School election on Friday

Residents of the Manchester Community Schools district will vote tomorrow on a $35 million bond issue to purchase land, build a new high school and make renovations to the elementary and future middle schools.

Polling will be at the Manchester Fitness Facility, located behind the parking lot of the high school, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Buck-a-burger night set for tomorrow

The Manchester Cheer Teams will hold their first Buck-a-burger dinner on Friday at the Manchester United Methodist Church parking lot.

Hamburgers and hot dogs are just $1 each and serving is from 5 to 7 p.m. Combo meals, which include a hamburger or hot dog, chips, cole slaw, brownie and a drink, are just $3.

Proceeds from this event help pay for competition fees and equipment needed by cheerleaders in grades 7 through 12.

There will be only two buck-a-burger nights this fall. The second will be held Sept. 21. Come enjoy dinner and stay for the game!

Stewards of Sharon hold second annual picnic

The second annual Sharon Township picnic sponsored by the Stewards of Sharon will be held on Sunday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Sharon Town Hall.

All residents are invited to bring a dish to pass. Brats, cold drinks and the last sweet corn of the season will be served. Table service also will be provided.

Church honors 10 years of ministry

St. John's United Church of Christ at Rogers Corners (Waters Road at Fletcher) will hold a special worship service to honor the Rev. Dr. Nancy Doty's 10 years of ministry with the church, on Sunday.

Worship begins at 11 a.m. and a luncheon with entertainment will follow the service.

ACT deadline nears

College-bound high school students have two chances to register for the ACT before the Oct. 27 test date.

The postmark registration deadline is Sept. 21. Late registration deadline is Oct. 5. Students can get information from the school counselor or register online at www.act.org.

Sharon Township approves sewer

■ Special mid day meeting called to discuss agenda.

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
Associate Editor

In a special noon meeting held Aug. 27, the Sharon Township Board voted to provide sewer and water to two sections in the southeast quadrant of the township.

With all board members and nine citizens present for the mid-day meeting, the board held a lengthy discussion on sewer feasibility.

Supervisor Gary Blades said that the township has been discussing sewer systems for quite some time to accommodate a probable mobile home park in the township.

"We're going to have sewers one way or another," he said. "It's become clear we have to have a mobile home park and that means sewers."

Should the new school be located on the Gourley property, of which about half is located in Sharon Township. Blades said it would probably benefit the township.

"If the school is hooked in to the sewer, we can reduce the number of units in a mobile home park," he said.

He added the reason for the large mobile home development proposed in the northern section of the township is because 700 units is the smallest size that the developer says it can build a sewer system to serve residents. With a school and possibly commercial and added residential development connected to a proposed sewer, the size of a mobile home park slated for the southeastern section, notably sections 35 and 36 adjacent to the Manchester Township border and the village, could be substantially reduced.

Blades added that this was among the reasons he does not favor annexation for the proposed school property.

"That property belongs in Sharon Township," he said. "But I don't speak for the entire board on this issue."

School board president Ron Ellison was in the audience, with an interest in the outcome of any board discussion on annexation and sewers.

"Annexed or not, this is the best site for a school," Ellison said. "A new school is good for the community and good for Sharon Township."

Blades continued the board's discussion on sewers and said the township could approach both Freedom and Bridgewater townships to discuss a joint project to service Pleasant Lake and the Bridgewater hamlet. He added Sylvan Township had already agreed to work with Sharon Township on such a project if it proved feasible.

"There is a lot at stake," he said. "The old way of thinking isn't working. We need to move ahead."

Trustee Roger Kappler said he would prefer to see a cost-benefit analysis, a study on the environmental impact and a feasibility study before voting to proceed with a system.

"Our vote should be on the feasibility of a sewer and perhaps water," Kappler said. "Our goal should be all-encompassing. Is it rational to move ahead?"

Blades replied, "We don't know what to do a feasibility study on, unless we do."

Kappler amended the motion to specifically include Sections 35 and 36. The amendment and motion were unanimously passed.

Kappler added, "I would still like to see cost benefit and environmental impact studies done. Perhaps the village would consider becoming a regional water supply and wastewater treatment facility."

The board agreed that the village would be among the several options it pursues in coming weeks.

Helping Hands

Students from Concordia College in Ann Arbor spent a day last week in service to several Washtenaw County communities. A group of more than 20 students participated in a variety of projects in Manchester, including a landscaping blitz giving a new look to the Manchester Alternative School. Coordinated by campus pastor Randy Shields and the Manchester Community Resource Center, this project was completed in just under three hours.

Tomorrow is school bond vote

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
Associate Editor

About 85 members of the community came out to "meet the team" of architects and construction staff for a new high school, in a meeting that lasted slightly less than two hours.

And pending the results of the bond election tomorrow, that team will be ready to begin planning for a new future for the Manchester Community Schools.

At the meeting, the school board made two announcements that addressed citizen questions.

First, the board rescinded a motion made earlier this year to offer the Pleasant Lake School facility to Freedom Township and tabled any action on the building for two years.

"By that time we will have a better idea of the building space needs for the district," Superintendent David Oegema said.

In addition, the board announced a tentative agreement to purchase 14 acres of land directly east of the current high school, known as the Braun property.

Pending passage of the bond issue, the current high school is set for renovation to become the district's future middle school. The added acreage would be used for space for middle school practice fields, recess area and other features that currently are unavailable in the land-locked area where the middle school is located.

"This would answer a lot of community questions about how we could make this into a good middle school building," Oegema said.

This purchase also is conditional on a positive outcome of the Sept. 7 bond vote.

The audience received a flyer on the ten reasons why now is a good time for a bond issue.

"One item on the list," Oegema said, "is that when the school went to the Department of Treasury for approval, the bond rate was 5.75 percent."

"That's a good rate, but it has now dropped to 4.91 percent. If we sell bonds in today's market opposed to that of three months ago, it will save us $12 million over the life of the bond."

Oegema added that the school also is looking at refinancing the 1995 debt because of favorable interest rates.

"If we combine that debt with the new bond, we can save $90,000 in additional interest over the term of that bond," he said.

A letter from A.G. Edwards and Sons, investment bankers who will participate in marketing the bond sale, confirmed this information.

Oegema termed the meeting positive, and said that he believed most people's questions were answered.

One rumor put to rest at the meeting was the size of the low lands on the proposed site for a new high school.

Board member Lyndon Uphaus personally went out to walk and measure the low-lying property on the proposed site. His discovery was that approximately 10 acres could be termed lowlands.

"The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District does not consider this wetland," Uphaus said in an interview last week. "It could be used for practice athletic fields in its current condition. If the drain on the property is repaired, it is possible that this area could be considered buildable."

The county drain on the property has some broken tiles that may need to be repaired.

"The school would probably fix these tiles as part of site development," Oegema said. "If the repairs extend beyond school property, the county

Library set to move to new quarters

■ Historic Ford building to house library as well as village offices.

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
Associate Editor

After 67 years in the same location, the Manchester District Library will close its doors at 202 West Main Street Monday to commence preparations for the move to 912 City Road.

Less than two months after finalizing an agreement with the Village of Manchester to share the space and expenses at the old Ford plant, the library's new quarters are nearly ready to move in. Set up and moving are expected to take about two weeks and the library is set to reopen in its new location during the last week of September.

The library will be open its normal hours for patrons to check out materials and visit the "old" library one more time, through the end of this week.

The new library project has been occupying much of the staff's time as well as that of new director Kate Pittsley. Computer and networking plans as well as internet access at the new location has been high on the list of Pittsley's priorities over the past few weeks. New computers were installed at the new location over the Labor Day weekend, and the remaining computers will be moved Saturday.

The new library will have three telephone lines and will add call waiting to the incoming line to better serve patrons trying to reach the library. Staffing will be maintained at the current level while staff needs are assessed in the new location.

Shelving and adult furniture arrived at the new library last week and children's furniture is on order. Children's software has already been installed on the computers at the new location.

"We'll have more up-to-date children's software on our computers than most other libraries in the area," Pittsley said.

The excitement of moving to a new location is matched by a tinge of sadness on the part of staff and patrons alike.

"Some people are very attached to this building, and have asked what will happen to it," Pittsley said. "But because it is owned by Manchester Township, it's up to the township what will happen to the house once we've vacated it."

More good news for the library was received recently as the Chelsea District Library has agreed to accept Freedom Township patrons residing in the Chelsea School District, without charge to the library or to the individuals. Chelsea District Library has had in place for two years a non-resident fee policy that residents of the Chelsea School District who are providing tax support to another public library may continue to use the Chelsea library without paying a non-resident fee.

"With this policy in place and with a sentiment of support to the development of the new Manchester District Library, the Chelsea District Library Board has voted to decline Manchester's offer of 50 percent of the millage collected in Freedom Township from residents who also reside in the Chelsea School District," Metta Lansdale, director of the Chelsea District Library, wrote in a letter to Manchester library board president Charlotte Major.

The large empty space above will soon be filled with bookshelves, computers and library staff as the Manchester District Library prepares to move into its new location at 912 City Road. The library will close its doors this weekend and reopen the last week of September.

Group receives water quality grant

The Huron River Watershed Council's Middle Huron Initiative Program received a $136,000 grant from the US Environmental Protection Agency and the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to help communities protect water quality in Mill Creek, a tributary of the Huron River.

Community meetings will be scheduled throughout the coming year, and residents of the Mill Creek communities are encouraged to participate in the watershed planning process. These communities are the villages of Chelsea and Dexter, and the townships of Dexter, Freedom, Lima, Lodi, Lyndon, Scio, Sharon, Sylvan, and Webster.

The two-year project will assist these communities in western Washtenaw County with identifying long-term creek protection and restoration measures through community-based decision making. Residents are encouraged to attend one of the kickoff meetings to be held at the Washington Street Activities Center (the former high school), 500 Washington Street, Chelsea, to talk about the state of Mill Creek and community concerns about water quality in local streams, lakes, wetlands, and groundwater.

The first meeting will be Sept. 17, from 1 to 2:30 p.m. with an open house beginning at 11:30 a.m. During the open house, residents can obtain information, enjoy ice cream sundaes and ask questions of the project coordinators. An evening meeting also will be offered on Thursday, Sept. 20, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. with an open house beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The Huron River Watershed Council (HRWC) is a public non-profit coalition of local communities and residents established to protect the Huron River and its tributary streams, lakes, wetlands and groundwater. The council works to inspire attitudes, behaviors and economies that effectively protect, rehabilitate and sustain the Huron River system.

The HRWC's Middle Huron Initiative has been collaborating with middle Huron communities and MDEQ since 1995 to meet state water quality standards. To learn more about planning and training opportunities in Mill Creek, or for more information about the watershed, call the Huron River Watershed Council at 734-769-5123 or check the web site at www.comnet.org/hrwc.

Looking on the bright side keeps us functioning

When bad luck starts annoying us, the oddest things have the power to keep us focused and functioning normally. The past two weeks offered repeated opportunities to rebound by looking for something positive to cling to.

Maybe I'm asleep, stuck in a bad country song. My favorite young dog died inexplicably. The sheep got sick and one went to that ever-green pasture in the sky. Another dog ate something he shouldn't have, with predictable results. Even the cat started sneezing.

A large check to me bounced, a paycheck was late, and while trying to deal with the repercussions, I discovered that my credit/debit card to the same account was missing from my wallet. I'll be on the phone to the bank and anyplace I've written checks lately for the next week or more.

To top it all off, I started feeling feverish, my head pounding and back aching. Antibiotics are taking care of it, but they make me itch. It's hay fever season now. The house is still a mess.

NANCY

I admit to feeling a bit sorry for myself. So, well-trained by a mother who lived through the Depression, I chided myself about how great my fate is compared to other people whose misfortunes are life-altering. Honestly, though, it was just looking at the sights and sounds around town that kept me from crying in my mug of doctor-recommended cranberry juice.

The last gazebo concert of the year was a warm one. A bit muggy, the weather affected attendance a bit. Those who braved the heat, however, not only heard a Grammy-winning performer, but were treated once again to the good cheer and camaraderie of the organizers, listeners, and, especially, the children. "It's a weekly Norman Rockwell/Kodak moment," one friend often says. I agree.

A sprinkler was watering an adjacent lawn. The sidewalk got wet. It didn't take long for kids to discover how good it felt to splash along the cement. Girls giggled and shrieked, running off as the oscillations brought the drops their way, making sure they stayed a little longer and got a little wetter each time.

The tiniest of tots, in spite of being dressed in pink frills, was allowed to sit on the wet sidewalk to cool off. An older preschooler gently took her hand to show her how cool the puddle was. A bond was formed—temporary perhaps, but very real.

Older sisters helped little brothers work up the courage to join in the water sport. The cement seemed to be the understood limit for getting wet, until a tiny gentleman, too young for unwritten rules, dashed right onto the lawn and into the water. Once soaked, he toddled straight back to crawl into an adult's (formerly dry) lap.

My landlord put up hay several times, with help of local high-school guys. Watching them work hard, hearing about how they played hard, emphasized the vitality strumming through the heart of every summer day here in a rural area, in this community we live in.

Sweet corn straight off the field was an exceptional treat when I lived in the city. Now, produce stands are never more than a fraction of a mile away, providing what I like to think of as a taste of sunlight. "Fresh produce" is available even before one's garden starts producing, or after the plot's production wanes.

I stopped in the Klager lot to have my truck washed, and stayed a to watch the work and water play of the Key Club teens. At an age when many young people give their parents and community cause for panic, these young citizens were doing service; enjoying the work the same way kindergartners enjoy play.

Summer's fading quickly. Losing the weekly gazebo concerts feels like saying farewell to a good friend. It's time to wean lambs and start feeding them for market, so they won't be bounding across the field with their mothers. The perennials are done blooming, and the lawn's dormant. But autumn holds the promise of football games and cider-and-donuts. Halloween and brilliant leaves.

And woven through all those things are the smiles of children, the laughter of adults, and the promise of a better—luckier—tomorrow.

If we focus on the kids, we'll know what to do

A child proudly walks up to a counter in a store. He or she clutches adequate money in hot little hands (or pockets), to make a purchase. This is a major event for him.

And, while the sales clerk chats on the telephone with a friend from another department, the child waits. A few minutes go by. He gets discouraged. Those few minutes while he is being ignored seem more like an hour.

Another clerk passes through the department, acknowledges the clerk on the telephone with a cheerful wave, and continues on. But she doesn't seem to notice the child at the counter, either. Meanwhile the child begins to wonder if everyone in this store is blind, or if he is invisible.

AFTER THOUGHTS

Finally, the child leaves the counter and goes to find a parent. Not surprisingly, as an adult walks up to the counter, the sales clerk suddenly pops to attention.

"I gotta go, talk to you later," she says to the person on the other end of the line.

The youngster makes his purchase, with the money he has saved, but still the sales clerk pays attention only to the parent.

"Does he want this in a bag?" she asks.

Well, the parent says, why don't you ask him?

It's strange how blind adults can be when kids are concerned. It is one of my pet peeves. It bothered me to be similarly ignored when I was a child, and it bothers me now when it is my own kids—or kids that I don't even know—who are ignored or underestimated by adults.

As adults, don't we feel angry, hurt, and unimportant when we are being ignored, for whatever reason? Whether it's in a store, at a party or at a meeting where everyone seems to see right through you. Being invisible isn't a comfortable feeling.

So often we get absorbed in what we consider "important" or "adult" concerns, and it's the kids who tend to get the short shrift. They become invisible to us, too. It's hard to remember when we're so absorbed in these concerns that what seems so important or urgent to us—whether it is a phone call, a business matter, social contacts, or political concern—is really meaningless to a child or young adult.

Yes, sometimes the kids can be centered on concerns of their own that might seem insignificant to us. But I learned a valuable lesson about kids a long time ago. Their needs are important. If a need is ignored, it will get more and more intense and demand more attention. When the need is fulfilled, it goes away.

If we try to meet their needs and forget our adult concerns for a moment, life becomes simpler all around. This method can go a long way toward solving the bigger problems in our world.

Maybe we could stop talking about the insignificant adult stuff and look toward meeting the needs of our children first. Shouldn't their future be the primary focus of our concerns?

This story isn't really about a child with a fistful of money. It's about kids in our homes, our schools, and our community—who have their fists full of hopes and dreams and goals and needs—who can't grab the attention of the adults around them. Adults who may be too busy dividing their focus, drawing lines in the sand, and talking about abstract or tangential concerns, to really focus on these kids and their future. The kids are not invisible—don't treat them as if they are.

Step back. Take a hard look. And listen. Our kids deserve the best we can give them.

LEARNING, EDUCATION, SCHOOLS, FUTURE

By Nondus Buss

Nothing will ever be attained if all possible objections must first be overcome.

Shared goals build unity. Goals create focus. Goals give direction, purpose, and meaning.

Great goals require great passion.

Goals create strength. An achieved goal is the starting point of future progress. The first two letters of goal are go...

(From The Power of Goals)

Manchester Community School District began as a number of small schools in the village of Manchester, surrounded by many small rural country schools.

As the village grew and population increased, the Union

School was built and used from 1867 to 1935. After that became overcrowded, Manchester was fortunate to become a WPA work site and a new school for Manchester rose on the site of the old dismantled building, built with recycled materials from the old building.

This building is still a cornerstone of the Nellie Ackerson Middle School, now part of a larger structure, which developed over the years as new sections were added. A brand new high school opened in 1955 to deal with the growth caused by the annexation of the country schools and Pleasant Lake Consolidated School.

An addition in 1969 completed the high school. Klager Elementary followed shortly and was enlarged five years ago. Its enrollment for 2001-2002 finds the building full.

We know that new homes have gone up in many parts of our district. We know that many new sites are planned or have gained permission to move ahead with building plans. We know that other land will be made available for building sites.

We also know that the world has changed rapidly and steadily since the Soviet Union sent Sputnik into space in 1957, beginning the space race and the rapid development and advancement of technology.

The high school that was new and shiny then is no longer adequate and cannot be turned into a structure appropriate for meeting the educational needs of high school students of tomorrow. It can, however, become a good middle school.

Additional classroom space at Klager Elementary is absolutely essential. While the space issue is critical, the internal design of that space is even more important. Classroom design needs are extremely different from the box-shaped rooms holding rows of desks facing the front of the room, where the teacher stood and lectured or wrote on the blackboard.

Modern teaching and learning is much more interactive and requires different space configurations and flexibility. We must design and build to meet the needs of the future, not the past.

It's time. Time for us to step forward, to fulfill our obligations as citizens. To do as our predecessors did in the age-old pattern of providing appropriate educational facilities for the youth of our community. Time to ensure the future of a strong community and tax base. Time to vote for the future.

Church lot sale set

Are you a garage sale lover? Dig up all those unused or unwanted treasures from your garage, basement, attic and closets and reserve a parking lot spot at Emanuel United Church of Christ for Sept. 15.

Do you sell Avon, Pampered Chef, Tupperware or another home business? Reserve a table to sell your merchandise to the huge crowds expected at this year's third annual sale.

The cost is just $10 per parking space or $5 table rental—tables are limited, so get your reservation in early. Participants have the option to donate a percentage of the "take for the day" to the church. A receipt will be given to the donor for tax purposes.

The sale will be held rain or shine, with inside accommodations in case of inclement weather.

Call the church at 428-8359 to reserve your spot and table. The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 1 p.m. Any items not sold must be removed from the premises on Sept. 15.

drain commission assesses only residences directly affected by the improvements—not the entire community. This is not under the control of the school district.

One question at the meeting was from a union member who asked if local contractors would be asked to bid on the project. Construction manager Wolgast Corporation affirmed that the bid process for contractors will be "wide open."

The question of architectural firms' capabilities also was addressed. TMP and Associates, located in West Bloomfield, has worked with numerous schools in Michigan and throughout the country. Hobbs and Black of Ann Arbor has designed churches, municipal structures, commercial buildings and worked with local school districts as well as institutions of higher education, including the University of Michigan. Currently the firm is building a new Gabriel Richard High School in Ann Arbor in partnership with TMP.

TMP recently completed the Pinckney High School, for which it won two architectural awards, and has been invited back to bid on a new fifth and sixth-grade wing in Pinckney.

Board member Tim McConnell, who has been openly critical of TMP's past performance, said after the meeting that he had spoken with the principals of the firm. He added that he recently learned of the Pinckney schools' decision to invite TMP to bid on a new project.

"For the people to meet the construction management firm, the investment firm and have the opportunity to talk to TMP and Hobbs and Black, is a positive move," he said. "If you meet someone you are less likely to believe rumors and more likely to believe facts."

McConnell said that Meet the Team was an informative and positive meeting.

"Issues asked by the public were addressed," he said. "It's always important when you face the public in an open hearing, and answer their concerns."

And now it is up to the voters of the school district.

Uphaus said, "This plan probably is the most comprehensive and strategic in the community's history."

"It addresses issues that have been problems for years, as well as planning for the future."

Community Education to hold remodeling class

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
Heritage Newspapers

Need space for storage, an added room or a gathering place for the kids?

Look no further than right underneath your house.

Manchester Community Education in cooperation of the with Oakland Builders Institute, will offer an eight-hour Basement Remodeling seminar from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sept. 22. The course will be held at Manchester High School, 710 E. Main Street.

The seminar is designed to help people make better use of this valuable space in their homes by planning and completing a successful basement remodeling. The instructor will explain the many facets of basement remodeling including planning, meeting building codes, insurance, permits, estimating materials as well as the basics of home construction.

The instructor will also discuss working with subcontractors, finishing techniques as well as tying into existing plumbing, electrical and heating systems. The seminar cost is $82 plus a textbook fee of $8.

Pre-registration with payment is required no later than Sept. 19, to Manchester Community Education. Call 734/428-7804 to register Monday, Wednesday and Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The instructor is a licensed builder who can answer questions relating to all facets of remodeling. Oakland Builders Institute teaches building courses in 40 schools throughout Michigan. Oakland Builders Institute is a member of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan and the National Association of Home Builders.

It has been designed to offer a wide range of enrichment and recreational opportunities to occupy your leisure time with learning, hobbies, sports, health & fitness, as well as special events. We welcome your comments regarding existing programs and encourage your ideas for the development of new programs. If you have ideas for a class or your would like to volunteer to coach a sport, please contact our new Enrichment Coordinator, Joanne LaFleur at 428-7804. By providing accessible places and programs to enjoy we improve the quality of life in Manchester.

Varsity Dutch post season's first conference victory

■ Hot defense shuts down Hanover-Horton.

By Colleen O'Neill

Special Writer

The Manchester Flying Dutchmen began a winning season by defeating Hanover Horton by a final score of 31-14 in a rare Thursday night game.

Manchester scored on the very first drive on a 30-yard pass from Jeff Punches to Brent Leverett. The extra point was good to top off the 10-play, 67-yard drive.

Hanover Horton fumbled the ball right back to the Flying Dutchmen who hoped to score quickly but had to attempt a 42-yard field goal that had the distance but hooked to the left.

The Comets scored on their next drive on a 63-yard run off the right tackle.

"The cornerback stepped to the inside, he went outside and he was off to the races," said Manchester coach Wes Gall.

With the score tied 7-7 the Dutch took possession on their own 42 yard line.

"We mounted a 58-yard drive," Gall said. "Alex Kormendi took it six yards in a run."

The extra point gave the Dutch a 14-7 lead and tough defense stopped the Comets' next drive.

"We got the ball back on the 49-yard line and Karl Schaible caught a pass from Jeff Punches that went 30 yards for a touch down," Gall said. "That play was set up by a 24-yard pass play from Punches to Leverett."

The Dutch needed only four plays to go ahead 21-7.

But Hanover Horton was not going to roll over.

"They mounted an attack and carried the ball from their 41-yard line," Gall said. "They scored with 3:22 left in the second quarter. They pounded the ball down the field basically carried by their fullback, Scott Moore."

The Comets kicked off to Manchester pinning them deep in their own territory late in the second quarter. But the Dutch would not be stopped.

Manchester moved the ball down the field with Kormendi on the run and a 44-yard pass from Punches to Beau Bergner.

Kormendi scored on a run with 44 seconds left in the second quarter. The extra point gave the Dutch a 28-14 half time lead.

Although the second half was mistake-riddled, the offense added a 10-yard field goal and the defense shut down the Comets to allow Manchester to hold on for a 31-14 win.

"We played a very good first half, offensively and excellent defensively," Gall said. "And we were excellent defensively in the second half."

Not surprisingly, the Dutch got an excellent game out of many players. David Evilsizer had a 45-yard interception returned to set the team up for the final field goal. And Ryan Maggetti was in on nine tackles.

Nathan VonBroda had a fumble recovery and quarterback sack for a seven-yard loss. He also was in on 12 tackles.

Ben Wojtas was in on six tackles and an assisted VonBroda with the quarterback sack.

Defensively Schaible and Leverett knocked down a couple passes apiece and Schaible returned a 13-yard fumble recovery.

The majority of the offensive running was by Schaible who had seven carries for 48 yards and Kormendi who carried 18 times for 65 yards.

touchdowns. Leverett had two catches for 54 yards and a touch down. Jake Sawyer had a 12-yard catch. Bergner caught three for 68 yards and Schaible caught two passes for 55 yards. Players of the week are offense—Karl Schaible, defensive—Ryan Maggetti, special team—Schaible and scout team—Mike Graham. The Dutch return to Friday night football tomorrow hosting Grass Lake. The game begins at 7 p.m.

Manchester's golf team swinging into fall season

By Colleen O'Neill

Special Writer

The Manchester golf team started its season on Aug. 16 with the seventh annual Manchester Invitational.

"Every year it rains and this year was no exception," said Manchester coach Dan Galaska. "Consider it the Manchester Rain Open."

But the rain could not dampen the strongest performance by a Manchester team in the history of the event.

"We beat our best score prior to that by 49 strokes," Galaska said.

That final score of 340 set a school record and was good enough to put the Manchester team in a tie for sixth place of the 21 teams.

The record-setting team consisted of Nathan Smith who shot an 82, Mike Walter with an 84, Jeff Galaska, 86 and Nick Strobl 88.

Galaska fielded a second Manchester team of Chad Roberts with 101, Neil Love 106, Adam Knapp 122 and Mike Taddonio 124.

The Flying Dutchmen followed the home opener playing in the annual Blissfield Best Ball Invitational on Aug. 20.

"We finished tied for seventh out of 20 teams," Galaska said. "This is an event where we have three two-man teams and two players play together and their combined best ball out of the group."

The three teams combined scores for the team total, finishing with a 237, not far behind Dundee's winning score of 215.

"Individually Jeff Galaska and Smith had a 76," Galaska said. "They qualified for a medal but lost in a handicap tie-breaker."

Jon Schaible and Chad Roberts played together and shot a 77 and the team of Mike Walter and Chris Loud had an 84.

Manchester has attended the Blissfield Invitational since 1980.

"The final team score tied our best team low for Manchester at that event," Galaska said.

The next day the Dutch went to the Morenci Invitational. The format at this event has two players who play best ball, two who play a scramble and two who play alternate shot.

Again Galaska and Smith had a superb performance, placing first overall.

"We finished with 250, in seventh place out of 11 teams," Galaska said. "Schaible and Strobl had shot a 77 in the scramble, and in the best ball Loud and Walter had a 95."

Heavy rain and lightning washed out the next event, the Leslie Invitational, which has been rescheduled to Sept. 29.

The Dutch then took on predominantly Class A schools at the Pinckney Invitational on Aug. 24, another 18-hole tournament.

"We only beat one team," Galaska said. "We didn't fare well that day."

Smith hit a low score of 76.

"He played really well," Galaska said. "He combined for a 38 and a 38 on the front and back. He kept at it and he played well for the whole 18 rounds. He shot a personal low of 76."

Others who scored at the event were Galaska who had a 92, Walter with a 97 and Schaible who came in at 102.

Finally on Aug. 28 the team opened their conference season with the first of six conference jamborees. Addison hosted the event at the Devils Lake Golf Course.

Manchester finished in fifth place out of the eight teams in the conference.

"We were tied with Addison for fourth but lost the tie-breaker," Galaska said. "We went 3-4 on the day. We defeated three teams with a 178 team total."

Hanover Horton took first in the event with 152, followed by Napoleon at 160, Vandercook Lake at 175, and Addison who tied Manchester at 178. Michigan Center, East Jackson and Grass Lake rounded out the scoring.

Smith led the team in scoring with 39. Loud shot a 45, Walter a 46 and both Galaska and Strobl shot 48.

On Tuesday the Dutch played at the East Jackson Jamboree.

Next week Manchester will compete in the Grass Lake Jamboree on Sept. 11 at the Waterloo Golf Course, starting at 4 p.m. and then will have the first dual meet of the season at Clinton on Sept. 12 at the River Raisin Golf Course.

"Individually Jeff Galaska and (Nathan) Smith had a 76. They qualified for a medal but lost in a handicap tie breaker."

Cross country teams on the move and hard at work

By Colleen O'Neill

Special Writer

In his second year as Manchester's varsity cross-country coach, Chris Ray was thrilled to have gone from three runners to nine on the men's team.

"Our men's team can be a very strong one, but it is going to take some work," Ray said.

William Cole is the lone returning senior, back for his second year.

"He learned a lot last year and he is fired up and ready to go," Ray said.

There are two other seniors on the team, Jacob Miller and Lucas Lungo, who are both running cross country for the first time.

Miller is an ex-football player and Lungo is an exchange student from Uruguay. Both have great potential.

"Miller impressed me last year in track and I hope he impresses me even more in cross country," Ray said. "Lungo has tremendous potential to be a great runner."

Juniors Chris Robertz and Craig Lane add depth to the team.

"Robertz is looking very good, and I expect some great things from him," Ray said. "He is a prime example of what to do in the off season—run as much as possible."

And Lane, another former football player is "capable of doing remarkable things that he may not realize he can do yet," according to Ray.

Daniel Schulte and Colin Moore are sophomores. Like Robertz, Schulte came into camp in excellent shape.

"I expect great things from him," Ray said of Schulte. "Moore is also a young man that has tremendous potential. I am very eager to see what he can do."

Aaron Kwolek and James Armour are freshmen. Armour is a transfer from Clinton and Kwolek ran in middle school.

"I am eager to see what these two can accomplish this year and in years to come," Ray said.

Even with the talent and depth, Ray knows this season will be hard work.

"This season is going to be very difficult if we don't train hard every day," Ray said. "There is a saying if you're not running every day, somebody else is."

The team opened its season on Wednesday at the East Jackson Invitational and will compete on Sept. 12 at Springport.

The Manchester women's cross country team holds great promise for the season.

"Our season this year can be very promising if we work hard," said Manchester coach Chris Ray. "We were 2-5 in the conference last year and we lost a lot of close meets by just a few points."

Natalie Weidmayer, the lone returning senior, leads the team in her fourth and final year as a Flying Dutchman.

"She has great potential this year," Ray said. "She was all conference last year and she hopes to repeat that."

Annie Wiley and Betsy Dettloff are seniors in their first year on the team.

"I am very excited to see what Wiley can do," Ray said. "She was a big asset to the track team last year and I hope that she will do the same in cross country."

And although Dettloff is a first-year runner Ray believes she has tremendous potential.

"She has had trouble with shin splints but hopefully we can get those healed up so she can have a great year," Ray said.

Jessie Revill is a junior returning to the team.

"I expect some great things from her," Ray said. "She has dramatically dropped her time from last year and hopefully it will keep dropping."

Sarah Henderson, a sophomore, was the most improved award winner last year.

"I hope she improves even more this year," Ray said. "I am constantly going to be looking for her to step up this season."

Vanessa VonBroda is another sophomore with tremendous potential.

"I will be looking to her this season for some needed points," Ray said.

a first year runner in cross country this year.

"She has tremendous potential," Ray said.

Although he has made up his mind as to who will make up his top five runners, Ray knows that could change in the future.

"I hope it does, because that means people are getting better," Ray said.

The team opened its season at the East Jackson Invitational on Wednesday and will compete at Springport on Sept. 12 and at Holly Sept. 15.

Golfing Ace

Bessie Osborne of Manchester scored her first-ever hole in one on Aug. 6.

It was not only Osborne's own first ace, but the first for the Out of Bounders league from Manchester, that has been playing together for more than 40 years.

Osborne made her shot with a pitching wedge on the 100-yard 11th hole at Hills' Heart of the Lakes Golf Course in Brooklyn.

At the end-of-the-year banquet for the Out of Bounders, Manchester Pharmacy, United Bank and Trust, Comerica Bank, Caiaamy Jane's and Republic Bank donated door prizes in honor of Osborne's accomplishment.

Athletic department seeks coaches

By Colleen O'Neill

Special Writer

With the resignation of Steve McCalla from the Youth Hoops program, Manchester athletics is seeking someone to fill this paid position.

The candidate will run the youth boys' program and will coordinate with the varsity basketball coach and the basketball staff to teach appropriate skills. The position needs to be filled by October. The Saturday program runs 10-11 weeks through mid-December.

Other coaching positions still open include the eighth-grade volleyball coaching position and the freshman volleyball position. Freshman volleyball is a new program at Manchester High School. The junior varsity softball position is also open.

Interested candidates should contact Wes Gall in the athletic office at 428-0185.

JV girls on the rebound

By Colleen O'Neill
Special Writer

Although they lost the season opener 34-31 to Clinton, the junior varsity basketball team turned a disastrous first half into a close game.

"We couldn't hit anything in this (first) half," said head coach Mark Ball. "We shot only 2 for 34 as a team."

But the Dutch rebounded and outscored Clinton 24-15 in the second half to pull within three.

Fallynne Schlosser led the team in scoring with 11 points, and also pulled in 11 boards, two steals, one assist and two blocks.

Kim Roberts scored nine points, pulled in three rebounds and had three steals.

Another great performance was by Lindsay Ellison. Although she scored only two points she had four assists and defensively added 11 rebounds, three steals, and two blocks.

"Ellison and Schlosser had monster games," Ball said.

Megan Eisenhauer and Sydney Johnson each scored four points. Eisenhauer added six rebounds and a steal to her stats while Johnson pulled in seven boards, two steals and one assist. Shelley Schulze scored a point and grabbed two rebounds. Abbey Preuninger had three boards and a steal while Emily Little grabbed two rebounds.

The first half troubles divided the next night when the Junior Dutch crushed Britton by a score of 60-19.

"We shot much better than the Clinton game," Ball said. "Our press led us to a 22-6 first quarter lead that we just continued to build on."

Roberts led the team in scoring with 14 points; she also had three rebounds, six steals and two assists. Schlosser and Roz Harvey each scored 10 points followed by Bri King and Eisenhauer who had seven points apiece.

Kelly Schaible scored five points and Brandi Walter added four while Schultz scored a basket and Sam Mahan added a free throw.

Schaible led the team in rebounding with six and had one assist. Schlosser had five boards and one steal and Eisenhauer, Preuninger and Ellison all had four rebounds. Eisenhauer tied Roberts with six steals and added one assist to her final stats.

Others with rebounds on the night were Schulze with three, Harvey, King, Walter, Mahan, Johnson and Sweet who all had two while Carolyn Billedeaux and Little each had one.

The team combined for a total of 26 steals. Behind the leaders were three from Harvey, one from Walter, four from Schulze, one from Ellison, two from Johnson and one each from Billedeaux and Little.

"Getting the first win out of the way early in the season will allow our freshmen to relax more," Ball said.

The Dutch play tonight at Greenhills, then host Gabriel Richard on Tuesday before going to Addison Sept. 13.

Another unknown suicide

Clarence D. Miller, aged 34, was killed on the roller coaster, near the approach to the Belle Isle bridge, Detroit, Monday evening. Miller's death was tragic and peculiarly sad in view of the fact that he was to have been married this month to Mamie Burns, a pretty and attractive young lady whose home is at Mt. Morris, Mich.

He had gone to the roller coaster a little after 8 o'clock and was seen to rise in his seat when the car reached the top round. He was whirled out and fell to the inclined plane below, striking in such a position that he lay across the tracks. An ascending car struck him there, and he doubled up, falling between the tracks to the ground fifteen feet below. The injured man was taken to a hospital, where he died early next morning.

Another unknown suicide

The second suicide within a week on Belle Isle, Detroit's island park, was discovered Monday morning, the dead man being unknown. The man was found by the island attaches near the skating pavilion, in the agonies of death. Evidences of poison were found on this person.

Dr. Tapert, the island physician, was at once called, but the man was dead when he reached him. On Aug. 27 an unknown suicide occurred at the head of the island, which seems to have broken the charm which has so long kept Belle Isle free from self-destruction. Years ago it was a haunt for suicides.

Park commissioner Bolger expressed fear that more suicides would occur when Frank Woodward's body was found on Aug. 27.

Sermonettes

The apprehending power of a mighty thought is unlimited.—Rev. O. S. Kriebel, Pennsburg, Pa.

The church and the school are the two institutions that make this world habitable and safe.—Rev. A. B. Church, Universalist, Akron, Ohio.

The man or woman who has seen the result of good seed sown in the slums does not quibble over the empty tomb.—Rev. Dr. Richardson, Baptist, Philadelphia.

In social and civil life reforms will but herald the final overthrow of all sinful powers and the universal reign of Jesus Christ.—Rev. George Adams, Methodist, Brooklyn, N.Y.

The quickening of conscience, the intensity of thought and feeling are opportunities which the church must improve. The air rings with God's calls.—Rev. J. D. Rankin, Presbyterian, Denver, Colo.

We have improved; we have something to show for our work; we started out upon the principle of equality and we have never abandoned it yet.—Rev. Dr. Patton, Presbyterian, Princeton, N.J.

Director of a Railroad the Victim of an Employee's Sarcasm

A railway director, who can take a joke as well as he can give one, is the good-natured subject of the following story: One of the employees of the road made application to him for a pass, in order that he might go home to visit his family.

"You are in our employ?" asked the director.

"Yes, sir."

"And you receive your pay regularly?"

"I do."

"Well, let us suppose that you were working for a farmer. Would you expect your employer to take out his horses every Saturday night and drive you home?"

"No, sir," answered the man, without a moment's hesitation. "I should hardly expect him to do that; but if the farmer had his horses out and was going my way, I should think he was a pretty mean man if he refused to give me a lift."

And the more the director thought of it, the more it seemed to him that his question had been very satisfactorily answered. The man got his pass.

Women chief arbiters of taste

In civilized countries and nations, women by tradition and practice are the chief arbiters of our artistic life, says A. S. Atkinson, M. D., in the Ledger Monthly. They give by suggestion and appreciation the direction and form which art expression takes. This is manifest particularly in the home, in personal adornment, and in social conditions—the three great artistic forms of expression of a woman's life.

Men are influenced in their appreciation of the beautiful in life by these three factors. They learn to accept as the true standard of taste what they daily see in their homes, on the streets, and in society. Unconsciously they are accepting the choice of mothers, wives and daughters in matters that deeply concern their culture and mental development.

The home influence is lost when the wife makes life mere drudgery in which there is no artistic expression or appreciation in the household; likewise she does not stimulate and attract when her personal adornment is neglected, and she fails to make the most of the physical gifts of nature.

Kittens get intoxicated

Two maltese kittens, who make their home in a Third Avenue saloon, get down to the cellar as soon as they can get there after the saloon opens up and come upstairs again scarcely able to walk. The proprietors offered them a saucer of beer, but they refused to drink it, but laid their noses over the edge of the saucer inhaling the fumes of the beverage, and in a few minutes staggered away to fall asleep in some out of the way place.

An investigation showed that the cats had a nest in the cellar alongside a cask of ale. The kittens inhaled the fumes from the open bung hole and in that way got drunk every day.—New York Letter, Chicago Tribune.

A honeymoon mystery

I wonder why it is that all apparently newly married couples I have seen on the electric cars or in steam trains in the past month of firecrackers and heat have acted this wise.

The bride looks straight ahead, scarcely ever smiling while the groom lolls over toward her in a manner so care-free as to be almost abject and seems without life or spirit or interest in his new wife.—Boston Journal.

FREEDOM TOWNSHIP

SYNOPSIS OF REGULAR BOARD MEETING — AUGUST 14, 2001 8 P.M.
FREEDOM TOWN HALL

1. The Regular Board Meeting of Freedom Township was called to order by Supervisor Little, Clerk Schenk, Treasurer Anthony and Trustee Weidmayer and Trustee Horning were present as well as several residents at 8:04 P.M.

2. Little moved that the Board dispense with the reading of the minutes (copies were available for the audience) and that the minutes of the July 10, 2001 meeting and the Treasurer's Report be received and filed. Weidmayer seconded the motion. A roll call vote resulted in all yeas, motion carried. Treasurer Anthony reported $62,515.43 in the General Fund, $100,000.00 in the Public Improvement Fund, $3,471.35 in the Recycling Fund.

3. Audience Participation: Sara Bassett asked that people start thinking about topics for the fall newsletter. Dale Nimke asked questions about the District Library. They met on the second Monday at the Village Hall at 7 P.M. Peter DeLoof asked about the Ameritech telecommunications permit issue. There was nothing to update. Mr. Nimke noted there was an increase in gravel train traffic on Textile. Discussions about a fall cleanup day may be on a future agenda.

4. Hickory Sticks Liquor License Application: The Planning Commission had held a public hearing on an amending a conditional use permit to have alcohol on site. The Planning Commission had incorporated the changes agreed upon in the hearing in the permit. The Planning Commission approved the conditional use permit. Conditions in the permit were there will be no take out, alcohol will be in a restricted area, there will be no trash cans, no banquets, rangers at large outings and possibly fencing. The owner of the Aura Inn stated his opinions against granting local approval for the license. A question and answer session followed. The Township Ordinance was reviewed. Hickory Sticks did not meet any of the criteria for which the Township could deny the license. Little moved to adopt the resolution to grant approval for Hickory Sticks to get a Class C liquor license. Anthony seconded. A roll call vote resulted in all yeas. Motion passed.

4. Reports: Planning Commission: Hickory Sticks was given approval for an amendment to their conditional use permit. They discussed a keyhole ordinance. They were planning to start reviewing the Growth Management Plan this fall. The Zoning Board of Appeals did not meet. The Ordinance Enforcement Officer did not have a report, but would be asked to investigate a business operating without a license. There Zoning Inspector reported work on Hickory Sticks, and a need to update the master map. The Library Board is remodeling their new quarters at the Ford building. They are about to hire a director. They will have their first audit next week.

5. Old Business: Mobile Home Meeting — Treasurer Anthony and Deputy Clerk Bassett discussed their day trip to Lansing to testify before a committee on Mobile Home Reform. Rep. Gene DeRossett is on this committee. DeRossett indicated that this is a very important issue to him and his constituents.

6. New Business: Air Conditioning/Parking Lot Sealer — The Board discussed whether they should look into replacing the 50 year old furnace with something more energy efficient, and also explore the possibility of air conditioning the hall. This item was tabled. Little moved to get quotes to seal the parking lot before winter, which was seconded by Horning. A voice vote resulted in all yeas, motion carried. SWWY: COG Discussion — Supervisor Little discussed the possibility Sharon may have to put a sewer system in for a mobile home park. If so, the Lake may be asked if they would like to tap in. This is all very preliminary. Road Compromise — A map of the township was displayed on the overhead projector. The Board discussed the idea of paving approximately 100 feet of gravel roads where they meet pavement. For example — by the hall on Lima Center. This would make turning off pavement easier and safer for residents. The cost would be $4200, and may be discussed at the next annual planning meeting with the Road Commission.

7. Weidmayer moved to approve warrants 6137-616155, and 6123 ($6,209.60 total, $5,959.60 General Fund, $250.00 Recycle Fund). Schenk seconded a roll call vote resulted in all yeas, motion carried. Supervisor Little read a letter from a resident regarding designating their home as part of a historic district. The Board would like the residents to make a presentation. This item was tabled. Communications were reviewed.

8. There being no further business, Supervisor Little adjourned the meeting at 10:00 P.M.

Respectfully Submitted,
Theresa Schenk,
Township Clerk

Seafood Recipe

Grilled Salmon with Pesto Butter

1 Tablespoon Lime Juice
7 Tablespoons Butter, Melted
Salt and Pepper
6 6-ounce Salmon Fillets
2 oz. Pesto Sauce

Combine the pesto, lime juice and butter in a food processor bowl or blender container. Transfer to a bowl; season with salt and pepper. Refrigerate pesto butter while preparing fish. Season fish with salt & pepper. Grill for 4 to 6 minutes for ½ inch thickness, turning once halfway through. Serve with dollops of the pesto butter. Makes 6 Servings.
