The Hudson family were at Pine Grove Sunday to help Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hudson celebrate their twenty fifth wedding anniversary. All enjoyed the event as they did the fiftieth of the parents the Sunday before and hope to be on hand when the host and hostess celebrate their fiftieth.

The Michigan Farm Bureau sent copies of A. M. Todd Co's. seed advertisment published in the Gobles News to their 400 distributors as a desirable suggestion for their use. We do not know if it was the wording or our arrangement of this that took their eye but we credit Mr. Woodhams, the author, in putting up a good argument, and are pleased that our Mr. Wauchek was able to display it to attract attention. We extend congratulations to both.

Our School

Thinking citizens realize that our Schools must be able to offer students as wide a range of subjects as do neighboring schools in order to continue the large revenues derived from tuition. In all subjects taught we are assured that our schools are second to none and this fact has kept and increased tuition receipts from year to year. Yet some desire subjects not taught here for lack of room and we feel we should arrange to accommodate them.

Our district pays to the Opera House $250.00 or better each year for rental for school purposes. This would pay the interest on $5000.00 worth of 5% bonds. The Opera House is a very unsatisfactory place for our purpose even at that price, for we cannot provide showers nor wasn't built for use as a gymnasium.

A Gymnasium, or General purpose room, as it is called, would give a place for all kinds of winter athletics for both boys and girls, an auditorrum for producing plays, an assembly room for chapel programs, a place forcommunity banquets and gather ing of all kinds, and graduation festivities. Also more room for or chestra, debating, etc.

Our orchestra is growing steadily and anyone who has ever been up to our schoolhouse when they are trying to practice knows we need room they can use

The addition of two class rooms is necessary. We need to add some vocationsl subjects: such as Manual Arts, Domestic Science and Agriculture: If these could be added the school would eventually receive more State and Federal aid. It would also give us an up to date Science laboratory.

Our toilets are in deplorable condition and very inadequate, which anyone can verify by a visit of inspection. The proposed addition includes two sanitary toilet rooms, the girls' toilet being equipped with six toilet seats, the boys' with four toilet seats and two urinals.

The cost could be spread over a period of 30 years so that the increase in annual taxes would not be enough to bring our tax up to the average in Van Buren county. Board of Education

Obituary

Helen Elizabeth Garlock, daughter of Isaac and Nancy Garlock, was born in Catawaga county, N Y. August 24, 1849 and departed this lifeMay 4 at the advanced age of 79 years and 9 months

At the age of three she came with her parents to Michigan, residing in Allegan county. In Novtmber, 1866 she was united in marriage with Willard R. Woodard, making their home at Mattawan. One daughter was born to this union, Mrs. Ada Woodard Pike.

Surviving relatives are: the daughter Ada; two grandchildren, Mrs. Goldie Steinman Pike and Francis Beulah Pike, both of Kalamazoo; a sister, Mrs. Woodard of Kendall; also a brother.

Mrs. Woodard has been a loyal member of the M. E. church of Kendall for 50 years. She was also a charter member of the Mite society. Cherished memories follow her. Often and often my thoughts go back Like wanderers over a time worn track, To the time when I knelt at my mother's

MT. CLEMENS COW HAS PRODUCTION RECORD

An excellent production record has just been completed by Raleigh's Toronto's Finola 451531, a purebred Jersey cow in the Jersey herd owned by the Detroit Creamery Co., Mt. Clemand in the ensuing 365 days produced a total of 730.99 pounds of butterfat and 13,437 pounds of milk. Maintaining her production at a uniformly high rate throughout the test, in her best month Finola yielded a total of 72.57 pounds of butterfat. This amount of butterfat is more than one-third of the amount of butterfat estimated as the average yearly production per cow in the United States by the United States department of agriculture. During eleven of the twelve months of the test, Finola produced more than 50 pounds of butterfat per month.

Postmaster to Aid In Beetle Quarantine

Because of the prevalence of the Japanese beetle, postmasters have been cautioned to comply with quarantine regulations issued by the department of agriculture, according to a memorandum signed by the third assistant postmaster general, R. S. Regar, which the postoffice department has just made public. The full text of the memorandum follows:

The United States department of agriculture has informed this office that a large number of parcels of plants and plant products were accepted for transmission in the mails during the past year in violation of the quarantines established by that department or account of the Japanese beetle and other injurious insect infestations or plant diseases.

The reports show that the wrongful acceptance in the majority of the cases was due to negligence of window clerks to inquire as to the nature of the contents of the parcels when offered for mailing, or ignorance on the part of postal employes of the quarintine requirements.

The department of agriculture states that this is a very serious matter, since failure to comply with the prohibitions and restrictions of quarantine orders is likely to result in the spread of injurious insect infestations and plant diseases and thus lead to disaster of the first magnitude, and that in addition to the injurious effect on the agriculture of the region involved, would probably necessitate large federal and state appropriations,

Postmasters and postal employes are therefore admonished that all plant quarantine orders in effect in their respective states must be rigorously enforced, careful inquiry being made to ascertain the nature of the contents of parcels mailed, and close study made of the conditions governing all quarantines in effect in their particular state or county.

Postmasters must see to it that all window clerks in their offices are thoroughly instructed with respect to the requirements of the quarantine in effect in their particular locality, and if any n'ant material should be accepted in violation of such quarantines must take suitable action to prevent a repe-

Bitter Feeds and Weeds—Bitter Milk

Abnormal flavors and odors in milk are objectionable to consumers and dealers and such milk is often rejected. Losses can be largely prevented by proper attention to the several factors reponsible for objectionable flavors and odors. They result mainly from the physical condition of the cow, from feeding of highly flavored feeds and weeds, from the absorption of barn odors by the milk after it is drawn, and from biological changes in the milk. Feed flavors and odors are most frequently caused by succulent feeds. Silage made from corn, alfalfa, sweet clover or soybeans, as well as such feeds as green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape and kale seriously affect the flavor and odor of the milk drawn even an hour after feeding. Therefore it is advisable to feed such highly flavored feeds immediately after milking, never just before. Where weeds in the pasture are responsible for off flavors in the milk they must be eradicated or the cows removed from the pasture for several hours before milking. Barns must be kept clean and well ventilated to prevent absorption of odors by the milk. Finally, prompt cooling and storing of the milk at a low temperature will retard the development of flavors and odors from biological action.

Pack Mich. Potatoes In 15-Pound Sacks

Shipping potatoes in 15-pound cloth bags is the latest move on the part of Michiagn potato growers to make a bigger place for themselves on the markets of the country.

Encouraged by the success of their nitial venture, Michigan growers are making plans to make further shipments of the same kind, not only to Buffalo, but to other markets throughout the country where there is a demand for northern potatoes.

A whole new method of merchan dising potatoes is looked for by Mr. Hibst as a result of this new idea of packaging potatoes in small sacks. The intention of the Michigan growers is to pack only large, clean, selected potatoes in these small sacks, and to create a permanent demand for these by guaranteeing the product right through to the consumer. In this way they hope to receive the better prices usually brought by quality products but also to do away with the need of diverting cars from market to mar-Above all, they hope to put an end to the hit-or-miss system under which potatoes are marekted at pres-

(4) Feed the chicks all of the sour milk that they will eat, if not all through the growing period at least for the first two or three weeks. (5) Do not feed sour milk or anything else until the chicks are 48 to 72 hours old. Nature has provided them with food for the first two or three days of their lives. (6) Feed a starting and later a growing mash that is suited to chicks. (7) Allow the chicks to get two or three hours of direct sunlight every day. If this cannot be done place a good glass substitute in the windows of the brooder house. Properly made substitutes will admit the ultra-violet rays of light which are beneficial to the chicks and which will not pass through ordinary glass.

In feeding baby chicks, use skim milk or buttermilk instead of water to drink. An all-mash ration which may be fed to the chick consists of 70 pounds ground yellow corn; 20 pounds shorts, or winter wheat middlings, five pounds of 50 per cent meat scraps; four pounds poultry bone meal (chick size); and one The pound salt. This should be hand fed five times daily until the chicks are 10 days old, allowing them to eat 15 to 20 minutes at a time. Mash should of feeding, feed five times daily, for of eight parts rolled oats and one part hard boiled egg. For the best results, add cod-liver oil to the chick starter mash at the rate of 1 or 2 per cent, by weight, of the mash. If the chicks are allowed in direct sunlight, 1 per cent will be sufficient. Keep a high grade chick size grit before the chicks at all times after they are eight or 10 days old. Supply the chicks with a liberal amount of green material, cut into rather small particles. Green clover, alfalfa, dandelions, wild lettuce, and such materials make good green feed

Growing chicks need exercise and sunlight and should be allowed both as soon as they are started and the weather is favorable. WEATHER FORECAST TO AID FIRE FIGHTERS

Arrangements are perfected where-by the forest fire division of the department of conservation will receive fire weather forecasts in 1929 fire season from the United States weather bureau at Chicago. The weather bureau and the state have established 10 substations located at various state fire towers, state forest headquarters, and also at two national headquarters in this state.

Employes at each station will take three sets of humidity readings each day. These will be telegraphed to the weather bureau in Chicago every morning at 8 o'clock. The weather bureau office will compare the Michigan reports with similar data received the same day from Minnesota and Wisconsin. Special fire weather forecasters will study the data on hand and decide if fire-hazard weather is pending. If they determine that conditions are right for fire-hazard weather, they at once wire each assistant warden in the state of this This information will be received by the local men before 11 a. m. of the same day on which their initial report is made.

This arrangement gives the assistant district fire wardens a chance to mobilize their extra forces with greater efficiency for hazard periods

Court Fight Brews Over Lake Highway

The Clare county board of supervisors have entered the controversy between sportsmen of that county and the Wild Life Reservation Association of Lake when it ordered the county road commission to push construction of a road to Cranberry lake and if an injunction should be granted to condemn the land and proceed with Residents of Garfield township, in which the lake is located, cut a trail to this lake last summer, when the Wild Life Company was incorporated. The trail was the continuance of an established road.

The company is preparing to fence the entire lake and across the trail to establish a fur farm. The case is expected to come into the courts for settlement to determine whether the trail is along a regular and established road and if the Wild Life Reservation Association has the right to fence the property and exclude the public from fishing and hunting.

Japanese Giant Radish

This is the great Sakurijima Radish from Japan. The largest radish grown, often attaining the enormous weight of 15 pounds, and sometimes 20 or 30 pounds.

It is a real "novelty" to most Americans, and the taste will immediately will immediately convince anyone of the fact that it is not merely a curiosity but a radish of extraordinary quality. The flesh is solid, firm and brittle, and of most excellent flavor. It will grow and thrive in any soil or climate.

This is a radish that can be planted in the spring and eaten all summer long, and can also be kept through the winter if dug in the late fall and buried in a box of dry sand in the collar. As a summer radish it is a wonder, and it will grow and thrive when it is so hot and dry that common radishes would be a failure. By all means try the Sakurijima Radish and you will be surprised at the real value of this monstrous warlety. Send for package of the seed today before it is all gone. Ford Sells His Drill Outfits

Announcement has been made that the Ford Motor Co. has sold its diamond drill outfits to a Sudbury diamond drilling company. The sale included the drilling equipment and over a quarter of a million dollars worth of carbons. The drills are now on new industries with a vengeance is their way to Canada to be used in exploratory work in the Ontario mining districts.

It is also stated that the sale of the diamond drilling equipment means the permanent retirement of the Ford Motor Co. from the exploration field. Their experience has been very unsatisfactory from the start. The drills were first used to probe the Ford holdings in the vicinity of Michigamme mountain, in Mansfield township, Iron county. They failed to show anything of value there and the machines were sent to the Marquette range, being employed there at the old Bessie and then moved to the vicinity of Republic, where they were operated for a long time.

TO BUILD NEW BRIDGE ON US131

One of the largest highway construction projects in Mecosta in many years will start this summer when the state highway department constructs a $200,000 bridge spanning Muskegon river on US131 near Rogers dam, five miles south of Big Rapids.

This announcement was made recently by Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, who advertised for bids. The bridge must be completed by Aug. 1, 1930. Sealed proposals are to be received at the Grand Rapids office of the state highway department until May 9.

Plans for the new bridge, now on file with the state highway department, call for a four-span structure. Each span is to be 70 feet in length and there is to be a 35-foot roadway.

The new bridge will cross Muskewhat is now the Blueberry mine, near of a detour, for traffic will continue several likely concerns with the hope the old Dexter, where they checked up over the old bridge during construc-

Bay City Pay Rolls Grow

Pay rolls at various Bay City plants are expected to grow considerably during the next few months, according to recent reports from that city. Both the Chevrolet Motor Company and the Murray Corporation of America plants are working large crews in an attempt to keep up with production schedules. The former is now employing 2,250 and the latter 58, with a constant demand for certain classes of labor. Woodcrafts Corporation expects to have at least 300 men and 50 women on its pay roll by June 1, as compared with 40 men at the present time.

Seek Influx of Early Tourists

Greater business for the other resort sections in June, the off month of the summer season, is in sight through activities of the season extension committee of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, which is asking hotels and transportation companies to offer reduced rates during this period.

The extension committee, of which W. J. Hobbs of Traverse City is a member, is issuing a special folder for distribution at Chicago and Detroit outdoor shows. Later in the season special advertising will be done. All summer hotels are being asked to reply promptly to a questionnaire on whethey they will give reduced rates in June and obtain a reduction of ground fees during June at nearby golf clubs.

"It is not expected there will be a great increase in the volume of business for June this year," said H. J. gon river 200 feet west of the present bridge. There will be no necessity is hoped in later years we may accomplish much."

INCREASE IN STATE

The number of deer hunting licenses and small game licenses sold in Michigan has increased steadily during the past four years, figures compiled by the state conservation department reveal, although the small game hunting army has not grown as rapidly as s commonly believed.

The number of deer hunting licenses issued to resident and nonresident hunters since 1925 is as folows: 1925, 43,122; 1926, 48,102; 1927, 54,359; 1928, 58,073. It was prophesied at the opening of the deer hunting season last November that the hunters invading the north woods would exceed the 60,000 mark. The conservation department's figure reveals that this mark was not reached by nearly 1,000. However, if To Build Temple the present rate of increase continues, next year's hunting army will number considerably more than 60,000 and the next three or four years will see 75,000 deer hunters abroad in Mich-

The small game hunters of the state second floor and dining and club commonly are estimated to number nearly a half million. That they fall nearly 200,000 short of that mark, however, is shown by the department's statistics.

Following is the number of small game licenses sold each year since 1925: 1925, 288,090; 1926, 293.084; 1927, 304,066; 1928, 306,200.

The resident trout fishing license, in force for the first time last season and applying to male anglers more than 21 years old, netted the state only $56,706 at $1 for each fisherman, the department states. This is considerably below the number of licenses it was estimated would be sold at the time the license law was enacted.

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice

He treated constipation, biliousness headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a combination of senna and other mild herbs, with pepsin. The simpler the remedy for constipa tion, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

ANN ARBOR FESTIVAL WILL BE BEST EVER

A list of oustanding musical celebrities and a series of programs of extraordinary interest has been announced for the thirty-sixth annual May Festival to be held in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, May 22, 23, 24 and 25. This event will mark the closing attraction in the fiftieth season of the existence of the University Musical Society, and those in charge have spared no pains in making the event worthy of the termination of this half century of activities in the organization's history.

Among the great musical stars who will participate will be Lawrence Tibbett, the baritone sensation of the Metropolitan Opera Company; Richard Crooks, one of America's outstanding tenors; Sophie Braslaus, Marion Telva, both Metropolitan Opera Company contraltos; Edith Mason, leading soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Company; Jeanette Vreeland, distinguished American oratorio singer; Paul Althouse, Metropolitan Opera tenor; Richard Bonelli and Parre Hill, baritones, both of the Chicago Civic Opera Company; William Gustafson, basso of the Metropolitan Opera Company; and two outstanding instrumentalists, Efram Zimbalist, Hungarian master violinist, and Josef Hofmann, world renowned pianist.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra will participate in all six concerts, while the University Choral Union, under the direction of Earl V. Moore, musical director of the festival, will offer several important choral works. A special chorus of 500 school children, under Juva Higbee, will contribute numbers at one of the pro-

Plans Made for Bible Conference

Rev. Andrew W. Blackwood, professor of English Bible in Louisville Presbyterian seminary at Louisville, Ky., who delivered a series of four lectures at Western seminary this year, and Rev. George L. Robinson of McCormick seminary, Chicago, have been booked as speakers at the Pine Lodge Bible Conference the last week in August.

Three other annual conferences are listed, one for boys under the supervision of John Van Broek of Grand Rapids; one for girls, with Miss Hannah G. Hoekje of Holland, Mrs. J. A. Dykstra of Grand Rapids, Mrs. A. De Young of Kalamazoo and Miss Laura A. Boyd of Hope college as leaders, and the summer school of theology under the supervision of Rev. John E. Kuizenga, with Rev. S. C. Nettinga, Rev. Albertus Pieters and Rev. J. E. Kuizenga as lecturers.

Plans have been launched for an auditorium, 60x100 feet, with a seating capacity of 1,200. Fifty per cent of a proposed fund of $10,000 has collegiate honorary oratorical and debeen pledged and the balance will bating fraternity.

SUGGESTIONS A Few Sandwiches

One mother who has to pack several lunch boxes each morning has a list of about 60 sandwiches tacked inside a closet door in the pantry, to select from, for she knows variety is stimulating to the appetite. Here are a few:

Sliced bananas and chopped nut meats between white bread; a thin slice of bread, buttered and sprinkled with salt, then rolled up with the heart of a celery stalk in the center; cream cheese and chopped olives with mayonnaise between very thin slices of brown bread; equal quantities of cream cheese and chopped nuts and half the amount of orange marmalade between buttered bread; grated maple sugar, half as much of finely chopped peanuts, mixed with sufficient rich milk to make it creamy; spread between slices of graham bread.

Prepared Flour

Put one cup flour in a glass baking dish and place in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 minutes. Stir to insure ever and thorough browning. Cool. Soft and put into a perforated dredge box. A dash or two into the pan in which the meat has been cooked, stir into a smooth paste, add a little water, season and pour over the meat.

SIMPLE ARM EXERCISES BRING PLEASANT CONTOURS WHICH ARE FASHIONABLE By Madame Rubinstein

I think there must be more fat than requests I have had for various sorts of reducing treatments. Or else the thin women are more satisfied with their lot. Certainly the trend of the times is away from unhealthy superflu- palms down. Keep the elbows stiff ous flesh toward slimness. But I hear and make a complete circle with each from the fashion designers that curves arm alternately, swinging it down, are "coming in." When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought intention of leaving Fanny's for at least two hours, for he said so. It was 5 o'clock when Jim and I left to come out here."

"Well," said Jack, with sudden decision, as he looked at his watch, "it's 7:30. I'm going home!"

"But Jack!" exclaimed Nita, pro-testingly, "what am I going to do? I can't take a chance riding back to town with Jim Blake, intoxicated as he And he wouldn't let me driveyou know how he is. Oh, here he comes now! I'm going to tell him you're taking me home!"

Before he could make any reply to her announcement the subject of their discussion-or hers, rather-a nose indicative of a chummy acquaintance with bootleggers, reeled up to their table, caught its edge with both hands, and then dropped into a vacant chair. Almost immediately his head fell over on one side and he was snoring. The girl looked at the sprawling

"Any man who'll allow himself to get as drunk as that has no right to riding with him back to Elliston. He didn't like to think of Jill hearing about it, as she was sure to do. There seemed, however, no logical way to avoid it in the face of her request, so he might as well make the best of it, ne decided.

"Why, certainly, Nita," he assured her, trying to inject as much cordiality into his tone as possible, "you know you're perfectly welcome, so far ously.

"What a lot I care how miffed Jim top an agony greater than any ordinary physical pain. "She's in a state right now to run amuck if she's allowed to the checks. Everybody took a long to sleep in a place like this. I'd walk like:

home forty times before I rode along that gorge in a car driven by Jim Blake when hes' drunk. I'm not ready on our way, I suppose," said Jack. He was sudderly eager, anxious to see Jill and the children. Since their reconciliation Jill had seemed dearer than ever before.

"I'll get my coat and hat and meet you at the door," said Nita, rising. "It's just as well that everybody doesn't know we go out together. Peo-ple will talk. And I realize you've got a wife to think of, Jack."

He nodded, grateful to her for her consideration. Blake had paid the check for Nita's and his dinner, so there was nothing to hold them. They had been sitting at the table when Jack passed and Nita had called him.

"He didn't seem to be drunk then," mused Jack, as he glanced at the recumbent figure. "He must have hit em up pretty fast in th' last half hour. If Jack Stuart could have seen the remarkable rapidity with which Jim Blake sobered up as soon as he had made certain of Jack's and Nita's departure it might have started him to guessing.

"I've roticed it before in Jim," said Nita, talking almost at random, and with; an odd catch in her breath. "He always seems to get sleepy after he's taken four or five drinks. Where is your car parked?" She put the question abruptly.

"Over in th' west corner of th' shed," he replied. "It's not our own car; Jill had that, so I had to rent

"Blake is driving Eddie Baker's car," she said, in the manner of one talking just to keep up the conversa-tion—or to keep the listener's attention—or to keep the listener's attention. "Is it a flivver you've got, or a regular car?"

"Oh, it's a good car," replied Jack.
"Better, really, than our own, and much faster. Ah, here we are now.
Wait till I—Ah!"
The "Ah!" was jerked out of him it might almost be said, by the very roots, when a powerful spotlight flashed suddenly full in his eyes.
Then:

"Put up yer ands—bot o' yuh!" came the sharp command in a snappy, metallic tone that wavered not nor did it brook delay. Jack Stuart waited not for any repeated order. He "put 'em up." A quickly-stifled scream broke from Nita Ravelle.

"Shut up, woman!" barked the voice behind the spotlight, and a huge automatic showed its menacing muz-zle within the light's focus for an instant. "One more squawk outta you and—" The muttered threat carried a double-barreled suggestion of horrible possibilities.

"Frisk 'em, Pete-bot' of 'em!" came the next command, and a second figure, heavily armed and masked, stepped forward to execute orders.
"Never mind th' jack now—see'f either's gotta rod!"

With his hands high above his head,

Jack Stuart underwent the first real "frisking" of his life. It consisted of a quick running of hands over his

When nothing in the shape of a gun was found, the frisker turned his attention to the woman. As the light was shining directly in his own eyes, and she was in the rear of him, Jack could not witness the "indignity" to which she was subjected. Whatever it was expectationally brief which she was subjected. Whatever its nature, it was exceedingly brief.

"Now, you two, climb into the car there an' sit tight on the back seat.

You're goin' fer a ride. Step lively, now!"

Looking into the frowning mouth of that huge automatic, the muzzle side and seated when he arrived.

"Oh, Jock!" she whispered, tremulously, "they won't murder us, will

The man with the spotlight and gun squeezed into the small space in front of them, closed the door, and snapped out his light. The other fellow had taken the driver's seat. An instant later the car shot out from under the shed and turned toward the "Would you — er — mind telling where you are—ah—taking us, mister?" queried Jack, with natural curi-

"Don't you ever tell, bo, for it's a secret!" came the quick, snappy answer. "You're goin' f'r a leetle ride 's I told yuh! You don't know where but yer on yer way An' now be still, fer I gotta t'ink!"

It occurred to Jack that his own thirking apparatus, the machinery that usually ground out the regular grist, must be dust-clogged or rustclotted. Nothing seemed to function correctly, to synchronize in the customarily prescribed manner. All that he could center on was: "They were going somewhere—but they didn't know where!"
