining. Who are these alumni? This year we learned a few unique facts through the trivia game. The largest graduating class was in 1979 with 118 students and the smallest was in 1874 with one person. The family name with the longest longevity (the greatest number of years between the first and the last entered in the alumni directory) is Sloat—Ida Sloat in 1883 and Marci and John Sloat in 1991. Names that appear most frequently in the directory are Smith (54), Kirk (37), Feldkamp (34), Clark (31) Ahrens (31) Fielder (30), Walkow (28), Dettling (24), Dresselhouse (23), and Breitenwischer (23).

It was a delightful evening and you will want to put the date on your calendar for next year's reunion—June 19, 1993.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF MAKING MORE ON YOUR MONEY, WHATEVER YOUR ECONOMIC OUTLOOK.

RISE RATE CD FOR THE LONG TERM.

FIRST RATE FUND FOR THE SHORT TERM.

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to invest. No matter what your strategy.

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term investment and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD™

It starts at a bonus rate of 5 percent per annum. And you'll end up earning 6½ percent for the final term. You can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days of every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up beyond this election year, invest short term with the FirstRate Fund™.

You'll make a bonus return of 5¼ percent per annum from the day you sign up through July 31.

So the sooner you invest the more you'll make. After July 31, the per annum rate is based on the weekly Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it.

A new deposit of $10,000* is required, and you can get your money seven days after notifying us.

It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times.

Of course, your investments are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor. And bonus offers are good through July 31.

Call or visit the office nearest you. Because no matter what your point of view, you can't go wrong investing with us.

FirstRate Fund Rate
Sign up now and earn this bonus per annum rate through July 31.

ONE OF THE MIDWEST'S BIGGEST BANKS, BUT ONLY WHEN YOU WANT US TO BE™ FIRST OF AMERICA

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. *Minimum $10,000 balance required on First Rate Fund. This offer is available to individuals and sole proprietors only, and the bank reserves the right to limit the amount deposited. For information call us at: 1-800-735-0034 Member FDIC. IN MEMORY

In Memory of Don "Lefty" Ross who passed away 11 years ago July 14, 1981.

We are so sad when those we love
Are called to live in that home above.

But why should we grieve when they say goodbye
And they go to dwell in a cloudless sky.

For they have but gone to prepare the way,
And we'll join them again some happy day.

It will never mean enough.

Dad's Loving Hands

God took Dad home to stay, his gentle hand I lost that day. The love, the care they gave to us to guide us on our way. How can we say we love you Dad?

How can we let you know, without you Dad our hearts, our lives they have a great big hole, You were one very special man to raise two girls without your helpmate's hand.

That's why I miss the times we shared, it just wasn't time enough, To tell you Dad how much we cared

It will never mean enough. In loving memory of Robert G. Kappler. Born July 15, 1916, Died July 27, 1991.

Jorgensen Only Washtenaw County Candidate for Representative

Marshall Jorgensen, 30, of Milan, is the only Washtenaw County candidate on the Republican ticket for Representative of the newly created 55th Michigan District in the State Legislature.

A 1980 Milan High School graduate, Marshall worked with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jorgensen at their farm and produce market until their retirement at the end of 1990. He holds a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science and Economics, earned at the University of Michigan, and a Master's in business administration from Bowling Green State University, in Ohio.

He has worked four and a half years for Jacobson's Department Stores, and has served as the firm's internal auditor for the past two years.

"I have always been interested in the American political process," he declared this week. "And lately I've been discouraged by the turn of events in Lansing and Washington."

"I strongly believe in property tax reform—but at the same time I believe in well-funded public education. Both goals can be achieved with a tax shift to take some of the burden off the backs of senior citizens and farmers. An increase in the sales tax can accomplish this."

He added, "Citizen disillusionment, which brings citizen indifference, is a basic problem. Limiting terms of legislators would help restore people's faith, and I would like to see a true part-time legislature in Michigan, with pay to match their part-time service."

"Other changes he would support are auto insurance reform by limiting payments to lawyers in auto accident lawsuits, and an ironclad requirement for balanced budgets in government."

Jorgensen declared that he is "completely opposed to Envotech's proposed hazardous waste complex in Augusta

Township." The problem should be solved by recycling wastes."

The York Township resident is a member of Marble Memorial United Methodist Church, Washtenaw County Farm Bureau, the U-M Musical Society and the alumni organizations of both his alma maters.

Jorgensen's residence is at the approximate geographical center of the 55th District. Look for him in the Manchester Community Fair Parade and/or stop by and meet him at the Fair

The Center of the Universe

124th Year — Vol. 124, No 38

Manchester, Michigan

35¢ per copy

Down Memory Lane

The following has been taken from the Manchester Enterprise dated July 11, 1907, by Mat D. Blosser.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

We have had a splendid rain today.

We have had several good hay days.

John Jackson has sold his horse and colt.

Horace Case, who is at Redlands Cal. has our thanks "for a copy of the Daily Facts".

John Spafford is building a cottage at Wampler's lake and will occupy it as soon as finished.

Mr. & Mrs. C. W. Case and Mr. & Mrs. Ed. E. Root attended the banker's convention at Detroit, Tuesday.

Farmers are hauling a large amount of hay to Lonier & Hoffer's storehouse, where it is baled for shipment.

About 50 of the ladies' aid society of Emanuel's church spent a pleasant afternoon with Mrs. J. M. Huber last Wednesday.

J. S. Townsend of the Clinton department store has a special sale on lawns to which we call the attention of our readers this week.

The county board of auditors came here and went out to Freedom Monday to investigate the claim of $1,300 made by L. D. Watkins against the county for flooding his lands in 1904-5.

Mr. & Mrs. Blumberg and daughter of New York visited here last week and part of this week. Mrs. Blumberg is a sister of Mrs. Stolarsky and while here purchased a lot on Boyne Street nearly opposite the Stolarsky residence.

Village Treasurer Lonier advertises that he is ready to collect village taxes. The assessed valuation of the village is $681,485 and the assessment is three tenths per cent, amounting to about $2,000.

The iron bridge in this village needs painting and this is a good time to have the work done. An iron brush should be used first to remove the scale, then coal tar applied to supply a lasting covering for the iron. The job should be done thoroughly.

A farmer dropped into the office a few days ago to thank the Enterprise for what was said about the way some of the roads are plowed up. He thoroughly agreed with us in what we said and was glad that the law in regard to road making has been changed.

Joseph Howard appeared at the Enterprise office Tuesday morning with a good sized dogfish which he took from the iron pipe that runs from the mill pond to supply water for sprinkling the streets. A few years ago he took a three foot eel from the same place.

Mr. & Mrs. T. B. Blosser of Lansing came here last week Wednesday with Mr. & Mrs. B. F. Burtless in their touring car to visit a week or more. Mr. Burtless returned home Sunday taking Drs. Osborn and Dunning of Lansing, who came down to visit W. B. Osborn, of Sharon home with him.

We have received from Fred Steinkohl a souvenir card of the public library at Oskosh, Wis., on which he says that they are out sight seeing. Fond du Lac and Oskosh are on Winnebago lake, a large and beautiful sheet of water. It will be remembered that Will Ruckman, now of Seattle, formerly lived in Oskosh.

Relatives and friends spent the Fourth very pleasantly at Mr. & Mrs. George Pardee's. A picnic dinner was served, speeches appropriate to the day were made and after light refreshments in the evening, the guests departed to their separate homes, feeling that they had spent the day in a manner long to be remembered.

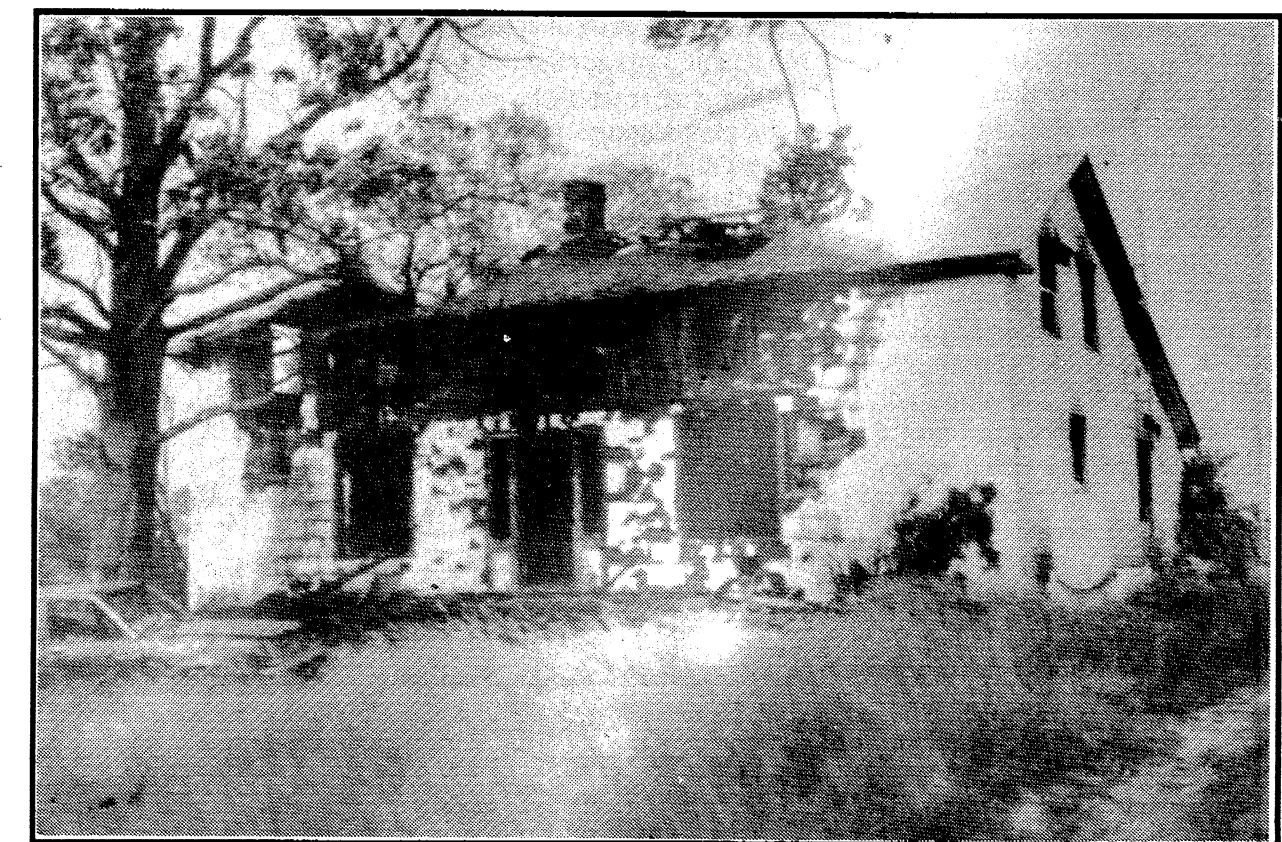

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. Vogelbacher found a weasel trying to kill one of her chickens. She procured a club and tried to kill the little animal, but was obliged to call for help and they finally shot it with a rifle. Weasels are exceedingly found of chickens and very hard to catch and it is lucky that this one, at least, has been disposed of.

About 150 Manchester people went to Jackson Sunday to attend the young peoples convention. The special train chartered for the purpose of getting the people there before the opening morning session was an accommodation appreciated by many. The meetings were greatly enjoyed and the meeting of friends was a pleasant feature.

In concluding the work attending the construction of the soldier's monument at oak grove cemetery, Henry Kirchofer, chairman of the committee, asks us to thank the people of Manchester for the assistance given by subscription and voted tax and reports that the cost of monument, grading etc., was $476.00 of which $250.00 was paid by tax and $226.00 by subscription.

Fred M. Freeman was at Ann Arbor Tuesday assisting in the settlement of cement plant affairs. Mrs. A. M. Stentz of Morroville, Ohio, the present owner of the plant, paid over to Receiver Watkins the amount of her bid. She says that she will first ascertain the truth in regard to the marl and clay deposit, then will put her property and the stock she holds in at $25,000 and attempt to organize a new company with a capital of $200,000 then if that is not sufficient to complete the plant, her plan would be to issue bonds. She hopes to be able to interest the people in the matter so the plant can be completed and operated. (End article)

ARSONIST ON THE LOOSE?

House on Lamb Road, south of Sharon Valley Road destroyed by fire

Three out buildings, set ablaze and destroyed

It appears that we have a de-mmented arsonist in our midst. Within the past year our area has been plagued by eight fires of buildings that are suspicious in nature.

About this time last year some hay was set fire in the field that appeared to be a prank of some exuberant children. However since that time fires have erupted in barns and vacant buildings.

The barns on West Austin Road belonging to Brian Alber and Neil Baggett were in the opinion of the owners definitely torched. A reward was posted by Baggett and Alber in an attempt to apprehend the guilty parties. Brian stated to this writer shortly after the fire, "This was torched, we had nothing in the barns that could have started the fire".

The Sula's had a fire in one of their buildings and a reward was posted for information.

When fire fighters arrived on the scene at the Lamb Road fire the 3 out buildings were destroyed. It took 30,000 gallons of water to control the abandoned house blaze.

Please help, observe, report.
