Mrs. Linda Thayer Gone

The many friends here will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Linda Thayer at the home of her sister at Schenectady, N. Y. on December 3.

Aunt Linda, as she was known to her friends, lived here for many years and just this fall sold her home and went to visit her sisters for the winter, then planned to go to her son in California.

She was nearly eighty and very active for her age. Her death was due to apoplexy. Burial was at Tecumseh.

Sunday at the Community church a speaker from the Anti Saloon League will give a talk at the morning service. A picture will be shown in the evening, Earl Newcomb operating the machine.

Rev. and Mrs. Penoyer are spending holidays with Mrs. Penoyer's family in Chicago.

Honor Accorded Physician

During the American occupation of Cuba, following the war with Spain, Maj. Walter Reed, of the United States Medical Corps, demonstrated that both ordinary malaria and deadly yellow fever were spread by the bites of mosquitoes. In recognition of this contribution to mankind the army hospital in Washington was given his name.

Made Name Immortal

The name "Green Mountain Boys" was given to the soldiers of Vermont in the Revolution, originally organized in 1775 by Ethan Allen to oppose the claims of New York state to the Vermont territory. The band held the Canadian passes against the British during the Revolution.

Canada's Red Pine

The total forest stand of red pine (Pinus resinosa) in Canada of saw timber size probably amounts to 4,000,000,000 feet board measure, the greater part of this being in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The average annual cut amounts to about 35,000,000 feet board measure.

To Break Up Cold

When you feel a cold brewing and are resorting to the good old-fashioned method of a hot bath, plenty of covers and a hot toddy, throw a handful of epsom salts and a handful of mustard in the bathtub with the hot water. It will relieve fatigue and help break up the cold.

Mountain Sickness

As first effects of anoxaemia, or mountain sickness, the skin becomes rather dry and the digestive processes are deranged; then follow lassitude, loss of appetite, aversion to all forms of physical effort, and drowsiness.

Relics of Old Race

Over 5,000 relics have been taken from Lake Lamoka, N. Y., indicating a civilization existed there prior to the supremacy of the Six Nations. Many fishhooks indicated the presence of a fishing colony on the lake.

Errors in Printing

Pointing out the comparatively small number of errors in printed matter, a printer contends that it is possible to make hundreds of errors by transpositions alone. In the simple sentence, "To be or not to be."

Historic Tree

The oldest living olive tree is believed to be in Jerusalem. It is in the Garden of Gethsemane and beneath it, according to legend, Christ and his disciples held vigil the night before the crucifixion.

Idea for New Language

The universal language Ro was devised by Rev. Edward P. Foster of Marietta, Ohio, about 1900. Ro reflects all existing word roots and is based entirely on the analysis and classification of ideas.

Vermilion Substitute

Vermilionette is a substitute for the pigment vermilion. It is made by precipitating eosin or a similar dye upon a white base, as barium sulphate, or on a mixture of this with orange lead.

Gold's Color Changed

Pure gold has always the same color. Reds, whites, greens, etc., are produced by alloying gold with other metals, such as silver, copper, cadmium and iron.

Mockery of Honor

A charivari is a mock serenade of discordant noises made with kettles, tin horns and such noisemakers. It is sometimes meant to annoy, but often is undertaken in a spirit of fun.

But Many Don't

It does not matter how able a man is or how thoroughly he knows his job, he cannot be a first-class leader unless he rubs people the right way.—American Magazine.

Temperamental

Bertrand Russell, the great English philosopher, says love cannot be turned on and off like an ordinary faucet. It must be more like the one in a pullman.—Detroit News.

One's Own Business

It is the inestimable right of human beings to find happiness in their own way or to grow by their own mistakes.—Woman's Home Companion.

Men Who Do Things

The men who are lifting the world upward and onward are those who encourage more than criticize.—Elizabeth Harrison.

Intense Heat

The bureau of standards says that the oxyacetylene flame is capable of producing a temperature in the neighborhood of 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

U. OF M. GETS MANY GIFTS DURING YEAR

Gifts received by the University of Michigan during the year 1927-28, including money presented or pledged, books, apparatus and other material items, are valued in the university inventory at $395,000, according to Dr. Frank E. Robbins, assistant to the president.

This estimate does not include many gifts, some of them of considerable value, which were given informally and not brought to the attention of the board of regents, Dr. Robbins said.

One of the larger gifts was the renewed pledges of $35,000 annually for three years, or $150,000 in all, to be used in continuation of the university's Near East research expedition in Egypt. The donor's name is not announced.

A remarkable mycological library collected and presented by Dr. Howard A. Kelley of Baltimore, which is valued at $100,000, was also received last year, Dr. Robbins said. This collection, treating that branch of botany dealing with fungus growths, was heralded as a magnificent addition to the university's scientific equipment. The collection is to be made a part of the museum library.

The contributions of Robert P. Lamont of Chicago, a graduate of the university, totaled $20,000. This is being used to further the astronomical observation work at the university's southern observatory at Bloemfontein, South Africa. Mr. Lamont also donated the telescope and erected the observatory for this work. He has also assured the payment of salaries to the staff at the observatory and the current expenses.

Another large item of the total covers concessions in prices and actual gifts, amounting to $50,854, from individuals and firms in connection with the new architectural building. The beauty and usefulness of this structure has been greatly enhanced by this aid.

Gifts of the Detroit alumni who made possible the acquisition of a site for the new women's dormitory unit are not included in the report this year.

That the gifts accepted by the university cover a wide variety of fields is evidenced by the following list of some of the lesser items included in the total for the year: A collection of 1,500 Sumatra plants; $10 for research work in pharmacy; books on Dutch history; various private libraries; $300 for testing a new drug exhibit and miscellaneous apparatus valued at $2,725 for the engineering shops, from various manufacturing concerns throughout the United States; a herbarium and forestry library for the new school of forestry and conservation; several sectional automobile chassis; $1,000 for an investigation of "Health as Applied to Children," given by a life insurance company; bronze portrait bust of Director of Athletics Fielding H. Yost; a series of paintings; $4,000 contributed toward the cost of lighting installation in the new Museum building; $20,000 for studies in metabolism; $2,500 for an investigation of bran as an article of diet; $2,000 for continuing the study of the broad tapeworm in man; a collection of old Bibles; a collection of ancient Roman and Egyptian coins for the Classical Museum; and other gifts for research in practically all the scientific fields.

Buys 120 Coaches

After operating Graham Brothers motor coaches more than 24,500,000 miles on its streets, Detroit's Department of Street Railways has placed orders for 120 more coaches with this division of Dodge Brothers Corporation.

This coach is equipped with individual leather, air cushion seats over spring base, and is driven by a powerful six-cylinder motor with four speed transmission. The hand brake operators on the propeller shaft. The heating system is of the fan blower type, air being brought in, heated and sent through the coach. Three ventilators are located in the roof, one in the cowl, with an overhead electric fan near the door. The coaches are finished in maroon with red belt and beige top, while black fenders surmount the red wheels.

Poems That Live

HOLIDAY LEFTOVERS

Nobody ate any onions,
But the cranberry jelly disappeared.
They scarcely touched squash or potatoes,
But the platter of turkey was cleared.

My pantry with celery and stuffing,
With left-over dishes, was piled.
But there wasn't a scrap of plum pudding.

My manner was gentle and mild—

But I sternly served up the left-overs;
"You gobbled the things you preferred—

Now here is the rest of the dinner,"
And nobody dared say a word!

Opera Star's Daughter Weds

This photo of the noted opera singer, Feodor Chaliapin, was taken as he accompanied his daughter, Miss Marfe Chaliapin, to her wedding to Daniel Gardner at the Russian Church in Paris, France.

FERRIS TO HAVE $100,000 GYM

Announcement was made by President Gerrit Masselink of Ferris institute, following a meeting of the institute board, that construction work on the new $100,000 gymnasium and recitation building will start as soon as weather permits in spring.

Representatives of seven architectural firms were present to explain their plans for this building, the bid of Lane, Davenport & Patterson of Detroit being accepted. Preliminary contracts will be let immediately and the work is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1929.

This building, to be of red brick, will go up to the west of the present main building. It is to contain a gymnasium with equipment, which will seat 1,000 persons. There also is to be a stage for entertainments. The building will contain classrooms for drawing, English, biology and physics, and laboratories with the latest facilities and equipment. The drawing room is to be named in honor of Harold Cavey, Jackson, who attended Ferris institute three years ago. He died recently and left $1,000 to the institute. He was an artist and former student of the Chicago Art institute.

Movie Fashions

Earn the Badge Of Gentlemen

Three of the 42 boys who last summer made a month's trip with George E. Buchanan, Detroit philanthropist, through western Canada and the Far West, Alaska and the Yukon, today may treasure something more precious from their 3,000-mile trip than the mere memory of mountain climbing, Indian pow-wows and Montana bison.

These three—Joseph Horak, 15 years old, of Pontiac; John Goodrich, 15, Highland Park, and Gfent Cheney, 15, of Grand Blanc, Friday night were chosen the "most gentlemanly" of their fellows who made the fifth annual "On-to-Alaska" tour.

Before a gathering of the "Buchanan Boys," new candidates and parents at the Statler hotel, they were awarded a $5 gold piece each as a citation for conduct on the long trip. "Our boys find something more than the world's size on these tours," Mr. Buchanan said as he made the presentation. "They find the essence of a gentleman."

"A long trip away from home is the test of a youngster, and these three have withstood the test of the best. What, then, is this test? Consider Joe and Jack and Grant."

"They did not complain when everything was not just right, when trains were late and breakfasts were early. They did not wear sweaters into the dining room, or come out with toothpicks in their mouths. They were tidy in their rooms, and always well behaved and gentlemanly. Others were generally so, too, but now and then they forgot, and it was scored against them."

About 100 boys and adults attended the gathering. Seventeen signed up for the coming sixth annual "On-to-Alaska" tour next summer, and 25 others entered into competition to give lectures on their last trip in schools and churches for prizes totaling 100. The possibility of a European trip was also discussed.

Co-ed Rifle Team Plans Thirty-one Matches

The co-ed rifle team at Michigan State College will meet 31 colleges and universities this winter, in an extensive schedule of telegraphic matches which will open January 19, and continue through the week of March 16. Captain Joseph Hinwood of the military department is coach for the team. Following is the schedule:

Jan. 19, Oregon State College, De-pauw University, University of Nevada, Northwestern University; Jan. 26, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Kansas State College, University of California, University of Wichita; Feb. 2, University of West Virginia, Syracuse University, University of Wisconsin, University of Maine; February 9, University of South Dakota, University of Wyoming, Drexel Institute, University of Kentucky; Feb. 16, University of Vermont, Washington State College, University of Kansas, South Dakota State College; Feb. 23, Cornell University, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Coe College, University of Michigan; March 2, University of Delaware, University of Maryland, North Dakota Agriculture College; March 9, George Washington University; March 16, University of Nebraska, Oklahoma, A. & M. and University of Idaho.

RARE VOLUME GIVEN BATTLE CREEK DOCTOR

Dr. Benton N. Colver of Battle Creek, has received a gift from a patient of a rare and valuable book, "The Whole Works of That Excellent Practical Physician, Dr. Thomas Sydenham." It was printed in London in 1705 and is the fourth edition of the book. The first was issued in 1695. The author wrote in Latin, the translation having been made by Dr. John Pechey, of the College of Physicians in London. The language is very similar to that of today. Some few words now obsolete are used and some have acquired a different meaning. For instance, the writer urges "moderocry" in all things, where writers today would say "moderation."

The nouns are all spelled with capital letters. When the letter "s" is used at the beginning of a word, or within it, the long form is used, resembling closely the "f." But at the end of a word the present style is employed. The last line of each left hand page consists of a single word placed at the right end. This word is repeated at the beginning of the next page. This was the practice at that time, the object being to insure continuity.

The diseases described are of course only a tiny proportion of those now recognized in medical literature. Bleeding is prescribed for all sorts of ailments. Drinking water by itself is denounced as "crude and injurious." Mention is made of persons who would not consider life worth living if they were deprived of alcoholic stimulants. The book indicates that in those times people slept naked and that they usually ate no breakfast, but instead had a morning draft of ale or tea.

Dr. Sydenham is considered the father of English medicine, being spoken of, as the English Hippocrates. He lived from 1624 to 1689. As a young man he studied medicine, but then became an officer under Cromwell. He finally graduated in medicine at Oxford at the age of fifty-two, when his son was also a student there. Like Dr. J. H. Kellogg today, he held that most chronic diseases were the result of wrong diet and living habits.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT

Baked Potato Broiled Ham
Pineapple Salad, Tea Biscuits
Bread and Butter Pudding. Tea
Amounts of these recipes will serve four people. The tea biscuit recipe is for those who like the old-fashioned cream of tartar biscuit. And the pudding finishes up the stale end of the loaf.

Cream of Tartar Tea Biscuits—One and three-fourths tablespoons powdered sugar, one and one-half teaspoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking soda, one cup milk, three cups cake flour, two teaspoons cream of tartar. Sift together flour, salt and cream of tartar, rub in the butter until thoroughly blended, then mix in the soda dissolved in milk and treat same as baking powder biscuits, mixing all into a soft dough, roll out, pat or roll until desired thickness, and cut into biscuits. Bake in hot oven.

Bread and Butter Pudding—Two cups milk, two eggs, one-half cup sugar, four tablespoons melted butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup raisins. Put raisins in bottom of pudding dish. Cut very thin slices of stale bread, remove crust, then cut each slice in two crosswise. Dip the bread in melted butter, place in dish over raisins. Beat together, eggs, sugar, vanilla and milk, and strain. Pour over bread and set pudding in pan of hot water. Bake in oven at a temperature of 400 degrees F. When bread is brown and custard done, remove from oven. Serve hot with cream. This is sufficient for six persons.

The World and All

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Most mouth habits are nervous tricks that we are infinitely better off without. I make this observation from my certain knowledge that indulgence in "nerves" tends to make the condition more firmly rooted and difficult to correct.

How often I have seen a nicely mannered, nicely groomed woman biting away at her lips in a manner that seemed to me nothing short of cannibalistic! And how much I regretted the beauty of line and texture she was sacrificing to a nervous habit!

Do stop to think once in a while of the simple and absolute fact that dry, cracking, unpleasant looking lips come almost entirely from bad habits and not a natural source.

Setting the jaws, pursing the lips, passing your tongue over your lips—they are all habits that menace mouth beauty. Set a guard on your actions. If you don't the time will come when you will pay for your carelessness in prominent lines, jowls, ugly and swollen lips and a dozen other results of mouth maltreatment.

In closing let me say just a few words about the cigarette habit. I am modern and I am continental, so of course you realize that the sight of women cigarette smoking was an old story to me while it was still a novelty in America. I have also had much time to observe certain indisputable facts about the habit. Such facts, for instance, as stained teeth and lips which lose their firmness from being habitually closed over a cigarette. Mind you, I am not making a moral issue of smoking. But from the beauty standpoint—truly, do you think it pays to sacrifice beauty to a not-too-attractive habit?

His Chosen Field

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

INTERESTED READER

WRITES OF HER

LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

Better than any preachments of mine is the letter received from one of our readers. I am sorry it is too long to print in its entirety. "Anxiously Waiting" asked my advice about leaving her husband, whom she thought was infatuated with a girl. "Dear Virginia Lee: I was much interested in 'Anxiously Waiting's' letter, and I know just how he feels, but from past experiences I know the wife must love her man for himself, not his virtues. I am not yet 39 years old, and I've been married over 20 years, and I know that no person is perfect. My husband was a drunkard for 15 years, and there were two other women. Thought I'd go mad. So I asked him, 'Are you tired of me? If you are I'll give you your freedom.' He said, 'I know it looks like I don't care. Maybe you won't understand, but a man can love his wife and be attracted to another.' So I made up my mind that I would fight for my own. I knew I still loved him. That was years ago. I've never thrown this up to him, and now I have regained my confidence. My oldest child is past 15, my youngest 7. Where would we be and our home if I had left him? No woman or man can justly think of themselves when they have children. I lost my heartache in planning my children's future. We are poor and it's hard to make ends meet, but I feel I have climbed the hill of understanding. If you don't always believe your husband, don't nag him. Have a straight talk and don't believe other people before you do him. Anyone deserves a hearing. When a woman leaves her husband her children pay as much as their parents. Motherhood means sacrifice. I always knew that I would never take my private affair to the court. I could never brand my husband before the world, and to my children for later, as a rule, they secretly feel that mother was a little to blame. "Now, Virginia Lee, this is a letter, but let me say, if a woman loves her man she is not going him up to a cheap woman to fight, and, as a rule, the result is a passing fancy. "A Mother's Thank you very much for the finest and most helpful advice I have ever come to this.

Star Gazing

Now the technicolor picture. One thing in its favor, it doesn't talk—yet. Thus it does look like paintings—paintings full of action. In that respect it is quite worth while.

"The Viking" is the story in this instance. It's a tale of a thousand years ago, when the Norsemen supposedly went beyond Greenland and landed at or near Newport, R. I., where one of their watch towers presumably still stands.

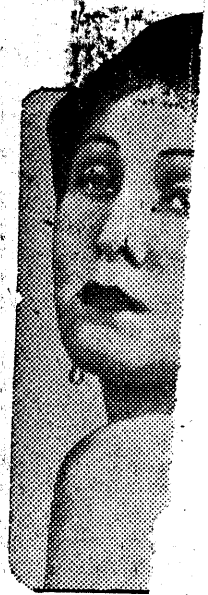

Donald Crisp as Leif the Lucky is splendid, even to his colored mustache. And the other men do not leave much to be desired in the way of fighting and other action. But Pauline Starke as Helga, a girl on the voyage—how come?—simply is a movie girl among the males. Imagine a 1928 wedding gown on a Viking ship of 900 A. D.

It is a pity that much of the story, based on a novel by Otilie A. Liljencrantz, "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky," is unbelievable.

"The Jazz Age," with Henry B. Walthall, Marceline Day and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is to be an all-talkie. . . . Some California productions have been held up by the influenza epidemic. . . . Eve Southern was thought headed for grand opera, but she went into pictures instead. Now folk will get to hear her voice, for the singles have caught up with her. She's in "The Girl Who Came Back."

Michigan Exports Ranked

Department of Commerce export figures for the first quarter of 1928 show that Michigan has retaken third position among the states from California, which state nosed her out in 1927. Michigan exports for the first quarter are listed at $86,674,000 compared with $80,696,000 for the same quarter in 1927. T other

Honor Accorded Physician

During the American occupation of Cuba, following the war with Spain, Maj. Walter Reed, of the United States Medical Corps demonstrated that both ordinary malaria and deadly yellow fever were spread by the bites of mosquitos. In recognition of this contribution to mankind the army hospital in Washington was given his name.

Made Name Immortal

The name "Green Mountain Boys" was given to the soldiers of Vermont in the Revolution, originally organized in 1775 by Ethan Allen to oppose the claims of New York state to the Vermont territory. The band held the Canadian passes against the British during the Revolution.

Canada's Red Pine

The total amount of red pine (Pinus Resinosa) in Canada of sawtimber size probably amounts to 4,000,000,000 feet board measure, the greater part of this being in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The average annual cut amounts to about 95,000,000 feet board measure.

To Break Up Cold

When you feel a cold brewing and are resorting to the good old-fashioned method of a hot bath, plenty of covers and a hot beverage, throw a handful of epsom salts and a handful of mustard in the bathtub with the hot water. It will relieve fatigue and help break up the cold.

Mountain Sickness

As first effects of anoxemia, or mountain sickness, the skin becomes rather dry and the digestive processes are deranged; then follow lassitude, loss of appetite, aversion to all forms of physical effort, and drowsiness.

Relics of Old Race

Over 5,000 relics have been taken from Lake Lamoka, N. Y., indicating a civilization existed there prior to the supremacy of the Six Nations. Many fishhooks indicated the presence of a fishing colony on the lake.

Errors in Printing

Pointing out the comparatively small number of errors in printed matter, a printer contends that it is possible to make hundreds of errors by transpositions alone, in the simple sentence, "To be or not to be."

Historic Tree

The oldest living olive tree is believed to be in Jerusalem. It is in the Garden of Gethsemane and beneath it, according to legend, Christ and his disciples held vigil the night before the crucifixion.

Idea for New Language

The universal language (Ro) was devised by Rev. Edward P. Foster of Marietta, Ohio, about 1906. (Ro) reflects all existing word roots and is based entirely on the analysis and classification of ideas.

Vermilion Substitute

Vermilionette is a substitute for the pigment vermilion. It is made by precipitating eosin or a similar dye upon a white base, as barium sulphate, or on a mixture of this with orange lead.

Gold's Color Changed

Pure gold has always the same color. Reds, whites, greens, etc., are produced by alloying gold with other metals, such as silver, copper, cadmium and iron.

Mockery of Honor

A charivari is a mock serenade or discordant noises made with kettles, tin horns and such noisemakers. It is sometimes meant to annoy, but often is undertaken in a spirit of fun.

NEWTON WOODS LAST OF SO. MICH. FORESTS

The celebrated Newton woods, between Marcellus and Dowagie in Cass county, maybe preserved as a memorial to the Newton family. It is said to be the last of the great forests that once covered nearly this entire section of Michigan, by the Decatur Republican.

Some of the great oak trees in this 340-acre tract of primeval forest are said to rival the huge redwoods of California. This tract of virgin timber is owned by Mrs. Jane Newton Crego, 75, the last of her family. She lives on the 740-acre farm that has come down to her from her father and grandfather, in the shadow of the big woods, and continues to manage the affairs of the broad acreage and keeps the woodman with his axe out of the forest. Mrs. Crego could take life easy if she would consent to the cutting of the timber on this 340 acres. The value of the oak, hickory, maple, white, and beech and elm is almost beyond estimate.

These woods are visited by thousands of tourists during the summer months. It is widely known for its ferns, flowers and other forest plant life, as well as birds and wild animals that inhabit its fastness. Dowagie creek flows meanderingly through the big woods.

The tract of land on which these big woods are situated was taken up by Mrs. Crego's grandfather, James Newton, in 1830. There is a schoolhouse in the woods, the second structure erected on the site and built in 1867.

Rink at Saul Ste. Marie Is Again Doubtful

Once more the rink proposition at the America Soo is up in the air. After passing at the recent election the city commissioner is reported to have spurned the rink bonding issue. The city commission is said to have voted 3-2 to reject the bonding of the city to build the rink, claiming the election was not entirely legal.

The voting of the commission against the issue after it was passed at the election has started something and there is likely to be some heated arguments and mix-ups before the thing is settled. It looks like a fine "How-Do-You-Do" after the people voted favorably on the bonding issue to find it is opposed by the city commission.

Montcalm Resort Body Inaugurates Activities

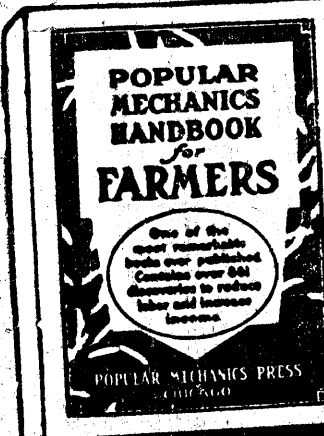

Cooperation with the state conservation department in obtaining sanitary resorts and means of advertising the resort possibilities of this section were considered recently at a meeting of the Montcalm Tourist and Resort Association, which was called for the adoption of by-laws and a constitution. It was decided to ask aid of Montcalm County Federation of Women's Clubs in conserving wild life. A membership campaign is to be started following a banquet meeting in January. How to finance the organization was another matter discussed.

A President and Two Presidents-Elect Meet

STORMS CHANGE LAKE SHORE LINE

The severe storms of the past month have seriously broken up the shore line south of Highland Park, near Grand Haven. The shore line began changing about six months ago and apprehension was felt for the several cottages close to the water's edge at Holcomb Hills, just south of Highland Park.

John Danhoff of Grand Rapids found it necessary at this time to obtain another lot and move his cottage back from the shore edge. Mr. Danhoff first believed he would be able to hold the shore line by putting in a piling. But this proved to be insufficient. Carl McNabb, also of Grand Rapids, who has a cottage near Mr. Danhoff's, endeavored to save the beach and location of his cottage by the same methods, but also was unable to do so, and this fall his cottage had to be taken down and rebuilt on a lot somewhat higher up in the hills.

It is hard to tell just what caused the change, although some lay the cause to the rise of the water level in Lake Michigan. The situation at the oval has not changed, due perhaps to its nearness to the south pier, which is believed to act as a protection to the beach.

There are many cottages reported in a dangerous position near Holland. One owner who had spent several hundred dollars in a beautiful lawn fronting his home on the lake shore, now looks down a steep bluff instead of over the lawn.

Park property owners are giving earnest consideration to some method of checking this devastation of the lake shore line. It is believed that if piles were driven into the lake at the different points straight out from the shore it might change the current caused by the backwash during a heavy storm.

"Johnny, run and tell that Mrs. Smith at the door that I'm out."
"Hello, Mrs. Smith. Mom's out."
"Oh, that's too bad; I just came over to borrow some sugar."
Johnny (shouting up the stairs):
"Mom, did you mean that you were out of sugar?"

Michigan Tech to Have Hockey Team

Michigan Tech, claimant of the 1927-28 mid-west intercollegiate hockey championship, is preparing for another active season in the winter sport with excellent prospects of a strong team. While there is no ice yet for skating, the squad has been organized and has started active training under the direction of Coach Carlos "Cub" Haug, former Portage Lake star, who has directed the destinies of the Huskies for several seasons.

The athletic management of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, which has made hockey a major sport at the institution, is planning an elaborate schedule for the ensuing season. Athletic Director L. R. Harvey has written the University of Wisconsin, Augsburg College, Marquette University, Superior State Normal, and the University of Minnesota for games and has received assurances that these institutions will keep dates open for the Huskies.

The Huskies have also solidified games with the University of Michigan, Michigan State College, Notre Dame and the Chicago Athletic Association, and, as these institutions have been included in Michigan Tech's schedule in other years, it is likely they will consent to games again this season.

While Coach Haug lost a number of star performers of last year, he has a nucleus of seven veterans around which to build this year's sextet. The letter men who are out for hockey this fall are Hank Latva, Douglass Tesen, and Paul Pesonen of Hancock, and Nick Kaiser, Eddie Gilles, Peg Ollila, Bill Karvola of Houghton. Besides the material mentioned, there is a wealth of new material, most of which received its early training in the Copper country, one of the leading hockey districts in the United States.

The Huskies plan to open their hockey season early in December.

Charlotte Soon May Have But One Paper

The Charlotte Republican, which purchased the Charlotte Tribune, purchased the Charlotte Leader and will not issue another number of the Leader, the last issue of four pages being dated Dec. 6. It was published by John J. Riggles.

The Republican now covers the entire Charlotte field and soon may combine the Tribune with itself, leaving one paper in the city instead of three. The Tribune is in its fortieth year, the Leader in its seventieth and the Republican in its seventy-fifth.

Bankrupt Candy Plant To Be Sold

The sale of the plant and equipment of the bankrupt Walker Candy company of Owosso has been ordered by Paul H. King, referee in bankruptcy, and has been set for Dec. 27. The plant will be sold subject to a mortgage of $300,000. Sale of the plant was asked by the United Trust company of Detroit, which holds a large block of the bonds.

100 New Inmates Arrive at Prison

Population of the Michigan state prison registered a new high mark with the arrival of 100 inmates transferred from Marquette prison. The count was 3,901.

Accessibility of cells in the new prison has relieved congestion in the old institution and has made possible the transfer of men from both Ionia and Marquette to this institution, according to Warden Harry H. Jackson.

Mecosta Lakes Will Get Big Supply of Blue Gills

Nine cans, containing approximately 25,000 blue gills, have been ordered by Roy McDuffie for plant by lakes.

A great many bass finger been planted, according to some of the bass were inches long.

BEACON FOR AIRMAIL SHINES AT CHARLOTTE

Charlotte's new airplane beacon and emergency landing field, two and a half miles west of the city, erected by the Thompson Aeronautical Corporation, Michigan air mail contractors, has been completed and is in operation.

It is reported the corporation plans a similar beacon and landing field every ten miles on the air mail route from Kalamazoo to Lansing and Bay City.

Separated Nearly 50 Years, Brothers Meet in Sturgis

Oscar Dietz, who left Germany 45 years ago to take up his residence in Sturgis, recently was visited by his brother, Dr. Hugo Dietz, inspector of schools in Germany. It was the first time the brothers had met since Oscar left his home land.

Dr. Dietz was sent to America by his government to study education in the United States. Naturally he seized the first opportunity of calling upon the brother whom he had not seen in nearly half a century.

Mt. Clemens Gets Foundation

A new $500,000 foundation to foster research in hydro-therapy and physics has been organized at Mt. Clemens, in connection with the sulphur mineral baths, announces Dr. G. A. Persson, under whose direction it will be established. Headquarters will be in the Colonial hotel. Trustees are Carl Spaeth and John Pierce of Flint, Charles T. Clark of Bay City, and Lawrence Scudder of Chicago.

Gleaners May Build Infirmary in Lansing

Possible selection of Lansing as the site of the proposed home for aged and infirm members of the Ancient Order of Gleaners was indicated in a letter addressed to Mayor J. Troyer, from R. L. Holloway, Detroit, president of the order. Holloway urged that the mayor place the proposition before the chamber of commerce or some other civic organization. He declared that the Gleaners planned to construct a home of this nature on the outskirts of some Michigan city, and that Lansing was one of the few favored for its location.

Aviation's Development

During 1927, American factories produced nearly 2,000 aircraft having a total value of $14,250,000 as compared with less than 1,200 valued at $8,870,000 during the preceding year. Exports of aircraft and parts during 1927 amounted to nearly $2,000,000, an increase of approximately 85 per cent over 1926. During the first half of the current year total sales in foreign markets of aircraft products were 38 per cent greater than the entire shipments of last year.

Air transport has now attained a definite place in the economic scheme of transportation. The established airway system is the backbone of U. S. commercial aviation, although operations over this network form only one-tenth of all civil flying. These routes now cover 11,191 miles on which 27,817 miles are flown daily. Of these 10,386 miles are under mail contract and 200 mail planes fly 23,224 miles daily over these routes.

Seeks Bus Line Merger

Michigan Public Utilities Commission has been asked by the Safety Motor Coach company, which operates between Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Chicago, for permission to issue $100,000 in stock under a financial plan of purchasing the Southwestern Motor coach company, between Detroit and Michigan-Indiana line, and the Interstate Stages, Inc., between Chicago and Detroit.

Plan $5,000,000 Airport Development in Wayne

Detroit and Wayne, Mich., business and financial interests, who hold title or options on 640 acres south of the city of Wayne, are planning details of a $5,000,000 corporation for the development of the property as the Detroit-Wayne Industrial Airport.

Approximately one-half the area, which is served by two railways, will be converted into an airport. The remainder will be sold as industrial sites to manufacturers of planes, parts or accessories or to commercial air lines desiring airport facilities.

The plan developed when the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, finding its quarters in Northville inadequate, considered removal outside the Detroit area in order to obtain advantageous airport facilities. The Stinson company will be the first to settle on ground adjacent to the projected airport. A 10-acre site has been purchased and construction of a $250,000 factory building and hangar will begin soon. The present program calls for occupation of the buildings not later than Jan. 15.

The new port will be an "all over" field, that is, pilots will find it possible to land or take off from any part. Inter-locking runways from 3,500 to 4,800 feet in length will be so arranged that a mile in any direction can be made available. This portion of the development will occupy a central plot of 280 acres. The surrounding 360 acres will be sold, leased or developed as incoming industry demands.

It is estimated that the project, when complete, will represent an investment of $1,500,000.

The site is bounded by the Pere Marquette railway tracks, the Ecorse, Van Born and Cogswell roads. The main line of the Michigan Central railway runs north of the property and the Detroit-Chicago air route is directly overhead.

May Use Peat Beds In Mecosta to Aid In Making of Paper

The vast peat beds of Hughes swamp near Mecosta are to be utilized for paper making purposes, a Wisconsin paper announces.

About 25 years ago Grand Rapids promoters started operations whereby peat was compressed into bricks and sold as fuel. This project failed. The bed consists of approximately 1,000 acres and is estimated to be nine feet in depth.

Recently a Chicago chemist representing a Wisconsin paper company went to Mecosta and took samples of the peat. Later the Wisconsin firm sent inquiries regarding lumber supply, housing conditions and labor supply. Persons interested in the project are in Mecosta.

800 Acres in Manistee Leased to Oil Concern

Eight hundred acres of land in the vicinity of Canfield lake, near Manistee, have been leased for oil rights by Taggart & Co. of Chicago. The lease calls for the starting of drilling operations within a 90-day period.

At Arcadia $6,000 has been raised by popular subscription to begin drilling for oil. Eight thousand more is required before work can be started.

Plan $5,000,000 Terminal

Announcement has been made in Detroit of plans for a new union produce terminal to cost approximately $5,000,000, which is expected to be completed by Aug. 1, 1929. According to the report, construction is to be started this month on the building which will be financed by a group of Detroit citizens who have organized as the Green Real Estate Company. This company has acquired 36 acres, of which 24 are to be immediately developed as a site. Two main warehouses are scheduled. Estimates place Detroit's annual fruit and vegetable business at approximately $50,000,000.

GAIN MORE DATA IN LAND SURVEY

Complete maps and reports of the natural resources of 10 Michigan counties are now available as a result of the activities of the economic land survey division of the department of conservation. When the field parties completed their work this fall, data on another county, Alger, was added to the growing list of definite information in the hands of the department. With the coming of winter, the workers in the field were obliged to withdraw and during the next few months will classify all information gathered.

Work during the 1928 summer season was confined to Alger and Iron counties. The report indicates that 702,975 acres were covered in these locations. This total is slightly less than was accomplished the year previous. L. R. Schoenmann, director of the service, pointed out that adverse weather conditions and the nature of the territory studied served to show up operations. Mr. Schoenmann observed that all engaged in the work were satisfied with the progress made.

Next season the survey men will continue operations in Iron county with a view of completing the work there and then open new territory in Luce county.

Every surface characteristic of the land is included in the maps and reports compiled by this service. Information secured is available to any citizen of the state who seeks to acquaint himself with the physical properties of any particular section. Co-operating with the conservation department in this work are the state geological survey, the soil department of Michigan State college and the United States bureau of soils.

Paw Paw Fruit Grower To Head Hort Society

Carl E. Buskirk of Paw Paw, vice president of the Michigan State Horticultural Society, has been elevated to the presidency of that organization to succeed H. S. Newton of Hart, who retired after serving two years. Wesley Hawley of Ludington was named vice president, and H. D. Hootman of East Lansing and J. Pomeroy Munson of Grand Rapids were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. George Fallman, Romeo, succeeds R. L. Everts of Hunters Creek on the executive board.

In February or March a two-day convention will be held at Ann Arbor which won the meeting in competition with Jackson, Benton Harbor and Kalamazoo.

To Start Bridge Project

Work on the Port Huron-Sarnia international bridge over the St. Clair river is expected to start about Feb. 15, 1929, and is expected to be completed and opened for traffic by June 1, 1930, announces Maynard D. Smith, promoter of the project.
